TOWN TOPICS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Messing were all smiles Thursday morning as they said good-bye to friends before leaving about ten o'clock for Florida. Son Billy will remain with relatives in East Haven (he's too busy with baseball and his two daughters Rita and Lenora are going along).

Genial Tom Murray, assistant principal at the high school is working again this summer at McLean's Drug Store. Tom may recommend dropping of football in East Haven unless funds come through from town gov't. Financial aid is too large to cancel. This fall will be the last time that the school will play on other gridirons however. The resceding of the high school field will give the school a place to play hereafter and save considerable money in rentals. All games next fall will be day games.

Mrs. Frank Dooley who has resigned her clerking position in the high school is sitting on some happy news which should break this weekend. Keep your eyes peeled.

Notice Coach Frank Crisaffi working these days at the Amoco station on Main Street. Service with a smile in his motto and he throws the dimples in free.

Considerable speculation that Hal Lawlor may be named Bill Bixby was expressed about town after the Legion team shut out North Haven on Tuesday. The tall youngster throws right hand and has a remarkable curve ball and good control.

Andy DePalma is all puffed up these days but not about his singing. The popular imitator of Al Jolson has some sort of allergy which has raised hives with his health. Scheduled for another trip to the doc on Friday.

Edward Buechele has been named a regular fireman at the Center Station. It was announced this week by the Board of Public Safety. Buechele, who is married, lives at Minor Road.

He will replace Gilbert H. Kelsey who retired July 1.

Many unscheduled firework and two street bon fires added to the celebration of the 175th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence here but did not make the police or firemen happy. The fires took place in Momaugan and Foxon on Tuesday night. Volunteers made short work of them, however.

James (Joke) Carr with family were picnic guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ann of Branford, Wednesday night.

First Selectman and Mrs. Frank S. Clancy were hosts at a cocktail party last Thursday night in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Dunningham. The popular dentist was installed as proxy of the Rotary Club later that evening. More than thirty friends were guests at the early affair.

Katherine McFee was delighted recently with the farewell party given for her at the home of Mrs. William Livenhan of Laurel Street. She was given a set of matchy luggage as a token of the esteem she has built in five years as principal of the Laurel Street School. Mrs. William Quick provided the entertainment.

Katherine McFee will become principal of the new South School in the fall.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Bradford Manor Home Company will have a main held summer banquet at the Star's Head in with forty members present. A lovely cake in their honor was presented to the president, Mrs. James Dunningham, by Mrs. Betty Ransay, proprietor of the Inn. After enjoying a delightful supper the members relaxed by playing bridge or canasta.

Members of the auxiliary are very active in civic affairs in their community and are co-sponsors of the popular Bradford Manor Junior Drum Corps, whose twirler, petite Kitty Pollard, 13, was recently judged queen of New England twirling majorettes at a meet at Holyoke, Mass., having won her crown from over 600 competing contestants in both the junior and senior classes.

Marion Rowley starts the first week of her vacation from her duties at the Town Clerk's office Monday, July 2. She is expected to be in August, she said this morning. The popular clerk will go to Nantucket for the latter part of her annual time off but plans to leave around during the first seven days.

Barbara Anstey was a rival of the stars at the first Pop's Concert.

Doc Donadio was installed as president of the Rotary Club last evening at the Weeping Willows. Ladies night added that much glamour to the scene.

Center fire house has a new look since six weeks redecorating job was completed this week. Chief Hayes is real proud of the quarters.

The Erik Currys enjoyed their silver wedding anniversary Sunday June 24th with an open house party at their home. Guests were present from many Connecticut cities and towns.

Matty Anastasio back from young G.O.P. Convention in Boston is rightly elated over election of Middletown's Miss Lorraine Lincoln to a National office. Lorraine, like Matty, is closely identified with Young Republican on a local, state and National level.

CARLETON S. GOULD

Carleton S. Gould Given New Position By Phone Company

Carleton S. Gould, of 60 Prospect Road, East Haven, has been appointed to a newly-created post of general directory sales manager for the Southern New England Telephone Company at its headquarters here effective July 1. Now division commercial manager of the company's western division, he will be succeeded in that position by Howard F. Fox, of New Britain, assistant eastern division commercial manager.

Mr. Gould will be responsible for the sale of telephone directory advertising, including national advertising accounts, for all the telephone directories published and distributed by the company through its 70 exchanges in Connecticut. The company now publishes more than 1,780,000 copies of its 22 directory editions.

Active for many years in community affairs in both East Haven and New Haven, he is a former member of the East Haven Board of Education and formerly a trustee of the Old Stone Church there. He was a director of the New Haven Chamber of Commerce and has been associated with several Community Chest drives.

A graduate of New Haven schools, he also attended business college here and was employed with the C. W. Bakeslee & Sons, the Mallicote Iron Plating Company, Sargent & Co. and the Winchester Repeating Arms Company before starting his telephone career in 1915.

After serving in various capacities in the accounting department, Mr. Gould became assistant manager of the telephone business offices in New Haven and in 1924 was promoted to manager in Norwich. He returned to East Haven as manager two years later and in 1934 was promoted to district commercial manager. He became division commercial manager in 1940 and in that post was responsible for the supervision of telephone business office activities in the entire western half of the state.

A full decade may elapse before the Branford-East Haven section of the redeveloped Route 1 is completed, State Highway Commissioner told the Branford Chamber of Commerce recently.

Speaking at a regular meeting of the Chamber, Hill said that several factors have led to a postponement of the plan expressed a year ago which would have the new route cross Lake Saltontail. Sharp opposition has come from the New Haven water company which contends that an overhead bridge of the type planned would cause water conditions undesirable to those who are serviced by the water of the local lake.

In addition, it has become imperative that the heavily trafficked road be served first by the relocation. Hill cited the towns west of New Haven as being more needful of immediate construction.

This week in an address before the Branford Rotary Club, Hill said that New Haven development in the Grannis Corner area near the East Haven town line and the City Point Harborfront are underway and the connection of the two will call for a total of 4.2 miles of expressway at a cost of approximately $10 million.

Hill said that, in terms of money, the U. S. 1 development makes large with a probable expenditure of over $100 million dollars before the entire need is satisfied from Greenwich to East Haven.

East of New Haven from Saybrook to Grannis Corner, the road will be built in three sections starting from the Connecticut River and working west.

Income Limits Speed Hill said his presentation that the New Haven-Connecticut River relocation of the highway would take 10 years was based on the present income of the state highway department and the availability of funds for distribution in this area.

Work in the Grannis Corner area of New Haven is expected to be completed by 1955, he said, to complete the Seaboard Parkway and the four-lane Branford road with New Haven's street system at Townsend Avenue.

Hill outlined the stages of which U. S. 1 will be developed from the Connecticut River westerly. The first section lies between Baldwin Bridge and Westbrook, the second from Westbrook to Guilford and the third from Guilford to the East Haven Cut-off. For the third section, he said the State Highway Department has procured aerial maps for preliminary planning. More detailed studies will be undertaken after sections one and two have been developed further.

FRANK P. SULLIVAN CO. IS LOWEST BIDDER ON PROPOSED SOUTH SCHOOL

The School Building Committee will meet with the Board of Finance on Friday evening to discuss the awarding of the contract to build the proposed new South School.

Following the conference, it is expected that a special town meeting will be called after which the long awaited construction will commence.

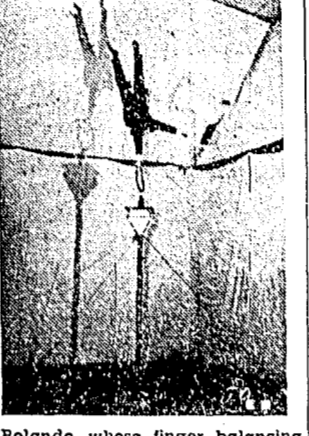

The Frank P. Sullivan Construction Company of East Haven was the lowest bidder of four firms who submitted figures on the school. Its bid was $516,938.

The bids were opened publicly last Friday night, but no immediate action to award the contract was forthcoming. The Building Committee preferring to wait until its meeting with the Board of Finance.

Two bids were received for the development of the school site. The Cosgrove Construction Co. of Branford submitted the low bid, $36,

FINGERTIP CONTROL

Rolando, whose finger balancing act is an equilibristic feat. His sensational offering is an unforgettable feature of the Hunt Bros. Eddy Bros. A benefit donkey baseball game sponsored by the American Legion, Post 85, will take place at West End Stadium on Thursday evening, August 30th.

The game will pit the baseball on horseback abilities of the Town Fathers against the Legionnaires.

Herdsman J. Kempter Is Europe Bound With Shipment Of Livestock

John Kempter, co-owner of the Kempter Dairies of East Haven, is on the high seas bound for Greece in one of the most unique jobs he has ever undertaken.

Experienced in live stock handling, Mr. Kempter is accompanying a herd of fifteen registered Brown Swiss bulls of high pedigree to Greece where they will be used to build up the herds of that country. They are consigned to the Ministry of Agriculture in Athens.

The Agricultural Company of Pan American, a Guilford firm organized in 1947, is handling the shipment at the request of the Greek Government, despite the fact that five New York companies were seeking the job.

Tangling in size from one to two years and in weight from 1,000 to 1,500 pounds each, the spectacular loading was accomplished without incident.

The bulls were brought to the pier at New York from the Jersey City Stock Yards in a huge trailer truck. They had been assembled at Jersey City from leading breeding farms of Massachusetts, New Jersey, Minnesota and Illinois pending the conclusion of the shipping strike. They were unloaded at the pier in New York into the crates that had been built at the pier and were already waiting for them.

Kempter is caring for the animals enroute. They will be unloaded at Patras, Greece about July 10. The shipment was one of the largest to leave New York in a long time and was made via the "Elmira Victory", a ship of the American Export Line.

Minor Court judges in East Haven, appointed two years ago by Democratic Governor Rowles, last week rejected claims to succession of new judges named last Thursday by Republican Governor Lodge.

The Democrats will remain on the bench until a Supreme Court decision indicates which group will take control of the courts during the next two years.

Judge Armen T. Krikorian, an appointee of Gov. Rowles (the year ago, and Deputy Judge Charles Copeland, an interim appointment for Judge Thomas Kelly, resigned, continued to maintain their positions in the East Haven Town Court despite credentials presented by recently appointed Judges Vincent J. Fasano and Clifford R. Sturges.

After the swearing-in ceremony, last Monday morning, Judge Fasano made demands upon Judge Armen T. Krikorian for the court posts, citing the Lodge appointments.

Judge Krikorian denied the Republican demands and informed the claimants that the jurisdiction would remain the same pending the final outcome of the test now pending before the state Supreme Court.

The procedure was an orderly one conforming to a state-wide plan.

Included in the new slate of officers, if the Supreme Court is upheld, will be Alty Robert Taylor, prosecutor; John F. Lawlor, assistant prosecutor; Mrs. Jane Thompson, clerk; Adolbert Mautte, probation officer. All the latter were endorsed by the Republican Town Committee last Friday at a special meeting.

Regardless of which appointees get the court posts they will receive salary increases as the result of a bill approved by the legislature and signed by Gov. Lodge last Saturday.

Those presently holding positions in the local court besides the judges are: James F. Garland, prosecutor; Thomas Geelan, assistant prosecutor; Mrs. Mabel Hanley, clerk; and Salvatore Longobardi, probation officer.

Judges, who now get $1,000 per year, will receive an additional $1,000 under the new bill. The prosecutor's salary was raised from $1,000 to $1,500; the clerk's salary from $720 to $1,000; and the probation officer from $300 to $600. Others receiving $300 increases are the deputy judge and the assistant prosecutor, both of whom now get $300 a year.

COUNCIL-MANAGER PLAN

As a matter of public information, the Review and the News of this week commences a series of eight articles on the council-manager plan of government.

The Connecticut town leaders already adopted this plan which calls for one man to be responsible for the town's welfare and finances under a council of taxpayers, not elected under the banners of Republicanism or Democraticism, but on the strength of their own names and qualifications.

HISTORY YALE UNIVERSITY CLOSELY LINKED WITH NAME BRANFORD

This year, Yale University, New Haven, Conn., celebrates its 250th anniversary. Yale along with Harvard is ranked among the top twelve universities in the world and the June 11 issue of Time magazine carried quite an interesting story about this great American institution of higher learning. Yale is the second oldest university in the United States, Harvard having been founded 64 years prior to the time Yale was established.

Even though Yale is several hundred miles from Branford, Fla., this article about its 250th anniversary should prove of interest to the people who live in Branford on the banks of the Suwannee River. Yale had its beginning in 1700 when ten clergymen from all over the colony of Connecticut met in the parlor of a trim farmhouse at Branford, Conn. The men had brought many books with them and one by one each walked up to the table in the parlor of that farmhouse with the following words: "I give these books for the founding of a college in Connecticut," as they placed their books on the table's top. By the next year the school had a charter and that was the beginning of the school that has made such a name for itself in the educational field.

Branford, Connecticut, is the town for which Branford, our town, is named. Our town was first called Rowland's Bluff. Plant, the great railroad man had his home in Branford, Connecticut. (Henry B. Plant who summered in the house at the corner of West Main Street and Short Beach Road where Albert B. Plant now lives—Ed.). He was one of the pioneer railroad builders in Florida and since his rail business was so closely linked with that of the river steamers that piled the romantic Suwannee years ago, he became fast friends with Robert A. Ivey, pioneer citizen of our town. To honor his railroad friend, Ivey changed the name of the town he helped to establish from Rowland's Bluff to Branford.

Branford, Conn., and Branford, Florida, are the only two towns in the entire United States with that name. Branford, Conn., is 316 years old, is located 8 miles from New

Frank Norris Writes Of Yale, Branford, Ct., In Branford (Fla.) Herald

On June 19th, Editor-Publisher Frank R. Norris had put another issue of The Branford Herald to bed. As the weekly paper rolled off the press it was distributed to the approximately 1,100 persons who populate Branford on the banks of the world-famed Suwannee River in Florida, not the several thousand who live in Branford on Long Island Sound.

In this particular issue the Florida edition read a story "History Yale University Closely Linked With Name Branford," which is reprinted in the accompanying article. A few pertinent facts about the southern Branford, which Norris included in a covering letter, are of interest.

"We have five churches for whites and two for negroes, one white school and one negro school. We have one bank, of which I am cashier, one theatre, a dial telephone exchange serving 100 telephones. The town is served by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and the Central Truck Lines motor freight and express. We are located on Federal Highways 129 and 27 and we are approximately 45 miles from Gainesville where the University of Florida is located. We are about 90 miles from Jacksonville.

"Our elevation is 48 feet above sea level. We are 45 miles from the Gulf of Mexico and 90 miles from the Atlantic Coast. Branford is in a strictly agricultural section and the main products are fine cured tobacco, peanuts, watermelons. As you can see, our town is much smaller than yours, but we have made much progress in the past ten years."

Haven and has a population of approximately 12,000 people. The New England town is a summer resort town and almost doubles in population during the summer months. The town has eight hotels and numerous cottages. The area of our northern Branford is 23.77 square miles and its altitude is only 12 feet to compare with our 48 feet. It has fifteen miles of paved streets and their water works have a daily pump of 450,000 gallons. The fire department consists of eight pieces of motor equipment and the police department has nine regular men on the payroll.

Our New England friends are taxed in their town at the rate of 27 mills. They have three parks, one trust company, one savings bank, one savings and loan association, one post-office, 4,868 telephones, 11 churches, eight schools including one high school, a public library containing 51,000 volumes, one theater with a seating capacity of 1,000. It is served by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Branford, Conn., is also closely allied to the agricultural industry since agricultural products are among their leading products. They also produce malleable iron goods, steel specialties, wire goods, shirts, folding paper boxes and granite from nearby quarries.

Branford on the banks of the world famed Suwannee River cordially invites the citizens of Branford, Conn., to stop by and pay a visit when they come to the land of sunshine. The southern Branford also hopes to attain many of the things that our neighbors in the north now enjoy in their town of 12,000.

Branford, Fla., shares with joy and pride with the New England Branford that one of the leading colleges of Yale University bears the name Branford College, a picture of which was also in the June 11 issue of Time Magazine.
