New Fire Alarm System To Be Installed Soon At The Police Station

Fire Commissioners See Need To Make Corrections In Present System — Ready For Use About January 12 — Man-Power Weakened By War Conditions.

New fire call systems are being installed and will be ready for use about the middle of January.

The system provides that the informant call the operator, tell her the location of the fire, and then hang up. The operator informs the police over a regulation phone provided for that purpose. Alarms to the Center, Stony Creek, Short Beach and Indian Neck will be given directly to the individual station or to all at the same time.

While the alarm is still being sounded, the police remain at the phone until the first arrival at the firehouse picks up the receiver to learn the location. The alarm ceases, but may again be sounded either from the police station or the fire station.

Location of the fire is then written on a blackboard at the phone for arriving firemen to see.

Alarms over the new system can also be given directly from the fire station. Daily tests will be given from the police station.

No toll calls go over the fire phone as it is absolutely for town use.

The telephone company has made a request that phones be used as little as possible while firemen are responding to a call.

Fire aid, police commissioners are also working on arrangements to relieve any fire while firemen are trying to get through to the fire.

Police red light system changes are being worked out.

These changes were made before the declaration of war but are in accordance with approved emergency alarms.

Until it is completely installed no announcement can be made of a town-wide air raid alarm signal. War activities have weakened the man-power of the fire companies and additional members are being added to fill the need. There is also a movement afoot to form an auxiliary fire company in the Center, operating directly under the fire chief, but electing its own officers.

Everything possible is being done, officials say, to equip Branford with the best men and equipment to fight fires.

Finance Board Votes Approval Of Special Tax

Unanimously, Tuesday evening, the Board of Finance, meeting with the Selectmen voted to raise the teachers' salaries $100, each, payable half in January and half in June. It further voted to increase the next June school budget to include an adjustment of salaries to meet prevailing scales in other towns. A special tax will be made to raise $5,300 necessary by June.

The Board of Education at a special meeting December 19 took action on a request of the teachers that the board approve an adjustment in teachers salaries because of increased living cost. The board approved the request and the matter was referred to the Board of Finance.

Responding to a request made by the Civilian Defense Council it was voted to appropriate $4000 for defense purposes. This amount will be raised by special tax.

Another matter which was approved was the sale by the town of property in Short Beach, known as Hollywood to the Short Beach Civic Association.

A special town meeting will be called for January 6th to vote on these matters.

250 Will Attend Regional School For Air Wardens

It is expected that 250 air raid wardens of this vicinity will attend a regional school of instruction to start Jan. 6 at 7:30 at the high school. Meetings will be conducted Tuesdays and Fridays until 14 hours work has been completed. Examinations will be given by the State Defense Council.

The Cherry Hill, Branford Hill section know as sector 1 will be represented by Eugene Rodney, Chief; John Stegna, Miss Ann Zuppe, Frank Shuretto, Mrs. Helen Cawley, Norris Blake, Bill Pross, Harold G. Richey and Tony Santa Barbara.

All Is Not Work For State Guard

As Is Indicated By The Following Memo Sent By The Local Men, Now In Bridgeport.

The members of Branford's Contingent of Guardsmen which is doing duty at one of the Bridgeport plants, are going through their routine with the nonchalance of veterans, as many of them are. The health of the men is excellent and their morale is very high, although the day of going home is eagerly anticipated. When that will be is a matter of conjecture.

Sidelights of camp include the spectacle of Sergeant Bedient engaged in mending his canvas cot armed with a palm and needle, it is reminiscent of his Navy days. The cots are of ancient vintage and have a way of ripping. Steve Fenta who usually repairs them has seen as much canvas as Omar The

Parents Advised That Provisions Protect Children

Every Possible Precaution Being Taken To Protect Children Should An Air Raid Occur.

The following letter has been given to all school children to take home to their parents.

December 23, 1941

Dear Parent:

We wish you to know that the school authorities are taking every possible precaution to protect your children in case an air raid should occur in Branford while schools are in session. The recommendations of the Air Raid Wardens are being followed explicitly. Present plans are as follows:

1. Every teacher is systematically teaching her children what to do for self protection if an air raid should occur while they are at school, at home, on the street, or elsewhere. Older children are being asked to repeat this information to their parents and to other citizens.

2. The Chief Air Raid Warden, Mr. Halstead Mills, has inspected every school and designated certain places in each to serve as an air raid shelter. Because he felt that the Laurel Street School possessed no suitable refuge, Laurel Street pupils are being drilled to take refuge in the Harrison Ave. School.

3. Every principal has been drilling his or her children for a week or more to train them to get to their school refuges quickly.

4. Every principal has been appointed to serve as Air Raid Warden.

HON. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT
President, The United States
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

All of the industrial might and resources of Connecticut, the full production capacities of our plants, the skills and energies of our workers, are pledged to the service of our country in the war effort against our enemies.

To that end, the leaders of organized labor and management in Connecticut, in conference with me today, have pledged to each other and among themselves their mutual confidence and co-operation. Whatever sacrifices are necessary for the final victory will be made.

Both labor and management have agreed that there will be no cessation of work or production, arising from any differences which may interrupt or curtail in any way Connecticut's ability to produce the weapons of victory.

Both labor and management have agreed to submit to me, or to arbiters designated by me, all differences, no matter what their causes, which they are unable to adjust between themselves.

Both labor and management regard this not only as a patriotic pledge, but as a solemn compact to be maintained under all circumstances and until victory has been won.

They, together with all the people of Connecticut, stand ready to answer any call for service and sacrifice, resolved that our country will triumph over all the evil forces endangering our freedom and independence.

We subscribe our names to this compact, firm in our faith that victory will be ours, and freedom shall survive.

Meeting In High School Explains Dovetailing Of All Civilian Groups

Chairman of Red Cross Disaster Relief Committee Coordinates His Group With That Of Civilian Defense Council — Agree Not To Split Hairs.

Bruce W. Perry Dies As Result Of Injuries

Bruce W. Perry, 27, of Short Beach Road, employed as a driver for the Hostess Co., died Wednesday night in New Haven Hospital of injuries he received when a car in which he was riding sideswiped another car at Water and Franklin Streets earlier the same evening.

According to the police the accident occurred when a car driven by Robert Keating, 28, of 37 Hilton Avenue, East Haven, struck another car operated by John F. Cook, 34, of 1094 State Street, Hamden. Keating was arrested by Patrolman Nathan J. Perlman and Harold V. Graves on a charge of violating the motor vehicle laws.

Mr. Perry is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ethel Rawson Perry, a brother, Austin, and his mother, Mrs. Clifford Kniffin. The funeral services were held Friday afternoon from the funeral home of Norman V. Lamb in Branford. Burial was in Montville.

With a background of sixty-years experience as a national relief agency, the American Red Cross, through its Branford Branch of the New Haven Chapter, has completed an imposing schedule of relief in the event of disaster which Monday evening was clarified and moulded into the Branford Civilian Defense program for the purpose of unity and co-ordination.

In order that the work of all committees may give maximum service to Branford in the event of disaster Raymond Plinkham, chairman of the Red Cross Disaster Relief Committee called Monday's meeting in the high school auditorium to clarify the Red Cross objectives with that of the Civilian Defense group.

Should a major catastrophe hit here government authorities, probably the army, would have full sway, and the Civilian Defense would accept orders from that authority. It is also expected that the Civilian Defense will become part of the army. The Red Cross sub-committees would then function for the Civilian Defense to supply relief during the calamity.

So overlapping were the duties of both groups that Chairman Robert Richardson of the Civilian Defense said "The Red Cross Disaster Relief program is a God-send, and immediately gave his approval to the set-up which relieves his organization of administering relief to the distressed should extreme misfortune come."

So complete is the relief work organized that it can function within 15 minutes after an unexpected misfortune.

Mimeographed copies of the membership of all Red Cross Disaster Relief Committees were distributed to those who might have use for them. Major committees are headed by: Mrs. James J. Walworth, finance; Mrs. Helen D. Barnett, registration, information and relief; James Wesson Phelps, survey; Physicians of Branford and Visiting Nurse Association, medical aid; rescue and transportation, John J. Ahern; clothing, Mrs. Milton W. Goss; Mrs. W. T. Nott, food; Rudolph F. Bailey, shelter.

Mr. Hines is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Eugene Porter, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. Marjorie Hines Leigh and Miss Grace Hines; five sons, Edward, Cornelius, Albert, James and Leonard Hines; a sister, Miss Margaret Hines, several nieces and nephews, one of whom is County Commissioner James F. Hines.

VNA Distributes 350 Xmas Gifts

Packages, numbering 350 were wrapped and delivered for Christmas by the Branford Visiting Nurse Association. This was about half the usual number due to better business conditions. Twenty four families and 100 individuals received gifts of toys, candy fruit pop-corn or new clothing.

Among those who contributed and in addition to a previously published list were: Mrs. Mertz, Mrs. John Baldwin, Mrs. James King, Mrs. Erickson, Mrs. Herbert Gallaudet, Troop 42, Stony Creek Scouts, Miss Ruth Tyler, Mrs. Rufus Shepard, Miss Smith, Mrs. T. V. Hammer, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Sanford, Mrs. Edmund Zacher, Mrs. M. J. Warner, Mrs. C. V. McDermott, Miss Corene Kenyon, Girl Scouts of Troop 18, Betty May Linsley, Mrs. A. J. Tenny, Mrs. Fred Stell, Sunshine Girls.

Helpers were: Mrs. F. S. Jourdan, Mrs. C. V. McDermott, Mrs. G. W. Wickstrom, Gordon Bradley loaned a covered truck and driver. Four boys, Douglas and Donald Welsh, Stephen Hanchruch and Nicholas Krewsky assisted.

WE RESOLVE

Back in the dear dead days beyond recall when this paper struggled week after week to dig out news of local interest the summary of the year was meager and the months ahead sometimes looked dimly.

One has only to scan the main events reported in 1941 to realize that the Review, now 14, is no longer in its infancy, but is in its adolescent period.

We resolve, during its adolescence to guide it as best we can through the age when most youngsters consider themselves pretty smart and occasionally get out of hand.

Like a boy or girl of 14 we may sometimes take the wrong path but our hearts is in the right place.

We must have confidence in our community. Our community must have confidence in us otherwise we may travel with the wrong flag.

Just as little appreciation is all we ask as we confidently enter a new year resolved once more to be a credit to Branford.

VICTORY COMPACT

All of the industrial might and resources of Connecticut and the production capacities of plants, the skills and energies of workers have been pledged to the service of the country in the war of effort against enemies.

The nation's first state-wide agreement between management and labor to end strikes in defense industries was pledged by the Governor of Connecticut, the President of the Congress of Connecticut, the President of the American Federation of Labor of Connecticut, and the President of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association.

Known as the "Compact for Victory," a copy has been forwarded to the President of the United States to the end that leaders of organized labor and management in Connecticut pledge mutual confidence and co-operation. Whatever sacrifices are necessary for the final victory will be made.

It is teamwork of this kind that will make a Connecticut location a first choice for many a sound business that is looking ahead to the peace of victory.

Labor and management regard the Compact for Victory not only as a patriotic pledge but as a solemn compact to be maintained under all circumstances and until victory has been won.

IT IS NO JOKE

So you volunteered for local defense work, you don't like the job, and you want to quit! Just as sure as this is being written you are going to do something so, for the sake of unity, join up immediately for the work to which you are best suited. Those who stuff at the ideal that Branford may experience some acute sorrow during this war should cease making light of it.

Air raid precautions are nothing to joke about. All of us must participate in this war. The question is to place everyone at a task for the best good of the community.

Hundreds are already assigned jobs, some large, some small, but more, and more, are needed to efficiently fill the bill.

At present, the greatest need is for aircraft warning observers and air raid wardens. It is not intended that the set-up create a hardship for anyone so the best of groups are developed to fill the time to formulate plans. Nevertheless, when you are in you are in for the duration.

Your first duty is to your country. Be alert. Let no social engagement interfere with the performance of the duties assigned to you.

Pearl Harbor was not on the alert!

WASHINGTON SNAPSHOTS

By JAMES PRESTON

Washington is burning the midnight oil. Unity behind the Victory Program is a real, almost tangible thing. It can be seen in the earnest manner in which the Administration, industry and labor have accepted their respective roles. There are still many rough spots, but criticisms are helpful. All that counts is the "finest" stuff between Administration and critics has been shelled for the resent.

One louchy matter which has yet to be straightened out is the status of the closed shop. Any extension or enlargement of the closed shop will not only influence production schedules for the duration of the war, but will also affect the course of national readjustment after the war.

The latest battle for a closed shop resulted in strengthening the union's position. The facts of the case are simple. The union dispute bears this out. In spite of the fact that public opinion was against the strike in the steel company-owned plant, in spite of the fact that the National Defense Mediation Board ruled in favor of the steel companies, spite of the fact that the President personally intervened to effect a cessation of the strike, and in spite of the fact that the war which designed to prevent strikes was passed by almost a 2 to 1 vote in the House, John L. Lewis got his closed shop.

The decision of the Arbitration Board appointed to settle the issues in the captive coal mines dispute was in favor of a union shop. The decision between a union shop and a closed shop is legislative one. For all practical purposes, they are the same.

But the circles in Washington draw the conclusion that the Administration is still not willing to let organized labor lose a decision.

On top of the captive coal mine comes the announcement that the Senate Committee on Education and Labor will postpone further consideration of legislation to prevent strikes, pending the outcome of a conference between spokesmen for management and labor. There is not too much enthusiasm for the conference. Prior to the decision by Japan that there was practically none at all. But under war conditions, sentiment changed and many Senators were prepared to support labor legislation swung over to the conference idea.

The boys around town are saying that this organized labor's big effort to prevent the passage of strike legislation and that the Administration would like to see it successful. Industry doesn't like the legislation, but feels that it is public obligation to come and cooperate. Many Congressmen don't like the idea. The formulation of a national war-time labor policy is the job of the President, the Senate and the House, they think, and responsibility should not be shifted to private sources. Naturally private conferees. The interests to be considered are far wider than those of labor and management alone. Even the blessings of a national war-time labor policy cannot give these interests voice at the conference.

The new situation in Washington is more confusing than ever. One hand, President Roosevelt warns the nation not to listen to gossip attributed to "authoritative sources." On the other hand, Cabinet members others who are "in confidence" caution newspapermen not to reveal the source of the information that is given to them. There is a great economic war against Japan, Italy and Germany. The stock market accepted the declaration through a series of tough tests with ease. A tribute to the productive ability of American industry.

SECOND LAP

EVERYBODY'S JOB

"What can I do?" That's a question that millions of Americans all over the country are asking today. We who are behind the far-flung battle lines of freedom know how we help?

The answer isn't hard to find. Not all of us can fly a bomber or operate a tank, but there are many other ways in which we can aid and assist our country.

For one thing, we can all work harder at our jobs than ever before and in that way help increase America's production efficiency. We can be more careful and cut down accidents. We can build up our health and our endurance against difficult days that are bound to come.

We can save waste both at work and at home and help conserve materials that Uncle Sam needs now more than ever before. We can save waste paper and scrap metals that nearly every household has in the form of unused tools, kitchen utensils and similar articles.

Our plants and factories have long had well-organized methods of salvaging such materials. One company saves enough aluminum to build ten two-engine bombers every month! From machine shop leftovers alone. Another gets 75,000,000 pounds of non-ferrous scrap metal every year from parts of its equipment that have outlived their usefulness. Now it's up to us — every one of us — to work out salvage campaigns in our own homes and save whatever we can that our country needs.

Many of the articles we have been accustomed to buy won't be available any more. Industry will have to turn to many products to speed the output of weapons. Instead of blaming our industrial system for those shortages, we can accept them cheerfully, keep up our morale and realize that metals and materials that in peace-time we would use, are now building up the best Army, Navy and Air Force in the world.

When the aggressors attacking America chose a war of machines, they turned down our ally. For America's industrial combination of men, management, machines and resources makes the greatest mass production nation in the world. In that fact lies our strength and our victory.

What is the present status of our industry? It's got to be expanded, of course, and expanded rapidly to meet the needs of war production. But what have we got to go on at the present time? A survey of facts today that we've got a lot.

Modern war homes up huge quantities of oil. America's production of crude oil today is 4,100,000 barrels, and our capacity is 4,750,000 barrels. And we're well on our way to producing 5,000,000 gallons of 100 octane aviation gas every day — enough to "keep 'em flying" at the rate of 30,000 planes at a time.

We can produce about 720,000,000 pounds of aluminum a year and that, together with Canadian production, puts us ahead of the Axis and the Axis-controlled countries in this respect. We're way ahead on steel, too, and at present can produce about twice as much steel as the entire Axis-controlled European continent.

Our airplane industry has expanded at such a rate that more planes have been completed in 18 months than Germany is supposed to have been able to produce in four or five previous years. We are building ships faster than any two Axis nations combined, and, through the speed-up of operations, are turning out 25 per cent more ships this year than was thought possible last May.

In the confusion of hourly radio reports, facts like these give us plenty of reason for confidence and courage. The battle of us assembly lines has started well for us. It's far from finished. Under our vast new victory program many more factories must be built, more weapons produced.

All In The Day's Work

BY E. C. AND N. H. CARPENTER

THE NEW YEAR By the time these words are in print the new year will be here. It will come to us like a nice new page upon which nothing has as yet been written. But what a prospect to look forward to! What sort of a record will have been written this page by the time we come to the end of 1942? No one can tell.

Away back in the Bible times there was a man who certainly looked upon the dark side of life. Once he said, "There is nothing new under the sun. The rivers flow into the sea and it is never full, and the wind blows and then turns about and blows the other way, and so on. Is there anything of which it may be said, 'This is new'?" As we look at the dreary prospect ahead I think many of us at times feel like falling in with that pessimist. But that would be a mistake.

Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric Company, recently printed something to this effect: "The human race is now face to face with the greatest opportunity it has ever had." His idea seems to be that the war is not a mere test of our strength but a test of our character. The human race is now face to face with the greatest opportunity it has ever had. den for his or her school. Every janitor has been appointed to serve as assistant Air Raid Warden for his school. They will be on duty at the school in case of air raids.

5. If an air raid should occur don't get excited in your children. Do not arrive home at their regular hour because no pupils will be dismissed from any school following an air raid until one principal of each school has been notified by the Chief Air Raid Warden that it is safe for her to dismiss her pupils. The warden will not issue an order to dismiss a particular school until all danger from fallen "live" wires, broken gas mains, broken water mains, etc., has been eliminated.

6. Pupils will be retained in all schools during all air raid warnings.

7. Principals will delegate deputy principals to accompany smaller children home after an air raid when ever possible to do so.

8. Do not go to the school during an air raid. Stay indoors in a safe place!

9. Do not use the phone. Do not phone the school messages will no longer be accepted. Clear wires must be available for the use of police, fire department, doctors and air raid wardens, etc.

10. If an air raid warning should be sounded before school all pupils will return to their homes and remain there. In such cases there will be no school all of that day. Schools will resume sessions the next day unless the "no school signal" should be sounded.

Note: The "no school signal" consists of four long blasts and one short blast repeated once, at 7:05 a.m. on the fire sirens at the Indian Neck, Short Beach and Stony Creek. Such a signal means Branford schools will not be open at all on that day.

11. Keep your children away from the streets. Do not let them play in an air raid. Teach your children to do likewise!

"TENEMENT"

(A statistician has a night mare)

By RUTH EVIS
There's Kate, (on relief) She has the basement rooms. Rooms in the halls, and flower's darning to live in tin cans! Has four cats one Parrot, and one ashmole. Poodle, who eats at the table, and sleeps with her!

Mike and Agnes, (married before), Rumored 'til living together! No one really knows the reason, but they fight, drink, and love—together.

Second Floor?
"Ma-X" rents two of her four rooms. "Jim" colored laborer has one. "Wu-Ling" the other. (He operates the corner laundry, does "Ma's" wash free! "Ma-X" who tells anyone who will listen about her "better days" when she was hostess in a Bovey Night Club!

Third Floor?
Well—"they" just can't prove anything (the neighbors, I mean) but Flossie and Rose "Well, after all the only men friends they have and their jobs pay so little, but will you look at the clothes they have—well!"

Fourth floor
That's Mr. and Mrs. J. R., who eat, sleep, work, and live in three rooms and five children. (The family loving people.)

P. LOCAL HEALTH HINTS
How to Prevent War Jitters
By Dr. James A. Tobey

In time of war many persons become unduly excited. Often their agitation borders on panic or hysteria, conditions which are as unnecessary as they are undesirable.

The best food sources of this morale vitamin are whole wheat and enriched white breads, whole grain cereals, lean pork and ham, other lean meats, yeastened peanut butter, and crackers made of soy beans.

Other good sources of thiamine are rye bread, corn meal, eggs, nasourized milk, dried navy beans, green lima beans, green peas, nuts, molasses, and properly cooked vegetables. By property cooked is meant quick heating in a minimum of water, and no use of soda.

Another valuable food substance for the promotion of nervous stability is calcium. Best food sources of this necessary mineral are milk, cheese, white bread made with milk, self-rising flour, and leafy green vegetables.

One sandwich made of enriched whole wheat bread, best food source of this necessary mineral are milk, cheese, white bread made with milk, self-rising flour, and leafy green vegetables.

For all-out national defense the successful conduct of our warfare, your daily diet must contain the foods that give you courage and stamina. There are many such economical foods.

First and foremost among these foods are those rich in thiamine, or vitamin B1, often popularly known as the "morale" vitamin; because it is necessary for a healthy condition of the nervous system. Experience has proven that plenty of this vitamin in the diet actually makes for mettle in most men.

First Born Wins Defense Bond

To the first born in 1942 to purchase a defense bond in the name of the child, will be given to the baby's parents for guardianship until it matures at its full value when the child is ten years old.

Any baby whose parents are members of the Plan, the non-profit organization providing group hospitalization to employed persons and members of their families, will be eligible for the award. If born in any Member Hospital in Connecticut, Twenty-two hospitals in New Haven, Waterbury, Hartford, New London, New Milford, Norwich Putnam, Shelton, Willimantic, and Winsted are Member Hospitals of the Plan, and will cooperate with the plan by notifying it of the first baby born, and the exact time of birth.

Records indicate that an average of ten babies a day are born to plan members in hospitals of the state, and it anticipated that there will be several entries for the bond award. Statistics submitted by the plan show that the total value of the bonds will be $500,000.

Funds to purchase the bonds will be provided by the plan. Mr. Parrish said, but have been donated by an anonymous source interested in the plan and in the sale of defense bonds.

The way was clear for a large financing program to be undertaken by The Connecticut Light and Power Company when stockholders of the Company at a meeting on December 8th approved proposed steps looking to substantial expansion of the company.

The announcement of the war with Japan makes it even more important that we proceed with the construction work for which new money is to be raised, and it is believed that it will not create any difficulty in proceeding with the plan.

Under terms of the today holders of the outstanding 60,044 shares of 5% Preferred Stock to exchange each share for two shares of new $25 Cumulative Preferred Stock, Mr. Campbell stated.

On March 1, 1942, all shares of the present Preferred Stock not surrendered for exchange will be called for redemption at $12 per share plus the quarterly dividend due on that date.

In lieu of the dividend for the period for which the dividend was not paid March 1 on the new $25 preferred shares at a rate of $2.75 per annum which, on a two for one basis, is equivalent to the quarterly dividend on a share of 5% preferred stock, it was explained.

The stockholders also authorized issuance for sale to the public of 200,000 shares of $2.00 Cumulative Preferred Stock without par value plus an additional number of these shares equal to twice the number of shares of 5% preferred stock which was explained.

Ever Dozen meets next with Miss Jennie Lind.

Linda Benson of Short Beach will be the guest of honor at a birthday party New Year's Day, to be given by Judy and Joan Hallden.

UNITED STATES DEFENSE SAVINGS BONDS & STAMPS

A BOND OF UNITY.—The handclasp of sincerity and partnership is used by artist John C. Aheron, of Bridgeport, Conn., to depict the close cooperation of the American people and their Government in financing the Defense Program through the sale of Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps. This poster was awarded first prize at the Museum of Modern Art exhibit in New York out of a large number of submitted drawings, and is being used on posters by business firms in advertising, and in numerous other forms to promote the sale of Defense Bonds and Stamps.

And Now We're Stepping Out!

Yuletide's all over for this year... the last guests have departed, and now it's our turn to celebrate with a trip to New York!

And we'll help you to be gay on the way, with good food and refreshments in our well-stocked Diners and Grill Cars!

You'll be safe on the way too, when you go by train. There are over 24,000 of us railroaders pledged to see you through 1942 in speed and security!

And you'll get home safely, too... all set to help "keep 'em rolling" for Uncle Sam! So here's to the New Year, here's to a great big "V" for victory! and "over top" for Defense Bonds and Stamps!

THE NEW HAVEN R.R.

We pledge ourselves to this cause

A Statement by The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company

We make this pledge publicly to our national government and to the people of the United States:

That we will cooperate unhesitatingly in every effort of authorized government agencies to prevent unwarranted rises in prices of foods.

That we will continue our efforts to reduce the spread between prices paid to the grower and prices charged to the consumers.

That to this end we will continue to do everything in our power to assist the farmers and growers of America in the orderly marketing of their products at the fairest possible prices to them.

That we will make every effort to hold our inventories at the lowest point consistent with good service to our customers because hoarding, whether by wholesalers, retailers, or consumers, will cause higher prices.

That we will endeavor to continue to pay our employees the highest wages and to give them the best working conditions in the grocery business generally.

That we will make every effort to continue to sell food at retail at the lowest gross margin of profit in the history of the retail grocery business.

Today we are providing food for our customers at the lowest gross profit rate in the history of the retail grocery business. This means that we have achieved efficiencies in the distribution of food never before attained. More of your food dollar goes for food and less for overhead expenses than ever before. No other great retail business in the United States in any field is operated with such a low cost of distribution.

No one in the food business can control the wholesale price of food. Only the government of the United States has power to do this, and for the protection of our people this power in the government is now a necessary power.

Today, with the nation at war, we believe that no private interest has any rights in conflict with the general public interest.

The armed forces of the United States are today receiving more and better food than ever before in our national history. It is equally important that all of our people working and living behind the lines, men, women and children, shall be better fed and better nourished than ever before in our national history.

East Haven Bows To Alumni Team By 32-21 Margin

The Alumni basketball team handed the East Haven High School a 32 to 21 defeat last night. Jack Tyler, former East Haven star athlete, who had recently recovered from a painful hunting injury to his left hand, paced the Alumni with eight points. DePablo was high for the variety with 13 points.

From the opening moments when Vinny Castellon tossed in a basket from mid-court, the Alumni took the lead and were never headed. The old boys wrooked East Haven's zone defense by losing in goals from outside. It marked the first time in six years that the Alumni won from the variety. Summary:

Stony Creek Rev. Kenneth Brookes, Minister Church School—10 A. M. Morning Worship—11 A. M. Pilgrim Fellowship—7:30 P. M.

Acting upon the call of the President of the United States urging the American people to set aside the first day of the year 1942 as a day of prayer, of asking for forgiveness for our shortcomings of the past, of consecration to the tasks of the present, and of asking God's help in the days to come, the Committee of Unity and Amity of the Connecticut Defense Council endorses this appeal of the President as a call to the acknowledgment of the eternal spiritual realities of life, and as a recognition of the moral and spiritual meaning inherent in the present world crisis.

The Committee bespeaks the cooperation of each and every community in the state of Connecticut by answering this appeal of the president and asks that in each city and town an appropriate service of intercession and supplication to Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, be held, either in the several churches and synagogues or in community service.

The members of the Committee on Unity and Amity of the State Defense Council are as follows: Rev. Russell J. Clinehy, Rabbi Abraham J. Feldman, Rev. Arthur P. Hanley and the Rev. E. Dent Lackey.

SOUPS For the Gay Meals of Winter

Let your soup set the tone for the festive occasion

says Dorothy Greig

ONE good result of all this stir on nutrition... It's making it smart once more to eat with honest relish. Those of us who have always had fun eating can emerge into the sunlight of polite approval again. From now on, too, the hostess who knows her foods will enjoy heightened prestige. For example, consider that very beginning of a successful meal... A distinctive soup is not only eaten with zest for its own fine flavor, but it sets the tone for the rest of the meal. There are various ways to achieve an individual soup. We can, if we wish, combine two soups in the clever modern fashion. Another smart idea is to search out new soups and use them while they're still something of a novelty. New at the moment, for instance, is condensed black bean soup... a thick soup, deep appetizing brown in color, smooth and delicate on the palate. Condensed cream of potato is another newcomer. This particular one combines beautifully with other soups, too. Here is a party bisque evolved with its aid.

Holiday Bisque with Sherry 1 can condensed cream of potato soup 1/2 cup milk 1/2 cup cream (light) 1 can condensed asparagus soup 1 can milk (using soup can for measure) 4 teaspoons sherry (optional) To prepare the Cream of Potato Soup: Add the milk and 1/2 cup cream to the potato soup, stir through a sieve and then a fine strainer so that a very smooth, creamy potato purée results. To prepare the Asparagus Soup: Combine the asparagus soup with 1 can of milk, then mix the potato soup with the asparagus soup. Heat, but do not boil. Add the sherry just before serving. Serves 6. Garnish the soup with a sprinkling of paprika and chopped parsley. Note: If you have an electric blender prepare the cream of potato soup by simply beating the soup just as it comes from the can until shreds of potato are well broken, then add the milk and continue heating. Or take two every day favorites and combine them with this delicious result: Cream of Celery and Chicken Soup 1 tablespoon butter 1/2 cup milk 1 can condensed celery soup 1 can condensed chicken soup Melt the butter in a saucepan, add the flour and cook until frothy. Then add the milk and cook until thickened. To this thin cream sauce add the celery soup and the chicken soup. Heat, but do not boil. Garnish each serving of soup with a dash of paprika and finely chopped parsley. Serves 5-6.

DIARY of a BEAUTY AUTHORITY

by Helena Rubinstein

Can a person have an adequate diet for six or seven dollars a week? Can a woman give her skin scientific, intelligent beauty care on six or seven cents a day?

These are questions which are asked me over and over again by women who are eager for beauty, but whose budgets are limited.

The answer to both questions is "Yes". All that is required is a little careful planning. The most beautiful women I know plan their beauty budgets a year ahead. Their plan includes provision for daily home beauty care, for special treatments which their skins need time to time, and an extra allowance for emergencies and luxuries.

Like a housewife planning for her family, the beauty-wise woman watches for opportunities to make her budget stretch as far as possible. For practical purposes, there are five main classifications in to which the cosmetic diet can be divided, which correspond roughly to the food diet.

What we think of as staple foods for example, such as milk, butter, sugar and eggs, are paralleled in beauty care by cleansing. Just as good health cannot be maintained without these foods, beauty cannot be maintained without correct cleansing. One fifth of the beauty budget should be set aside for cleansing preparations.

The second allowance in a budget is for meat, fish, etc., which are of utmost importance in building body energy. In beauty the corresponding item is a night cream, to keep the skin smooth, supple and young.

Vegetables, rich in protective vitamins and yet easy on the budget, also play an important part in any diet. Stimulation and toning are the corresponding part of a beauty diet. A stimulant applied lightly to the skin just before the night cream, whips up the circulation and makes the skin twice as receptive to the benefits of the rest of the treatment. A skin toning lotion to close the pores after the daily treatment freshens the skin and leaves it smooth and fine-textured, ready for make-up.

Delicious, wholesome desserts also have their place in every menu. The "dessert" of a beauty diet is the foundation and make-up. Well-planned desserts have a very definite nutritive value, just as a make-up foundation and power, rouge, lipstick and eye make-up play an important part in dramatizing a woman's beauty.

These four-cleansing preparations, night cream, stimulant and skin toning lotion, and foundation and make-up are the daily essentials, but there is another group of beauty aids which every budget should cover.

Just as a good housewife's budget allows for special treats, or entertainment and celebrations, the beauty budget should include several preparations which the skin needs periodically—a masque treatment, a medicate cream for blemishes, an eye cream to smooth away fine lines and crow's feet or such luxuries as a bath oil, powder cologne or night perfume.
