PLANTING THE HIGH SCHOOL GROUNDS

We learned recently from Supt. of Schools William E. Gillis that plans are being discussed for the landscaping and planting of the High school grounds. This is a project that ought to be undertaken in the very near future. The cost should not be heavy and what expense there is will be repaid many times over in added beauty and attractiveness of our school premises in the years to come.

The evergreens planted at the front of the building several years ago have grown to such a height now that they are partially covering the office and class room windows on the first floor of the school. They have reached a size where they no longer add to the attractiveness or contribute to the general harmony of the architectural effect when viewed from the street.

It is planned, we understand, to move these evergreen trees and shrubs to the rear school yard and to replace them with smaller and more appropriate plantings.

The general design of planting of the grounds has not been selected, but already pupils, who have shown talent and interest in landscaping, have contributed ideas which have been put down on paper. One such plan provides for plantings around the athletic field. Another would create an attractive inner campus between the Cafeteria and the main building.

Our school system is also fortunate in having personnel on its janitorial staff who understand planting and care of plants. The whole landscaping project ought to be well worthwhile.

COMMUNITY CITIZEN'S COUNCILS

We read an article in the New York Times recently that told how out of the confusion of American thinking today a clear idea is forming in the minds of the people of New York State. It seems that in city and in village, groups of citizens are sitting down together and are organizing community citizens' councils to tackle the job of making Democracy work.

There are today in New York state about 100 community councils, some weak and faltering, some far ahead in vision and achievement. Their programs range from influence on a specific project, such as a community center, to over all community planning; from forms on one specific subject to comprehensive arrangement for public discussion on many vital issues.

The writer of the article says that the idea is not new, but rather a revitalizing of the lost art of the town meeting, reshaped to meet the complexity of the modern community. Communities have organized to do the job of assuring order through the village fathers, police forces and courts of justice, they have organized to educate children through the public schools, and to patch up broken homes through the social agencies. But communities have not organized to do the job of producing skilled and dynamic citizens. Our failure is apparent in the kind of men we elect to public office; in the inadequacy of the teaching in our schools; in the ugliness and cultural barrenness of our cities; in the pulling apart and juggling for power of labor and management; in the tensions that exist among those of different races, creeds, colors, origins. The council idea is built around the principle of co-operation with existing agencies and interests. Where a group is already doing a part of the job, the council helps. Where nothing is being done to meet a need the council encourages an appropriate group to undertake it or might even do the job itself. Where planning is limited to the physical aspects of the community the council seeks to broaden it to include educational and cultural planning.

ENTERING A NEW SEASON

Traditionally Labor Day week end marks the end of the lazy summer season and hails the oncoming autumn, the return to school and to work. September is the time when the stores put in their new stock for "Fall Openings". It is the month when business starts its annual climb which reaches the peak at Christmas. This is the period when well-tanned vacationers buckle down to work once more, and when the clubs, lodges and churches begin to bristle into renewed activity.

In East Haven this Autumn ought to be the busiest we have yet experienced. Since last September our central shopping district has grown surprisingly. Most of our household and personal needs may be met here at home now without any need for going outside the town for shopping. We have become much more of a compact community than we were last fall or the year before. Our residents too, and those of our neighboring areas, have become much more community-minded. Many of them are daily encouraging our business and civic growth.

Our town organizations will find enthusiastic support in their endeavors this season. Church and fraternal groups will feel this keener outgrowth of community-mindedness. It is like the proverbial heaven, a little goes a long way. A town with a real community spirit is always better, busier and brighter than the average.

Our Business Association, which holds its first fall meeting next Monday night, could well be the key to unlock many new doors of community opportunity in the days to come. This association should merit the support of all as the new season begins.

ENTERS TRAINING

Miss Marion E. Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Page of 32 Elm street, entered the Grace Hospital training school for Nurses on Tuesday, a member of the graduating class of East Haven High school last spring Miss Page has long nourished the ambition to enter the nursing profession and her many friends wish her well in her new work.

Boy, 6, Hurt When Struck By Automobile

Little Peter Lucas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lucas of 212 Dodge avenue, paid an unexpected visit to St. Raphael's hospital Saturday morning when he was struck by an automobile at the corner of Main street and Kirkham avenue. X-rays revealed no broken bones but doctors advised that the child stay in the hospital for observation.

The youngster, not quite six years old, is a familiar figure around town. His father being the proprietor of the Lucas Photography Studio in the Holcombe building. The driver of the car which struck the child, Shultes Selbold of Hunt Lane, took the little one to Dr. Taylor's office. Dr. Taylor was not in and the next visit was to Dr. Ovilda Grenon's home. From there they went to the office of Dr. Grenon which adjoins that of the Lucas studio. The mother of the little boy did not know of the accident until she heard her child crying in the doctor's office. Dr. Grenon ordered the child taken to the hospital.

Town Players Preparing For Busy Season

Those who recall with relish the play put on by the East Haven players at the Foxon Community Hall last spring will be happy to learn that a new play will be put into rehearsal this month and will probably be ready for production by early December.

The first meeting of the E. H. players for this season will be held Monday Sept. 9 at 8 P. M. at the Foxon Community Hall with Mrs. Madden presiding. All members are requested to be present and all who are interested in becoming members may make application to either Mrs. Lillian Hurder, Foxon road, 8-1388, or to Mrs. Dorothy Williams, 53 Foote road, 4-3131, before the meeting.

The play reading committee has been busy during the summer and has selected two plays, one of which will be chosen at the meeting. Tryouts for the selected play will be held Sept. 15 at the Foxon Community Hall.

Auction At Stone Church On Oct. 8

The date for the big auction sale to be held under the auspices of a joint committee of the Stone church organizations has been set for Tuesday, Oct. 8 at 7:30 P. M. in the Parish House. Articles for the auction are now being received. Included on the general committee are Mrs. Robert Foster, Mrs. Alfred Holcombe, Mrs. Joseph Holt, Mrs. Fred Norton, Mrs. Lewis Borden, Mrs. Malcolm Linsley, Mrs. Frank MacDonald, Elizabeth Ritchie, Mrs. Leland Harrison, Mrs. N. Johnson,

Unusual Find Led To Stamp Hobby

Elmer Proctor, whose death occurred this week, had assembled valuable collection.

Elmer H. Proctor, genial resident of the Momauguin section for the past 25 years, and for the last two and a half years the janitor at the Town Hall, enjoyed in his latter years a hobby which he embarked upon in an unusual way. It was the collecting of stamps, and at the time of his death last Friday he owned a collection reputed to be of high value.

An auction sale at which he bid in upon a trunk the contents of which were unknown is said to have been the beginning of that hobby. The trunk, owned by an old man who had died, was found after its purchase by Mr. Proctor to contain a small but what later proved valuable collection of stamps. Realizing the worth of stamps and the high prices paid for them by dealers Mr. Proctor began to build a rare collection around the nucleus that had come to him. A single

Parade Will Open Field Day At Coe Haven

All roads lead to Coe Haven, East Haven's lively new home development, Sunday, for the annual Field Day a feature started three years ago by the residents of the growing community.

General Chairman Philip Florita and his assistants have arranged an all-day program which should prove interesting and entertaining to the residents and their guests. The affair is sponsored by the South District Civic Improvement association and will be held on the new Coe Haven Community grounds.

The program gets underway at 10:30 A.M. with the arrival of the Bradford Manor Drum and Bugle Corps which will parade through the streets of Coe Haven from Short Beach road to the Community grounds. There will follow a program of selections by the Drum Corps including the Star Spangled Banner.

Athletic events of many kinds including races and contests for various age groups will be held during the afternoon. Most of these will be for the people of the South District but a few will be open to all. Some very nice prizes have been provided by the committee.

During the day there will be refreshments on sale and general entertainment by guest entertainers and local talent.

Local Couple Observe 25th Anniversary

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Parilla of 83 Prospect road on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Parilla, with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Melillo of Hemingway avenue, spent last week-end in New York City, and on Monday left by automobile for Mr. Parilla's former home in Youngstown, Ohio, to visit members of the family for the first time since before the war. They plan to return this Friday.

The Parillas have a large circle of friends here who join in extending best wishes to them on their silver anniversary. Mr. Parilla is a past president of the East Haven Rotary club.

MILITARY FUNERAL

FOR MICHAEL RANFONE
Funeral rites for Michael Ranfone, 34, World War II veteran, were held in St. Vincent de Paul's church Friday morning with the Rev. Joseph Buckley celebrating the requiem mass assisted by the Rev. William F. O'Brien and Rev. William Myers. The bearers were Henry Tagliatella, Tom McGuire, Andy Cianelli, Dominic Ferrara, Anthony Balsamo and Charles Burgess.

Writer Urges Town Purchase Power Mower

Editor Stevens: I have visited many places out of town this summer in my work which takes me into other towns of Connecticut and New England and each time I return and look at our East Haven Town Green I feel that it suffers by contrast. Our East Haven Green could be a place of beauty but instead it has become a rough place of pasture ground, minus the cattle, for lack of mowing. I make the suggestion that before another year passes the selectmen buy a power lawn mower and put somebody in charge of the periodic mowing of the Green. This year the Green was kept fairly trim up until Memorial Day, and then the mowing stopped, and so far as I can see nothing has been done to improve it since. Of course I am aware of the labor difficulties but other towns keep their Greens in trim condition and I also notice that the grass in the Old Town Cemetery and East Cemetery is in ship-shape condition all of the time. I hope you will see fit to publish this letter. It may cause the selectmen to realize that money spent for a power mower will, in the opinion of many old residents of East Haven, be town money well spent.

Veterans All Set For Trip To California

Mr. and Mrs. Linus J. Swanton and Mr. and Mrs. Leverett A. Bassett will leave next Sunday for Mr. Swanton's Dodge car as the vanguard of Harry R. Bartlett post, American Legion, to the national Legion convention in San Francisco. The Swantons and Bassetts are leaving at this time in order to enjoy a leisurely vacation trip across the continent and for a visit with Kenneth E. Bradley, former resident of East Haven, now living in Inglewood, Calif.

The Legion convention will be held from Sept. 30 through October 4 and promises to be the largest yet with delegations attending from every part of the country.

Harry Bartlett post will be represented by a large delegation. Mr. and Mrs. John Knight are planning to make the trip by train. Others who have made arrangements for the trip to Frisco are Peter Weber, Abel Jacobs, Anthony Caruso, Ned Angelo, and Robert Creamer. Louis Maggione, Augie Melillo and Amos Jacobs, although not members, have made arrangements to accompany the East Haven contingent.

FROM OUR REPORTERS' NOTEBOOKS

Days grow shorter.

Nights getting real cold.

Autumn tang in the air.

And maple trees are first to change color.

Mardi Gras time on Main street with Pequot Tribe Carnival continuing through Saturday night.

Schools underway with plenty of hustle and bustle on opening days. Enrollment will top 2,000 this year showing how town is growing.

EAST HAVEN NEWS winding out its second year this week. Next week's issue will be Vol. III, No. 1.

Which reminds us hurricane time is here again. Remember, the "big blow" of 1944 came the same day that the News was born.

We hear that burglars were busy over the holiday week end. Martin Olson's residence was entered but the loss was slight. There is suspicion that it was the work of boys.

We applaud Leon Fowler for the very good work he is doing in keeping the grass in ship-shape condition in the Old Town Cemetery. It's a big place and we took a look in at the old burying ground this week and find that there is still much work to be done repairing and straightening ancient tomb stones which were broken and pushed over, some 38 in all, by hoodlums last winter.

Harry Bell of 28 Deerfield street has returned home from a two week's visit with De Blanchard at Bradford, Penn.

Frank Wells reminds us that the Deactivation ceremonies of the Sixth Battalion of the State Guard will be held on Sept. 20 at the Goffe street Armory in New Haven. He requests that all former members of Company F be present at that time to take part in the ceremonies.

Pvt. Russell E. Bacon who is in the Signal Corps stationed at Fort Dix, New Jersey, was at his home here at 16 Bradley avenue on Sunday.

Nils Ahberg of the Old Mill Antique Shop is to have an exhibit in the forthcoming Antique Show at the New Haven Arena described in another column. Mr. Ahberg tells us he has a few admission tickets to the exhibition which he will be glad to give to those interested in antiques on request. These tickets require only the payment of the federal tax.

Mrs. Hazel Frank Githens will open her new Dance Academy in the Holcombe building this Saturday and a large enrollment is reported. Further enrollments will be taken Saturday afternoon from 3:30 to 5 at the Studio.

Best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Gerard W. Freer and their children, Miss Phyllis Freer and Girard Freer Jr., who plan to make their departure by auto trailer this week end for Miami, Fla., where they will reside. We dropped in and looked over the trailer this week as it was being made ready for the trip and viewed it we must confess with some envy. Seventeen feet long and eight feet wide the trailer makes a compact three compartment dwelling unit. A neat little maple bedroom is at one end with a living room which can be converted to additional sleeping quarters at the other. In between is the kitchen.

The East Haven Amerigo club will have a social afternoon and evening at the club house in Hemingway avenue on Sunday, Sept. 8 and all members are invited to attend. There will be refreshments including sandwiches and soft drinks from 3 P. M. to closing. The club rooms have recently been renovated. Preparations are now being made for a busy fall season. The bowling team is ready to start and will play West End Alleys.

Those handsome heavenly blue morning glories twining among ivy on the brown stone walls of the Stone church have attracted much attention the past few weeks. The idea of planting them is that of Thomas F. Bowden of High street, the church sexton who has been hearing much favorable comment about them.

Dr. James H. Walsh, dentist with offices at the Holcombe building is on vacation until Sept. 11.

The members of the Amerigo club enjoyed a lobster supper Sunday, August 18 in the newly opened, Nick's Grille at Hemingway avenue and Short Beach road.

East Haven Reds
To Play Post 89

The E. H. Reds will play American Legion team Sunday at Lighthouse park. The Reds are undefeated in nine games and hope to extend this string to the expense of the Legion.

Bob Wilson Jr., will probably take the lead for E. H. with Simon in reserve. O'Connell will be on the receiving end of the battery, McKimbell, Frey, 2b, Albano, ss, Carbone, 3b, Hersi, cf, Weber, cf, and Clark rf.

In a practice game Sunday the Reds defeated a stubborn Momauguin team 5-4. Bob Wilson went all the way for the Reds with O'Connell catching. For the loser Hanson pitched the first 5 innings and Thomson the remainder of the game with Robbie and Eddie Sheffield splitting the game behind the plate.

Antique Show
Opens Sept. 11
At N.H. Arena

One of the finest collections of Victorian wares and porcelain in the United States will be displayed at the 7th New Haven Antiques Show and Sale which opens at the New Haven Arena next Wednesday, Sept. 11 and continues for five days through Sunday Sept. 15.

Gathered before the war and shipped from a European port in 1939 the treasures were captured by the Nazis to be recovered only recently in a warehouse in Vega, Spain.

Among other unusual antiques to be displayed by the almost 70 dealers and collectors from throughout the Eastern states will be the largest antique music box in the world standing six feet high and playing over 80 airs. For lovers of the furniture there will be a selection of choice early American period furniture and primitives set in beautiful 18th century room displays.

Over fifty thousand dollars worth of antiques jewelry will be exhibited and great quantities of glassware, china, pewter, copper, prints, but-tons, lamps, bric-a-brac, silver, tapestries and old books will be shown.

Many of the exhibitors will offer tangible proof that the charms of yesterday can be converted into the conveniences of today. For example, a New England cobbler's bench will be shown that has been transformed into a tea table. Sponges now occupy the holes once used for the cobbler's tools and napkins are kept in the tool drawer. Another display will feature Dutch primitive farmhouse sinks and commodes that have been converted into living room bars.

The Exposition, which is the first since the war, is being managed by Milton Golder who organizes the dealers have insured their treasures for almost $800,000. Show hours will run continuously from 1 P. M. to 10:30 P. M. daily including Sunday which is closing day.

Barbara Jeanne Klein daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Klein of East Haven, Conn. will report to Beaver College Jenkintown, Penna. on September 15 to begin a week of freshman orientation. Miss Klein is one of over two hundred new students who will enter Beaver for its 65th academic year.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mintz and son, Bill, of Frank street have left for South Carolina where they will visit Jack Mintz who is in college there and then will drive Bill to his college in North Carolina.

New Industry
Gets Underway
In W. Main St.

The J. M. Nichols Co., polsters and buffers, began operations last week in a building recently completed by the Raymond Construction company in West Main street. The firm has large orders ahead for finishing brass and aluminum fittings and fixtures including vacuum cleaner parts, door knockers etc.

Three machines have been set up and the force now consists of five men. Expansion plans depend upon facilities for space and additional equipment.

Partners in the firm are Nicholas Quistiniello and Michael D. Capone.

Old Brown Place
Bought By Inquinto

The old Capt. Brown dwelling at 461 Main street, which is in process of remodeling and renovation has been sold by the Raymond Construction company to Joseph Inquinto who will occupy the place.

The house is one of the well known landmarks of the West Main street section.

The garage at the rear of the property has been altered into a five room bungalow which will be occupied after Oct. 1 by a returned veteran, Walter Curry, and wife.

we have the Old

Stones Church of East Haven soon to celebrate its Two Hundred and Thirtieth Birthday. But the Stones Church was not built by Masons and Carpenters. It was the fruition of One person's thought.

I passed the Old Thompson house,

many times as a young man, but I never saw the Beautiful Town Hall

standing there, but some thought a thought, and lo, we all see what he saw. Isn't it strange the power of a thought, in the mind of a human being. It is real, it is power, there is nothing greater in this world. I saw the Old Mill and the Old Dam on Farm River at the beginning of Main Street. An other mind looked at the same little beauty spot, and they saw Saltonstall Parkway. I passed the Old Oak

Farm many times on Short Beach

Road and have stood in its house and grounds and talked with those long dead. I didn't see the Coe element standing there. It was, for in another's mind, and soon it took body form, and there was thought expressed. It was just as real before some one entertained a thought of a High School, in East Haven, the thought grew and grew and improved. His little thought, should it take, and be nurtured and culti-ated, who knows what the outcome may be. Mr. Cooper sees a World redeemed from hatred to love and kindness. Should the thought be come a great planted field, and the field spread to other plantings

what shall the harvest be? Ella

Wheeler Wilcox, of Short Beach,

once said, and it became quoted world-wide, "If you wish long enough and strong enough, your wish will become true," and who who shall say that this is not true?

How strong is your thought? and how much have you tended it. How long have you held it, and how much have you spoken of it to your neighbors? Thoughts have wings thoughts are accumulative. If you have good thoughts, constructive ones, why not plant them in other

Gen. Knox Says

I see where some of the parents sent in the Saltonstall section have sent a petition to the Board of Education asking that the dinner hour period be extended 15 minutes

so that the kids won't have to swallow their meals whole in order to get back to school. Now that raises an interesting question. Do the children in all the grammar schools get only an hour out in the middle of the day in which to go home, eat and return? Why when I was a kid

it took me that long just to walk back and forth to school let alone eating and back in those days we were used to be fed pretty well in the middle of the day because folks used to think that was the time the boys and girls had to fill up. Seems to me there's a lot of sections of East Haven that are so far away from a school that the kids especially the little ones couldn't be able to walk back and forth in comfort and eat their dinner as well within a one-hour period. And the little ones couldn't be able to when the going isn't too good. The children cannot be expected to keep themselves dry and the clothes changing process could be a lot of a lot of that 60 minutes at noon time. Now I don't suppose many modern parents want their children hanging around home too long at noon. Most parents probably would like to get them back on the teachers hands as soon as possible

so they can get out to the card party or the matinee. But not all parents are like that. There are some parents that do want their children home long enough to get proper care and attention at meal time. Now I don't see no good reason why those kids and I mean all the kids in grade school should have an hour and fifteen minutes or even an hour and a half for their dinner-time. That's what we used to have years ago and we needed it and so do the kids today.

What's the matter with giving the children the necessary time at the school of the forty-eight States.

For State — For City — For Town — You Elect The Representatives

"There is nothing reprehensible in the practice of politics. On the contrary it is the very breath of our American way of life. Many politicians are persons who devote their entire time to public service and are every bit as honest, dependable and correct in their dealings as are business and professional men."

"If the voters will pay careful attention to selection of party officers and party delegates of excellent character and high caliber, then it follows, as day follows night, that the state officers will be filled by persons of more than average honesty and ability. Politicians are petty and corrupt if it is the fault of the voters who elect them. There is no question that in the long run, our system of representative government is the most efficient ever devised, but it presupposes that honest, patriotic citizens take part in all its operations. Who can deny that, if each man and woman in our country were to take part in ward and town meetings and caucuses, we should have an efficient government?"

Quotations and illustration from

Lumber Dealers Feel Handcuffed

Lumber dealers throughout Connecticut and elsewhere regard the new order by housing officials in Washington for freezing lumber supplies as "hysterical stupidity." Arthur Clifford of Bridgeport, president of the Lumber Dealers' Association of Connecticut, said today speaking informally at the annual summer meeting of the Association at the Torrington Country Club here.

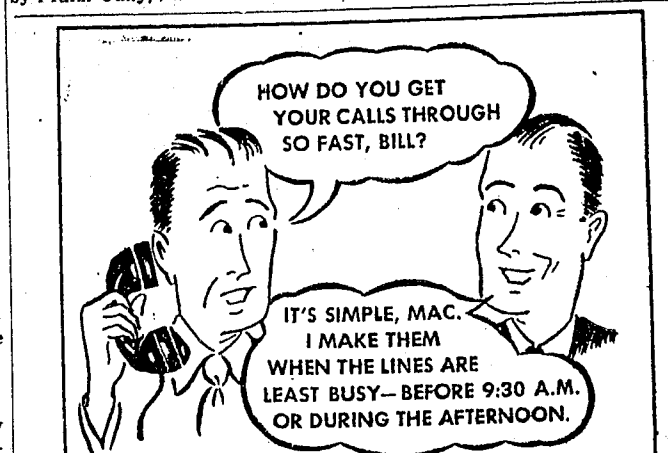

The Connecticut Lumber Dealers' president said that "in spite of the almost impossible regulations," dealers will continue to do what they can, but "voters will only be served best when the handcuffs are taken off."

Can you write an Ad about Electricity?

Your next step is to think about electricity. You think of the many labor-saving jobs electricity does for you right in your own home. You think of the substantial reductions in cost made through the years which today enable you to buy more electricity for your money than ever before. And you think of the hard work and sound planning which assure you instant electric service wherever and whenever you need it.

THE CONNECTICUT LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY
A Business-Managed, Tax-Paying Company

It's easy...
First you decide what you want to write about. Do you want to tell how electricity is always there when it's needed...? Would you like to show how tax-free government electric projects are endangering free enterprise...? Or maybe you'd like to say a few words about how the cost of electricity has actually decreased during the past several years of sky-rocketing living costs.

Now you're ready to write your electric advertisement. You can say it any way you like, but it all boils down to three simple facts:
Electricity is Efficient.
Electricity is Dependable.
Electricity is Cheaper Than Ever.
See? It's simple. Anyone can write an ad about electricity.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Haglin of Bradley Avenue announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Edith Haglin Fleming, to Chief Warrant Officer John A. Anderson, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Anderson of Montwese Street. The wedding will take place on September 14 at 3 o'clock in the Tabor Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Emil G. Swanson, pastor, performing the ceremony.

Miss Linnea Anderson, sister of the groom, will be maid of honor, and Officer Anderson will have his brother, William, as best man. There will be no ushers. A small reception for the immediate families, relatives and a few friends will be held at the Haglin home following the ceremony. No formal invitations are being issued, but friends are invited to attend the ceremony at the church.

Miss Faith Marion Hooghkirk daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robert Hooghkirk will become the bride of Mr. Robert Farnham McKenzle son of Mrs. William McKenzle.

The wedding will take place Saturday morning, September 14 at 11 o'clock in the church of Christ Stony Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto B. Anderson have announced the engagement of their daughter, Winifred Marie to Mr. Raymond Alex, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alex of Meriden.

Ruth Bergquist Married
Miss Ruth E. Bergquist, daughter of Pastor and Mrs. A. T. Bergquist of Rosholt, South Dakota, formerly of Branford, Connecticut, became the bride of Mr. Curtis A. Stadstad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Stadstad of Raymond, Montana, Sunday August 25th, at St. Joseph Lutheran Church at 3:30 o'clock.

The bride's father assisted by the bride's uncles, Pastor C. G. Anderson, Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Pastor J. E. Bergquist of Washington, D. C., officiated at the double ring service.

The bride wore a white satin gown with full train made in princess style with yoke of net trimmed with seeded pearls. Her veil was of finger tip length and fell from a matching tiara of pearls. Her only ornament was a gold cross, a gift from the groom.

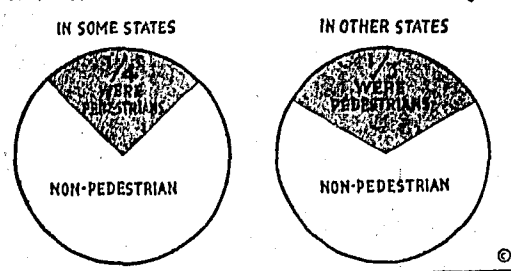

Maid of honor was Miss Helen Olson of New Effington, South Dakota, who wore a sheer blue floor length dress and carried a colonial bouquet. Bridesmaid was Miss Betty Elkstrom of Rosholt, who wore a yellow floor length taffeta dress and also carried a colonial bouquet.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Dean Peterson of Rosholt, best man, and Lelaond Jackson, Rosholt.

Mrs. A. T. Bergquist, mother of the bride, wore a black and white

Pedestrian Protection — On Rural Highways

Jw Pedestrians Fared in the RURAL Traffic Fatality Toll

RURAL TOLL SERIOUS: Though not as large as in cities, the rural pedestrian fatality toll is still serious. A pedestrian accident in a rural area is five times as likely to be fatal as in a city. Most of these fatalities occur on the outskirts of cities and villages, according to a three-year study made by the American Automobile Association. Pedestrian deaths in city and rural areas combined account for 40 per cent of the nation's traffic toll.

Alfred Stadstad of Raymond, Montana.

Mrs. Rudy Moeller, organist, played Lohengrin's wedding march and the recessional. Miss Gladys Olson of Rosholt, sang "All The Way My Saviour Leads Me" and "Oh Happy Home."

A reception followed the ceremony. Guests were the brideparty, relatives and friends of the couple. Ruth Bergquist graduated from the Branford High school at Branford, Connecticut and attended Augustana College, Rock Island, Illinois for two years where she majored in Sociology.

Curtis Stadstad is a graduate of the Plentywood High School, Plentywood, Montana and attended Montana State University at Missoula for two years, majoring in Speech and Psychology. He is a member of Sigma Chi social fraternity and Tau Kappa Alpha, national Forensic Honorary fraternity. He taught school at Dooley Montana the past year and is a Junior High School Instructor at Medicine Lake, Montana for the coming year. After a short wedding trip, they will make their home at Medicine Lake.

Guests attending the wedding were Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Bergquist of Washington, D. C., Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Anderson and son Ted, Minneapolis, Minnesota and Mrs.

and hit five batters. After Paul singled, stole second and third and scored on Levesh's long fly, Durham tied it up on a single and three successive walks forced in a run. A hit batsman, two walks and a sacrifice bunt gave the Sox its second straight defeat by Durham this year. On Sunday The Red Sox trounced Westbrook 11 to 1 behind the three hit pitching of Bob Bradley. Proto with a home run and Hy-lenski and Bradley with triples paced the locals attack. Sunday the Red Sox will meet Guilford in a double-header at Guilford for the championship of the league. Bradley and Bigelow will pitch for the locals with Levesh and Soboleski in relief.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Barron and daughter, Nancy have returned to Providence, R. I. following a week's visit with relatives in Branford.

Accidents Take Childrens Lives

The majority of schools in Connecticut opened for fall terms, September 4 and again Connecticut will be faced with the problem of highway accidents involving school children.

More than 30,000,000 or 20 per cent of the population of the country enter the classrooms of grade and grammar schools.

The ratio of adults to children killed in Connecticut in 1945 was 7 to 1.

Traffic accidents to children 5 to 14 increased 24 per cent throughout the country last year.

Accidents take the lives of more youngsters than eight leading childhood diseases.

Mrs. Charles Regan gave a birthday party Saturday for her son, Charles and Edward. Attending were; Mary and Jay Pierson, Bobby and Molcoln Bush, Laddie Harrigan

John Ward, Chris Peterson, Bobby Strickland and Denise Fay.

WISE SECRETARY! Wise boss! They both know that telephone lines are busiest between 9:30 A.M. and noon, so they place as many calls as possible the first thing in the morning, or in the afternoon. They know that materials and telephone equipment are still scarce — and that telephone traffic is greatly increased over a year ago. So they place their calls at the least busy times.
