Says GOP Did Not Vote For Appointments

DEM's Claim Insufficient Time For Exams

Appointments of three policemen and two firemen by the Board of Public Safety announced at its meeting Tuesday night were voted strictly by the Democrats, according to Bertel Klockars, Republican member of the board. First Selectman Frank Clancy conceded this but asserted that the GOP members of the board failed to present any additional candidates at the meeting, although they were invited to do so. He defended the appointments as capable men who were judged on their records.

Safety Board Tightens Up Police Rules

A tightening up of police regulations ranging all the way from a crack-down on "clubrooming" in Police Headquarters to an order for strict enforcement of parking meters was ordered Tuesday by the Board of Public Safety in what may have been one of the sternest sessions in recent town history. Police Chief Edwin W. Priest, who attended the meeting at which the board unanimously voted 16 rules to be enforced, was directed to see that the orders were carried out under threat of suspension if he failed to do so.

Members of the board were critical of certain practices which they claimed were prevalent in the department. Number one on the list was a directive to "eliminate three men at headquarters on the day shift". It stated that if the present arrangement of shifts was to be retained, one officer should be assigned to traffic detail to another school.

Criticizing the tendency for officers to congregate in headquarters one member sarcastically declared that conditions at headquarters were so bad "it's got to be a regular clubbing ground for brass".

Turning to the matter of meter enforcements, Fred Wolfe, Jr., Democratic member, told the police head that tagging of parking violators was "very, very lax". "If they're not going to enforce them we ought to take them out," he declared. Wolfe rejected the idea of granting a few minutes grace. "A violation is a violation. It's just as simple as that," he said.

Bertel Klockars and Ralph Hurdur, Republican members, joined Wolfe in his skepticism over the fact that only 42 parking tags were issued during this month. They called for a comparison of meter receipts for this October with a similar period last year, as a possible index of enforcement. The result was a surprise. Receipts for the period of October 1 through 28 last year amounted to $324.05. For the period September 29 through October 27 this year was $324.72.

Consented To One Waiver

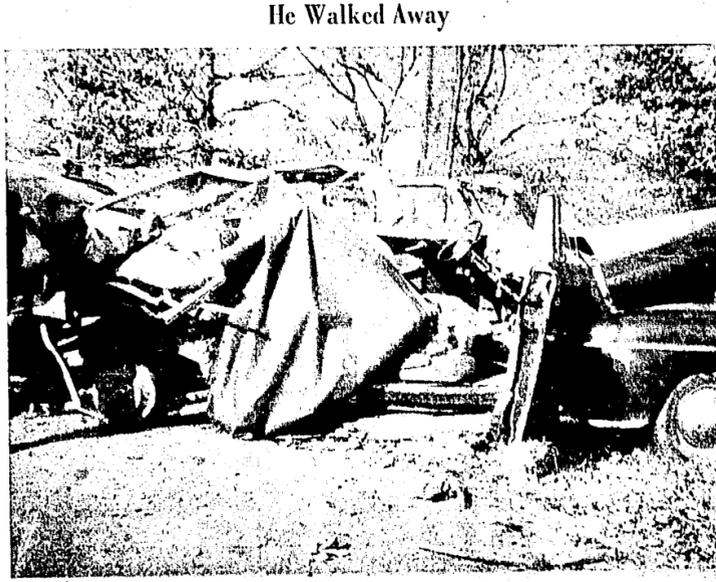

The Republican board member said his understanding was that the regulation became effective at the time it was voted. He said he had consented at that meeting to waive the regulations for the appointment of two supernumeraries in the Police Department, but that he had drawn the line there.

Names of the supernumeraries were never announced by the Barker administration under which the board was operating at the time, under a closed door policy. Klockars asserted that he was not given an opportunity to examine the qualifications of applicants for the five posts although, he said, their "letters" were passed among the board members for consideration.

In answer to this Clancy told this reporter that both Klockars and Hurdur could have checked with the police and fire chiefs on the qualifications of applicants for the five posts although, he said, their "letters" were passed among the board members for consideration.

Clancy said that he was not given an opportunity to examine the qualifications of applicants for the five posts although, he said, their "letters" were passed among the board members for consideration.

Teacher Groups Quiet In Midst Of Storm Over New Loyalty Oath

News of the passage of a loyalty oath for teachers by the local Board of Education was received calmly by local teacher organizations, despite a flurry of comment from leaders of education, editorial writers, and T. C. Mills.

Ernest Marzullo, president of the East Haven Education Association, and Miss Dorothy Jordan, president of the East Haven Teachers' Federation, admitted that the matter had been generally discussed at the regular meetings of both organizations which were held on Wednesday.

Both stated that the discussions were based on "what we had read in the papers" but that there was no action considered in the absence of official notification. Both said they were not authorized to issue any statement.

The five members voting in favor of the oath included one Republican, Mrs. Mary Fairbanks. The others supporting it were: Miss Elizabeth Chapkovich, George Berkly, Bernard C. Luogo, and Mrs. Beatrice Sullivan. Harold Hall, Republican, and William Withington, Democrat, abstained from voting.

Francis Walsh, chairman of the board, took the vote but did not indicate his own mind at the meeting. However, he was later quoted as stating that the board's action was in keeping with the times.

The oath was presented by Miss Chapkovich who stated she wished to have it "incorporated into the minutes," and that it be carried out. As originally read by her it included both teachers and members of the Board of Education. She stated that it had been drawn up by Town Counsel Richard Reilly.

The latter, who was present as a guest of the chairman, rose to confirm this. He said that it was drawn up on the lines of the state Civil Defense oath. He indicated that the board could require the teachers to sign the oath as a condition of employment but that no member of the Board of Education could be compelled to sign it.

After some discussion, on the latter point, Miss Chapkovich withdrew the section referring to board members. She also amended her motion to state that the oath would be required of all teachers and that it should be signed before they renew their contracts next March.

Hall, a Republican member, stated that "I'd like to know what prompted this." He asked what the purpose of the oath was.

Letts Opposes: Letts asked Chapkovich: "You mean that you want them to sign this or they lose their job?" He went on to state, Chapkovich protesting to the contrary, that the oath was questioning the loyalty of the school teachers. "Don't we have enough confidence in them?" he asked. "I don't see any just cause in the town for something like this," he asserted.

Petition Being Readied For Meeting On Change In Mom. Sch. Addition

Bldg. Committee Without Comment On Proposal

George Letts, member of the Board of Education and chairman of the Elementary School Building Committee, said yesterday that his committee had no statement to offer on reports that a group of Momaugun residents were seeking to add three more rooms to the Momaugun School besides those already authorized.

Letts explained that the building committee was limited strictly in carrying out plans authorized at town meeting. He said it was not the committee's function to authorize or amend.

Committee Disappointed

However, Letts did state that the committee was "disappointed" over the delay in approval of plans for the three classrooms and all-purpose room already authorized. He expressed himself as "hoping" that the school construction program would not be delayed to jeopardize the chances of completing the facilities for use next fall.

The building committee chairman did not get an opportunity to see Mrs. John Sullivan's statement regarding the advisability of adding extra rooms to Momaugun School and was not asked for comment.

Board Delays Approval

The Board of Education Friday voted to delay approval of the plans for a three-room plus all-purpose addition to the school. The action was taken after Mrs. Sullivan questioned the possibility of using a partition to divide the all-purpose room for temporary classrooms.

Letts insisted that the building committee had no authorization for such an added facility and offered a brief argument when he asserted that all the building plans were "geared to a 6-3-3 plan." Mrs. Sullivan said she was "assuming" the 6-3-3 plan.

Harold Hall, who voted against the delay, asked that his negative vote be recorded. "I just want to say in voting against you people," he declared, "that I hope this doesn't bring another delay like what happened with the Gillis School."

Speaking later as a board member, rather than as chairman of the building committee, Letts agreed that partitions could always be installed in the Momaugun all-purpose room afterward. He doubted that such a partition, which might cost as high as $10,000, could be included in the present plans without special authorization.

Smith Resigns As School Building Committee Sec.

Raymond C. Smith, of 59 Tuttle Pl., will resign his post as secretary to the Elementary School Building Committee, according to information which was released by him yesterday.

Smith, who has served as secretary to the board since its inception last summer, said he was tendering his resignation to the school building committee "in the sole interest of assuring continued good relations between the school building committee and the administration. A copy of the letter was sent to First Selectman Frank Clancy.

Letts praised Smith for the work that he had done and said he regretted his loss as secretary. He said the committee had found Smith, who had helped compile a survey of local school conditions last year, of invaluable service to the committee because of his knowledge and experience.

The committee chairman said he had discussed the resignation with Clancy and that an agreement was reached that the first selectman would meet with the building committee to name a successor who would be "acceptable all around."

Youth Finds Texas Carb And Boston Accent Don't Mix

A young humber with a claim to Texas citizenship and a Boston accent which excited the suspicion of a local police officer landed back in the hands of military authorities last week. That was after a check revealed he was an AWOL soldier who had escaped from armed guard while being transported from Springfield, Mass. to Fort Riley, Kan.

Evi. Nathaniel W. Eaton, 21, of Brookline, Mass., was taken into custody by Officer Frank Backus Saturday morning at 4:30 after he aroused the latter's suspicions. The young soldier was dressed in a western outfit, including a ten-gallon hat, and was dead broke when he stopped in for a cup of coffee at D'Andrea's Diner on the parkway.

The "Texan" told Backus he was headed for "Bah-ston." Examination revealed he was wearing dog tags. A teletype check brought information that he was a military police from Springfield, Mass., accent and all.

Luongo Replaces Corbett As School Board Secretary

John H. Corbett, who has served as secretary to the Board of Education for the past several years, was relieved of that duty Friday but continued on as business manager of the local school system until next October 16.

Bernard C. Luongo, a Democratic member of the Board, was elected secretary of the board. His compensation was set at $25 per session, not exceed $600 per year. Corbett's salary, which had been raised in the new budget from $4,400 to $5,000 was cut to $4,400.

In making his announcement, Francis Walsh, chairman of the board, did not give any reason for the change, except that it was the "feeling" of a majority of the Board of Education that the duties of secretary should be performed by a member of the board.

The announcement followed an executive session of the board which came at the end of its regular meeting in the offices of the superintendent at the High School. While members of the press and Corbett and Supt. R. Vernon Hays awaited in a nearby office, the board went into a closed session that lasted for more than a half-hour.

More Than 100 Favor Six Rooms Says Mrs. Sullivan

More than 100 parents attending a special meeting in Momaugun voted in favor of the addition of six new rooms and an all-purpose room to the Momaugun School, according to Mrs. John J. Sullivan, Democratic member of the Board of Education, who presided.

The announcement came in the midst of reports that a petition was being circulated for the necessary number of signatures to call a town meeting to act on a resolution favoring the addition. Such a meeting would be necessary in order to modify a former authorization at a town meeting of May 18 for three rooms and an all-purpose to be added to the school.

It was reported that First Selectman Frank Clancy would give the petition prompt consideration.

Agree No To Delay

Mrs. Sullivan also stated that the meeting had "agreed" unanimously that the "Momaugun parents would take no action which would delay the school program in any area of East Haven." She asserted that she had authoritative information that revised plans for the additional three rooms could be prepared within two or three weeks time.

She stated that the meeting was called for the purpose of determining the opinion of the parents regarding future additions to Momaugun School. Francis Walsh, chairman of the Board of Education, attended as an observer.

She said four questions were put before the group for discussion:

1. Will you accept three classrooms plus an all-purpose room?
2. Do you want three classrooms plus an all-purpose room with a folding door that would divide the latter into two temporary classrooms?
3. Do you want six classrooms with an all-purpose room?
4. Do you want six classrooms without an all-purpose room?

She stated that from "facts compiled and presented to the group there was no doubt regarding the necessity of three extra classrooms."

Mrs. Sullivan stated that the previous Board of Education had assured a delegation from Momaugun School last July 8 "that they realized our need and if the Momaugun parents would be patient and go along with proposed plans of the board until certain antagonisms receded their request for six classrooms would receive the cooperation of the Board."

Editor's note: At a subsequent meeting of the board the group was told that the board realized that school facilities would be inadequate in future years but that it could plan only for the immediate future since the growth of school population of the town's several sections could not be accurately determined. On this basis the board voted against recommending a change in the number of rooms allotted.

Claims Twice As Many

Mrs. Sullivan stated that if present building plans for all areas could be completed tomorrow "there would be approximately twice as many children enrolled per room in the Momaugun area than in the Foxon or Gerrish areas."

"There are 436 children who should be housed in the Momaugun School as of this date," she said. "Even if three new rooms were added immediately the congestion of more than 40 children per room would still exist. The figures do not even take into consideration any new housing proposed in this area."

Mrs. Sullivan complained that she was unable to secure "necessary factual statistics" from the Elementary School Building Committee, which, she claimed, "should be a source of such information." She asserted that she took the liberty of contacting the architects now employed by the committee, in order to secure information necessary "before any true evaluation of the overall school program could be made by the Board of Education."

Advised: No Effect On Others

She claimed she was advised that there was "absolutely no necessity in stopping construction of the new Foxon and Gerrish schools if approval should be obtained to secure the architectural (Continued On Page Two)

United Fund Tops $1 Million Mark To Approach Goal

The United Fund-Red Cross campaign was within striking distance of its goal this week when pledges tallied at yesterday's luncheon report meeting totaled $1,001,477 for 73.7 per cent of goal.

Chairman Stanley S. Trotman reminded Key Drive volunteers that only two more report meetings remain in the scheduled campaign period and urged them to intensify their efforts to make the $1,350,700 goal by October 28. Trotman said the chances of achieving 100 per cent are very good. "The goal is well within reach," he said, "and I hope everyone will do the little extra that is needed."

Another luncheon will be held at 12:15 p. m. Monday, followed by the closing dinner next Wednesday evening. Both meetings will be in the Hotel Taft ballroom.

Reminds Auto Owners To Pay Up Taxes

Tax Collector Salvatore Longobardi this week reminded motor vehicle owners in East Haven that they must pay all local taxes on their vehicles before they can obtain new 1933 registrations from the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

Approximately 300 local automobile owners have failed to pay their current taxes here to date, Longobardi estimated. He reminded the delinquent taxpayers that they would have to pay their car taxes in order to get their new registrations before the February 28 deadline. He urged that they make their payments as soon possible.

Editor of Review Another Higgins

At a time when progress, expansion and development keynote life in Branford, the Review finds itself returning to the past. The paper, which in the 1930's was in the hands of Bill Higgins, is once more the responsibility of person so-named. The former editor is now the well-known postmaster of New Haven, William J. Higgins.

The new editor, who is currently a resident of Hamden, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Higgins, of Broad Brook, Connecticut. He was educated at the University of Connecticut and Boston University. Bill comes to the Review after having done weekly newspaper work in Watertown, Mass. and editorial work in Rochester, N. Y.

He is a veteran of World War I, having served with the Air Force Air Transport Command in Iceland. Married to the former Christine H. Zeol of Hamden, they have a five month old daughter, Jane. Bill is currently looking for suitable living quarters for his family in Branford. The Branford Review is a sister paper to the East Haven News.

House-to-House Canvass For Band Funds Due Nov. 16

A gigantic house-to-house canvass to raise funds to equip and outfit a high school band with the purpose of encouraging musical instruction among local children will be conducted on November 16 under the auspices of the Parents' Music Committee.

Each household will be asked to contribute one dollar to the fund and will receive booster cards in return. It is estimated that a minimum of $5,000 will have to be collected to buy instruments and uniforms for a 70-piece band, which is the goal of the group.

Plans for the campaign were decided at a meeting of the Music Committee with leaders of many of the town's organizations in the Town Hall Monday evening. The meeting was conducted by Fred Wolfe Jr., chairman, and with Mrs. John Standerberg, of the High School teaching staff, as secretary. Distribute Booster Cards (Continued On Page Two)

Resigns From Park Board In Protest Over 'Dismissal'

Anthony Ferraiolo, Sr., of 47 Prospect Place Ext., member of the Board of Park Commissioners, since 1946, resigned his post from the board this week. Ferraiolo said his resignation represented a protest against the manner in which Fred Husted, of 92 Henry St., was dropped as caretaker of Memorial Field.

Husted told the News that on the day after election this year he turned his keys over to First Selectman Frank S. Clancy together with "five days time." He said he had done so in order to beat what he felt was certain dismissal in the same way that he was dropped in 1949 (after serving two years) by Clancy when he was elected first selectman the first time.

Ferraiolo contends that a meeting should have been called. "None has been called," he said, "and Mr. Clancy has no right to accept the resignation." He declared: "I felt that a meeting should have been called and this matter decided by it. I want the whole town to know that I have nothing (personal) against Mr. Clancy, but I didn't like the way he handled this."

In a brief statement Clancy confirmed that the caretaker had dropped in October 6 to drop off the keys and say "goodbye." He said he had not taken any action on the "resignation" although he had the authority and the intention to do so.

Clancy said he would accept Ferraiolo's resignation which was tendered in a briefly written letter which did not give any reason. He had no announcements to make for appointments for either post. He added that he had the "time" referred to by the caretaker and that a check had already been written for issuance next week. Because it drew on several different accounts, calculation of the right compensation resulted in delay, he explained.

The park commissioner pointed to Section 4. of a special act of 1945 creating the local board of park commissioners. It states: "Said board shall have general management, supervision and control of all public recreational activities and sporting events and contests that may be conducted on said public parks and beaches, playgrounds and recreational fields other than those connected with school buildings XXX".

The same section states that a "Said board may employ supervisors, teachers and other assistants necessary for such recreational activities and may determine their duties and terms of service and fix their compensation."

Husted told this reporter: "I don't see why I should be political."

until after a conference with the police heads.

Announcement of the appoint-an executive session which lasted more than three-quarters of an hour.

Leary Re-elected
John J. Leary, Jr., a former member of the local police force and obtained a leave of absence according to the board report, was re-elected as a patrolman in grade

C.

Also appointed were William
Hubbard as a patrolman in grade C of the Armed Forces who is expecting his discharge on November 10, Joseph Wolchinski, of 1 Guilford Ct., at present a supervisory. All three were appointed as grade C patrolmen at an annual salary of $3,100. Until the board made it clear that its members were subject to removal by the Board of Finance because of the extra car being bought.

Extra Patrol
The board also voted that the number of extra patrolmen be reduced to two.

One of the police cars would be detached to patrol duty when it is being used in the fire department. The board decided that it could be used on a school bus by radio if needed. All three cars would be equipped with the heavy duty electrical systems required for the new cars. Also re-elected by the board was a line 8-cylinder model.

The fire car, to be painted red,

will have a 100-horsepower engine including a large heater. A bid for a single Pontiac from Central Garage in Branford was opened at $1,500 but was declined in favor of the more economical Ford bid.

The board voted that the fire department should have a fire car from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. the fire chief having the right to use it and over Sunday. The latter would be permitted to take the vehicle home at night. Both cars to use it in line of duty only. Car allowances in both departments were $200 a month.

The board also voted that the purchase of tires and a $2,400 pump truck for one of the fire trucks should be done on a bid basis.

Albert Jacob, of the East Haven Woman's Club, were named to the board.

A separate fund will be established for the purpose of raising the money which will be used in conjunction with the special finance board's approval.

Each local organization is being asked to select five members, at least one to serve as team captain. The collection will start on November 16 simultaneously at seven town at 7 p. m. Members of the 28-man Auxiliary Police Club and regular police officers will patrol town areas during the collection period.

Residents who are not at home during the drive will be able to contribute at the police station where booster cards will be issued.

The executive committee set up to plan the drive is composed of the following: Mrs. Albert Jacob and Mrs. Willis Hindricks, representing the East Haven
Woman's Club; Peter Lindbeck,
Exchange Club; Mrs. Alvin
Thompson, Central Manor; Mrs.
Thomas Webster, GOP Women's Club; Harry E. Morgan, Lions Club; Frank Clancy, Rotary;
No. 1; Louis Maggiora, Rotary; Albert Zampello; A. D. representing the East Haven Police Club; and Deputy Chief Joseph Folio.

Seasonal Hazards
Facing Motorists,
Barrows Cautions

Street and highway users,
whether riding a bicycle or operating a motor vehicle are urged by Police Chief Henry J. Barrows to be particularly cautious during the next few months.

Barrows said that seasonal hazards which face highway users during the next few months call for extra care and courtesy to prevent serious accidents. "Thousands of highway users, chiefly motorists who have enjoyed long hours of sunlight for many months, must now adjust themselves to constantly changing conditions," said Chief Barrows today. Daily drivers will find themselves operating during dark hours, especially those who leave early for work or who return late. All drivers must change operating habits from "summer ways" to "winter ways."

Accident experience rises significantly as year's end nears, the police chief points out, because so many former "daylight" drivers now find themselves "in the dark."

Crux of the matter is visibility and its relationship to speed. A driver traveling at 50 miles an hour in daylight can see an obstruction far enough away to permit stopping in time to avoid an accident. In darkness the obstruction does not become visible until the car is much closer. Remaining distance is not enough to permit stopping at 50 mile clip.

The police term this type of accident as due to "overriding headlights." "Practically everyone does it, to some extent, some people more often — and worse — than others."

Try play the game safely, he warns. "The best rule is 'never overdrive.'"

Among the more prominent persons in attendance at the meeting were: First Selectman Frank S. Clancy and Second Selectman Dominick Ferrara. In addition, Police Chief Edwin B.

Priest, Deputy Chief Joseph Folio and Capt. Edward Stenham attended.

A finance board was named to handle all fund expenditures and to assist in handling the receipts of the night of the drive. Carl Garvin, principal at the High School; Albert Zampello, Peter
Lindbeck, of the Exchange Club;
Mrs. Thomas Webster of the Republican Woman's Club, and Mrs.

Barrows, were named to the board.

Discuss Education
For Wildlife Conservation

Education for wildlife conservation will be the theme of the arrange session of the Fourth Annuual Conservation Conference being held on Wednesday, November 4, at the Hotel Bond in Hartford.

On a brilliant moonlight night with clear atmosphere and no fog patches, on a road free from trees and shadows, your vision may be almost as good as in daylight. The presence of any of the blinding factors, however, reduces the distance more rapidly at night than during the daytime. When bad conditions — rain, snow fog, dust or other impediments are present, the visibility shrinks sometimes to a point where 20 miles an hour is reckless driving. Each intelligent individual should adjust his speed to the conditions as often as the conditions change, concludes the seasonal warning from the police department.

Private reaction among at least some teachers was reported to be a feeling of resentment.
Some shrugged their shoulders.
They saw no reason for the oath,
but they would take it if required.

Public at large went both ways on the question. Some felt that those who supported the oath were not doing so as patriotic citizens. Some felt that those who did not take the oath were not expressing an agreement to other circumstances they felt were not their own. Some felt that those who did not take the oath were not doing so as patriotic citizens.

Freedom Leaders See Car In Which Czechs Crashed Iron Curtain

A five-ton armored car in which eight Czechs crashed through the Iron Curtain to liberty was made the symbol of resistance to Kremlin tyranny, at a two-day Crusade for Freedom Conference in The Pentagon, Washington, D. C., Oct. 20 and 21.
 At the conference, leaders of industry, labor, civic and fraternal organizations heard plans to enlist 25,000,000 Americans in the Crusade, which, through Radio Free Europe, broadcasts truth and hope to 70,000,000 captives of communism in six satellite nations.
 For three years, Vaclav Hlik, a Czech mechanic, listened to such broadcasts while he secretly assembled his escape vehicle, which was brought here for a national tour in behalf of the Crusade.
 Above, Henry Ford II, chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, is shown (l.), with Henry F. Morse, of New London, Connecticut State Chairman of the Crusade, and Charles M. Eldridge, Regional Director.
