

1937 Exceeds 1936 Record For Forest Fires

According to Mr. James R. Wiltse, District Forest Fire Warden here, the number of forest fires reported to the state forest fire warden during the Spring season which closed June 1, was more than double the number in the same period in 1936, it was announced today. A total of 1,130 fires were reported as compared with 517 in the corresponding period of 1936.

The open winter was one factor in the increase, as there were 10 fires reported in January and 120 in February, when the ground is normally covered with snow. April, as usual, was the worst month, with a total of 434 fires reported, and May, with 323 fires, was second. A total of 79 fires were reported in June in East Haven.

Despite the increase in the total number of fires, the average acre per fire was held to the low total of 5.879, and a further checkup of the areas burned may reduce this average considerable. The first figures are based on estimated acreage burned and these are checked, in the case of the larger fires by an actual survey of the area covered.

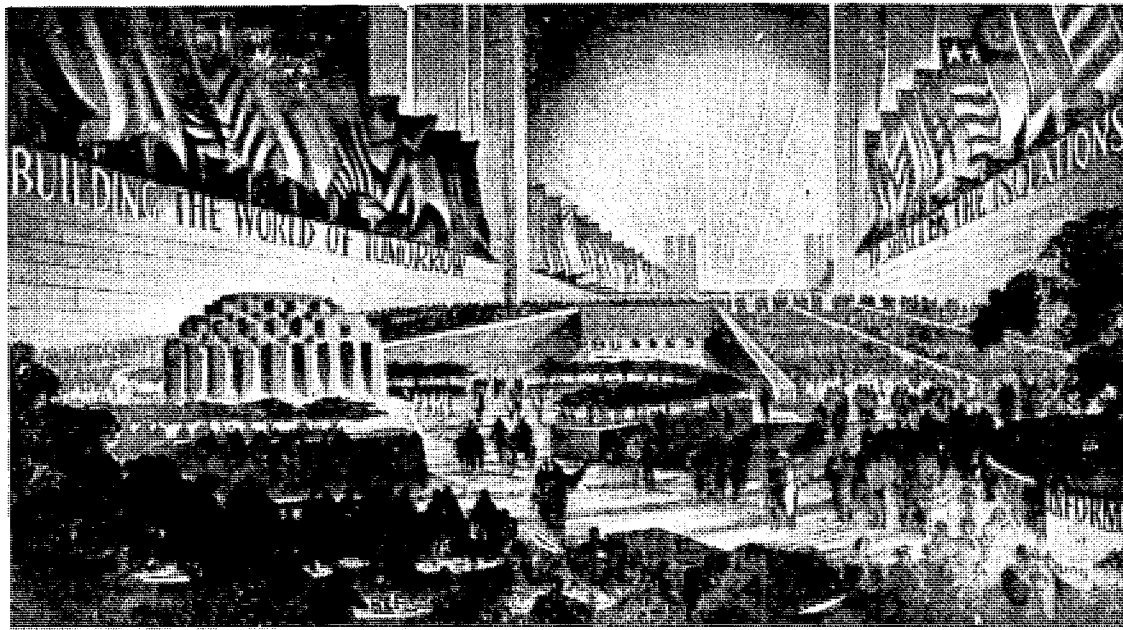

The wave of brush and forest fires that has swept New England in the past few days has left thousands of acres of blackened wasteland, as offensive to the eye as it is to the imagination. Those desolate stretches where the fresh green of spring should rule, where spicebrush should present its tiny yellow blossoms and shadblow should blossom in puffs of white, like bags of flour burst at a carnival, have been sacrificed carelessly and unnecessarily. In every case someone forget what a careless minority has been forgetting ever since Prometheus brought down the sacred flame, that conflagrations are born of sparks. Some idiot flips a cigarette butt into the bushes, drops a still glowing match or leaves an unextinguished camp fire, and the damage is done. For years, a black desert stands as the ugly memorial to his carelessness.

The snow of winter and the wet soil of early spring have gone. The high winds that should have come in March but raged instead in April and early May, have dried out the ground. In the woods, the new grass has not yet grown over the old, last autumn's leaves have been newly dried and piled in windrows and topplings from the winter's logging are like tinder. But tinder alone does not start a fire. Someone must touch it off. At this season, where there is little danger from lightning, only that most careless of animals, man, can fire the woodlands.

In accordance with Sec. 872c of the General Statutes, I hereby set aside the following described district in East Haven as exempt from the operation of the Forest Fire Permit Law, Sec. 872c. This holds until the fifteenth day of March, 1938. It is described counter-clockwise as follows:

Beginning at the corner of Main and High Streets, so-called in the Town of East Haven, and running north on the westerly side of High Street to Kimberly Avenue; on the south and east sides, of Kimberly Avenue to Main Street; the north side of Main Street to Gerrish Avenue; the east side of Gerrish Avenue to Tyler Street; the north side of Tyler Street to French Avenue; the

THROUGH BROAD AND BEAUTIFUL ENTRYWAYS VISITORS WILL PASS TO THE NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK, (Special).—Forty thousand persons an hour—visitors from every state and every nation—must be accommodated in comfort at but one of the entryways to the New York World's Fair of 1939, according to arrangements the Fair Corporation is completing to handle a maximum daily attendance of 800,000. The artist's drawing, as reproduced above, calls for a magnificent, double-decked entryway with underpasses, over-passes, pedestrian walks, bus terminals, comfort stations and bridge connections assuring comfort while providing an area of architectural splendor.

Shown is a ramp leading from the exposition grounds toward the I.R.T.-B.M.T. subway terminal, at a point where it is necessary to cross over the Long Island railroad tracks and to avoid undue congestion of pedestrian traffic. Shown in the left foreground is a domed restaurant within a fountain basin and a concourse bordered by grown plane-trees, and, nearer, an open-air cafe and an information kiosk. Along the flanking walls the artist has delineated the Fair's world concept which looks to the building of a peaceful, happier World of Tomorrow.

Zoning Appeals Board To Meet Tonight

At 8 p. m. this evening, in the Town Hall, there will be a meeting of the Board of Zoning Appeals, to decide on the granting of a permit to Mr. Joseph Barney, of Short Beach Road, to remodel a building on his property for the purpose of running a slaughter house.

This was the question that was brought up at a meeting of the Board of Zoning Appeals last Friday evening, at which it was found that due to a new state law that was passed in the last session of the General Assembly at Hartford, Barney would have to bet his permit from the State Commissioner of Domestic Animals, who, under this law, is the only one who may issue a permit for such, following the approval of a Town Health Officer.

Due to the above statement, the meeting had to be postponed until such permit would be granted.

W. P. A. Work Progressing

The W. P. A. projects in Town are reported to be moving very rapidly, it was learned through the office of the First Selectmen, recently.

The Town Shed, which was started two or three months ago is progressing with great rapidity. To date, the trusses have been constructed and the rafters are now being erected. The concrete door sills are in, and are 11 inches thick. The floor, soon to be laid in concrete, will be six inches thick. The cornerstone has also been laid.

The backstop for the baseball field in the rear of the high school is already built, and the men are now busy with the grading of the baseball diamond.

The Main Street sewer project, started a short while ago, is now one-third complete, which is equal to the laying of 600 feet of pipes. The entire length of the sewer-line, when completed, will be 1,625 feet. Twenty-four inch pipe is being used. The pipe line started at Tuttle Brook in Main Street and will continue to Boston Avenue.

During the laying of this pipe-line, the man happened across an obstacle in an abandoned pipe, which lies right across the line of the new sewer pipe. An odd thing about this pipe is that a telegraph pole had at one time been driven through one side of it. The men will be busy the next few days in digging up this pipe so that the new line may be continued.

The Board of Finance will meet on Monday evening, July 19, in the Town Hall.

THE "CITIZEN'S" AIM

Having the good of the Town and its citizens in view, and hoping to see East Haven someday become a small city is the real aim of the East Haven Citizen.

In its editorials on subjects such as "A Proposed Bus Service," or "A Historical Society," the newspaper does not mean to criticize, but really intends that East Haven should have these things in order to make it grow, just as the human body needs food and exercise.

We also wish to deal favorably with our advertisers, and urge them to use this medium in advertising their wares in a way that will really help them in spite of themselves. The "Citizen," as always, urges the public to kindly mention the publication upon purchasing from our advertisers.

In presenting articles about individuals, we also wish to treat them fair and whatever we publish about them, we want to know that the article has helped to make many friends for them.

All in all, the aim of the "Citizen" is to see the town and towns-people grow prosperous in business and everything that is attempted, and one day East Haven will be known as a city.

OUR ORGANIZATIONS

E. H. Vol. Fire Dept.
This week, we wish to relate a few important facts about the East Haven Fire Volunteer Fire Department. The department was organized in 1900 with Mr. Isaac Hagaman as its first chief. He was followed by Mr. Henry Page, who held office until the first of this year, at which time Mr. Ernest Hansen became the present chief. From Company, No. 1, which is situated in Main Street, six branch companies sprung up which are located in various sections of the town.

Each company has its own organization and the present officers of Company, No. 1, are as follows: Mr. Henry Andrews, captain; Mr. Clarence Hanover, first lieutenant; Mr. Julius Korn, second lieutenant; Mr. Richard Clark, recording secretary; Mr. Raymond Smith, financial secretary; and Raymond Goodwin, treasurer. This organization has a membership of around 93 and meet on the first Monday of every month.

What's What In BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

An open forum for the discussion and explanation of construction and material problems
By Walter R. Shiner
Reg. Architect, State of Conn.

SUPERVISING SMALL HOME-CONSTRUCTION

After the cellar has been laid out, the batter boards erected and the lines of the main house have been run (usually the outside of the underpinning is used as the line); check the main dimensions and the location with a tape line and compare them with the dimensions on the plans. If they do not check, look for an error in the layout, also look for an error in dimensions on the plan. Architects and their draughtsmen are not infallible and an occasional small error of this type has been known to happen but is always caught by the supervisor and rectified before any damage is done.

Next check the elevation of the first floor above the present grade which will throw water away from the front sidewalk to the entrance steps. This should not be less than one half inch pitch to the running foot for proper results.

Too much study cannot be given to this phase of the construction as placed too high, the architectural value will not be enhanced and placed too low, sometimes makes a squatty appearance and sometimes makes a damp cellar. There is just the proper spot in between and this spot must be struck on the nose for the best appearance.

Then the preliminaries are all set for the owner to start the digging by throwing out the first shovelful of earth on a par with a big league first game of the season stunt when the Mayor throws the first ball across the plate. In other words, it is a big event in the average man's lifetime.

Immediately thereafter, however, it is time to settle down to serious thought and decide where to have the mason deposit the loam scraped from the excavation. Also be sure and have it scraped from an area larger than the house proper as loam left close to the foundation will be ruined by the time the house is completed and too much loam for finished grading is an unknown quantity.

When the excavation is completed, the stone basement walls will be started and as soon as this is commenced, be sure to check the bottom of the wall for depth. The walls should be started on firm soil at least six inches below the finished basement floor level.

LEGION ENDORSES LIFE-SAVING UNIT

Town Team To Play Moodus

By Gordon Stevens, Sports Editor

The American Legion once again has taken a large step forward in safety in East Haven. Having successfully carried on safety campaigns in schools and on the highways they have now branched out and are sponsoring a life saving unit.

The corp will be under the heading of Mr. John Maher, Physical Director. Mr. Frank Dooley, Jr., and Joe Kelly have been training the boys for duty while Dr. Robert M. Taylor has contacted the navy for instructors.

In view of the near tragedies last Sunday at Momauguin when two young ladies and a middle-aged man were in a precarious condition and had to be assisted to the shore, we feel that we have taken a last that extra step of safety.

The following boys have signed up: Donald Morgan, Andre Boucher, Donald and Robert Buchele, Charles Callahan, John Hogan, Robert Copperthite, Jack Lynch, Kenneth and Clarence Sheffield, George Hugo, Harold Bixby, Richard Brache, Albert and Harold Reed, Gordon Stevens, Leonard and Whitty Jackson, Meyer Chetrick, Jack Colburn, Russell Schmidt, Charles Husted, and Albert Wright.

The Knights of Pythias of Momauguin are considering the idea of sponsoring a swimming team. Some one should awaken interest in sports at Momauguin other than Mr. Dooley who for many years has made sports possible at the shore through untiring effort.

The E. H. Trojans are anxious to book a game the proceeds of which will go for the benefit of injured players. The Trojans have a very good record, winning four games, scoring 32 runs to their opponents 1, making only 1 error.

The under sixteen year league got under way Wednesday with the Yankees bowing to Momauguin, the score being close 8-7. Buddy Sheffield starred for Momauguin while Bill Thomson held up the Yankees.

On Tuesday the Jr. Rec. League started. The Cards handed the Braves a 12-4 defeat and it looks like the Braves will be up top if they continue to play the same brand of ball they showed Tuesday.

The Town Team will travel to Moodus Sunday, where they will play the Moodus nine.

The Hat-Box

Several models of summer sailor berets have been placed on the market for the smaller Miss. They are very sweet, cute, and very cool, as they are made of thin silk. They all have round, cut-out crowns to fit back of the head, with lattice-work arranged to fit smoothly over the cut-out. From the nape of the neck down, hang two, four-inch white taffeta ribbon streamers, with one two inches shorter than the other, reaching to the waist-line. These come in chalk-white and creme.

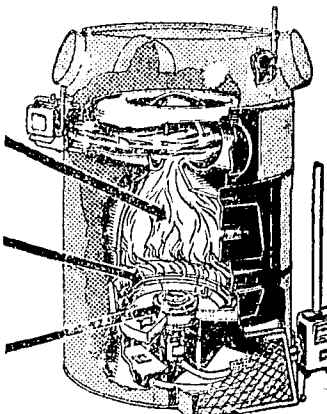

Another youthful model is the skull cap, made of one-inch grogram ribbon plaited around and around to form a tight cap. At the peak is a twist of the ribbon. These come in all gay colors.
