The kindergarten

The kindergarten differs from the grades in that it does not attempt formal work, but plans its procedures and curriculum around the needs of the young child. On entering kindergarten the child must adapt himself to a larger group, accustom himself to guidance and acquire basic skills and habits. Previous to entering kindergarten he has lived a carefree, loosely-organized life. The transition from this to school takes considerable adjustment. It is the great contribution of the kindergarten when it equips the child with the ability to adjust to new situations easily, and insure his success and satisfaction in being a recognized member of a group.

The following list will show how and why the kindergarten plans its activities around the adjustment of the child:

1. The session or time spent in school is short so that the child does not have the emotional strain of looking forward to a whole day away from home and does not experience fatigue.

2. Time allotments are brief, so that the child gradually becomes acquainted with the more formal routine of elementary school.

3. Guided play leads gradually into a larger social group but also does for individual expression.

4. The development of regular habits, skills and attitudes necessary to successful adjustment of the child is included in the curriculum of the kindergarten.

5. Every child is given the information he wants to know and which he can assimilate. He needs wide interests and the teacher provides them.

6. The teacher provides also a variety of experience which the

The Kindergarten Story

The following information has been compiled by the kindergarten teachers of the East Haven Schools under the guidance of the Superintendent of Schools, William E. Gillis and Supervisor of Elementary Education, Miss Harriet L. Gesler. Although some of the material is familiar to parents it is hoped that a clearer understanding of the purpose and work of the kindergarten will result after careful reading of this article. It is also hoped that close cooperation between the parent and the teacher, in the interest of the child, may develop—thus bringing a more successful adjustment by the child, during his first year at school.

Registration of the child does not guarantee his or her acceptance in kindergarten unless the child meets the age requirements. The entrance age of kindergarten requires that a child be at least five years old by January 15th, following the opening of school.

When the child's enrollment is taken, it is found that less than 20 pupils are listed for a kindergarten. The Board of Education reserves the right to close that kindergarten.

Purpose Of The Kindergarten

Leaving home to attend school brings the child into a new environment in which a greater demand is made upon him to adjust himself to a group. The original purpose of the kindergarten and the primary one today is to guide the child toward making this adjustment. Many of the educational needs of the child between the ages of four and six, are met through the agency of play. Learning situations are presented in the form of play and provide for the child's need to explore, manipulate and investigate.

Every part of the child's kindergarten environment is carefully selected with a view toward development. Through rhythms, stories, excursions, play-acting, singing, speaking, playing with toys and with other children, the child constantly builds up a background of experience which aids him in the beginning of reading.

The kindergarten differs from the grades in that it does not attempt formal work, but plans its procedures and curriculum around the needs of the young child. On entering kindergarten the child must adapt himself to a larger group, accustom himself to guidance and acquire basic skills and habits. 6. The teacher provides also a variety of experience which the child needs to lay the foundations of good physical and mental health, industry, creative ability and sociability.

7. Provision is made for emotional growth by teaching the child to work, play and share with others.

8. The child is taught and encouraged to think for himself.

9. A child feels secure in doing what he knows how to do and he learns by doing.

10. The foundation for readiness in the first grade is built up in the kindergarten.

Helpful Suggestions For Parents of Entering Kindergarten Children

1. Make every effort to develop a happy attitude toward the kindergarten which your child will enter.

Your Child Should

2. Know his name and address.

3. Have independent toilet habits.

4. Know how to put on and take off his garments.

5. Have rubbers or overshoes which fit easily so as to enable him to take them off or put them on without help.

6. Have his clothing labelled with his name to avoid confusion and loss.

7. Carry a clean handkerchief or some nose tissue.

8. Have a note explaining the amount and purpose of any money which is brought to school.

9. Be accustomed to some discipline.

10. Be accustomed to being with groups of children his own age.

Plans Complete For Memorial Day Parade May 31

Major Ernest L. Pemberton, marshal of the Memorial Day Parade for the Town of East Haven, has announced that the 11th School Band will again participate in the line of march.

The band, organized and directed by Mrs. Wilhelmina M. Stranberg, made its initial public appearance in the parade last year and was most favorably received. This year the boys will appear in their new blue and gold uniforms recently purchased for them through the efforts of Parents Music Association.

The proceeds from the Annual School Concert to be held at the high school and in the gymnasium, evening will help defray the remaining cost of the uniforms.

Major Ernest L. Pemberton announces that he will be assisted by the following committee: Honorary Chairman, First Selectman Frank A. Barker; Chief of Staff, John P. Morgan; American Legion District Finance Officer, Luco Meoli; Commander AMVETS Post 14, John Facili; Commander Disabled American Veterans Legionnaires Thomas McMahon, Chairman Graves Registration; Bertil Abrahamson and Fred Schlippe, co-chairmen of the refreshment committee; Peter G. Weber, flag ceremony; Donald Thomas, transportation chairman; Senator William Jansper, Memorial decorations; Anthony J. Caruso, preparation of the Green; Herman R. Anderson, publicity; Mary Alice Cameron, secretary. In charge of the reception for distinguished guests will be Mrs. Frank Pranhovic, president of the American Legion Auxiliary and Mrs. Rudy Waller, vice president of the AMVET Auxiliary. Assisting them will be the following members of the legion auxiliary: Mrs. Harold Burrill, Mrs. Fred Schlippe, Mrs. Melville Michaels, Mrs. John Oren, Miss Fieda Schipper, Mrs. John Enright, Mrs. William McKay, Mrs. Maurice Sarason and Mrs. William Maher.

The parade will be held Friday, May 30 at 2 p. m. It will be divided into three sections. The first section will be preceded by a police escort and led by the Grand Marshal and his staff consisting of: Past Commander John P. Morgan, Chief of Staff, Colonel Philip Tarbell, Colonel Frank McGinn, Colonel Robert Countryman, Major William C. MacLaughlin, Captain John Schwanfelder, Captain Frank Cannon and a detail of officers from the Yale ROTC.

The Marshals and their aides for the second and third section will be announced at a later date.

Brigadier General James M. Quinn, assistant adjutant general of the State of Connecticut, has accepted Major Ernest Pemberton's request to be the principal speaker at the Memorial Day services. Benediction will be offered by the Rev. William O'Brien, Pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's Church. His in the line of march, will be made at the East Lawn Cemetery where the Rev. Virgil L. Wolfenberg will offer prayers at the grave of Harry R. Bartlett and also at the Green Lawn Cemetery where brief services will be held by Rev. James E. Waery.

The following seniors have been chosen to speak Class Night: Class History will be given by Ron Rossell, Jackie MacDougall, Joan MacKinnel, Barbara Chirman and Warren Smith. Class poem will be read by the author Shirley Hill, Dorothy Zio, Marjorie Bowden, Paul Rossler, and Richard Byrne will give the class prophecy.

Walter, originally assigned to the destroyer Salem, became ill while home on a pass, returning to Boston the home port of the Salem, too late to board his ship. He was placed aboard the Mediterranean-bound destroyer Buckley, and was transferred via highline to the carrier Wasp.

Less than 24 hours later, while he was asleep, the fatal accident happened. Commanders revealed that only 15 feet separated him from the vast hole torn in the bow of the carrier. The Wasp recently limped into Bayonne, N. J. where Walter left the disabled ship. He has since sailed aboard his originally-assigned ship, the Salem, bound for the Mediterranean to rejoin the Sixth Fleet there.

Walter is the grandson of Mrs. Ann Connors of Coe Avenue. He attended the East Haven schools, and left last year to join the Navy, while in his junior year, at high school.

American Legion Opens Its Annual Sale Of Poppies

The annual Poppy Sale to aid Disabled Veterans was officially started this weekend when First Selectman Frank Barker purchased the first poppy to be sold in East Haven by Mrs. William Maher, chairman of the Harry R. Bartlett Post No. 89 Auxiliary Poppy Committee.

This event is sponsored each year by the Legion and its auxiliary to augment the Welfare and Rehabilitation Funds. Members will be stationed in various sections of the town until Memorial Day to sell poppies to the public. The purchase is voluntary and the price is not set—a donation, great or small will be cheerfully accepted. Made by disabled veterans for the help of disabled veterans and the aid of war widows and orphans, these bright red memorial flowers are the veterans' way to honor the dead as they care for the living.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. William Maher, Chairman of the Auxiliary Poppy Committee, Dominic Ferrara, Chairman of the Legion Poppy Committee, Mrs. Maurice Sarason, Charles Coyle, Fred Shlippe and William Maher.

Momaugin Gob Rescued Pair In Sea Crash

Momaugin is proud of S/M Walter Connors, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Connors, formerly of Coey Beach Avenue, when he was aboard the aircraft Wasp, which recently collided with destroyer Johnson, and he with every other man aboard was called into action in a life saving role. He accounted for two rescues out of the ill-fated Wasp.

DIALING THE NEWS
CLEANING-PRESSING
"Dry Clean It, Please!"
The lady who took her telephone to the cleaner's had the right idea—and the wrong method. Your telephone is built to last for years but it doesn't like moisture. So protect your telephone and the wires leading to it from spilled liquids, rain and steam. Wipe it clean with a dry cloth for many days of service.

Our Family is Growing, Too
Subscribers to the first telephone exchange in New Haven in 1876 could call their choice of 21 telephones. Today, your telephone will connect you with any of 45,000,000 telephones in the United States alone! The more people you can reach by telephone, the more the value of your service increases. Yet telephone rates in Connecticut have gone up only 16% in the last 24 years.

Republish Women Plan Food Sale
The Women's Republican Club held its regular meeting Monday in the Academy. Mrs. Alice T. Petterson presiding.
Reports were given by Miss Adah Baird, secretary, and Mrs. Burton MacIntosh, treasurer.
It was voted that future meetings of the club will start at 2 in the evening at the Reading Room.
A food sale will be held next Thursday from 9:30 to noon in front of Rankins Store. Miss Baird is chairman, assisted by the Mrs.

"Come Right Over, Nina..."
A telephone call made in Savannah, Georgia, in March, 1912, by Juliette Low to Nina Pope was the beginning of the Girl Scout movement.
Now, forty years later, the Girl Scout ideals of service and self-improvement are enriching the lives of girls and women all over the world. The telephone company is proud that it was "in at the beginning," and helps today in the work of this splendid organization.

How Poppy Sale Helps Veterans
From The Poppy Committee
Last week we gave you quite a bit of condensed information about the Memorial Day Poppy of the American Legion and Auxiliary.
We wonder if you'd like to know how some of last year's dollars received in the 1951 Poppy sale were spent. And believing you would, we'll tell you of a case or two.
One patient bedridden with arthritis in his back, who had been moved to a wheel chair. Our local Auxiliary had the pleasure of assisting in the purchase of this chair.
Another patient, bedridden at home, could earn a little and thus help financially if only a typewriter were available. And... was another project that your dollars helped make possible.
At Christmas time we were able to supply many gifts to the Christmas Gift Shop at two veterans hospitals. The veterans chosen from these gifts, absolutely free to him with wrappings and cards included, and thus is able to remember each member of his immediate family, such as wife, son, daughter, etc., even though he is hospitalized and without funds.
These are only a few of the projects that your cheerfully contributed dollars make possible through your wonderful cooperation with us of the American Legion Auxiliary.
Remember too that each poppy purchased means that next year another poppy can be made by that veteran and he will gain receive pay for doing so.
Don't miss the poppy display in a Main Street window and watch for the ladies with their poppy boxes and bouquets.

Questions and Answers
Q.—I am a World War II veteran with a non-service connected disability. If I were taken with a real emergency, would the VA put me on their hospital waiting list until a bed became available?
A.—If your discharge is other than dishonorable, and if you couldn't afford treatment elsewhere, and immediate hospital treatment is needed to save life and limb, the law allows VA to admit you to the usual priority rates to admit you immediately.
Q.—What is the present patient load in VA hospitals?
A.—Latest figures show a daily total of approximately 16,000 veterans occupying beds in more than 150 VA hospitals.

County Farm News

Compiled by the Extension Service, Production and Marketing Administration and Soil Conservation Service of New Haven County.

A University of Connecticut vegetable specialist reports that several hundred thousand dollars worth of cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli crops are right now in danger of being wiped out or seriously damaged by the cabbage maggot.

Extension vegetable specialist, E. C. Minnum advises commercial vegetable growers to apply calomel dust around the base of each cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli plant. A knapsack or bellows type hand duster is most effective.

The fly resembles a house fly in size but is a little more grayish in color. Eggs are laid on the stems of the plants or in soil cracks near the plants.

The eggs hatch in three to eight days into tiny white maggots which feed on the roots of the plants.

Some growers like to use corrosive sublimate solution. To make ten gallons, dissolve one ounce of fine grain corrosive sublimate powder in a small quantity of hot water. Add enough cold water to make ten gallons.

A cupful of the solution should be poured around the base of each plant. Two or three applications at weekly intervals are generally necessary for adequate control. The sublimate will corrode metal and should be used only in enamel, wooden or earthenware utensils. Also it is poison.

Chlordane and lindane are not recommended for the control of cabbage maggots. There is too much danger of chlordane and lindane collecting in the soil, according to the Extension Service at Storrs and Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station in New Haven.

Farmers interested in enrolling in the 1952 Agricultural Conservation Program should contact their local community committee or the County P.M.A. office soon.

According to Nelson H. Tucker, P.M.A. committee chairman, June 30th is the deadline date for signing up in this year's ACP. Orders for line are still being accepted and more orders are needed to complete a carload of 10-12-20 for Seymour Sliding. Delivery of this fertilizer is expected in time for summer use.

The delivery service which can be offered on superphosphate is still uncertain, but it may improve as the seasonal demand for mixed fertilizer lessens.

If farmers find that the program materials service is not acceptable to them they are advised to make their purchases from local dealers. A payment is possible through the A. C. Program if farmers follow recommended program practices.

New Haven County farmers are working the land with an eye on maintaining soil moisture and proper air drainage. Roots must have this moisture and air to grow.

Nicholas Papp, North Haven vegetable grower remarked that his father taught him this years ago and Nick is planning to use green manure crops to stop the soil from getting too "tight."

Louis Dalgie, Cheshire is also trying to do a better job on his land. About 3,350 feet of diversion terrace will carry off water from a wet evening, and help dry his flat vegetable lands. This is the second diversion Mr. Dalgie is establishing on his farm.

Now is the time to order fish for farm ponds—if you have the ponds. Ralph Gaudin, Hamden will complete his this week. Irrigation of vegetable land is his primary object but says a few fish will be good too.

Cooperators in the District program get in touch with the S. C. S. office, 335 Prospect Street, New Haven to obtain fish.

The first twilight pastures meeting for New Haven County dairymen was held Wednesday evening, May 14th at Seven Brooks Farm, Branford. The farm is operated by Joe and Al Bahnen. This farm has an outstanding forage crop program which includes 23 acres of alfalfa, 30 acres of ladino clover pasture, J. S. Owens, Extension Agronomist, at the University of Connecticut told about the newest methods of seeding, fertilizing and managing pastures.

Each year as the time for housing pullets approaches, many poultrymen find it necessary to sell old birds while egg prices are still good. The sale is made reluctantly, income slows down until the new pullets are laying, and a lower price is accepted for the old birds because of a forced sale. One answer to this is the Connecticut Combined Range and Laying Shelter. A shelter 10 by 16 feet will house 250 laying birds, and it provides roosting and nesting space, as well as protection from predatory animals. Birds moved to such a laying shelter during May will not be upset by the moving process. Now is the time to build such a shelter and plans may be obtained by contacting the County Agents office at 335 Prospect Street, New Haven, Connecticut.

The State P.M.A. Committee has arranged to have a member of each county committee and the administrative assistant attend their regular meeting with the lime suppliers. Their goal is a mutual understanding of the problems of the lime suppliers, the P.M.A. offices and the farmers. This idea was the result of the Spring P.M.A. Conference held in Farmington.

Ed Nuttle, Montwese, is getting started on a drainage program that will make some wet land accessible. A green manure rotation is being set up behind the greenhouses. The field will be seeded down and when used again for bulbs the plowing will be done in alternate strips on the contour. In this way the field will not be exposed at one time to washing.

The Board of Supervisors of the New Haven County Soil Conservation District will hold a twilight meeting on April 26th at the farm of Oliver Scranton, North Guilford. They will look over the stream channel improvement work done last year that was laid out by S.C.S. technicians. This is part of their program of keeping acquainted with the permanent conservation practices being installed throughout the county.

Lyman Perkins, Oxford, is happy to see his pond nearing completion. Its construction has aroused quite a bit of interest in the neighborhood. He plans to stock the pond with trout.

Charles Hammarlund, S.C.S., of Branford, announces that final plans are being made for the First Annual Conservation Camp at the West Rock Nature Center to be held May 2, 3 and 4th. It was originally intended to have two scouts from each unit attend; however, many units have requested permission to send as many as eight scouts. Upon completion of the conservation camp all scouts will have completed requirements for their Conservation Merit badge.

A Busy Session Of Town Court Last Saturday

In a busy court session Saturday, Judge Frank Daley:

- Fined Antonio Santos, 50, of Todd's Hill Road $100 for drunken driving. Santos was involved in an accident on Cedar Street on May 4, entered a guilty plea through his attorney Cornelius Driscoll.
- Fined Eugene G. Dumont, 18, of 97 Ivy Street $24 for speeding but suspended execution for six months.
- Nolleed a charge of driving without a license against Raymond Barrett, 22, of 860 First Avenue, West Haven.
- Found Cosmo Lomatra, 19, of Paved Street, guilty of reckless driving in a pedestrian accident on East Main Street last November 20. The fine was $50. Ellsworth Foote represented Lomatra.
- Nolleed a charge of breach of the peace against John Mattson of 117, South Montwese Street.
- Fined Howard Shepherd of 335 Laurel Street, East Haven, for violating the rules of the road when he was involved in an accident on North Main Street on May 5.
- Ordered the same penalty for John V. Zelonski, 20, of Thompson Avenue, East Haven, on the same charge, after nolleing a charge of speeding against Zelonski.
- Discharged Virgil Judkins of the Sleepy Hollow Cabins who had been charged with violating the rules of the road after an accident on Montwese Street, near Main, on May 2.
- Fined Theodore Pawlikowski of Brushy Plain, $5 for breach of the peace and warned him "not to take the law in your hands."
- New Haven Attorney Tony DeLuca lived up the court sessions with his histrionics on behalf of his client Page S. Porter who was defendant in a non-support case brought by Assistant Prosecutor Phoda Loeb. T. Holmes Bracken represented Mrs. Porter. Deputy Justice Archibald Marshall ordered Porter to give his wife $27.50 a week for the support of herself and their small child. He had been paying $20 since their separation five weeks ago. Both are employed at the Atlantic Wire Company. DeLuca filed an appeal.
