Editor Johnson Given Write-Up In Publication

The aged, infirm and even the bed-ridden have been turned into war material producers under the plan Governor Raymond E. Baldwin has promoted in easing industrial Connecticut's manpower shortage and putting more plants to work on equipment needed to beat the Axis.

Connecticut's voluntary plan receives national recognition in the current issue of Collier's Weekly which shows how Governor Baldwin goes directly to a plant, regardless of its size, to see how it can help the war effort.

"In the Colt Arms plants at Hartford, white-collar men and women cut short their regular jobs to put in full shifts making weapons," says the Collier's article. "Around Westport, war material is being fashioned by mothers, shut-ins and women working in their own homes. In Guilford, there's an organization called the Guilford Wartime Industries; it puts scores of oldsters to work at light manufacturing jobs—and some jobs that aren't so light."

And here's just a few of the hundreds of thousands of war material producers who are busy at work all over the state.

Negro Church Observes 20th Anniversary

Dr. Stephen G. Spottswood, founder of St. Stephen A.M.E. Zion Church was its guest speaker at the 20th anniversary exercises on Sunday.

The printed program carried this note:

"If the surviving original members—Messdames Susie T. Gibbs and Carrie Chandler and Messrs. John U. Beamon and Joseph D. Chandler—had not the vision to see 20 years and more ahead perhaps there would be no Negro church in Branford. Then there would be little, if any, spiritual union because no community can live long without the church to guide it. Yet we must realize the hardships St. Stephen has had to undergo during this one-fifth of a century. But on the day that she was consecrated the lives of the chartered members, along with the founder—Dr. Spottswood, were also consecrated to fulfill the charge for God and Zion. This you are not to forget, as a member, a charge rests upon you to keep the church alive as a symbol of indestructible spiritual force and faith."

Scrap Salvage Very Valuable War Material

Chairman Tousey Cautions That Deposits In Bins Are As Vital As Deposits At A Bank.

In an appeal to local club leaders today, Mr. Harold Tousey, Chairman of the Branford Salvage Committee, revealed that even the War Department's steel requirements for 1943 cannot be met because the mills cannot turn out steel at a fast enough pace.

Mr. Tousey's statement said the War Department will get 14% less steel than it asked for, but that a critical shortage of most strategic materials can be avoided if every possible salvage item finds its way into war channels.

"To facilitate the flow of rags, rubber tires and tubes, and all metals," Mr. Tousey pointed out, "salvage bins have been located at convenient points throughout the Branford area. These bins erected by public spirited men at considerable cost, will justify that expense only if we have the fullest cooperation from every citizen."

"When that old pair of pliers breaks, toss it into the nearest scrap bin on your way to work tomorrow. If you discard some woolen rags, don't leave them around for the moths to chew on. Take these rags at once to the salvage bin. It has compartments for the various items."

Mr. Tousey's request to local clubs to take the leadership in making the salvage bins a steady producer of raw materials for war factories, is part of a state-wide effort to increase salvage production through the regular use of bins.

The bin in Branford is part of the state's total of 302 bins.

The bin in Branford is located on Main Street on the site of the old Center School.

State Labor Supervisor Paul L. Putnam says that the plan is as follows: Names and addresses of these 5-F registrants will be requested by County War Boards under a Selective Service regulation which gives them this right. The War Boards will then send a letter to each registrant pointing out that the help of experienced farm workers is needed in food production and asking that the registrant call on a designated representative of the War Board within 30 days to discuss the matter of taking a farm job.

Registrants who make no reply to the letter will be reported to the local Selective Service Board. Registrants will also be warned that if they ignore the appeal the War Board may consider requesting a waiver of physical disability which would permit their induction into the armed forces.

Army Trucks Yesterday Carried Away The Wrecked Plane In Which Second Lt. Neil C. Donovan, 23, of Scranton, Penna., Lost His Life Sunday Morning.

Residents in the Short Beach area reported the plane zoomed low shortly after 9 a.m., and crashed a few yards east of the island home of Judge Edwin R. Kelsey.

In the hope the pilot had freed himself from the ship, several planes combed the adjacent waters and local swimmers attempted to effect a rescue in a futile search after spotting the craft.

Milk Producers Price Increase Seems Unlikely

Selective Service May Be Some Help to Farmers Who Appealed to Hartford Last Week For Consideration.

State OPA Director Chester Bowles Stated, Following a Two-Day Hearing Held by State Milk Administrator Hammerberg, That "If Conclusive Evidence is Found That Dairy Men Need Increased Revenue to Maintain Production, Speedy Action Will be Taken by the OPA."

At about the same time comes announcement that men classified as 4-F by Selective Service, if they have had experience on dairy farms or general farms and are not now working in essential occupations, will shortly receive a call to relieve the state's farm labor shortage.

State Labor Supervisor Paul L. Putnam says that the plan is as follows: Names and addresses of these 5-F registrants will be requested by County War Boards under a Selective Service regulation which gives them this right. The War Boards will then send a letter to each registrant pointing out that the help of experienced farm workers is needed in food production and asking that the registrant call on a designated representative of the War Board within 30 days to discuss the matter of taking a farm job.

Pleasure Driving Ban To Be Enforced Here; Governor Telegraphs Chairman Has Information On War Gardens

John W. Barron, Chairman of the War Garden Committee, has recently distributed a leaflet "Connecticut Consumer's Calendar," issued by the Conn. Dept. of Agriculture.

This will aid the housewife in keeping track of the periods when fruits and vegetables are plentiful and should be canned.

If canning is done at the peak period, the cost per jar will be more economical to the housewife. Often, a short time crop is entirely lost sight of and only remembered when it is too late for home canning. The calendar should be saved for ready reference.

Asparagus, early June; Spinach, early June; Lettuce, June; Strawberries, June; Beans, June, July; Early Cabbage, late June, July; Snap Beans, July; Bunched Carrots, July, August; Sweet Corn, August; Lima Beans, August; Tomatoes, August; Peppers, August, September; Peas, late August, September Apples, September.

Redmen Appeal For Permission To Hold Bazaar

A public hearing on a petition submitted by Pequot Tribe, I.O.R.M., has been called by the Zoning Board of Appeals for Friday at 8 P.M. in the town hall. The applicants are requesting the use of property in Main Street opposite Gerrish Avenue for an out-of-door bazaar beginning June 7.

This property used last summer for the same purpose lies in a residence zone and use of the site for a carnival is objected to by some of the residents of the neighborhood. Members of the Red Men have circulated a petition in the immediate vicinity of the grounds asking the use of the property and claim to have the approval of a majority of residents.

Included in the call of the meeting by the zoning commission is a request by Angelo Sorrentino of 121 Short Beach Road to operate a grocery store there.

Pleasure Driving Ban To Be Enforced Here; Governor Telegraphs Chairman Has Information On War Gardens

Governor Wires That He Shall Continue to Have Faith in Majority—To Investigate Illegal Use Of Coupons And Black Markets.

Police Chief Christian B. Wochric said this noon "The pleasure driving ban will be enforced here," and added that his department will watch black market sales especially.

Richard D. Walsh, secretary to Governor Raymond E. Baldwin wired the Review this afternoon to the effect that because nearly 97 per cent of all car owners in Connecticut voluntarily complied with the governor's "honor system," the OPA driving ban a program of enforcement will become effective this week and aimed at black markets and obviously illegal use of gas coupons.

The plan whereby state police and local police in a drive to conserve gasoline at the source of supply was announced by Governor Baldwin in his weekly radio address on Tuesday night. "Our experience during the past two weeks has proven the success of the honor system as applied to the great majority of citizens."

The governor wired the Review, "The plan we have adopted is working and I call upon the patriotic spirit of all of you to keep working, for by your tremendous sentiment generated; the already small number of those not cooperating will be even further reduced."

"We assure you that we will protect your spirit of cooperation and encourage its continuation by directing enforcement and efforts against the small minority who refuse to comply." He continued, "We will devote our attention to illegal sources of supply. The use of fraudulent coupons and the obviously willful violators."

"The governor said, 'My faith in the loyalty and integrity of a great majority of our citizens has been justified. I shall continue to have that faith.'"

There is a bill before Congress

Edward S. Burnham Tells Relative of Experiences As Boy On Father's Farm.

Among our exchange papers is the Rockville Journal which we enjoy reading.

It was a surprise this week to read the following story about Edward S. Burnham, for many years a Short Beach resident.

Says the Journal:
"Edward S. Burnham of New Haven, who is Cliff Knight's 'Uncle
Ed,' has been visiting Mr. and Mrs.
Knight at Early Dawn Farm in Vernon Center.

"Mr. Burnham told them of some of his experiences as a boy on the farm of his father, Edwin S.
Burnham, a Civil War veteran.

"My father hurried me right away to the nearest town but the dentist was away," he relates. "So I went to an uncle of mine and stayed that night. They slaundered the food of boys, as best they could but it pained me all night.

"The following day we found a doctor who was here from New York but he had no instruments with him. Finally when the thumb had become almost gangrenous, we reached an old army surgeon and he looked care of the thumb. As it was there was some infection. It was days before it really healed."

Mr. Burnham tells of old time dentists who extracted teeth with crude forceps but more commonly with a cruel device known as a "turkey." This was a handle with a receptacle that fit over the tooth and was tightened. The dentist then twisted the handle around until the tooth loosened and yanked out. Giving the patient gas or cocaine was unknown.

"Incidentally, there were originally ten dentists in the Burnham family, Cliff's mother being one of them. There are now but three survivors."

THE CONSERVATION OF HOME APPLIANCES

THE conservation of home appliances helps to win the war.
Every appliance failure due to improper use or lack of reason-

Parts are hard to get—sometimes impossible! Labor for expert repair work is scarce.
Complete breakdowns of any of your home appliances might mean the total loss of the service of the appliance until long after the war has ended.

SERVICE MEN'S DAY

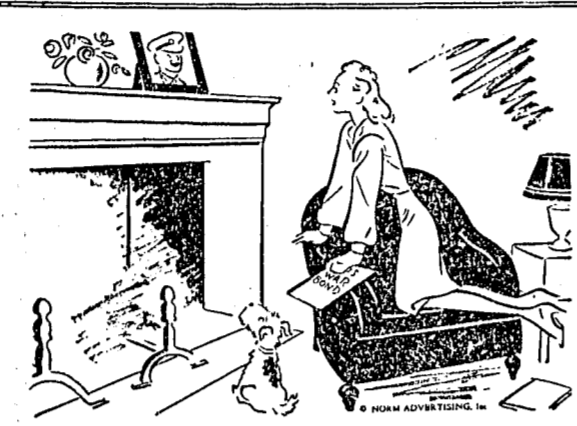

Bluejacket Joe Smith was fed up with guff chiefs, with Navy grub, with Mess details, with standing a watch and weekly lectures from his girl in Dubuque, and losing the best part of his life because a sadist paper-monger paid ideas into a yellow Nipponese head. He was fed up with strikes and self-busness and red tape.

He slipped down on the grass outside the monument of the Unknown Soldier and picked up a clover leaf. In the dusk the white marble of the monument shone clean against the murky sky. Suddenly he heard, or thought he heard, the rattle of a street drum and the tread of a file. And up there in the sky he saw a strange sight. It was an army marching by moonlight. In an army but they marched proud. They were dressed in blue. He saw Washington and Lafayette and Pulaski; and around them were thousands of their cheering countrymen.

Silently he watched as Commodore John Barry and John Paul Jones and a whole fleet of Yankee frigates and privateers went sailing by. And after them, an army in blue and an army in grey, marching into an army; there was Jackson and Grant and Lee and Abe Lincoln.

Next came a great army of doughboys in khaki and of sailors in trim navy blue. It was the biggest army so far. Then he saw Col. Kelly and General Andrews and the Sullivans draw abreast; and then the Schmits, and the Lodonskis, and the Oshlens, and the Capas. Kids his own age, kids he knew who had died at Bataan, and a Guadalcanal, on the seven Allied Industry group in Branford is composed of H. E. Baldwin, Felix Pozzi, Mr. Lickens, Mr. C. H. Buckley, Jr., and Mr. McCutcheon with Mr. Emil Nygard for our scores of gift suggestions whose beauty and distinction belie their tiny price.

SHE CAN DREAM, CAN'T SHE?

Even though the bride's home may be only a dream for the future, she still wants beautiful, useful gifts! Even though she may not be able to "keep house" right now, she's keeping her chin up and her eyes on the future and collecting those things she can use right now and that will go to make up the home she'll have someday!

If you've been racking your brains to think of the gift for this year's bride or the bride of other years, you'll think heaven and HAMILTON'S for our scores of gift suggestions whose beauty and distinction belie their tiny price.

In June Victory Gardeners Can Have Roses Too

One of the 1943 Victory arrangements compactly designed by House Head, Artist of the Florists' Technical Delivery Association which is an excellent protection. Does, several varieties of chrysanthemums and bonerain are mentioned by vitally colorful winter flowers.

Practical gardeners busy with vegetable production this year should also remember that June is the month of roses as well as green peas—of spinach and dillphurium, too.

Suggestions for the cultivation of flowers as well as the care of Victory gardens are contained in the June issue of House Beautiful.

"If your proper pick at the firstness of home grown peas, don't forget those other June vegetables, hot weather annual plants and seedlings will help to keep growth and flowering what it should be in the summer garden. Include in a little swapping with your neighbors if necessary.

"You know you can do a lot to make an annual the kind of plant you want it to be by clipping and clipping. Pinch out the top and you make a bushy plant—pinch off some of the buds and you get bigger flowers from the rest. Grow plants slightly and they'll reach for the sun.

"Summer mulches are real labor savers. Don't stretch up shal-lowly; your fingers; don't cut."

Ringling Circus On Return Trip

Madison Square Garden will have a Ringling Brothers Circus for the summer after all. "Spangles," America's first Continental circus, will be introduced to New York at the Garden on Wednesday night, June 16th.

When the thirty-seven day stay of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus ended in New York a few weeks ago, more than 70,000 persons had turned away, unable to purchase tickets, and some $37,885.00 in mail orders had to be returned as the Big Show headed for its Boston engagement. All records had been shattered at the box-office and the final Garden performance was completely sold out.

There was much talk about the Big Show returning for a repeat engagement—but owing to arrangements made with the Office of Defense Transportation and the carefully planned route for the 1943 season, this move was found to be impossible. Yet New Yorkers had clearly demonstrated by their insatiable demand for tickets that the Ringling management had just the right brand of entertainment.

The Ringlings had long wanted to introduce a continental circus to New York. There are millions of foreign born Americans, who are boys and girls in the country of their birth had looked forward to "Spangles" for years. The continental circus, just as the American boys and girls had learned to anticipate eagerly the American circus, made famous by the Ringling Brothers.

Then, too, it was to be expected that these same American boys and girls would be interested in the Ringlings and their Ringling management, which has been in the business since the first time anywhere since the Cleveland Circus fire, in which they performed heroic feats, though badly burned, in aiding circus attendants to rescue other animals and equipment. Since that day these terrible pachyderms have been tenderly cared for and nursed at the Ringling winter quarters and schooled in entirely new routines which will be presented for the first time anywhere during the "Spangles" engagement by Andrea Gullagher, under the direction of Captain James Reynolds.

"Spangles" is announced as "Dazzlingly Different" and will surely find favor with those circus fans who have preferred a more intimate view of the proceedings than massed activity in three rings. The announcement of the coming of "Spangles" has been delayed until now because the Ringlings first wanted to make sure of certain star attractions, which have now been duly signed for the Garden show. Among the acrobats will be several "on furlough" from the Big Show itself, and these are: Alfred Court's famous mixed circus massed activity in three rings presented by Joseph Walsh; the Sensational Klimra, performing high in the dome of the Garden; Ely Todety, the Russian Bird of Paradise; Dr. Herman Ostermaler presenting "Doheos," the White Wingless Pegasus combined with a beautiful number featuring dozens of beautiful girls.

Added to this array of talent will be The Paroffs, in starting feats of acrobatics; The Lewis Trio, Comedians of The Flying Trapeze; The Three Novak Stars, acrobatic marvels; A. Robbins, the famous "Barnum Show" Pulling on Bears; Adriana and Charley, sensational trampoline act; The Walkin's, Aerial perch wonders; Rol-

Billy Arlety, the Russian Bird of Paradise, one of the many acrobats and circus stars with "Spangles," the continental circus presented by Ringling Brothers and opening at Madison Square Garden on Wednesday, June 16th.

Flyers preparing for a night flight wear close fitting red lensed glasses for 30 minutes.

Yes, Jewels manufactured by the Bulova Watch Company are used as bearings in precision instruments. They are absolutely essential to the war effort for without bearings, no bomber could stay in the air; no war ship could navigate.

Battle Wagons

When Japan attacked at Pearl Harbor we had 17 battle ships in service and 15 building. We were making preparations but the war did not wait. These 32 battle wagons cost American taxpayers three billion dollars for a two ocean navy. The war seemed far away then.

Now fifty million Americans have a personal stake in it. It has been brought home to them. That's why everyone is increasing purchases of War Bonds.

RIGHT OUT OF THE AIR

DINAH SHORE, singing at the Army Air Corps camp at Orlando, Calif., with the 48th Central Postal Directory, says the most amazing sight she has seen in the air is the sight of a plane flying over the water.

She was the huge stack of butter in the house. "It was amazing," reports Dinah, "to see one which hasn't seen that much butter in months!"

Timely indeed was the appearance of "The Security of War Information" in the "New York Times" on June 1, to make a short talk on "The Security of War Information" the same week that the government distributed a booklet on that subject to every family having close relatives in the armed services.

George Durns and Grace Allen have been in California more than a week. They are on their way back to New York City where they began to make plans for a visit to Mexico City.

THIS BUSINESS OF CROWDING

It was the women of the country who began what has now become our biggest industry. All through the summers of long ago our grandmothers preserved and pickled the extra vegetables and fruits that came from their gardens and orchards. In the fall came the butchering, and the smell of hickory smoke from the meat smokers where the meats were hung to cure. Eggs were put down in brine and such things as potatoes and turnips were buried in barrels where foods are salted, smoked, pickled, canned, frozen, and dried. And the number is growing with the need for still more food. The dehydration industry alone has grown by leaps and bounds since the war began, and millions of pounds of today's foodstuffs are being shipped abroad. Still more foods are being frozen, many of them for the armed forces. New methods of packaging foods are being developed every day. But most of the foods we eat this year were grown in 1942 and the foods from this year's planting will be consumed a year from now. So it takes long-range planning and planning as well as skillful processing if we are to meet our obligations. The food industry is doing a stupendous job. When the planning and processing of the food control are equally efficient we shall be able to feed a large share of the world.

SPEAKING OF HEALTH

By Dr. Victor G. Heiser

THAT LET-DOWN FEELING

During a period of national emergency, it is the duty of all men and women to keep themselves in the best physical condition possible. We are of course considering persons able to go about their usual industrial, household, or other tasks. The ailing, aged, and infirm require other consideration. But, despite the national needs, many complain of fatigue. Now fatigue is a complex thing. The stenographer coming to work on Monday morning after a week end of parties and dancing; the factory worker who falls to use his time-off for personal relaxation and rest; the housewife who had too many visitors over a holiday—all these may show signs of fatigue.

Let us think for a moment of the fast-stepping stenographer. She danced much of the week end and had insufficient sleep. But if she met a nice boy friend, she will arrive at the office on Monday morning all aglow, all ebullient, and with few signs of tiredness. If her beau was taken from her by a girl friend, the result will be just the opposite. The feeling of fatigue will be the result of a single item: reactions to such items or occurrences vary with each individual.

George Durns and Grace Allen have been in California more than a week. They are on their way back to New York City where they began to make plans for a visit to Mexico City.

THE MOST IMPORTANT OF ALL GUNNERY INSTRUMENTS ON A BATTLESHIP IS THE RANGE-FINDER. WHY IS THIS SO?

DURING PRODUCTION, PARTS FOR BULOVA WATCHES ARE ENLARGED UP TO 100 TIMES BY THIS SCIENTIFIC PROJECTION MACHINE. WHY IS THIS DONE?

THE U.S. ARMY IS NOW USING A CAMERA THAT COSTS OVER $50,000 TO BUILD. HOW MANY ANGLES DOES THIS CAMERA PHOTOGRAPH SIMULTANEOUSLY?

THE LEAF BUTTERFLY IS SO LIKE A LEAF WHEN IT FOLDS ITS WINGS AND SETS THAT IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO DISTINGUISH IT AT FIRST GLANCE. WHAT TYPE OF INSECTS POSSESS PROTECTIVE INSTINCTS?

Answers to "IT'S TIME YOU KNEW" by Lawrence

A modern sea battle seldom lasts more than half an hour. If the officer at the range-finder had to wait until he came closer to the targets before getting the range, the enemy might easily escape.

During production, parts for Bulova Watches are constantly checked against an enlargement of the master part. This assures absolute accuracy.

This camera photographs nine angles at the same time.

Information Please!

- 1. Is furniture still being made today? Yes but government ruling of July 1, 1943 limits the range of furniture designs to 35% of the range of September 1941, that is, a factory making 200 designs in 1941 can now make 70 designs. This will result in a very limited selection. The exclusive and finer pieces will be eliminated. 2. Is there a tax on furniture? No, there is no tax on furniture, floor coverings, lamps, etc. 3. Have furniture prices advanced? No, ceiling prices have kept all furniture at the old price 4. What about spring filled mattresses? No mattresses, davenport, chairs, studio couches, etc., can now be made with metal springs in them. Cotton felt mattresses are again popular and we still have for early buyers a goodly number of spring filled davenport and chairs. 5. How about lamps? No new lamps of any kind can be fabricated but we still have about 2000 lamps for your selection. If the rate of selling of about ten lamps a day keeps up our stock of 2000 lamps will be gone before Christmas. 6. Can I still buy on easy terms? Yes! You can buy anything you need here on a partial payment plan. Most furniture requires one-fifth down, floor coverings one-third down with a year to pay the balance if you wish, with bank interest on the unpaid balance only, or our special 30, 60, 90 day plan without any interest.
