Red Cross War Fund Campaign Needs Backing

The nation-wide Red Cross War Fund campaign will begin on March 1 with a goal of $125,000,000. The quota for the New Haven Chapter has been set at $450,000.

"The American Red Cross faces the biggest year of its history," said William G. Cleaver, chairman of the War Fund Drive. "To keep up its record accomplishments it must have the backing of every man and woman."

Mr. Cleaver pointed out that $300,000 of this sum will go to the national organization to meet the unprecedented needs of the armed forces and for the other services it renders year in and year out. The remaining $150,000 will remain in New Haven to operate the every increasing cost of its numerous services.

Your Red Cross dollar is divided five ways. Services to the armed forces takes 71 percent, Disaster Relief and Civilian War Aid 7 percent, Foreign War Relief 7 percent, Service and Assistance to Chapters another 7 percent and Health Education and Safety Services, 8 percent. These figures include the expenses of the national executive and financial offices.

MORBIDITY REPORT

Two cases of lobar pneumonia were reported here during the past week. In East Haven there was one of lobar pneumonia and one of scarlet fever. North Branford reported four cases of whooping cough.

Less Complaints Of Deliveries

During recent months Postmaster Joseph Driscoll has received complaints from the public of delayed or lost mail addressed to members of the armed forces.

There is wide understanding and cooperation on the part of the mail carriers in this district. The volume of mail is much larger.

Mail for members of the armed forces is delivered by the Postal Service to Army and Navy authorities at post offices convenient to camps or stations in this country or to ports of embarkation when addressed to persons overseas. The Postal Service then has no further jurisdiction over the mail, and responsibility for its delivery, from that point on lies entirely with the Army and Navy. Likewise the Army and Navy handle mail from members of the armed forces until it is delivered to civilian post offices in this country, and the Postal Service has no jurisdiction over the mail until so received.

It is therefore important that mail be properly addressed to assure delivery.

Dean Of Movies Dies In 90th Year

John Pierce Dibble Dies In 90th Year—Born On Brookway-Dibble Farm, Son Of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dibble.

John Pierce Dibble, III, "Dean of the Movies" known throughout the picture industry as "Pop Dibble, the Daddy of them all" passed on February 14, at 1:40 P. M. Mr. Dibble celebrated his 89th birthday last August 22nd.

Funeral services were conducted this afternoon in the Griswold Colonial Home, 75 South Main Street. Burial was in Damascus Cemetery. Born on the Brookway-Dibble farm near Branford, August 22, 1853, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dibble. There were 8 children, four boys and four girls, all of which preceded him.

John P. Dibble started in show business when 19 years of age. He took his brother Frank and $500 and purchasing a dissolving view, oxy-hydrogen, stereopticon machine with 200 views; and started out on the road with a special red wagon and a splendid pair of black horses. An older brother, C. W. Dibble was advance man and booked the shows. This adventure proved most successful and for 20 years the Dibble shows with John P. Dibble as manager toured the East, visiting all of the New England states, as well as most sections of New York state and New Jersey and were hailed as the best of entertainment wherever exhibited.

While on tour in New York state in 1896 Mr. Dibble heard of Thomas A. Edison's latest invention called the Kinetoscope. He went to Edison and purchased his first Kinetoscope and some 25 films varying in length from 30 to 50 feet. These were the longest films that had been made at that time but they were not long enough for a complete evening's entertainment. Mr. Dibble would place his stereopticon machine next to the Edison Kinetoscope and would alternate between slides and the films. In the early days of the movies, films had to be purchased outright. At first all films were purchased from the Edison factory in New Jersey until a sales office was opened in New York City. In addition to Edison, the Lumiere, Pathe, Biograph, Vitagraph, Lubin Co's, made

Dear Editor:

Our Branford Review comes to us a few months late, but we enjoy reading it. It's good to know what's going on in the old home town and your column, "With the Boys in the Service," is very good.

In one issue, we saw a poem, written by one of our fellow soldiers, and found it amusing. We are sending a poem of our own, and hope you will publish it, too, shall we say, boost the morale on the Home Front.

We never do much walking, cause it isn't any fun. When we move, there's action, and we do it on the run.

Your laundry costs you money, and always keeps you broke. Our washing costs us energy, with a GI brush and stroke.

So you washed a million dishes, why you poor unfortunate man. We do not wash our dishes, we just throw away the can.

You spend your time studying, the courses you wanted most. How would you like to spend your time, chasing a New Guinea Ghost.

The parades you stood at, Keesler Field, were tough on all supplies. We'll gladly swap your blue jeans.

Chairman Gives Sales Report

The Branford Tuberculosis Committee reports that the Christmas Seal sales amounted this year to $1302.11. Of this fifteen percent goes to the state and national committees. The rest, after expenses have been deducted will be used in Branford for preventive measures against tuberculosis, for X-rays, for financial aid and for rehabilitation.

The committee wishes particularly to thank the high school pupils who gave their time to the Post Office sale. Through their efforts $85.06 was taken in, a considerable contribution toward the total.

GOT A SPARE?
When asked if he was well happy and busy as usual at the New Haven Airport a Branford resident's Sunday dinner guest replied that everything was OK except that there wasn't an electric iron in the whole shootin' match and it was costing the boys all their pay to have their ties, etc., etc., pressed.

"I'll ask the Review to mention it to its readers. You will have

FURLOUGH FREEDOM
Parents who are concerned about the drinking habits of their boys at service camps would do well to read a bulletin prepared and released by the Office of War Information, entitled "A Survey of Drinking Habits in and around Army Camps." Copies are obtainable by writing to the Confed-erated Alcohol Beverage Industry of the United States, Washington, D. C.

This survey was undertaken to investigate rumors which have gained wide currency, and to provide the American people with honest and accurate information about the millions of men who are doing their patriotic duty in the armed services.

It was concluded that there is no excessive drinking among troops, and drinking does not constitute a serious problem, 2-the sale of 3.2 beer in the post exchanges in training camps is a positive factor in Army sobriety; 3—the American Army in all history has been so orderly.

Evidence was adduced in a number of ways: from the testimony of commanding officers; from the testimony of provost marshals who are the police chiefs of the Chaplines; from the testimony of informed and intelligent leaders in nearby communities; from the testimony of Federal field men charged with social protection and recreational activities.

There was first-hand observation of conditions in so-called "hot spots" and "sin zones" by the touring investigators.

Experienced commanding officers all over the country agreed that considerably more than half of the troops under their drink nothing stronger than beer by choice, and that many even abstain from beer.

NO SHORT OUT
William M. Jeffers, rubber administrator, recently struck hard at "loose and careless" talk about the rubber problem. "The rubber problem is not licked; there is a definite rubber shortage; there will be lines for all only if the most stringent measures are applied and received with 100 percent cooperation on the part of the public. That is the grim truth.
There is no easy short cut to rubber conservation, or to the solution of more rubber." "That is what Mr. Jeffers said," "The the Japanese cut off 90 per cent of our supplies and that as a result the United States is comprehending into two years the building of a tremendous synthetic rubber industry which ordinarily would take a dozen years to build.

"The greatest source of supply of rubber we have in this country is in the million tons of rubber in the tires of our passenger cars and trucks. We must stretch that million tons as far as it will possibly go—and maybe a little farther."

"MISSIONS FULFILLED"
Guadalcanal is being heralded as a great American victory. So it is—a defensive victory. Every credit should go to the forces who wrested this key to the Solomons from Japan's grasp. Americans can be justly proud of the sailors, soldiers, marines, and fliers who captured Guadalcanal in the face of the enemy, drove off his repeated attempts to land new forces, and eventually pushed his jungle fighters into a corner.

The series of actions around the Solomons have proved the fighting spirit and effectiveness of the American sea, land, and air forces.
They have apparently ended any danger that the supply line to Australia might be broken. In the measure that they have weakened Tokyo's air and sea power, they have opened the way for an Australian-American offensive starting from New Guinea and Guadalcanal. But they have not cleared the Japanese out of the Solomons or broken their hold on the vast conquests of last year.

It is easy to smile at Tokyo's explanation that its troops had been "withdawn after their missions had been fulfilled." "Expelled" would be closer to it. The move might be accurately described as the escape of a harried remnant. Yet once more it is necessary for Americans to check their pride by keeping Guadalcanal in mind. If the Japanese States had to take the whole of the Pacific, the loss of this country again might be possible.
The Japanese troops on Guadalcanal did, manifestly, fulfill one mission. They kept much of America's air and sea power in the Pacific tied up for six months. That time was invaluable to Tokyo in its essential task of organizing and exploiting the tremendous treasure of war materials in the Dutch Indies and other sections of Nippon's conquests. Americans should not laugh too loudly at Tokyo's explanation. Only if they made better use of those six months—building planes and ships which will reduce the enemy's bases at a far faster rate—can they feel any elation.—Christian Science Monitor.

YOUR INCOME TAX
WHEN, WHERE, AND HOW TAXES
ARE TO BE PAID

Taxes due on a return filed for the calendar year 1942 may be paid in full at the time for filing in the return or before March 15, 1943. The tax may, at the option of the taxpayer, be paid in four equal installments instead of in a single payment, in which case the first installment is to be paid on or before March 15, the second on or before June 15, the third on or before September 15, and the fourth on or before December 15, 1943. If the taxpayer elects to pay the tax in four installments, each of the four installments must be equal in amount, but any installment may be paid in full at the election of the taxpayer, prior to the time prescribed for its payment. If an installment is not paid in full on or before the date fixed for its payment, the whole amount of the tax remaining unpaid is required to be paid upon notice and demand from the collector.

The tax must be paid to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer's return is required to be filed—that is, to the collector for the district in which is located the taxpayer's legal residence or principal place of business, or if he has no legal residence or principal place of business in the United States, then

A Plea From Uncle Sam!

THE TENANT FARMER TAKES ROOT

A bounteous harvest, together with present prices for farm products, is enabling tenant farmers to achieve a long held ambition to go into business for themselves. Federal Land banks and country "weeklies" are reporting many sales to families who have hitherto been living on acres not their own.

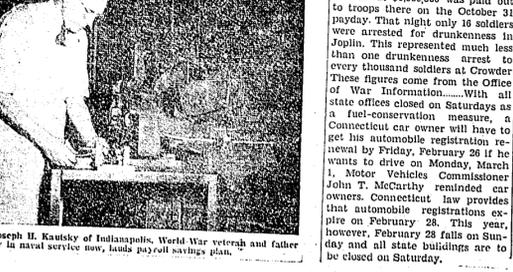

During World War One, ruralists living on rented farms found themselves, when crops rose beyond the means of their rent, that the price of land had risen so far beyond its true value as to discourage the tenant farmer. World War Two finds the situation favorable to the tenant farmer. Only a few large farms have been sold since the country again entered the war, and the small town banks and other opportunities, and the tenant farmer of provability who desires to make a small down payment on a small farm is likely to be able to do so. For both in the rural areas, and in the small town banks, which has elapsed since the war, less dependence upon rainfall and loss of a haphazard venture, less dependence upon rainfall and loss of livestock, maintaining a flock of poultry, a herd of dairy cattle and a piggy, have placed many farms upon a dependable economic basis.

The tenant farmers who on March 1 will move onto their newly acquired land are the "cream of the crop," so deeply rooted in the soil that, while hundreds of their fellows are to be transplanted, they are to be transplanted.

to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer's return is required to be filed—that is, to the collector for the district in which is located the taxpayer's legal residence or principal place of business, or if he has no legal residence or principal place of business in the United States, then

MAPLE SUGAR SEASON HERE
The maple sugar season has arrived. Snow lies thickly over most of the Connecticut countryside. The robins are still discreetly lingering in the south. It will be many weeks before forsythia buds swell into bloom. But Neil W. Hosley, extension forester at the University of Connecticut notes that there have already been two runs of sap. Those who want the best quality of maple syrup should wait no longer, says Professor Hosley. It is time to tap and hang the buckets. It is time to start to boil.
Connecticut does not produce much maple syrup. It has no commercial sugar industry. But here and there a country dweller with a few maples in the dooryard taps his trees with home-made, elderberry sprouts, hangs jars (or one-gallon tin cans as sap buckets, and produces very satisfactory maple syrup for his own use.
This year, thinks Professor Hosley, anyone who has the trees, the wood for fuel, and the time, will do well to make a little maple syrup. It is a "little man" job. It is out-of-doors, in a shallow pan set over an ordinary picnic fireplace, or bolt it in the kitchen if there is a wood or coal fire in the kitchen range. His advice is decidedly against the use of gas or electricity or oil as fuel for boiling sap.
The sugar season will not arrive in northern New England for several weeks and in the past Connecticut people have customarily tapped their trees until the first of March. The forestry department of the University, in an experiment last year, discovered that the sap begins to run much earlier in Connecticut. There was one run this year late in January.

War Demands Call For Fat

The United States is being forced to use its stocks of glycerine, an important war material, even though the means to balance production and consumption are within reach, the Office of War Information reported. While Connecticut's January collection of kitchen fats was below the state's quota, "We are dipping into our reserves," OWI declared. "Glycerine is made from fats. If every household collected a half pound of waste fat and turned it in, it would bring us to a point where we could make up our needs out of current fat supplies. The increased military demands on shipping. Very little coffee will be imported before mid-March and the stocks in this country will go around only by extending the rationing period.

COFFEE
We're going to drink a little less coffee in the next six weeks. Coupon No. 25 of War Ration Book I is now valid until February 28 and it's good for one pound as usual. But this pound must last six weeks instead of five. The 20 per cent reduction in our coffee allotment was made necessary by increased military demands on shipping. Very little coffee will be imported before mid-March and the stocks in this country will go around only by extending the rationing period.

SUGAR
Coupon No. 11 now valid for 3 pounds.

TIRES
"A" coupon holders must have a receipt by March 31. "B," "C" and "D" must be inspected by February 28.

Aircraft Warning Service

Our women observers take their work so seriously that they're ready to be in the post, day-time to relieve a spotter. Upon proper identification the ladies did not want to be left in the post because it was during the day. They wanted to keep it exclusively for ladies.

During the recent meeting, the question of changing shifts during a blackout, came up. There will be NO change of shifts during a blackout and observers have no right to travel during a blackout as observers. If there are any changes of shifts at this time the C.O. will transport the observers personally.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Cate spent Monday in New York and visited the School of Recognition and Pilot School.

Mr. Cate mentioned it to Mrs. Cate as she hasn't showed out enough to talk. The only thing she can remember was the last time she went there when it was too hot to live.

Let's have some news fellow spotters, we can't give up now.

Representatives of more than 500 Observation Posts of the Ground Observer Corps of the Aircraft Warning Service in this section of the country have been chosen by the Army Air Forces to attend the Aircraft Recognition School at New York City commencing February 18. Brigadier General Earle E. Partridge of the New York Air Defense Wing announced.

"The airplane spotters will be trained for one week at the Army's General Partridge said. "Thereafter they will be responsible for their proper post and assume responsibility for training other observers, using material supplied by the Army."

This announcement followed plans announced recently by Brigadier General Willis R. Tamm, Command, wherein he emphasized the importance of training all persons involved in offensive and defensive operations to be able to recognize and identify aircraft in flight.

Other schools have been established at Portland, Albany, Bangor, Boston, Syracuse, Norfolk, Baltimore, and Scranton. Observers chosen in the New York Wing were picked by the Observers of their post in cooperation with Civilian Directors, and approved by officers of the Army Air Corps.

Lt. Edward E. Murray will direct the Recognition School Program for the New York Air Defense Wing which will have headquarters at the Hotel McAlpin in New York City.

IT MAY BE WORSE!

The Office of Defense Transportation has directed all bus companies to prepare plans immediately for curtailment of mileage in the event of an emergency. This government directive says in part:

"Transportation services are in degree (1) vital, (2) essential, (3) desirable, and (4) customary. Shortage in gasoline or rubber supply can only be met by reduced vehicle mileage, all borne on the depleting rubber supply. The Office of Defense Transportation, in order to be in a position to accomplish, if need be and on short notice, SPECIFIC CURTAILMENT, requests that there be developed by passenger carrier agencies, including all local and inter-city bus and taxicab operators, and with the cooperation of the local and state regulatory bodies to the extent possible within the defined time limit, complete plans for operation as follows:

Plan No. 1. — A plan for curtailed operation to eliminate 10% of all presently operated rubber-borne vehicle mileage;

Plan No. 2. — A similar plan to eliminate 20% of all presently operated rubber-borne vehicle miles;

Plan No. 3. — A similar plan to eliminate 30% of all presently operated rubber-borne vehicle miles."

WE SINCERELY HOPE THAT THE GASOLINE AND RUBBER SITUATION WILL NOT MAKE IT NECESSARY FOR THE GOVERNMENT TO ORDER ANY OF THESE PLANS PUT INTO EFFECT AS IT WILL CAUSE MUCH INCONVENIENCE TO THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.

1. YOUR LOCAL CALLS. Be brief. Don't make unnecessary calls, especially if you share a party line. Avoid calls to "information"—use your directory.

2. YOUR OUT-OF-TOWN CALLS. Calls to points within Connecticut—and also to nearby out-of-state points—can generally be handled without delay at any time. Avoid placing calls to the more distant points between 7 and 9 in the evening.

YOUR JOB AT HOME

Inadequately lighted stairways and cluttered steps lead to many a broken leg—and head. And are indications of poor housekeeping. Members of the Red Cross are helping to correct these conditions by keeping them up to date.

Car accidents cause fires, and fires cause accidents. So, too, can careless housekeeping. Don't waste your time and money on a fire that could have been prevented by a few simple precautions.

Star Affixed Upon Church Service Flag

There was a large attendance in St. Andrew's Methodist Church Sunday morning for the memorial service when the first gold star was affixed to the church service flag for Edwin Tipping, merchant marine, who was lost at sea three weeks ago. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. John L. Gregory, in connection with the regular morning worship, at which the sermon topic was "Learning from Lincoln."

The memorial began with a rendition by the choir of Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," and ended with the reading of the words of the "Mariner's Hymn." At the conclusion of the prayer there was a period of silence while John Gregory sounded taps from the church corridor. The service was an eloquent and moving tribute to the young man, one of the first from East Haven to be lost in the present conflict. Present were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tipping; his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Longyear Tipping; and a large number of relatives and friends.

MOVIE GUYED

HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

Screen critics who unanimously named Donna Reed among the actresses most likely to attain stardom in 1943 stood in a good way to have their prophecies come true this week when the M-G-M starlet was cast in the romantic lead of "The Man From Down Under", starring Charles Laughton.

As part of its long sustained policy M-G-M, to follow the current smash success of James Hilton's "Random Harvest," is planning to film a long list of best-seller novels.

Mr. Coarker has deserted the movies—He's packed his bags and departed for parts unknown. As far as Mr. Coarker is concerned, M-G-M can get someone else for his role in "Bataan Patrol."

Most elated actor in Hollywood today is Chill Wills. The M-G-M comedian recently wrote the words and music for a new song titled "Blue Eyed Sailor." Dinah Shore sang it for the first time on Command Performance January 30th and Chill was deluged with compliments.

Robert Walker, M-G-M's new screen find, is going to see Hollywood and Southern California even if he wears out his shoes. Coming to California two months ago, Bob was immediately cast in "Bataan Patrol" and had no opportunity to tour the film capital. Now that his role is completed Bob will start his sight-seeing jaunt. The tour will be made by street car and via "shoe leather express," as he puts it.

Lionel Barrymore donned screen make-up this week for the first time in more than ten years. The occasion was his role in the new M-G-M production, "Private Miss Jones." Because the picture is filmed in Technicolor, make-up was necessary.

An excellent double feature picture program is now playing at Loew Poli College Theatre with "Immortal Sergeant" starring Henry Forda, and Maureen O'Hara plus "Time to Kill" starring Lloyd Nolan and Heather Angel.

Coming to the College Theatre next Tuesday one of the best programs of the season and two first run hits. The first hit will be "Reverie with Beverly" starring Ann Miller, and featuring several Bands including Duke Ellington, and Band Bob Crosby and his band, Count Basie and his band, Mills Brothers, Freddie Slack and his orchestra, The Radio Rogues, and Frank Sinatra plus the second big hit "Pierce of the Plains" with John Carroll.

most of his formal education at Gen. Wm. Russell's military school in New Haven. At one time he was a member of Co. I, State Militia of Meriden, Conn. The Dibble family were descendants of Mayflower stock and the American Revolution.

chapters and their 6,154 branches in the United States is exchanged into terms of service it does not seem large.

From January 1, 1942 to February 28, 1943 the nation-wide Red Cross services to the armed forces, through its workers in all stations and hospitals in the United States, insular and foreign posts added 1,500,000 service men. It set up 150 clubs and rest centers for military men on leave in Australia, Great Britain, Iceland, India, the Middle East, Alaska and Northern Africa.

In 190 domestic disasters, 130,000 persons were given disaster relief. First Aid certificates were issued to 5,500,000 men and women and 2,800 highway first aid stations were established.

alone, 25,000 nurses were supplied for the armed forces and 900,000 certificates were issued for Home Nursing.

The third largest motion picture chain in the U. S. is now operated by the Red Cross, and before the end of this year it is estimated that the hospital ward circuit will cover more than 350 hospitals.

Chapter volunteers to the number of 3,500,000 produced 520,000,000 surgical dressings.

1,800,000 people donated blood to the Red Cross to be processed into plasma for our fighting men.

And so it goes, in every one of the Red Cross services, record-breaking achievements made possible only through the cooperation and united effort of a people bent on effecting a victory—a people who will work together to meet the goal of the Red Cross War Fund drive—a people who will give continued service to their soldiers, sailors, and marines as well as to the cause of humanity throughout the world.
