Plan Play For Mayo Fund

The newly elected officers of the East Haven Players review production plans for the play "Four Flights Up" to be presented for the benefit of the Joseph F. Mayo Memorial Scholarship Fund. Left to right are Mrs. Leroy Tulp, recording secretary; Geogor Hileman, vice-president; Arthur Haesche, president; Mrs. John Tarbell, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. William Cogan, treasurer. Mrs. Erwin Gesner, librarian for the group, was not present.

Furor Over Building Ban Continues: DEM's Charge GOP 'Gag Rule'

Town May Meet To OK School Sites In Near Future

Work of the school sites committee has progressed to the point that a town meeting may be called in the near future for the approval of purchase of recommended building sites, George Lettis, chairman, announced yesterday.

The chairman said that the committee has been meeting regularly every Tuesday to consider the accomplishments of the various sub-committees during the preceding weeks. He said that if the progress continued as at present, a meeting will be called in December on a date to be specified later.

"As should be well known," he said, in apparent reply to a recent criticism by Democratic Town Chairman James Gartland regarding the group's activities, "this committee has seven school sites to consider according to the specifications of the recent town decisions. They are trying to follow these specifications to the letter. The decision as to types of buildings to be erected on the chosen sites is not within the jurisdiction of this committee."

The chairman noted that the committee had issued previous reports on its progress and that the nature of its task did not permit it to make any definite report until certain steps were completed. He denied that the committee was taking sides on the junior high school versus eight-four plan controversy, repeating that it was not the concern of the function of the committee to select the types of school buildings to be built.

Copeland's Statement

Following is the text of Copeland's statement:

"Because of the misleading statements made by First Selectman Barker, I feel it necessary to bring before the people of East Haven some of the facts pertaining to the present building issue.

"The minutes of that meeting which Mr. Barker quotes have not been accepted by the Board. There are several amendments to be made to those minutes.

"I want to call Mr. Barker's attention to the fact that some time ago I accused the Republican Party of a 'Gag Rule' in the Board of Education. I repeat that rule still exists and the Republican members of the Board refuse to change their own 'Gag Rule' because they do not want the record clear.

"I charge Mr. Barker with making deliberate, malicious and misleading statements concerning me. I believe Mr. Barker is part of an organized attempt to discredit me probably because of my conscientious fight against the Administration's organized sponsorship of the junior high school and because I find fault with some of the inefficiency in our school system.

"If Mr. Barker will read the article that he refers to I believe he will find it was written in very clear English which I am sure the average person could not misunderstand. I did not claim I misunderstood the motion. I claimed the Republican Party doctored up the motion for publicity and political purposes. I stated that the motion was merely a suggestion to the Board of Education to consider the matter, and not a definite commitment. I did not think the Board of Education had any such power. In fact, the Board even discussed briefly what could be done if the Board of Selectmen failed to act. It was readily conceded by at least most of the Board of Education that nothing could be done as a Board.

"It is very interesting that the Republican Party takes its present position after the motion was being considered for a seconding for a considerable length of time. I finally seconded the motion because I believed it was a matter for open discussion when the motion should be put to questioning.

"We Democrats do not have pre-Board of Education meetings and we do not decide beforehand what shall or shall not be done. I, as a Democratic member of the Board of Education, state that I have never been called to not have I called a meeting of the Board of Education to discuss or debate what action to take at any future meeting.

"I challenge the Republican members to make that statement. Could it be that because the matter had been discussed at a previous meeting no one knew what to do?

"There is nothing that is inconsistent in my position and I again charge Mr. Barker with making these deliberate, malicious and misleading statements for political purposes."

Copeland Accuses Barker Of Making Political Attack

The furor over a Board of Education proposal that the town consider limiting local construction to ease pressure on the schools continued unabated this week, as leaders for both parties gridded for battle in a possible show-down.

Meanwhile, the Board of Selectmen was in agreement that "something must be done" to meet the growing school problem but denied that any specific decision had been made as to the desired solution.

Charles Copeland, Democratic member of the school board, hit back at a recent statement by Barker accusing him of reversing his stand on the board's proposal. Copeland accused the town head of making "deliberate, malicious and misleading statements for political purposes."

In turn, Copeland charged the local Republican party with sending the school board with a "gag rule." "The Democratic school board member denounced Barker's statement of last week as 'part of an organized attempt to discredit me, probably because of my conscientious fight against the Administration's organized sponsorship of a junior high school.'"

The first selectman said yesterday that he had "no immediate comment to make" on Copeland's statement, but that he may reply later. He said he felt no need to give an immediate answer and that he had no intention of feeding the controversy.

Barker had accused Democratic Town Chairman James Gartland and other party leaders of climbing out on a limb, and denied that the town was seeking to put up an "iron curtain" to exclude outside families. He defended the proposal for a town meeting on proposed restrictions as democratic, and charged Gartland with seeking to block a public meeting on the matter.

Earlier this week Gartland reiterated his and his party's opposition to the restrictions as "non-democratic" but denied that he was against a town meeting on the matter. He also intimated that the school sites committee was making its decisions on the basis of the junior high school plan although a town meeting had voted an eight-four plan.

George Lettis, chairman of the committee, released a brief report stating that the committee is concerned only with choosing seven school sites and that the types of buildings to be erected are not within the committee's jurisdiction.

In his statement Gartland said: "I take exception to Mr. Barker for the remarks concerning my attempt of my part to block the call of a town meeting concerning the curtailment of home building in East Haven.

"I, for one, believe that it is the proper method for presenting the problem and again reiterate that it is not within the power of the Board of Education nor the Board of Selectmen to make any ruling or resolution pertaining to such curtailment.

"It is understandable that in a town meeting, even if the people voted contrary to the curtailment of building, there could be resolutions passed that would prevent the 'fly-by-night' contractors coming in from out of state and exploiting the purchasing public within our town.

"I have yet to hear from Mr. Barker's committee that was to be appointed after the recent town meeting in which the junior high plan was set aside and the 8-4 plan substituted. Whether or not this committee has 'carried out' its orders of the town meeting to survey for school properties and additions on the eight grade plan is still a mystery.

"I still feel that to have our town refuse any more building within its limit is non-democratic, seeks to curtail advancement of the town and deprive individuals of their rights to live where they see fit.

"From the contents of the report by Mr. Barker, it would appear

Commerce Group Refrains From Taking Stand On Ban

The East Haven Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday night to take no official stand on the controversy raging over the advisability of restricting home building to prevent local schools from becoming overtaxed.

The Chamber voted, instead, to send a non-voting committee to sit as observers at any future town meetings or hearings on the matter. The decision was made after it became apparent among the members present that they were far from unanimous in their views on the problem.

Among the slightly more than a dozen members present at the regular monthly meeting, which was held in the Adam House, there seemed to be general agreement only on the feeling that the situation was serious and that "something ought to be done soon."

Beyond that the opinions varied as to whose was the responsibility for the situation and over what measures ought to be adopted.

One member thought that a ban or severe restrictions on further home building would be undemocratic because they would in effect discriminate against outsiders seeking to reside within the town. He also viewed such a restriction as a threat to the town's commercial development and said it would be unfair to those who had commercial investments locally.

Another member insisted, however, that the ban should not be viewed from a special interest viewpoint but rather from the standpoint of the good of the town as a whole. He said that the town must take some step to check the crowding of classrooms.

A suggestion that the town enact stricter regulations to prevent future problems arising from such things as inadequate sewage facilities and poor roads was received with general approval.

In view of the difference of opinion on a ban on building, and uncertainty over the voting rights of Chamber members, the group decided to refrain from taking any official stand.

Plans were discussed for the opening of the Christmas season next month. A report by Robert Schirmer, chairman of the Christmas lights committee, revealed that the committee was about $100 short of its $2,000 fund goal.

The group voted to have stores remain open until nine p. m. Friday during the Christmas Shopping season. Also voted was a joint meeting with the Branford Chamber of Commerce to be held some time in February.

Rerouting Of Bus To Be Permanent Company Reports

A 30-day trial rerouting of bus service to accommodate residents of the Riverside Development and surrounding areas has proved successful and will be continued permanently, officials of the Connecticut Bus Company announced this week.

Harry W. Springer, Jr., supervisor of schedules at the New Haven office, announced that the company would petition the Public Utilities Commission to make the change-over permanent.

The buses, from the Branford-New Haven line, were rerouted October 20 to run through Hemingway Avenue, River Street, Foot Road and Main Street. The action was taken after a committee headed by Republican Town Chairman Mathew Anastasio petitioned for the change.

Springer told the East Haven News that the trial had met the minimum requirements of the run, and that the company would be happy to continue it to accommodate East Haven residents.

The schedules supervisor praised the committee headed by Anastasio for "being reasonable and practical in its requests. He said that by keeping its requested changes within practical limits, the committee made it possible to reach agreement with the company.

Springer said that "one or two" minor revisions might be possible if they were sought, but that the company could not make any major changes in the route and schedule.

The petition for the change was circulated following a cut-back in service on the Saltonstall line by the Connecticut Company.

Flag Raising Program Held At Gillis School

A flag raising ceremony at the new William E. Gillis School on Talmadge Road was conducted yesterday morning on the school grounds under the direction of Miss Catherine McKee, principal.

The school pupils and staff assembled outside the building for the ceremonies. The dedication was followed by a prayer. Miss Hilder Svenson, a member of the teaching staff, gave a solo rendition of "Raising Old Glory" an original composition by Frank Weich, a native of East Haven.

The program closed with a salute to the flag and the singing of the National Anthem by the pupils and teachers.

Legion Post 89 Pays Tribute To Nation's War Dead

Hundreds of East Haveners solemnly observed the Armistice Day exercises in honor of the nation's dead conducted Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock by the Harry R. Bartlett Post, 89, of the American Legion.

The ceremony of tribute took place at the traditional place on the East Haven green near the monument for servicemen of both wars.

The Rev. Virgil Wolfenberge, pastor of Foxon Congregational Church, led the prayers for the dead. Tributes to those who died in defense of their country were delivered by post Adjutant Mary Alice Cameron, past Commander Wilfred Talbot and Legioner George Knaut.

Past commanders Anthony J. Caruso and Frank J. Prahovic placed wreaths upon the monument. Serving as color guard for the occasion were Sgt. John O'Hara, of the U. S. Marines, Sgt. William Maher, of the U. S. Army, past Commander John P. Morgan, and Legioner Dominic Ferraro.

Closing taps were sounded by Al Santowski, of Branford.

Educators To Debate Rival Systems At Forum Tuesday

Dr. Cecil Rice, superintendent of schools in North Haven, and Dr. Allen Hickerson, professor of education and director of Training Schools, New Haven State Teachers College, will be the main speakers in a forum to be presented Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the High School auditorium.

Professor E. W. Muehl, of the Yale Law School, will serve as moderator for the forum on the topic "Better Schools, Better Pupils, and Better Citizens." The speakers will present the comparative merits of the junior high school plan versus the so-called eight-four system. Dr. Rice will support the junior high school side while Dr. Hickerson will advocate the other.

The panel meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30 at the Adam House, where the speakers and moderator will be the guests of the Parents and Teachers council.

Other participants in the forum will be First Selectman Frank A. Barker, Leslie Redfield and John Mulhern of the Board of Finance, Board of Education chairman Rev. Virgil Wolfenberge, member of the School Planning Committee; the Burton Reed, member of the Board of Education; Mr. William E. Gillis, superintendent of schools; Edgar Surprenant, chairman of the PTA School Study Group; and Mrs. Francis Flood president of the East Haven Council.

The dinner will be attended by P. T. A. presidents, members of the School Study Group, council officers and chairman of the School Study Group, and members of the panel. Those requesting reservations are asked to call HO 7-4541.

A question box will be placed in the lobby of the audience may deposit written questions directed to any of the panel members. Only written questions will be answered at the forum. Mrs. Charles Ruotolo, Mr. Maurice Romer and Mrs. Raymond Smith, secretary of the School Study Group are assisting in arrangements.

The meeting will be held to inform the public on the present need for a solution to the present school situation, all parents are urged by the school board to attend.

Momaquin AF & AM Lodge Meets Monday

Momaquin Lodge 138, AF & AM, will observe senior leaders night at its meeting Monday evening at 7:30 in the lodge rooms. The Fellowship degree will be exemplified.

Fines Total $56 In Cases Heard In Town Court Monday

Fines totaling $56 and a $25 bond was forfeited in eight cases heard by Judge Vincent Fasano in Town Court Monday morning.

Louise Moseley, 38, of North Haven, was fined $10 for intoxication and $25 for breach of peace after pleading guilty to both counts. Francis Rogers, 46, of 30 Clearview Avenue, forfeited a $25 bond posted for breach of peace in a separate case.

Charles N. Hyder, of 7 Wilford Road, Branford, charged with violation of rules of the road, was awarded a nolle on payment of $12 Dante Nardini, 18, of 74 Moss Avenue, charged with driving a car with a defective muffler, also had the charge nolle on payment of $9.

Charges of violation of rules of the road against two local motorists involved in an accident Saturday were nolle. Arrested by Officer Walter Marais were Joseph Cricchi, 17, of 30 French Avenue, and Frank Porto, 45 of 229 Hemingway Avenue. The car Cricchi was driving struck the right rear while he was preparing to turn into his own driveway.

Similar charges against Daniel E. O'Neill, 16, of 25 Grand Avenue, arrested after striking a 13-year-old pedestrian, Barbara Zampino, of 36 Hemingway Avenue, September 19, were also nolle.

The case of Thomas J. Bradley, 43, of 1400 Whitney Avenue, Hamden, charged with breach of peace, was continued until next Monday. He is under $50 bond.

Group Tolerance Leader To Address Tuttle PTA

Hyman Haves, New Haven regional director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, will speak on "Group Tolerance" at the regular monthly meeting of the Tuttle P. T. A. at 8 p. m. next Thursday in the school auditorium.

A father's night program has been arranged for the evening. In addition, an open house will be held at 7:30 in the school in observance of National Education Week and teachers will be in their respective classrooms to meet parents of children attending the school.

After the speaking program, the mothers of fifth grade pupils will serve refreshments.

Businessmen Visit Schools Today In EIB Day Program

Speakers from various business organizations throughout the greater New Haven area visited East Haven schools today as part of Education-Industry-Business Day. The businessmen and industrial representatives sat in on classroom sessions as observers and to discuss opportunities in industry.

The business and industry representatives were guest of the High School at a luncheon at noon in the school cafeteria.

Those visiting schools under the EIB day program were:

Firemen Battle Blazing Hay-Pile For Three Hours

Firemen battled for two hours and 40 minutes late Monday afternoon before finally extinguishing a blazing hay pile in a lot near the juncture of Roma and Kenneth Streets.

Apparatus from Company one responded to an alarm from Box 131 at 5:10 and found the pile of hay completely ablaze when they arrived. About 950 feet of hose were laid out to the nearest hydrant, and firemen fought the blaze steadily in a successful attempt to keep it from spreading. Damage was confined to the hay pile. The value of the hay destroyed was not determined.

Earlier, at 12:25 p. m., Company one had been called out on an alarm from Box 163 to extinguish a grass fire at the rear of 17 Barker Street. Some rain over the weekend had cut the fire danger slightly, but much of the grass and wood lands remained dry as tinder.

Since last Thursday morning, firemen were called out on a total of five calls. On Thursday at 2:10

THE SCHOOL PROBLEM

Like most other communities whose swift growth of population has brought a corresponding need for increased school facilities, East Haven is being squeezed into a crowded schoolroom space and limited revenues.

Until the town's schools are expanded to accommodate the constantly mounting number of pupils, the quality of service provided by our educational system is in danger of serious impairment. Estimates are that the number of classes on double session will increase to 27 next year from the present eight. A total of 835 pupils would be affected by this less than satisfactory arrangement.

In the face of such expanding needs, and because of delay involved in planning and securing additions to the physical plant of the town's school system, a proposal has been made to limit home construction until such time as facilities are able to keep pace with growing needs.

The proposed measure is a drastic one, and reflects the seriousness of the situation. It is aimed at checking the growth of the town by keeping out new families until the children of present residents are properly provided for in the schools. It will limit commercial expansion of the town, until the present residents are better accommodated.

Objections have been raised that the proposed restriction would be unconstitutional and un-democratic. As to the first, it is plain that should the towns people not have the power to vote such a restriction, the zoning board could legally lay down zoning regulations which would have the same effect.

The charge of "un-democratic" while sounding, at first, like the usual yelp from a defeated special interest, does represent a serious moral question. Of course, the town of East Haven has a right to protect its own children to assure them the best available education. Conversely a restriction against further building means that East Haven must close itself off as an area no longer available as a site for homes which would serve as an isolational, piece-meal approach to a state, or even national, problem.

If absolute building restrictions are to be set, they ought to be for a strictly minimum time only. The town's economic progress demands that, at the same time every effort ought to be made to accelerate the school building program.

From the long-range standpoint, two possible programs of action suggest themselves. One is to set sensible building regulations which will promote a healthy growth of the town without incurring future problems. For example, sewerage requirements should be sufficient to insure the adequacy for a long period in the future. Again, zoning regulations should be set for road surfacing and storm sewers, so that the town may not be saddled with high costs of renovation and maintenance once it accepts the streets in developments.

The other program would be to have the state and national governments begin planning a public works program around the need for additional school facilities. The building would start at the first appearance of an economic recession. Sometimes, it is necessary to remind ourselves that we have been successful in finding a sure-fire means to combat deflation and unemployment. Economists are willing to predict a continuation of the present level of economic activity for more than a year ahead.

IKK'S VICTORY

A remark by Arthur J. Summerfield, Chairman of the national Republican Committee to the effect that "any Republican could have won" was as much in part as it was a preview of the facts. Dwight D. Eisenhower's victory at the polls was his and nobody else's. The fact that he ran ahead of his ticket all over the country is one proof of this. The fact that the party he led obtained such a slim control of Congress is another.

Champion Summerfield did not doubt was flushed with victory when he made his extravagant statement. Despite his following complimentary remarks about Eisenhower as being one of our greatest men, Summerfield dropped the impression he had never recognized himself in the defeat of Senator Taft at the convention.

Should the good chairman want additional evidence, he can find it in recent newspaper reports that General Eisenhower's opponent, Adlai Stevenson, was flooded with letters from people who "voted for the other man" but who praised the Democratic nominee for the manner of his campaign and hoped he would run again.

Against such a distinguished opponent, Eisenhower must have indeed been the popular choice to win. The president-elect had named Summerfield head of the committee in order to unify the party. The chairman might at least give his chief the credit due him.

McCarran's criticism of Trygve Lie and his resignation as Secretary-General was prompted by the fact that the sub-committee chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is also out of line when the investigation was started. Lie directed all employees to cooperate with the committee and declared that none were immune from such inspection.

McCarran is noted for his irresponsibility and apparent lack of principle. His replacement by a responsible Republican in the next Congress is something to be hoped for.

IS T-V GROWING UP?

The craze for television is waning. After two years of starting indiscriminately at video screens, the American public is at last learning how to turn the electronic monster off. It may even be possible that our viewers are learning to be a little more selective as well as more sensible.

It is in this desire for quality versus quantity, that it is responsible for the apparatus last Sunday afternoon of a ninety-minute program called "Omnibus". Created under the direction of the Ford Foundation's TV-Radio Workshop, this CBS Series may mark the beginning of a healthier stage in T-V programming.

Antitheses for "Omnibus" telecast over a number of broadcast outlets, including WNHU-TV, video excerpts from the "Mikado" in Italy, the Bad Men, narrated by writer Willing, and an impressive Italian waltz dance, and several other equally engaging chunks of entertainment packaged into the program. It was quite a refreshing change from the hackneyed comedies, whodunits and quiz programs that tend to make the TV-viewer's night.

Robert Sautick, workshop director, informs us in the New York Times that the program is aimed at entertaining "the largest possible middle-brow American audience." He believes that the show may begin to lay the basis for a new type of program which would contain values of information and enlightenment calculated to help raise the general level of American taste and interests."

Another interesting feature of these productions, according to the director, is that they will free writing talent from the limitations of time and frequency. In short, the "nearest-thing" approach to American entertainment, in which seemingly endless series of shows are turned out like so much hot steam, can be put aside in deference to more artistic methods.

We can hardly believe our eyes and ears. At long last we are to get more than Arthur Godfrey's Top Gunners are high, but our fears are great. Will this like other good ideas, also perish because of lack of public support? Oh, we're sitting on the edges of our chairs, hoping that this is the turning point, and that, finally, T-V will begin providing consistent, adult entertainment.

Live in middle - brow!

AN OPPORTUNITY MISSED

The forum on education systems presented here Tuesday evening in the High School auditorium was almost a success. The talks by Doctors Cecil Rice and Alvin Hickey, outlining the respective merits of the two systems, and the four speakers who were fully presented. Other members of the eleven-man panel also handled their contributions to the discussion very capably. Questions from the audience were to the point and were answered directly. Under the direction of Professor Much the discussion was both very interesting and very informative.

DEAD END STREET

A prediction was made this week that the new Congress may undo the record of the 82nd which has already gone down in history as the "Investing in the Future" Congress. We are disturbed at the prospect.

MEDAL FOR BRAVERY

A special medal for bravery ought to be struck for the Hartford Board of Education. But we'll be dollars to doughnuts that there won't be any such manufacture, because it was a very unimportant thing that the board recently refused to back down on an agreement to rent the Weaver High School auditorium for a concert by Paul Robeson.

Momauquin FOXON

The harvest season will serve as a setting for the monthly dance at the Bradford Manor on Saturday from 8 to 11 p. m. These dances in the past have proven very successful and persons who wish to attend are reminded that reservations are limited to the capacity of the hall and may be had by calling either Mrs. James Cunningham or Mrs. Herman Schmitt. Refreshments will be available and a popular orchestra will furnish the music for dancing. Entertainment will be furnished with a crowning of a Harvest Queen during the evening.

Easties Squeeze Out 7-0 Win Over Milford The Hard Way

In their toughest game to date the East Haven High team squeaked out a sparse 7-0 victory over their Milford opponents on the afternoon Memorial Field Saturday afternoon.

Bad weather and field ruts coupled with a tough defensive team of Milford players, who were able only to storm across the battlements for a single tally in the closing minutes of the contest. East Haven had to get two tries at conversion before he could send the pigskin sailing through the uprights for the Milford defense and offense.

Tight defenses by the Milford players gave Coach Crisafi gang anxious moments, as he watched the Easties passing attacks angling for the field with interceptors or fail to the muddled field out of reach of the outstretched hands of the Easties.

However, the Easties rolled up a total of 10 first downs against two for Milford. In the early morning had dampened the field and in the second half the Easties were in a steady strangle that drenched the approximately 500 spectators and turned the gridiron into soft slippy mud.

Julia Cacace And Joseph Cappetta In Altar Ceremony

Miss Julia Cacace, daughter of Anthony LaVergna, of 373 Lenox Street, New Haven, and Joseph Cappetta, of 238 Grand Avenue, New Haven, were married Saturday, November 8, in St. Donato's Church, New Haven, by the Rev. Edwin Coffey.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with a fitted bodice, with wing collar and tiny buttons, and extending into the skirt. Her full skirt was of pressed pleats that terminated in a cathedral length train. Her hand piece was a bouquet of lace over a satin trimmed with pearls and a silk-fur illusion veil.

Her bridal bouquet was a spray of pink and white orchids and stephanotis.

The church decorations consisted of white poinsettias and ferns. Mrs. Mary Colvin and Mrs. Margaret Remington sang, while Frank D'Amato, violinist, was assisted by Benjamin Polak, organist.

Walter Maras, 16 Brennan Street, announced the adoption of their infant son, Paul Joseph, at Montreal, Canada, last week. Mrs. Maras is the former Elizabeth Boydwick of New Haven.

John V. Civitello

The funeral of John V. Civitello, husband of Florence Sheldon Civitello of 56 Cosgrove Beach Road, who died in Veterans' Hospital, Newington on Sunday, was held from the Celestino Funeral Home, 224 Elm Street, yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock. A requiem high mass was celebrated at St. Clare's Church, Monmouth at 10 o'clock. Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, John E. Civitello, two daughters, Laura G. Civitello and Mrs. George Hunt, interment was in St. Lawrence Cemetery.

Maragret Olson & Ralph Miller Wed At St. Vincent's

Miss Margaret Mary Olson of 14 Bartlett Road, daughter of Mr. Nils R. Olson of New Haven and the late Mrs. Mary Wheeler Olson, became the bride of Mr. Ralph Miller of 274 Brown Street, West Haven, on Saturday morning, November 8 at 11 o'clock in St. Vincent de Paul's Church. The Rev. Joseph Buckley performed the ceremony. Mr. William Fleming was the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Nancy Dowling, maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Hiegel, Miss Laverne Ledger and Miss Judith Nanny of Winchester, Mass.

Mr. Austin Nanny of Winchester, Mass., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Donald Reddish, Mr. Ellsworth McGulgan Jr., cousin of the bride and Mr. Lawrence Olson, brother of the bride.

A reception was held in Monaghan Colonnade, where the bridegroom's mother and the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ellsworth McGulgan, received the guests. The couple then left on a trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. Mr. Miller served in the U. S. Marine Corps.
