THE EASTER SEASON

Easter is one of the gladdest festivals in the whole calendar of the seasons.

Marking the end of the cold and dreary winter when all the earth seems barren and dead, it ushers in the time of year when birds and flowers abound, and the days become bright and warm, with smiling skies, and rains that refresh and nourish. At Easter our thoughts turn to new clothes, and to such happy things as garden-making, and fishing, and those simple summertime joys which tend to make life so much worth the living.

The religious significance of Easter has come down to us through many, many years, with its resurrection hope, and its promise of a New Day's Dawning. This festival of an age-old faith should be many-fold more meaningful to us in this the first year of our regained peace.

Easter this year ought, more than ever, to be a day dedicated to the good and the beautiful. But like the spirit of Christmas, the spirit of Easter can mean little unless it lives in each of us throughout all the year.

"HAMLET" STIRS AUDIENCE AT SHUBERT THEATRE

The brilliant, moving performance rendered by Maurice Evans as Hamlet captivated the inspired audience three evenings and at matinee last week. The dramatic portrayal enacted on the Shubert stage will be a perennial treasure in the hearts of our theatre-goers.

Hamlet is a noble and melancholic Prince of Denmark who swears to the ghost of his father that he will remorselessly revenge his foul and unnatural murder. Hamlet learns from the ghost that his uncle was the incestuous beast that instilled poison into his ear and committed his treacherous murder, thereby taking the crown. The rhythmic beat of the drum and the plaintive music backstage betokens and maintains the tempo of the moods in the ghost scenes. The original Shakespearean Hamlet is condensed from five acts and 20 scenes to two acts and 16 scenes. However, this is masterfully accomplished for the plot substance and continuity is excellent.

The genius of delineation of Maurice Evans of the soliloquies is expounded in the second scene of Act I which produces a profound admiration and awe in the audience.

Timet Rogers as Laertes, son of Polonius, performed a fine feat of acting as he expresses his poignant grief upon learning that his father was vilely murdered and his sister, Ophelia becomes demented and then drowns. Harry Sheppard as Polonius interjects humor at intervals which alleviates the intensity of continued emotion. Thomas Gomez, as the usurping uncle and Lili Darvas as the Queen Mother add great support to the play.

The costumes produce an aura of pagantry and the halls and chapels of the court and castle were aptly projected to manifest the depressive gloom of Elsinore in Denmark.

A DUMPING LAW THAT HAS TEETH

From the Connecticut State Department of Health and bearing the signature of Warren J. Scott, director of the Bureau of Sanitary Engineering, comes a communication which lays down a new state law relating to the dumping of rubbish. This law was enacted by the 1945 General Assembly.

It states specifically that "Any person who dumps any rubbish on any property without the permission of the owner of such property shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars or imprisoned not more than thirty days or both."

Here is a law cut to order for the East Haven campaign against indiscriminate dumping of rubbish and trash along our highways. It states in no uncertain terms what the offense is and the penalty therefore. We know that the police department will back up to the limit the health authorities and the town fathers who are determined that this practice must cease.

Many complaints have been received by the authorities not only of dumping of trash and rubbish where it hadn't ought to be dumped, but also of accumulations of trash and debris in back yards. This not only makes an unsightly appearance, but, with the advent of warm weather, such accumulations will become breeding places for rodents, flies and mosquitoes. With the town furnishing weekly curb collection of household rubbish such accumulations are decidedly not necessary.

Now that spring is here let's have a general cleaning up in East Haven, not only along the roadside and vacant lots but in the back yards as well.

WHY WORK SO HARD?

The New Haven News Letter, published by the New Haven Chamber of Commerce and edited by Vincent M. Reynolds, a recent speaker at the East Haven Business Association quotes some good advice on the matter of "hard work."

"A man with a pick and shovel gets results in almost direct proportion to the amount of physical labor he puts into his work," the News Letter points out. "But executives use comparatively little physical energy. As Walter B. Pitkin puts it, 'dealing with ideas (thinking) requires the least energy of all.' Why then do you find yourself working so 'hard'?"

"The answer is: Nerves. Tension. The feeling that things are piling up. You think it's the amount of work you do that tires you. It isn't. It's pressure—plus the fact that all day long you're subconsciously fighting the method (or lack of method) you use. Tests at Carnegie Institute have shown that the energy in half a salted peanut is enough to keep one going through a solid hour of the hardest kind of multiplying 'in one's head' when one is completely relaxed."

It's not the "hard" work one does that tires, but the attempt to get things done under pressure. We have noticed that the men who seem to be able to work the "hardest" and are able to get the most accomplished, are those who take things "easy", who are able to relax when the pressure begins to mount up. Relaxation now and then is kind to the heart and the blood pressure.

200 Make Merry At Hollywood Breakfast

"Breakfast in Hollywood", grand feature of the annual Easter Sale of the Woman's Aid of the Stone church, proved a most enjoyable event in the parish house Friday night, and a crowd of 200 or more enjoyed the luscious supper of roast ham and all the fixings, and the gala entertainment following.

George Bronson, New Haven radio entertainer and announcer, together with his assistant, conducted a delightful two-hour program in realistic Hollywood fashion. One of the hits of the evening was the recognition of the oldest lady in the audience. Honors went to Mrs. Eben Sage of Forbes place, who admitted to the ripe age of 90 years. A handsome orchid, which had been sent on by air from Hollywood, was presented to Mrs. Sage by Mrs. Robert Bauerfeld, sr., chairman of the program committee. Mrs. Sage said she had celebrated her 90th birthday on Feb. 12 and told an interesting girlhood incident when she saw President Abraham Lincoln, on whose birthday she was born. Mrs. Bronson, revealed keen wit and said she was thoroughly enjoying herself.

The prize for the funniest hat worn by the ladies went to Mrs. Elwood Cook for her creation, which featured spring flowers on tall stems. Others who were called forward to display their handiwork in fashioning hats from kitchen wear, fruits, vegetables, or what have you, included Mrs. Tarbell, Mrs. Hewitt, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Coe, Mrs. Gable, Mrs. Mintz, Mrs. Bauerfeld, Jr., Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Flynn. There was much amusement as the female head ornamentations were displayed.

The award of the handsome oil painting by Mrs. Ray Goodwin was made to Mrs. Martha Sanford, who was announced as the holder of the lucky number. A large number of door prizes which had been presented by the business people of the town were also given away amid much fun and commotion.

Special awards were also given for one reason or another, and the News Editor wants here and now to extend his thanks and appreciation for the Dutch Boy Meerchsham which he was called before the microphone to accept.

The "Good, Good Neighbor" award went to Mrs. Hebert Coe and with her presentation a letter was read telling of the fine work she has done in organizing the Stone Church Servicemen's Committee which has carried home-town cheer to these in service throughout the war and after. The letter told of the many gifts sent to the boys, the greeting cards, letters, and the mimeographed news sheet which has been sent periodically to them. Entertainment included a skit conducted by Announcer Bronson and his assistant dealing with local personalities, a xylophone number by 9-year old David Walrous featuring, "Glow Worm", "Bells of St. Mary's" and "Sweet and Low"; and a specialty dance by Miss Laura Civatello, with Miss Jessie Hewitt as accompanist.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be Holy Baptism. At 4:30 P. M. the Church school of Christ church and Momaugun will hold their Festival Service and Lenten Mile Box offerings. A potted plant will be given to each child this service.

Stone Church Plans Supper For War Vets

A supper for world War II veterans and their guests is being planned by the Servicemen's Committee of the Stone church for the evening of May 11 in the Parish House. Invitations have gone out to 119 returned service men and women who are home from the armed forces. An interesting program of entertainment is being arranged and this is expected to be one of the important events of the season on the church calendar.

Mrs. Thayer Childsey heads the supper committee. The Servicemen's Committee of which Mrs. Herbert Coe is chair- man has sent 57 Easter boxes of Mary Oliver Chocolates to those of the church who are still in the service.

BRUSH DEMONSTRATION

All interested are again reminded of the Brush Demonstration to be given in the parish house of the Stone church next Tuesday after- noon at 2:30 by the Woman's Aid and the Ever Ready Group. Tea will be served and all are welcome.

Mr. Ethnan Allen, coach of Base- ball at Yale will be the guest speaker Tuesday evening at the final meeting of the season of the Men's club of the Stone church in the Parish House.

Scoutmaster Charles Slocum and his troops of Boy Scouts will be guests of the men's club at this meeting. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock and is being put on by the Mission Social Group.

President J. C. Moody will conduct the business meeting at which the annual report will be given, and officers elected for the coming year. The nominating committee has already picked the slate which will be presented at this time.

The club has about $500 in the treasury, and action will be taken on a report from the budget com- mittee as to what contribution will be made to the church. The or- ganization has had a most success- ful year under the presidency of Mr. Moody.

A feature of the entertainment program will be songs and dance steps by Mr. Theodore A. French.

Special Rites Draw Crowds to St. Vincent's

Palm Sunday masses, opening Holy Week, drew very large crowds to St. Vincent de Paul's church in Taylor avenue, and to the other churches of the parish. The number of worshippers will be even larger at the Easter services ar- ranged for next Sunday, which will follow the usual order, but aug- mented by special Easter music by the choirs.

On Tuesday evening the Rev. Father Heffernan of St. John the Baptist church, Highwood, was the guest preacher at a Holy Week service at 7:30.

Holy Thursday, today was fea- tured by a processional ceremony and mass at 8 A. M.

On Good Friday there will be procession and mass at 8 A. M., and in the afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Stations of the Cross.

On Holy Saturday there will be blessing of candles and holy water starting at 7 A. M. with mass at 8 o'clock.

The Easter Day masses at the Taylor avenue church will be at 6:45, 8:00 and 10:00 A. M.; at the Main street church at 8:30 and 11:00 A. M.; and Momaugun at 9:30. Rev. Father William F. O'Brien, and Rev. Fathers Buckley and Myers will be in charge.

Bartlett Post Plans Military Ball On May 24

Plans were announced this week for a Military Ball to be held by Harry R. Bartlett Post, American Legion, on the evening of Friday May 24, in the State Armory in Branford.

This affair arranged in obser- vance of the home-coming of so many of East Haven's servicemen, and marking the beginning of the second quarter century of the local post, is the first of its kind to be held by the local Legionnaires.

Raymond DesJardens is general chairman of the arrangements committee, and among those assist- ing him are Commander Frank Wells, Joseph Rodenski, Ned Angelo and Nathan Andrews.

Although plans are thus far only in the preliminary stage, it was said that there will be boxes, hand- some decorations, and the music will be provided by one of the most and best known orchestras.

Further plans will be announced at the next meeting of Harry R. Bartlett Post, Thursday evening, April 25.

Here's a little motto, that hangs over the fish counter in the newly opened Main Street Sea Food Market: "Behold the Fisherman He riseth up early in the morning and disturbeth the whole house- hold. Mightily are his preparations. He goeth forth full of hope, and when the day is far spent, he re- turneth, smelling of strong drink, and the truth is not in him."

The Hagaman Memorial Library will be closed Good Friday.

The John Sackus block at Main Street and Kirkham avenue looks nice in a new coat of paint which was put on during the past week.

Salt water fishing also perking up and we see where Brent Barker, of East Haven Hardware Store, has stocked up with Sand Worms. These worms make the trip all the way from Maine to add to the joys of the local fisherman.

Fagerstrom Heads Rotary Club Slate

The nominating committee of the Rotary club presented its slate of officers at the luncheon meeting of the club last Thursday, William E. Fagerstrom, secretary of the club, presided over the meeting. The organization is in 1930. Others nominated are Roy Perry, vice president; Harold F. Nash, secretary and John T. Murphy, sergeant at arms. The election takes place at the meeting this week.

Guest speaker at last week's meeting was Attorney Henry Jatas of New Haven whose subject was "The Power of Numbers." Atty. Jatas is blind, but despite his handicap he graduated from Yale law school and has had a most interesting career. He said that when he was being trained to overcome the handicap of blindness he and those similarly afflicted, were taught to do the job better than the ordinary person and by doing that were able to demand recognition and the opportunity for work. Before the war he worked for the State Board that has to do with the adding the blind to the board of education, the work being largely to make and find employment for them. During the war he actually became a "hiring board," the handicapped were so much needed for work. Many blind persons were given work which they did in a most satisfactory manner.

Atty. Jatas decried the trend which would cause legislation to favor the handicapped. He said that the handicapped should continue to live up to the high standards that have been set for them. He said the handicapped learn to do their jobs as well as other people. They will need not to be protected by legislation, but instead will hold jobs on their own merit. He said that the "seeing eye" dogs have been of vast help in putting the blind people on their feet. He said that he has long had the advantage of a "seeing eye" dog and that it has enabled him to move about on his business very much like anyone else. Blind veterans are being taught to use these dogs, he said and told of actual cases that he has known.

He said that solution of the problem of rehabilitation of the handicapped to usefulness depends on the sympathetic interest of all able to give employment. These persons should at all times be ready and willing to assist the handicapped who are qualified, to obtain employment.

President Dan Parilla announced that the next date of the Branford Rotary club has been changed to Wednesdays at noon in the Branford Old Town Restaurant and invitation was read from the Branford club inviting East Haven Rotarians to visit.

The Ladies Night committee reported that tickets are moving along at a good rate for the Ladies Night entertainment at the Four Pillars April 30 at 7 P. M. with Tom Kelly, Roy Perry and Lou Rocheloni making the arrangements.

I don't know as teachers and theologians read this column but if they do they may want to dissent from the following however, it will give them something to talk about.

One of the greatest causes of war is the lack of co-ordinated effort between church leaders and school teachers in giving instruction in ethics and social behavior.

This may be because too many have not realized that scientific facts and moral principles are all part of divine Truth revealed to man. I would seem that there should be a close fraternity between the teaching profession and the clergy for they both give instruction in eternal truth. Regardless of his church affiliation the teacher must daily proclaim the truth and all good men should pray that this kind rather than to destroy tens of millions of people in the process of modern warfare.

I wonder how many students have been made to feel that mastering formulas in chemistry or physics, or solving problems in higher mathematics or common arithmetic, they were exploring the avenues of divine truth. The rhythm and harmonies of music and dancing, sculpture, painting and architecture are expressions of the same truth by which nature

As Mr. Brinley Sees It

Childhood, who would steal one precious moment, from its golden days.

The room suddenly bustled to life. Over three hundred voices joined in a chorus of welcome.

Our dear beloved Sabbath school had begun its session. The piano preludes sounded out over the room and the choir sang.

Our drama groups were to interpret certain great scenes in the life of our Lord, and besides we all know the actors who were putting the play on, today Hollywood and Broadway, was just second fiddle.

Some did they amount to anyway. Our actors were far better. And so the Superintendent, for fear some of the younger minds might get it, read us a prologue, and the curtain went up, and there they were, our great actors of our Sabbath school.

Galathas the High Priest thundered out his denunciations, and can't we be dramatic. And then MacArthur hurled the accusation against the prisoner, and the High Priest demanded the prisoner's answer.

And when Kierston with deep humility answered the High Priest Christ, and the Temple Soldier struck Jesus, believe me it was real. Our children shuddered that our Lord had to be struck, but Hobo did it, and it had to be done, and then come the dreadful moment when the high priest accused Peter, who we know as Johannes, of being a follower of the Galilean. This little act was very well done, and then came the Resurrection scene, with Carline Potter as Mary Magdalene, and Ann Davis and Jessie Hewitt as the other Marys, Eddie Gustavson and Russell Stone as the Angels in the tomb and Lillian Kinnerson in the Role of Christ. With the exception of a few lines, which were a little short, it was well done, the play took fifteen minutes, and will probably be repeated.

Tolland, Conn., enjoyed their 69th wedding anniversary at the home of their granddaughter, Miss Bernice A. Hall of 48 Bishop street, on Saturday. Miss Hall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Ernest Hall, also came down from Tolland, for the day, and local friends, dropped in to extend their wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Steele.

Mr. Steele is 90 years old and his wife is 88. Both are well and hearty.

Mr. and Mrs. Steele still writes the Tolland notes each week for the Rockville Ledger and the Manchester Herald, a work she has enjoyed for a great many years.

Deputy Commissioner Principal Speaker At Teachers' Institute

The East Haven Teachers' Institute held today its fourteenth annual gathering of the local teachers for the purpose of discussing local teaching practices and problems and to hear noted educational speakers present their ideas on important problems confronting today's teachers.

Dr. Finis Engleman, Deputy Commissioner of Education was the principal speaker at the luncheon held in the high school cafeteria. His topic, "Problems Facing Today's Teachers" was timely and dealt with the many pressing issues which now confront the teaching profession. At this luncheon, also honor was paid to two teachers who have completed twenty-five years of service in the East Haven Schools. Miss Elsie Palmer, principal of the Momaugauin School, and Mrs. Daisy Gurney, principal of the Gerrish Avenue School, were the recipients of the honors at the hands of the teachers. Mrs. Russell Hunter of the high school staff, read a very fitting tribute to the two based on experiences during their teaching careers.

Prof. Durward Pruden, of New York University, talked at the elementary section meeting on "Our South American Neighbors" Loreta Hanley, Tuttle School principal, explained methods for increasing the effectiveness of teaching the social studies. The sectional meetings were made interesting and practical by the reports of teaching practices given by fifteen teachers, representing all grade levels and many subject fields.

Gen. Knox Says Now that spring's here I find I can get around more and see what's going on. Every now and then I like to spread my old legs out a little bit to sort of limber them up after the winter rheumatisms and a good walk at this season of the year is like the first morsel of dandelion greens to kind of tone up the system. Well I took a walk one of those nice days we've had lately around and that ain't too pleasant for the folks over Short Beach road way but it looked to me like the dump was pretty well under control. Then I walked down along the meadows toward Oco avenue and then it occurred to me to take a real jaunt out on the new road that goes near the Airport and which the city of New Haven built before the war to take the place of Thompson avenue which had to be discontinued when the airport was extended. That's a pretty nice road that's been built down there and it seemed to me as I walked along that it ought to have a good name. Now when they first built there was a lot of names suggested but none of them seemed to take. Of course the Bible bible street over at Morris Cove into which the new road runs does have a name but I don't like it. Urish to my way of looking at it is a heck of a name for any street but that's what it goes by. I don't know who the Urish was they named it for. Maybe in the bible who was a king or something back in bible times. Or maybe they named it for Urish Hoop the fellow Dickens wrote about whose handstands gave out the creeps. No folks I don't like that name Urish for our nice drive to Morris Cove. Now if nobody's got a better name why I modestly suggest that it could be the General Knox Boulevard. Certainly I have an idea right to go down to posterity as this guy Urish whoever he was. General Knox

Good Friday At The Stone Church Mr. William Galling will be the speaker at the Good Friday services of Friday at 7:45 P. M. in the Stone church. The Anthems by the Senior Choir will include "God So Loved the World"—Stainer and "The Hilltop"—Chas. Wylie. At the Maundy Thursday service the annual Candlelight Holy Communion service takes place at 8:00 P. M. with music by the Senior Choir including anthems "Turn Thy Face From My Sins"—Bullfinch and "Veni, World of God Incarnate"—Morgan.

Campaign For New Hospital Opens May 20 Eighteen thousand families in the communities surrounding New Haven will be asked to join hands with 25,000 New Haven households in the public campaign for the new Grace-New Haven Community Hospital which will serve residents in the practice session. The team this year will be managed by Walt Anderson and Joe Hurley and coached by Clarence former big league ball player.

Center Grill To Form Softball Team At a recent special meeting at the Center Grill, East Haven, it has voted to sponsor a softball team. The Grill will launch preparation for the 1946 softball campaign with their first practice session on Sunday morning at 10:00 A. M., High School field. All players interested in playing with the club this season are invited to report at the practice session. The team this year will be managed by Walt Anderson and Joe Hurley and coached by Clarence former big league ball player.

GLAD TO BE OF SERVICE Editor Stevens: The East Haven Players extend their sincere thanks for your excellent publicity work in bringing before the public write-ups of our Elm Street in New Haven, the telephone number of which is 6-5183. The significance of the slogan, "We are not asking the people of this area to give something away," he continued. "We are asking them to participate in a community purchase, to invest as it were in an extra room for their own home. The room will be something tangible, with doctors, nurses and marvelous equipment. Nearly every family will be thankful to use the room from time to time, because hospital care, by hastening recovery and making it more certain, has become a part of our way of life. During the week, Miss Grace Bosse, chairman of the women's division, announced a completed roster of commandment as follows: Mrs. Mildred C. Adley, Miss Maybelle Callahan, Miss Frances W. Coleman, Mrs. Anna Costello, Miss Martha E. Crossland, Mrs. Sidney G. Davidson, Mrs. Lillian W. Dyke, Mrs. Joseph Friedler, Mrs. Laura Belle McCoy, Mrs. Behrend Mahringer, Mrs. Joseph Moorhead, Miss Edith B. Olson, Mrs. C. V. Snurkowski, Miss Agnes Wallace, Mrs. Charles Whitney.

Every now and then I like to spread my old legs out a little bit to sort of limber them up after the winter rheumatisms and a good walk at this season of the year is like the first morsel of dandelion greens to kind of tone up the system. Well I took a walk one of those nice days we've had lately around and that ain't too pleasant for the folks over Short Beach road way but it looked to me like the dump was pretty well under control. Then I walked down along the meadows toward Oco avenue and then it occurred to me to take a real jaunt out on the new road that goes near the Airport and which the city of New Haven built before the war to take the place of Thompson avenue which had to be discontinued when the airport was extended. That's a pretty nice road that's been built down there and it seemed to me as I walked along that it ought to have a good name. Now when they first built there was a lot of names suggested but none of them seemed to take. Of course the Bible bible street over at Morris Cove into which the new road runs does have a name but I don't like it. Urish to my way of looking at it is a heck of a name for any street but that's what it goes by. I don't know who the Urish was they named it for. Maybe in the bible who was a king or something back in bible times. Or maybe they named it for Urish Hoop the fellow Dickens wrote about whose handstands gave out the creeps. No folks I don't like that name Urish for our nice drive to Morris Cove. Now if nobody's got a better name why I modestly suggest that it could be the General Knox Boulevard. Certainly I have an idea right to go down to posterity as this guy Urish whoever he was. General Knox

Now begins
The housewife's happiest season of the year.

The ground, already broken by the spade—
The beds, made level by the passing rake.

Thomas Buchanan Read
April is the poet's month—and the historians'. Beginning with Chaucer English poets have been profuse in their tributes to April. Nor is this surprising, for April is a month of great beauty in England, a month of fresh greenness, sweet blossoms, warm air and soft showers.

Great events have happened in April. This was the month in which Rome was founded. The shot heard around the world, as one poet said, was fired at Concord, where embattled Yankee farmers first repulsed the British red coats. In April 1917, the United States formally declared war on the Germany of Kaiser Wilhelm. April has often been a month of great sadness. Periodically, as the moon dictates, the Christian world celebrates the sorrow and joy of Easter during April. It was on Good Friday, April 14, 1866, that Abraham Lincoln was shot while attending the theatre. Eighty years later to the day, the funeral of Franklin Delano Roosevelt was held in the White House. April is a month of sadness and of joy, of showers and of sunshine. It is a month of transition, and some of the changes which it has witnessed have been of great moment. —Meriden Record.

Rather cold gardening these days I planted pansies last Thursday, and had to stop several times to warm my hands. But the pansies look nice and cheerful in the garden. That warm spell a few weeks ago, fooled everybody. The forsythia has been beautiful. After it has all leaved in Branford, it is in full bloom in Short Beach, and on Main Street a week or so before it is out near the water. The same way with all shrubs and flowers.

The National Council offers two Purple Ribbons for excellence in Flower Shows to each state annually. If you are planning a large or unique show this Spring or next Fall, and wish to compete for a Purple Ribbon, please notify Mrs. F. W. Holloway, Woodbridge.

President Truman is urging us all to give as much attention to vegetable growing this year as we did during the War. More food will go to feed the hungry in other lands if we do so. Many garden club members, whose experience in growing vegetable was acquired during the war period, will continue to provide their families with fresh, well grown products, convinced that they are far more flavorful and in greater variety than the store-bought ones.

Among the features on May 8 at the Experimental Station in New Haven, the horticultural department of the Federation will have an exhibit of the Heath Family. As many genera as we can get together will be shown. Ericaceous materials predominate in foundation plantings in New England, so this family is one of the most interesting to study. We will have the ornamental Sorrel Tree, many shrubs and subshrubs including Trailing Arbutus in the exhibit.

Robert L. Poulton, 184-75 Cambridge Road, Jamaica, N. Y. is offering to Garden Club members, two beautiful new Violas. They are "Blue Perfection" and r. Poulton called, "White Perfection" and "Blue Perfection" and Mr. Poulton will send two packets of seeds, (one of each) for 40c or one packet for 25c. White Viola—sounds like poetry.

The cultivated blueberry is a truly beautiful plant with its deep blueberries and shining green foliage which takes on attractive red hues in the autumn. Lately it has been gaining in popularity for use as decorative shrubbery—to dress up a doorway for example, or add

Steady Demand For Services Of Phone Co.

Continued demands for telephone service far exceeding expectations resulted in a record-breaking increase in installations during the first three months of the year, a report of The Southern New England Telephone Company revealed today. The quarter showed a net gain of 28,729 telephones throughout the state, considerable more than the increase for the entire prewar years of 1938 and 1939 combined.

In January the net gain was 8,070—greater than in any previous month in the company's history. In February the increase was 9,461; and in March the record was broken again with a net gain of 11,198. Total number of unfilled orders for new service reached a peak of 35,232 in August, 1945, but despite the fact that 50,000 new applications for service have been received since then, the number of unfilled orders on April 1 was only 12,540.

Full-scale manufacture of telephones during recent months has overcome the shortage of instruments which was the principal cause of delayed installations last year. And in 64 of the 84 central office areas in Connecticut, new service can now be given without delay except in scattered localities where installations are being held up until necessary fire and cable, still scarce, can be manufactured and installed. In the remaining 20 office areas service will be provided as soon as additions to dial equipment and switchboards are completed.

The estimate of the company's 1946 construction program, originally $16,500,000, has been increased to $17,500,000. A million dollars has been added because the company expects to obtain more central office equipment—particularly dial equipment—and more general equipment with which to carry out the expanded program needed to give service to the thousands who have been waiting.

Safety Trophy Awarded To Reo Motors Inc.

The first post-war safety trophy of Safety Engineering Magazine was formally presented April to Reo Motors, Inc., at a session of the Institute of Traffic Engineers and the Greater New York Safety Council in the Pennsylvania Hotel, New York.

The large gold trophy, one of the nation's outstanding safety achievement awards, was accepted by H. E. Hund, Reo President from Alfred M. Best, President and Publisher of the Magazine.

This year's motor vehicle award was made to Reo for introduction of the first complete unit safety school bus, conforming with the highest requirements of all the states.

TO OUR PATRONS ON THE BRANFORD AND MOMAUGUIN LINES;

The State Highway Department will commence the reconstruction of Main Street, Short Beach, and of Coe Avenue on the Momauguin Line, within a few days, making it necessary to substitute bus operation Monday, April 22, 1946.

Pending receipt of sufficient buses which have been ordered for almost a year to operate bus service between Branford, Momauguin and New Haven, we regret that it will be necessary for passengers to transfer between bus and trolley car at the junction of Bradley Avenue and Main Street, Short Beach, and for the Momauguin passengers to transfer at the junction of Short Beach Road and Hemingway Avenue, East Haven
