DUMPING ALONG HIGHWAYS

From time to time we have spoken out against the disgraceful practice of people who throw garbage and refuse from passing automobiles. This week we read with interest that the New Haven Police Department will cooperate with the Park Department in trying to eliminate such practices in the parks of that city. There has also come to our attention an appeal issued by State Highway Commissioner William J. Cox which ought to be heeded by all. In some locations, he said, the offensive practice had reached epidemic proportions. The situation is particularly bad on the shore routes where beach regulations prohibit picnicking on the beaches.

Also bad are stretches of highways adjacent to roadside refreshment stands and state maintained picnic areas. The Merritt and Wilbur Cross Parkways are also subjected to this abuse.

Conditions, which have been the subject of much discussion in the department's Bureau of Roadside Development, have reached a point where it is almost impossible for the forces of this bureau, not yet returned to their pre-war complement, to keep up with the clean-up work.

Collection of debris has to be done by hand and involves the use of trucks to haul the rubbish away. This takes the time of men and equipment which should be directed to needed routine maintenance. On some of the shore routes on Sundays and holidays it has become necessary to assign men and trucks to a continuous patrol.

Much of the trash is left on the roadside by picnic parties while the balance is thoughtlessly tossed out of car windows.

Commissioner Cox points out that not only is the practice obnoxious, and detrimental to the department's efforts to keep the roadways attractive, it is also illegal under the General Statutes. Perpetrators are subject to fine and imprisonment or both. It has been suggested by citizens that proper signs be posted in an effort to effect controls.

SCHOOL BOARD PROBLEMS

We have often wondered if the townspeople realize fully the scope of the work of our East Haven Board of Education and the problems it faces month in and month out throughout the year. Frequently we have felt sympathy for the members who are called upon to give so much of their time and attention freely for the good of the children and youth of this community, usually without even civil thanks for what they have tried to accomplish.

It is true, of course, that our school problems are not of the magnitude that they have reached elsewhere, as for instance this fall in Norwalk where the teachers have come to grips with the school board and town fathers over pay increases and as a result of which the schools have remained closed. Neither does our town cover the large territory nor have the big populations of some urban communities, one of which, the neighboring city of New Haven, has felt the need to call upon educational experts at heavy expense to make a complete survey of its school program.

East Haven does not have these big-scale problems, but the Board of Education does find an over-abundance of annoying little ones which frequently mask as big ones.

As we view some of the issues that have arisen this fall; overcrowding in some schools and open spaces in others, requests for establishment of services in outlying schools which have long been provided in the center, petitions for transportation from areas far removed from the schools which the children of those areas attend, to name a few of the multitude of small problems, it would seem that it would take the qualities of a Board made up of Solomons to meet the needs or to please everyone on a budget tailored to East Haven's financial means.

Perhaps some day the townspeople will decide that a large central school plant taking care of the children of all ages and transported by school bus from every part of the town, instead of the present scattered schools of limited services, would have been the wisest and most economical plan of all. In the meantime let's give the members of the Board of Education some measure of praise at least, and not continuous criticism or condemnation, for what they are trying to do under difficulties.

The Younger Generation

By William E. Gillis,
Superintendent of Schools

The East Haven News is read by many people who live beyond the boundaries of East Haven or Connecticut and it is a medium through which the readers form an opinion of our community. This is the thought I have when I read the various items dealing with local affairs.

From time to time Colonel Knox and some of the other staff writers refer to the hoodlums and ruffians who are allegedly roaming around town waiting to tip over the rubbish cans which are requested by some of the residents. The outsider may get the impression that we have a lot of dead-end kids here and I wish to take issue with those who are so pessimistic.

During the past sixteen years the writer has had rather direct contact with the growing youth of the town. Many of those who were the younger generation in my early days here have grown up and are helping in business and civic matters to make a better East Haven. The present youth seem just as capable and law-abiding as those of the other years and they, too, will soon be carrying on the affairs of the town.

In these times there is a large turn-over in teachers and many communities are finding it extremely difficult to secure replacements. The two principal reasons for the retention of teachers are the salaries and working conditions. Our salaries are comparatively low yet we have had to take on only one new elementary teacher and five in the high school. We believe that the desire our teachers have for remaining here is largely because of the high type of pupils they have in their classes.

We know that there are many things done by youngsters which are regrettable. We know that there are always a few who are guilty of misdemeanors, but just because we should not label all of our grown-ups as violators of the law. I would like Colonel Knox and the others to take inventory and not toss wild statements around that tend to reflect on our younger residents.

JUNIOR GUILD

The Junior Guild of Christ Church will hold its first fall meeting Thursday evening, Sept. 26 in the other years and they, too, will soon be carrying on the affairs of the town. Mrs. H. L. Wanquist, Mrs. Edward Hansen, Mrs. Scott Watrous and Mrs. Charles Borrmann.

Last Survivors Plan Big Time This Sunday

The Last Survivors' Club composed of members of the Harry R. Bartlett post, American Legion, looks forward with anticipation to a fair weather Sunday for the big "shin-dig" at Oberle's Farm on Route 77 in Guilford.

This outing at which there will be baseball, horseshoe pitching and games of all kinds, promises to be a red letter day of the fall activities among Legionnaires. The mythical "Super-Six" is on the job again and nothing more really need be said to assure a good time. There will be a variety of refreshments including hamburgers, hot dogs, clam chowder, salads etc.

The affair is being held as a greeting and welcome to Maurice Sarason the new post commander. It is for members only and tickets may be had from Hiram Swanson, Jim Saville, Jigger McCarthy, or at Fred's Restaurant, Center Grill of Smitty's.

Christmas Decorating Plans Underway

More Than $700 Already Pledged By Merchants To Make Center Bright With Yuletide Cheer.

With December and Christmas season only a little more than two weeks away preparations are now going forward under the general auspices of the East Haven Business Association looking toward a community decorating and illumination program which, with public support forthcoming, should prove the best this town has ever had.

The Main street decoration last December which extended from Bradley avenue to the Town Hall corner attracted much favorable comment and it was said by visitors that the illumination was one of the best in any of the towns in southern Connecticut. This year it is planned if possible to carry the decorations and illuminations even further.

A committee of the Business Association headed by Eric Curry of the East Haven Radio company,

Action Later On Plea For Apartments

No opposition was offered to the plea for a change in the zoning law to permit erection of a garden apartment in Main street at a hearing held by the Zoning Board in the Town Hall Wednesday night. Action was put over until later however because of the absence of two members Alex Doran and Rudy Schmidt. Charles Miller, chairman of the Board presided and other members present were Alva Bradley and Fred Borrmann.

Several citizens appeared in favor including Judge Arthur Connor one of the original framers of the Zoning law.

Plans drawn by Architect Henry Kelly were offered by Martin Olson. These plans provide for a 57-family apartment built around a large court. The building would be two and a half stories high. Under the zoning law change sewage disposal arrangements would have to meet state and local health department approval.

All Goes Well With Veterans Frisco Bound

Telegrams sent back home from East Haven's Legionnaires enroute to the National Convention at San Francisco, and posted over the soda fountain at Motcals, have kept us all informed of our merry pilgrims' progress.

Abel Jacobs, Tony Caruso, Peter Weber and Ned Angelo comprise the party in one machine which made the first stage of the cross-continent trip by way of Indianapolis. In the other car are Augie Melillo, Louis Maggioro, Robert Greamer and Amos Jacobs who report enjoying the first lap of their journey through Niagara Falls and Canada.

The parties met Wednesday at Milwaukee and presumably set out across the desert wastes and mountains together. Mr. and Mrs. Linus Swanton and Mr. and Mrs. Leverett Bassett, motored out earlier in the month.

EXTRA! EXTRA! EXTRA! NINE LIVES LOST

"Suzy," the cross-eyed cat that has long held the Main street mousing championship from her vantage point as night guardian of the Economy Market, is no more. She departed each of her nine lives simultaneously, the victim of a stop-run driver, while making her way none too cautiously from a friendly visit across the street. "Suzy," who always went where she wasn't looking, will be missed from the Main street scene.

Old Resident Of Town Dies In 91st Year

In the death of James A. S. MacKinnel of 125 Main street Sunday in the 91st year of his age East Haven lost one of its oldest and best known residents. Mr. MacKinnel had lived in this town 45 years, the larger part of which was at his residence facing the Town Green. His wife died in 1918.

Surviving Mr. MacKinnel are two sons, Ralph R. of Wallingford and James Norman MacKinnel of East Haven; three grandchildren, James N. Jr., Donald and Joan B., all of East Haven; a sister, Mary MacKinnel of Branford and two brothers, Abraham, of Branford and John, of Prospect road, East Haven.

Coming with his parents from Hyde Park in New York state where he was born in 1855 Mr. MacKinnel lived as a young man in Branford and worked in the M. I. F. He later worked at Peck Brothers and then at Sargents in New Haven. His last employment was as janitor of the Community Building when that building was put up in Main street years ago but for more than two decades he has been in retirement. He was an eager reader and a thoughtful observer of current events locally and world-wide. He was one of the first of the circle of NEWS readers and watched for its arrival each Friday as a weekly "event." He enjoyed gardening and even during the past season despite failing health spent much time with his vegetables and flowers.

He was the oldest member of Widows Son Masonic Lodge which presented him with a 50-year pin five years ago. His 90th birthday party on January 13 last was an important family gathering. He was one of the first members of the East Haven Fire Department and for a great many years responded to every alarm, keeping his boots and fireman's coat beside his bed.

The Rev. Wm G. West officiated at the funeral Wednesday afternoon and interment was in East Lawn Cemetery.

Work Began On New Homes In Kimberly Ave.

Frank Bowe, New Haven plumbing and heating contractor, has started the foundations for two new dwellings in Kimberly avenue in the block west of Pardee place, across the street from where he recently completed a third residence. The new houses will be of frame construction attractively designed, with five rooms. They are located on lots 180 feet deep on what was at one time a part of the Brown estate.

These homes swell the growing total of new dwellings now under construction in East Haven with many more planned for depending upon availability of building materials.

Consideration Given For Home Decorations Also With Possibility Of Prizes For The Best.

as the Town Hall, the Hagaman Memorial Library and the Fire Headquarters.

Town organizations will also be asked to help swell the total and contributions from interested and public spirited individuals will also be welcome when the time comes.

John P. Morgan, Main street printer and stationer, has been appointed to explore the possibilities of a community-wide residence decoration and illumination project and civic groups are invited to give suggestions on how such a project may best be carried out. It is probable that prizes may be awarded for the most effective or unique residential decorations.

Although it is yet early in the season the fact that the preparations have begun well in advance point to what should be a real expression of Community spirit this December.

Miss Bombriant Is Married To Mr. Goncheck

In a setting of palms and gladioli in St. Vincent de Paul's church Saturday morning Miss Fern Marie Bombriant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bombriant, was wedded to Mr. Stanley Goncheck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Goncheck of New Haven. Rev. Father Joseph Buckley performed the ceremony and the organist and Miss Louise Crutella presented the program of musical music. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride wore a gown of ivory allover satin with inserts of Chantilly lace made with a train. Her hair was styled in an orange blossom coronet, and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lace frock, a Juliet cap with matching veil, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Marion Johnson and Miss Loreta Goncheck, sister of the groom, wore lilac net and gowns. They also wore Juliet caps with matching veils and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The bridegroom's brother served as best man, and the ushers were Charles J. Bombriant, Jr., the bride's brother and Richard Lee. A reception followed in the Tangle Inn in Morris Cove. Guests were received by Mr. Bombriant, who wore a fuchsia gown with black accessories and an orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother was seated at a brown frock with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to New York and Washington, the bride wore a pearl gray suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

After October 1 they will reside at 102 Henry Street.

Red Fraino, sponsor of the East Haven team, will climax the successful season by treating the boys to a banquet at the end of this month. Centerpieces, arrangements, decorations will be attended by sports-writers from the New Haven area.

East Haven Twirler Wins 19 Games For Grill Team

The East Haven Center Grill softball combine wound up its season in glory last week when they defeated the Pee-Wee's Grill team, champions of the West Shore loop, to win the East Haven title.

This was the first year of competition for the center gang from East Haven and the softies did pretty well for themselves. The Center Grillers met and defeated some of the best softball teams in the area.

Johnny Gillin, pitcher for the East Haven team had a banner year on the mound. Besides winning 19 games as against two defeats, the ace twirler also registered two no hits, three one hitters and two three hitters added to that is his amazing strikeout record of 114 batted batsmen.

George Mirick, Mrs. Arthur Beech, Mrs. Charles Walters, Mrs. William Ayer, Mrs. James LaBanca, Mrs. John Chidsey, Mrs. Norman Hall, Mrs. Joseph Groce and Miss Doris Groce of Sparthamberg, S. C. are visiting with their daughter and sons in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Myers of Silver Sands Road.

World Citizenship

To the Class of 1950
E. H. High School
Members, Parents, Teachers:
A few days ago we spent five very pleasant periods talking with the members of the Class of 1950. Our hearty thanks to all who made this possible: The Superintendent, the Principal, the Teacher and most of all the Parents whose delightful children made up the audience.

They listened well and a good many of you have by now heard the story that was told them, and perhaps with them are saying "We are the custodians of the years, trustees of all that man has been and done, and the heritage of his triumphant dreams."

We hope you will keep on saying it all 1950, and always, for it is forever true. The acceptance of this common faith in life gives a sense of security and good fellowship that adds much to the joy of living. And though the feet of youth may out-run the slower steps of age, they still will bear our triumphant dreams.

Next week the Class of 1950 will tell you about "The World Citizenship Guild."

FROM OUR MAIL BAG

Just reading "From our Mail Bag".
Mrs. D. H. is 100% correct. The center of our lovely little town is most untidy, most of the time I am on Main Street several times a day and have regretted this condition very much and have heard several people lament about the rubbish flying about. Possibly the waste paper cans would be a great help as Mrs. D. H. suggests.

We have it in stock now this NEW rat killer

Here's a new rat killer that does a bang-up job. It's Anturat, a Dr. Hess product. It's tasteless—rats can't detect it in bait. They eat it without being suspicious. Anturat is more poisonous to rats than other animals. It's more effective than squill against the Norway or common brown rat. It's been thoroughly tested—ideal for farm use. Anturat is least poisonous to chickens—it is not dangerous to livestock or pets if used properly. Anturat is an entirely new rat killer. We feel certain it is the best type of rat killer for every-day farm use. Get Anturat now.

As Mr. Brinley Sees It

The Brinley-Burgess class of the Old Stone Church, Bible school turned out in force for the opening of the fall semester. They took up six pews in the Church Sanctuary and presented an encouraging appearance to the Officers of the School and their teachers. These youths represent the Four High Schools grades and remain as students in this class until eighteen years of age. Following the usual worship period in the Church, they retire to the Chapel in the Parish House, which is their Class room. Owing to an unusual amount of open business, the Lesson was omitted, and the boys enjoyed a Gospel Song Service, with an acknowledgment with grateful appreciation, the gift of a piano, to this Class room, by Mrs. James Bavin. This was a much needed improvement.

Announcements were made of the coming year's activities for the Class, which included the new that Mr. Alton Redman of Frank Street, would again coach this Class Team, in Basket Ball. Mr. Redman is planning some new features for the Team for this year.

Scouting Needs Money!

Scouting is a very important activity for the boys of our community. It provides them with a sense of purpose, discipline, and leadership. However, the program is facing a financial challenge. The annual camp, which is a highlight of the year, requires significant funds. The committee is currently seeking donations and volunteers to help cover the costs. It is hoped that the community will support this noble endeavor.

What Other Editors Are Thinking About

In his news letter two weeks ago to the Rev. Mr. E. M. Roberts, our correspondent from North Westchester, told of the annual meeting of the Jones Street Cemetery Association held the previous Sunday. She told how for several years the descendants of the first settlers have met in order to plan for the future of the hallowed ground—and actually to work at maintaining the cemetery—mowing the grass, cleaning up, etc. Mrs. Brown adds: "It is always a day pleasantly spent and enjoyed by all renewing old friendships and recalling old time happenings."

Gen. Knox Says

When Mr. Stevens announced that the East Haven News was two years old I could hardly believe it. Why folks it seems only a few weeks ago I accepted his invitation to write down my pet peeves for the paper he was starting and for the edification of my good neighbors here in town. Well it don't seem possible that since then I have written pretty close to one hundred blasts about this and that. But I had to go over into the Fair Haven neck of the woods out Laurel street past the Golf Course and over the Fair Haven Heights. I see where the city of New Haven is building a new pavement but there to connect with the road we built a long time ago. Now as I remember it the first or second letter I wrote to Mr. Stevens back in 1944 I said it was a darn shame that we built a road along Laurel street to Fair Haven and then had to end in a jump the bumps at the town line where we had to finish the journey on what felt like an enlarged washboard. Well we do get results if we wait for them. For two years now this week folks I want to say something about the friends and relatives between Nash Appliances store and the Castleton Package store left in the condition it is. It's become and more and more a headache for me. Double jump and lustre to your garden. Couronne d'Or, Dourbock, Late Triumph and Murlito are excellent. They need a little more well drained soil, and should be planted in clumps with other spring flowers to get the best results. Blue phlox is suggested.

RETAIN THE OPEN SPACES

By George A. Cronin, New Haven Farm Forester Southwestern Conn. Recently, in these columns, I described an airplane-trip taken for local forestry inspection. One point not mentioned was the uneasy feeling I often had on looking down, that "There just aren't enough landing places below" and when there was a landing place, "It isn't half large enough". Although my aviator friend at the controls assured me that the site was one foot vertical to 8 feet horizontal, there were times when a landing could not have been made with reasonable safety, even in farm fields. If our engine had failed, this lack of open space is reaching a critical stage in many other places. "Temporary" buildings are being erected in parks, Quonset huts on Campuses, administration buildings for "emergency" use about National and State Capitols. And all along our seashores, rivers and lakes, rows of private residences, cottages and shacks are being built with no reservation of space for the public at large, who are dependent thereby from the loss of God-given natural features which should be their birthright.

Garden Notes

GRAIN FIELDS planted in late fall. Perennials that have finished blooming may be divided now, if an increase is wanted or if the plants need rejuvenation. Late-sown crops of carrots, beets, lettuce and turnips should be thinned now. Insufficient space will slow up the growth and prevent good developments. If your soil needs liming, fall is a good time to apply ground limestone. Take cuttings of summer annual reports given. Luncheon will be served.

Unightly Junk Will Be Moved

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles John F. McCarthy announces that at once begin a campaign to clean up unsightly and unsafe conditions now existing at many gas stations and garages where old cars and parts and in some cases inflammable materials have been allowed to accumulate.

IT IS NOW FELT THAT THE PROPER PLACE FOR THE OLD AND UNSIGHTLY JUNK IS THE JUNK YARD AND THE COMMISSIONER FEELS THAT WITH THE COOPERATION OF ALL CONCERNED, THIS RESULT MAY BE SOON ATTAINED.

During the war years, when there was a shortage of automotive parts and also of many power, this situation gradually grew to its present hazardous condition. It is now felt that the proper place for the old and unsightly junk is the junk yard and the Commissioner feels that with the cooperation of all concerned, this result may be soon attained.

ALERT EXECUTIVE. He gets things done on schedule. He saves time by making as many local and out-of-town calls as possible when telephone lines are least busy—before 9:30 A.M. or during the afternoon. Why not take your cue from this alert executive?

Rent Director Advises Town On Petitions

"Landlords in large numbers continue to contact the local rent office seeking increases in rent," Mr. Clarence C. Westerberg, Area Rent Director of the New Haven Defense Rental Area says. The Area Rent Director has outlined fourteen reasons that increases can be granted through petitions.

1—There has been on or after July 1, 1942, a substantial change in the accommodations by a major capital improvement. The improvement must be more than ordinary repair, replacement and maintenance.

2—There was, on or before April 1, 1941, a substantial change in the accommodations by a major capital improvement as distinguished from ordinary repair, replacement and maintenance, or by a substantial increase in services, furniture, furnishings or equipment, and the rent on April 1, 1941 was fixed by a lease or other rental agreement which was in force at the time of such change.

3—There has been a substantial increase in the services, furniture, furnishings or equipment provided with the housing accommodations since April 1, 1941 which has substantially increased the rental value.

4—The rent on April 1, 1941 was materially affected by the blood, personal or other special relationship between the landlord and the tenant and as a result was substantially lower than the rent generally prevailing in the Defense Rental Area for comparable housing accommodations on April 1, 1941.

5—There was in force on April 1, 1941 a written lease for a term commencing on or prior to April 1, 1941 requiring a rent substantially lower than the rent generally prevailing in the Defense Rental Area for comparable housing accommodations on April 1, 1941.

6—The rent on April 1, 1941 was established by a lease or other agreement which provided for substantially higher rent at other periods during its term.

7—The rent on April 1, 1941 was substantially lower at other times of the year by reason of seasonal demand or seasonal variations in rent for such housing accommodations.

8—There has been since April 1, 1941 (a) a substantial increase in the number of occupants in excess of normal occupancy for the class of accommodations on April 1, 1941, or (b) a substantial increase in the number of subtenants, or (c) an increase in the number of occupants over the number contemplated by the rental agreement in effect on April 1, 1941, if the landlord then had a regular practice of charging different rates for different number of occupants.

9—On April 1, 1941 the property was temporarily exempt from taxation, and the benefit of this exemption was being passed on to the tenant. The resulting rent must have been substantially lower than that generally prevailing in the Defense Rental Area for comparable housing accommodations on April 1, 1941.

10—The housing accommodations were newly constructed with priority rating and were first rented before March 29, 1944 at a rent substantially lower than that generally prevailing in the Defense Rental Area for comparable housing accommodations on April 1, 1941. The application for priority was made on the September 1941 form in use by the Office of Production Management, and the landlord prior to the maximum rent date or the date of the first renting, whichever is the later, did not make application for a higher rent because of increased costs.

11—The rent on April 1, 1941 was materially affected by peculiar circumstances, and as a result was substantially lower than the rent generally prevailing in the Defense Rental Area for comparable housing accommodations on April 1, 1941.

12—Substantial hardship has resulted from a substantial decrease in the net income (before interest) of the property for the current year as compared with a representative period prior to April 1, 1941, due to a substantial and unavoidable increase in property taxes or operating costs. This ground for adjustment does not apply to maximum rents of housing accommodations newly constructed with priority rating where the accommodations are first rented after April 1, 1941 or to maximum rents established by a first renting after April 1, 1941.

13—The housing accommodations were rented to an employee both on April 1, 1941 and at the time the order of adjustment is issued, and after the former date but prior to July 1, 1942 the landlord and tenant agreed, as the result of a continuous process of bargaining, upon a wage increase and a rent increase, the wage increase has been put into effect.

14—The petitioner requests an order authorizing him to demand and receive a deposit to secure the return of movable articles.

If a landlord believes, after studying these permissible grounds, that he is entitled to petition for adjustment, he should obtain from this Defense Rental Area Office at 216 Crown Street copies of form D-1 if adjustment is sought under paragraphs 1 through 11, and of form D-58, if under paragraph 12.

Heavy Hitters Meet Guilford This Sunday

The Branford Red Sox, after dropping their game to Guilford last Sunday, will oppose the same cliche again this Sabbath in the latter town with the championship of the Shoreline league at stake.

Branford which has headed the league throughout most of the season will be weakened by the loss of Bolt Elwell, Yale catcher, who is currently making a determined bid for the starting center berth on the Ell eleven. On the other hand it appears, at this writing, that the Guilford nine will be strengthened in the box by the return home of Rood, a cardinal farmhand, who tolled on the mound in the Southern Association most of the Summer.

With this latter prospect in view the home team will be top heavy favorites to cop the league bunting although Manager Chestnut revealed last night that he has a few tricks up his sleeve for the all important contest. Foremost in his mind will be the insertion of Paul Ward behind the plate to hold the slants of Bob Bradley, who holds a major decision over the shoretowners already this year. Then too, he has Stan Sokolowsky, a terrific hitter and veteran of many years of play, to take over the initial sack.

Pop Duell, the league's leading hitter will patrol centerfield for the locals and heavy hitting Steve Pauk, who batted 525 for Milford Prey during that school's summer campaign, will be at the dizzy corner. Steve Hylenski, absent from the baseball wars for several months, is likewise scheduled for major action in the outfield.

The home team will counter at the plate with the Spencer Brothers, Loomis, Vitalle, Jacobsen and Bob Starr, all heavy hitters.

COSTLY DISEASE

"The purchase price of the eradication of tuberculosis may be considered a bargain to a community. It costs pennies to control it, and dollars to tolerate it," said Charles L. Newcomb, Director of the Christmas Seal Sale for the National Tuberculosis Association in a meeting of local association secretaries and volunteer workers held at the New Haven Medical Association today. Mr. Newcomb went on to say that knowing the cause of tuberculosis, how the disease spreads, how to prevent it and how to treat it. It is necessary only to purchase on a community scale the control and eventual eradication of this most costly disease and thus avoid the human and economic losses resulting from untimely deaths.

Annual Report Of New Haven Road Received

Security holders and employees of the New Haven Railroad will receive, within the next day or two, copies of its modernized annual report which this year has taken new form and contains much down-to-earth information and attractive illustrations in place of the usual pages of statistics of traditional stockholders' reports. The figures are still there for the statistically-minded, but this year's report will interest equally the average reader.

Many may be surprised to read, for instance, that last year nearly half (46.6%) of all the passengers into and out of Grand Central Terminal (which the New Haven shares with the New York Central) rode on New Haven Railroad trains.

The report, which is signed by Howard S. Palmer, James Lee Loomis and Henry B. Sawyer, trustees, tells of the new stainless steel passenger cars soon to be placed in service, which have fluorescent lighting, panorama type windows, electric water coolers, pleasant rest rooms, and smoking lounges in every coach.

"New motive power, the modern equipment on order, the completion of authorized right-of-way changes and the re-spacing of signals," the trustees point out, "will assure faster schedules, more frequent service and dependable on-time performance."

Under the heading, "Customer relations," the trustees tell of the New Haven's efforts to merchandise its service. "Merchandising is just as important in railroading as in other fields," they say, but add: "The first consideration, at all times, is that of adding to the safety, comfort and convenience of our customers. Our sales approach will stem from an earnest desire to provide the maximum in service and satisfaction to those using our facilities."

Other chapters deal with the New Haven's experiments with radio train communication, pioneering with a teletype system of freight car records, nightly shipment of loaded trailer trucks by flat car, and the road's foreign trade and industrial development activities.

The trustees point to the necessity for the increased freight rates, requested of the Interstate Commerce Commission, as well as continuation of the war time increase of ten per cent in passenger fares.

The New Haven Railroad, the report shows, now operates 1,815 miles of road, with 4,234 miles of track. It operated cars a total of 398,847, 000 miles in 1945. Its percentage of passenger train business as compared with freight is unusually high, representing more than 50 percent of total revenue.

The History of Coffee

The fragrant cup of coffee which makes us civil every morning and renews us so often during the day links many nations in a long and romantic history. Just when it first appeared as a beverage no one can say exactly. But that it was an Arabian discovery seems very likely in view of the fact that coffee grew wild in that part of the world before the ninth century after Christ, and fanciful Arabian nights tales have been handed down about the first brew.

The most popular legend concerns Kaldi, an Arabian goatherd, whose dull life on the hills made him a gloomy Joe indeed. But he picked and ate some of the berries his goats were fond of nibbling, because he noticed that after eating these berries, the goats became gay creatures. Kaldi himself became a new man. Thereafter coffee berries were indispensable to his diet, and so carefree and lively did he become that he often joined his goats in a merry dance.

A monk, to whom Kaldi confided his experiences, prepared a drink from the beans and served it to the members of his order. They found the beverage sustained their energy and helped them to pray and meditate longer, so they adopted the drink and cultivated the plant.

Gradually the popularity of the beverage spread to Turkey, where, in 1554, the first public coffee house was established. It was introduced to the Venetians in 1615, the French in 1650, and it was brought to North America in 1652. But promptly the power of the beverage to stimulate clear thinking and plain talking converted the popular coffee houses into discussion clubs. And political debate that exploded into dissension, direct action and resistance made coffee houses the targets of tyrants like Charles II of England, who termed them seminaries of sedition.

But, according to Disraeli, London and Paris coffee houses of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries held the mirror to "the manners, the morals and the politics of a people."

Here in colonial United States, too, the coffee house became the meeting house of the town fathers, and after a time changed from purely social centers to focal points of merchant trade and political discussion. Daniel Webster called Boston's Green Dragon Coffee House "the headquarters of the American Revolution."

The Dutch took the coffee plant to South America back around 1718, with a result that every sixth grader knows. Today's coffee plantations in Pan-America produce three-fourths of the world's coffee. And because we are the world's greatest coffee drinkers, of course we're the biggest customers for the Pan-American yield. All previous invoices were topped in 1945, when the United States imported 20,279,690 bags of coffee, each containing 132 pounds!
