Grady Challenges Barker To Public Debate On Issues

The Democratic candidate for Second Selectman issued a challenge through the NEWS today, in which he stated he would meet the Republican candidate in a public debate on Town Issues rather than this hide and seek game you... are playing with the voters.

Jerry Grady, the Democratic nominee for the second spot on his party's ticket, criticized Frank A. Barker, the GOP nominee for First Selectman, for a recent letter written by the latter attacking Grady's handling of a petition brought before the Planning and Zoning Commission by Strong Street residents recently.

Grady also denied that James F. Gartland, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, had any control over the Commission, and that he, Grady had been "opposed for the Zoning and Planning Commission in the Democratic Town Committee by a very close, personal and political friend of Mr. Gartland."

Grady also defended the reasoning behind a letter written to Barker some three years ago, in which he complimented the GOP standard bearer. Grady said that the letter, written on civic association stationery, merely expressed his "appreciation for any assistance you offered to the Glenmoor Civic Association."

In his letter, Grady stated: "I have reviewed Mr. Barker's or should I say his 'Little Ghost Writer's' statement in reply to my comments on his attack of the Zoning and Planning Commission. Really gentlemen, do you consider yourselves such clever propagandists that you would openly print a reply of mistrusts relying on the hope that no one would remember your original statement? Do you believe that East Haven contains pure idiots? Mr. Barker or Mr. Ghostie, you never checked the minutes of the Zoning Board and you never appeared on behalf of the people you now are using for political purposes. "Mr. Barker you really should know more about Zoning, after all the Board of Zoning Appeals was given a good line regarding the building of a house on an undersized lot for a member of your family on the claim of hardship and a veteran's need for housing. You have finished building the house and it is now for sale. It appears the so-called Veteran's urgent need has vanished and a business deal pops up in its place. Do you not believe in good Zoning laws Mr. Barker, or perhaps you feel that only the Selectmen of the Town should get in under the line. "Mr. Barker, you termed my letter incoherent and secondly, you accused myself and the Zoning Board of being controlled by Mr. Gartland. Let me enlighten you and Mr. Ghostie on these (Continued On Page Five)

Barker Accepts Grady's Challenge Includes Ferrara

The East Haven Republican candidate for first selectman, accepted a challenge to a public debate hurled by the Democratic candidate for second selectman. In accepting, the GOP standard bearer also included his opposition member in the challenge.

Frank A. Barker, third selectman of East Haven, called the NEWS to state he had been informed that Jerry Grady, Democratic candidate for second spot on the ticket, had challenged him to a public debate. "In answer to Mr. Grady," Barker stated, "challenging me to a debate on Town Issues, it is my opinion that I should not accept such a challenge to debate such issues with the chairman of the Planning and Zoning Board."

"It is my further opinion," the Third Selectman continued, "that such debates ended with the 1860's. On the other hand if it is my opponent's wish to enter into public debate I will accept the offer. However, I openly challenge Dominick Ferrara, their candidate for selectman, who I consider to be my true opponent to an open debate before any civic group or on the Town Green. The debate will concern Town Issues."

"In reference to the charge that hardship and veteran needs were claimed before the Democratic controlled Zoning Board of Appeals, I ask them to produce the application in substance of these charges. "I further ask them to produce the minutes of the meeting at which time I appeared in behalf of the applicant."

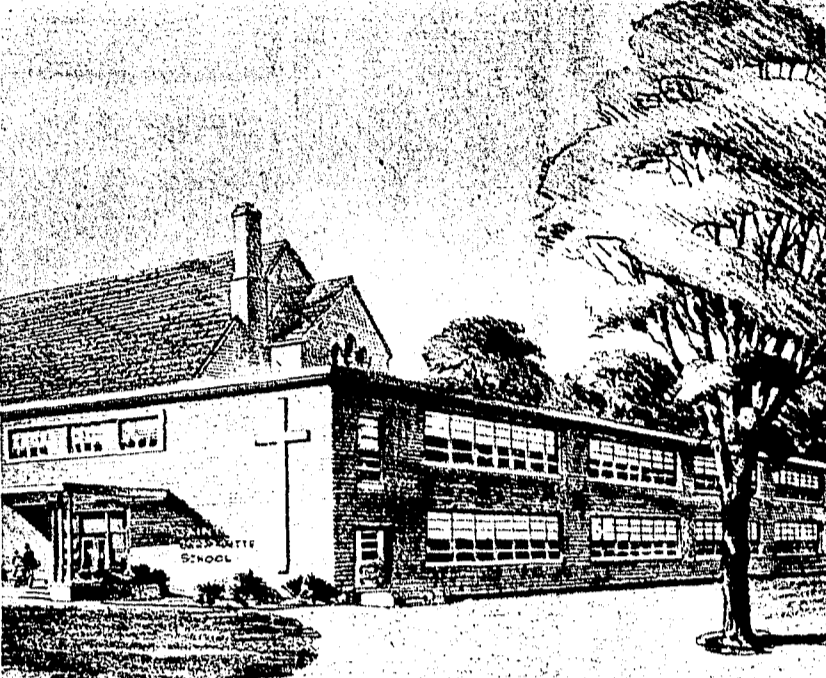

Former Bishop Of South Japan To Give Christ Church Sermon

The former bishop of South Japan will make the third of a series of sermons at Christ Church Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

The Rt. Rev. Arthur Lea, D.D., will speak on "Christianity Will Solve Your Problems." The sermon is the English translation of one given by the Bishop in Japanese to his congregation in Nippon.

In "Christianity Will Solve Your Problems," Bishop Lea explains that he thinks it more effective to indicate to our American Church the kind of challenge that our Christian religion is making to Japan, rather than give the usual missionary report. It is the opinion of Bishop Lea, who has given over 40 years of his life to the work in Japan, that Japan did not reach her climax when she was at the height of her power before World War II, and that her defeat was necessary to her development. He believes that Japan can now move forward to make a real contribution to the Far East and to the world.

Proposed Parochial Junior High School

This is an architect's conception of the new St. Bernadette's Parochial school which will provide for six years of grammar school and three years of Junior high school. It will be attached to the rear of the church and will be constructed of red brick and limestone in order to match the existing parish building. The building will have nine classrooms, a library, science laboratory, faculty room and administration offices.

Maguire, Lee, Driscoll, Mautte, Caldwell Among Honored Guests Scheduled To Be At Clancy Picnic

The committee in charge of arranging the Friends of Frank S. Clancy Outing to be held Sunday at Singue's Picnic Grounds, Laurel Street, announced yesterday that they have received acceptance of invitations sent to the 23 honored guests scheduled to put in an appearance on that day.

In addition to those who have accepted the committee has also extended invitations to Gov. A. A. Ribicoff and John Bailey, chairman of the State Central Committee. As yet these two invitations have not been answered. The outing, which is non-profit in character, is being held to show the outgoing First Selectman of East Haven, the team in which he is held by fellow townspeople and by leading figures in other municipalities in the area.

According to Fred P. Wolfe Jr. and Alfred Holcombe, honorary co-chairmen, more than 500 persons are expected to attend the affair. The basis for this figure is the returns on tickets sold. The chairman said that ticket sellers were instructed to issue tickets only to those who would assure their presence at the outing. Francis Walsh chairman of the Board of Education, will be the toastmaster, and it will be his duty to introduce the following guests of honor: Former Congressman John J. Maguire, now Warden of Wallingford; Mayor Richard C. Lee, of New Haven; Judge Cornelius Driscoll; Bruce Caldwell, ex-Yale football great and Town Judge and Second Selectman of West Haven. Also Charles Gill, New Haven Police Commissioner; Joseph Syrotlak (Continued On Page Five)

Assessor Lauded For Appraisal Of Valley's Damage

The president of the Connecticut Association of Assessing Officers praised the work of the East Haven assessor in estimating the damage caused by the flood in the Naugatuck Valley. In a letter to First Selectman Frank S. Clancy, the association president, Henry S. Smalley, wrote:

"On behalf of the Conn. Association of Assessing Officers may I express our appreciation of the fine manner in which (East Haven) Assessor George Miller volunteered assistance to the assessors of our cities and towns damaged by the 1955 flood disaster. "Miller headed a group of three assessors in appraising flood damage to the towns of Derby, Ansonia, Naugatuck and Seymour.

Lucas Studio Changed To Syrotiak Studio

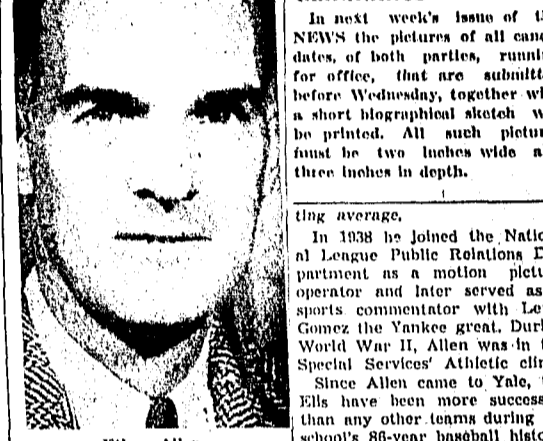

Stephen P. Syrotlak who purchased the Lucas Studio located in the Holcombe building, 255 Main Street, in 1954, has filed a change of trade name with Town Clerk Margaret Tucker. The new trade name is Syrotiak Studio. The present owner purchased the studio from Peter Lucas more than a year ago. Since selling out Lucas has moved to the Western part of the United States.

Barker Challenges Ferrara's Version Of Road Supervisor Post

The version of who is to blame for the creation of the highway superintendent post in East Haven in 1953 had a new look this week when the Republican candidate for First Selectman challenged the recently published version given out by the Democratic candidate.

Yale Baseball Coach To Speak At East Shore Babe Ruth Lg. Dinner

Ethan Allen, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, has consented to address the 75 boys and their guests attending the banquet.

Ethan Allen

75 Players To Be Feted Monday Night At Weeping Willows

The baseball coach of Yale University will be the principal speaker at the banquet honoring the members of the East Shore Babe Ruth League Monday, Sept. 26, at 6:30 p.m. in the Weeping Willows Restaurant, Laurel Street.

Allen, who became head coach for the Ells in 1946, succeeding Robert "Red" Rolfe, the ex-Yankee great, is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, where he was awarded his bachelor of science degree in 1927. He was awarded his master of arts degree from Columbia University in 1932. After finishing college he was sought by the Cincinnati Reds and the Detroit Tigers. He signed with the former and played for them for 13 years. A remarkable fact about this is the fact that Allen never had any minor league experience, making the jump straight from the campus to the big leagues. He is one of the few big league ball players ever to do so.

In his years in the majors, during which time he played with the Reds, Giants, Cubs, Cards, Phillies and Browns, Allen compiled a .300 point batting average.

In 1938 he joined the National League Public Relations Department as a motion picture operator and later served as a sports commentator with Lefty Gomez the Yankee great. During World War II, Allen was in the Special Services' Athletic clinic. Since Allen came to Yale, the Ells have been more successful than any other teams during the school's 88-year baseball history. In 1947 and 48, the Blue teams have won the Eastern Division title in the N.C.A.A. to become intercollegiate champs of the 30-state area east of the Mississippi.

In addition to coaching, Allen has authored three books, which have attained the Best Seller list in sports literature. His books were "Major League Baseball," "Winning Baseball" and "Baseball Techniques Illustrated." His "All Star Baseball" is a popular game based on the lifetime batting averages of both modern and old time players.

Rebuts Newspaper Story Democrats Opposed Position Herald Version Says Clancy Created Job Without Party O.K.

The issue revolves around a story printed in last week's New Haven edition of the Sunday Herald.

The Herald's story stated that the East Haven Democratic leaders claim, "Clancy, definitely on his own, established the new position without going into a huddle with Gartland or any of the Demmie town committee chiefs."

That this paragraph may have been construed to mean that Clancy appointed Martin Halloran without consulting James F. Gartland town chairman, or other leading Democrats, is to who should receive the appointment to a job created under Democratic auspices, is dispelled in the succeeding paragraphs. Frank A. Barker, the Republican candidate, points out that the story claims the Democratic party opposed the creation of the position as such, regardless of what person was selected to fill it.

In supporting his allegation, Barker reviews the paragraph that further explains why the Democrats are blaming on Clancy. The paragraph reads: "Heretofore the responsibility of supervising the highways went to the first selectman who possessed town road crews... But Clancy streamlined the setup by naming a highway supervisor and that was the first shot that echoed into a major family break in the Demmie ranks."

The GOP candidate rebuts this version of Clancy establishing the position on his own, without the sanction of the Democratic Town Committee, by producing the party's 1953 campaign newspapers.

"If Clancy went against party wishes by creating this post," Barker said, "show to Gartland and Ferrara explain the fact that in the Sept. 18 and Sept. 26 editions of the 1953 campaign issues, the published Democratic platform leads off with the following statement: "Full Time Highway Supervisor: We believe that the Town of East Haven should have a full time Superintendent of Roads. A great savings to our taxpayers could be made if an experienced, qualified man, with some engineering background, were hired to supervise all road and bridge building repairs. Does this sound as if Clancy alone is responsible for the creation of the position?"

Barker in his charges rebuts the recently printed version also points out the fact that Gartland published an editorial in which he states that Clancy's request for a highway supervisor is a good one and would be carried out if elected. "Does this sound as if Clancy were acting on his own?" Barker asks. "Here is a quote from the editorial published under Gartland's name on Sept. 18, 1953: 'Frank Clancy realized because of the importance of this project (ed. note: keeping the roads in repair) and the numerous problems which would come under the heading of a Director of Public Works, that it would be to the best interest of the Town to have a full time supervisor whose sole duty it would be to come under his jurisdiction. He has gone on record for the appointment of such an individual and if elected, he will see that his promise is carried out.'"

Blue And Gold Open Football Season Vs. Strong Southington

East Haven Seeks First Undefeated Year Since 1952 Junior Varsity Play Six Game Schedule

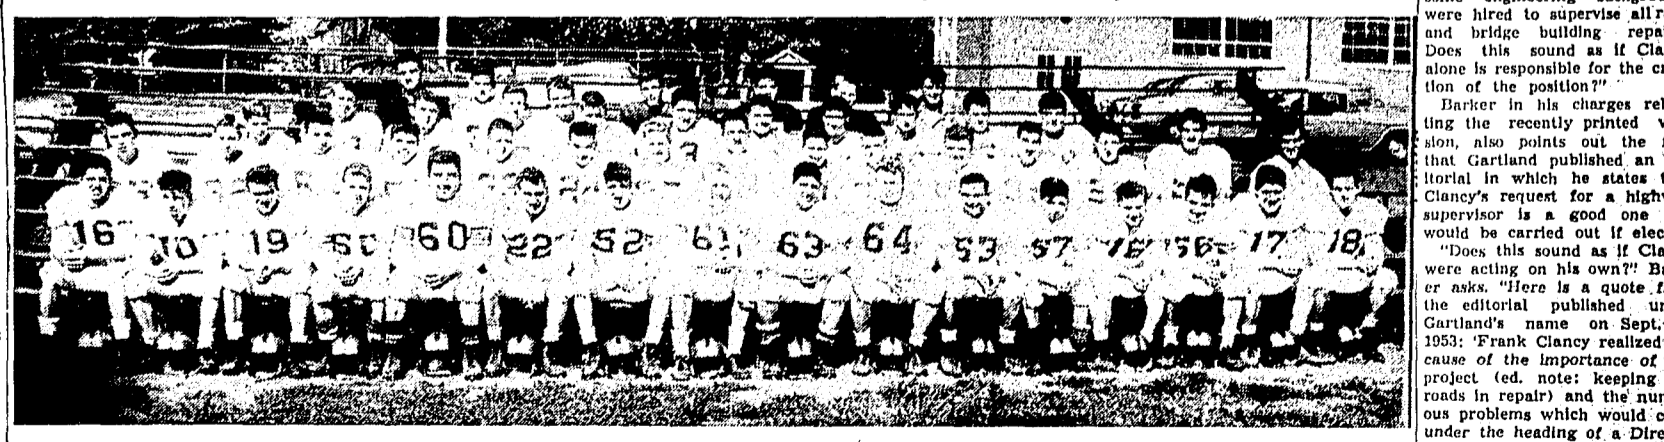

Saturday, local sports addicts will have plenty of action on tap. The American League pennant race will be still going at a hot pace; Boston U. and Penn will play football before the TV cameras, Yale vs. U-Conn at New Haven, and the Blue and Gold uniforms of East Haven high school will be dotting the playing fields of Southington. To many, as in the case of this writer, the fortunes (or slacks and alas perhaps the misfortunes) of the local eleven will be of prime importance. If the Crisafim show the form they did against Hamden a week ago, victory will be ours. (Continued On Page Two)

Well Child Clinic May Be Cancelled For Lack Of Aid

Faced with the danger of having to discontinue the Well Child Conferences due to the lack of medical assistance, its sponsors, the East Haven Public Health Nursing Association, has invited local physicians to meet with the association's board of directors Thursday, Sept. 29, at 9 a.m. in the town hall. It is hoped that this meeting will provide a satisfactory solution to this problem, an association spokesman said.

The Well Child Conferences have supplied a vital need in East Haven for many years and if discontinued now, the spokesman added, will present a serious threat to immunization, pre-school and infant welfare programs.

(Continued From Page One) and there is every reason to believe the boys will be at their peak for this game. Coach Frank Crisafi, who does not underestimate the highly touted upstate outfit, has taken it easy on his squad during the last couple of days, limiting contact to a very minor degree. The reason is that he doesn't want any casualties before the season gets underway.

"We looked good against Hamden," Crisafi admitted, "but we haven't looked good since."

When asked about Southington, the high school head coach, stated that they always come up with a strong team.

"They have about five lettermen from last year, and a number of former freshmen and sophomores who saw a lot of action during last season. They're tough you can bet on that!"

Against Hamden, the Blue and Gold displayed a powerful attack. Crisafi has an array of fast hitters who operate behind a hefty, hard charging line. In Sal Storo, East Haven has a strong team.

Against Southington, Crisafi will probably start Joe Gustafson and Joe Mellio at left and right ends. They are two "range" fellows who have finger tips that seem to ooze glue.

With Charlie Bosmann at left tackle, and Al "Butch" Mellio, he went on, "Some of the boys took quite a lumping in that Hamden scrimmage, so I had to shift players around into various combinations that they were unused to. This upset their timing and they didn't look as good as they did in the Hamden scrimmage."

Property Rights vs. Industry

Last week, before a meeting of the South End Civic Association, two men, who head East Haven's zoning and planning and appeal boards, gave their versions of how to induce industry into this town.

Whether or not they said was political sophistry, or an honest opinion as to how industrial sites could be obtained cannot be determined, since both are heavily involved in the coming election.

However, it is perhaps best to give them the benefit of any doubt and believe that they honestly thought they had arrived at what they considered a solution to inducing business to set up here.

John McMahon, chairman of the Appeal Board, thought that sites, suited for industry but now inhabited by home owners could be condemned and then sold to a private enterprise. He would institute such a program if a majority of the voters favored it.

Why the two pursued this line of reasoning has not been determined. Perhaps they were overzealous in trying to do something about the tax rate. However, they should have considered the ramifications of such a step, or steps, before advancing them for public approval.

The two have positions of public trust. Such a trust does not mean that the welfare of the general welfare of his neighbors or the order that the many can benefit. A man's needs are different.

Then, when all that could be done was done, we went back to living like we did in the pre-Diane days. But this brief interlude, that interrupted the daily routine of each week, and everyone of us, showed that the people who live in East Haven today, are no different than those of yesterday, when neighbors were forced to band together to fight the elements and the marauders, human and animal, who threatened their lives.

And it is this quality of being sentimental; of caring what happens to your fellowmen, that sets us apart from the animals. It is important to be human, for when we lose sight of the fact that we are human; that we care about what happens to our brothers under God, then we should cultivate a sterner, more ruthless, more greedy, more ambitious to rule. Looking around a person feels that no one cares for his welfare, so he would take part in this dog-eat-dog battle of life that seems to characterize our present day civilization.

Budget Increased; Taxes Expected To Be Decreased At 34 Mills; A Drop Of One Mill Despite School Cost Rise

Despite the fact that the Board of Finance approved a budget increase of $142,000 over last year's appropriations, there is every indication that the tax rate will drop from 35 mills to 34 mills.

The approved budget for the fiscal year from Oct. 1, 1955 to Oct. 31, 1956, will be $1,572,763, as compared to the 1954-55 budget figure of $1,430,763.

The increase actually doesn't fully cover the rise in educational costs. Compared with the budget increase the schools will get $145,705, however the fact that the budget did not increase this much is due to the fact that appropriations for other departments are $2,465 less than last year.

The fact that the new budget is greater than last year's, yet a drop in taxes is predicted, is due to two factors. The increase in the Grand List of $1,600,000 over last year's $1,500,000 is $100,000 greater than last year's estimated Grand List on which the 35 mill rate was levied. This means that for all towns will get an estimated $900,000 from the State Aid to Schools, and $11,130 from other indirect sources of revenue.

Discounting the heavy rise in interest rates, which amounts to more than 57 per cent of the budget, this year's budget is actually more than $2,000 less than last year's.

The increases in the budget, granted by the Board of Finance, are $17,877 to the Fire Department; $12,252 to the Police Department; town clerk, $1,280; auditor, $4,000; mark commissioner, $650; assessors' office, $158; schools, $145,705.

Cuts were made in the following departmental appropriations: Selectman's office, $20,142; town clerk, $1,280; zoning board, $1,000; board of zoning appeals, $50; Town of Finance, $140; Probate Court, $850; water department, $2,250; interest and redemption of debt, $9,250; payment of other divisions, $1,000; building department, $3,115; miscellaneous, $6,122; and capital outlay, $832.

Although the original school budget submitted was slashed $20,000 in the final analysis, it was felt that this cut would not curtail any of the educational services.

Membership Now Open In Bradford Manor Drum Corps

New members are now being accepted on an opportunity to join the Bradford Manor Drum Corps. The corps, which has been organized since 1941, is proud of its accomplishments, having won the State Championship many times and in possession of more than 20 trophies.

The rehearsals are held each Tuesday and Thursday evenings in the firehouse from 7:30 to 9:30. The Corps consists itself of 15 members, in having two qualified instructors, Mr. Gladstone Smith for the drums and Mr. Horace Barnes for the trumpets.

Members, while learning and competing, also have many good times. During the past year's education, they have raised money by having cake sales, and also took complete charge of their social activities.

During the summer months the corps travels by bus throughout the state. Members of the committee chaperones these trips.

With the subject of juvenile delinquency in the limelight, the organization is making good time to combat it. It has never, since the organization of its members involved in delinquency problems. This is a good record. The sponsors feel that this is a good time for all boys and girls who are interested in music to join.

This can be done by calling at the firehouse either Tuesday or Thursday evenings when rehearsals are in progress.

The corps is sponsored by the Bradford Manor Home Company and Ladies' Auxiliary, with the presentation of members from each serving on the committee. Committee members are appointed on various terms by the president of the auxiliary and Captain of the home company.

The committee now includes Elliott Pantalone, chairman; Walter Johnson, co-chairman; Mrs. Alvin Thompson, secretary; Robert Chadeayne, treasurer; also Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schartz, Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham, Mrs. Robert Chadeayne, Mrs. Raymond Langlois, Mrs. Harold Owen, Mrs. Clifford Dawson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith and Captain Alfred Melillo.

(1) The letter was written by myself personally and not by a Dale man at all. If it is to be professional writing, it would be containing only truth and not the Ra-Za-Me-Fiz of a Dale man.

(2) Again you attacked the Zoning Commission as being controlled, but again you did not check facts and so you and Mr. Ghoette put your heads in the finger one more.

For months, Mr. Barker, the Zoning Commission operated with only two Democrats and two Republicans in attendance. It was only after Mr. Peter Ghoette's appointment that the Democrats had a 3 to 2 majority. Do you then mean to infer that the Republican members of this Commission are under the hand of Mr. Garland as is every other person you claim? Did you know Mr. Barker that in actual fact I was opposed for the Zoning and Planning Commission in the Democratic Town Chairman's office, a very close personal and political friend of Mr. Garland, and that this person had the support of Mr. Ghoette's 'You know, Mr. 3rd Selectman I was starting to wonder if Eisenhower was safe when he left office'?

Mr. Barker that in actual fact I openly challenge you to a public debate on Town Issues rather than this hide and seek game you and Mr. Ghoette are playing with the voters. I'll see that Mr. Garland stays home and you leave the little human typewriter home.

Auxiliary Police To Conduct Paper Drive

The East Haven Auxiliary Police will conduct a paper drive Sunday morning, Deputy Chief Joseph. Folio announced yesterday.

Folio asked for town-wide contributions inasmuch as the funds derived from the drive will be used to purchase new equipment for the Auxiliary. It is through this source of revenue that the unit is able to continue its work in aiding the town in helping the regular Police Department.

The Auxiliary Police did much to alleviate the suffering of the Naugatuck Valley flood victims when they collected truck loads of food and clothing and sent it to the stricken areas.

The Deputy Chief requests all contributors to place their bundles of papers in a convenient pickup area, between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon Sunday.

Morgan Answers Committee Query On Town Schools

An incumbent Democratic candidate for the Board of Education, Mr. Harry Morgan, has answered a query from the Citizens' Committee on Town Schools.

While it was too late to get a copy of the answers supplied by Harry Morgan to the Citizens' Committee, Mulheir, the most pertinent ones to the NEWS.

Morgan, according to Mulheir, is one of the major educational problems facing East Haven, is the providing of future housing for the school children of the town. According to the report, the town must plan as far as 10 years ahead, instead of going along on a year to year basis.

As to the use of the school buildings for Community Center, Morgan said, that over the strong objections of Bernice L. Sullivan, Dr. Charles Donohue, Ernest Pemberton, Leslie Redfield, John Mulhern, Mary Alice Cameron and John Miel, Finance Committee: Herman Scharf, chairman; Richard Bell, Harry Lawler, William Friend, George Miller. St. Mary's Church To Mark 100th Anniversary With Holy Observances

There is no record that Rev. Father John Shriden of New Haven quoted the words of the Lord, "Upon this rock I will build my church", when he uttered his first sermon as part of the initial sacrifice of the Mass in Branford back in the year of 1851. But, in the minds of a handful of Irish immigrants gathered in the modest home of Francis Harding on Montowese St., the significance of the gospel brought determination that one day they would embrace the Roman Catholic faith in their own town, according to the freedom guaranteed in the Constitution of their adopted country.

Even before the first Mass was said locally, it was not an uncommon thing for Branford Catholics to ride in horse and buggy, and even walk, to St. Mary's in New Haven and later to St. Patrick's.

Among the pioneers whose names have come down to us, and who assisted materially in the establishment of the Catholic Church in Branford, were: Francis Harding, Edward Rice, Thomas Fitzgerald, Michael O'Brien, Michael Scanlon, John and Bartholomew O'Brien, David Slaney, Thomas Carter, Edward Mulvey, John O'Donnell, Daniel Driscoll and James, Thomas and John Carney.

Land on Montowese St., approximately the site of Baldwin's Grocery today, was conveyed to the church by Francis Harding on Sept. 21, 1853. It was accepted by Father Matthew Hart of St. Patrick's Church. It was Father Hart who broke ground for the little mission, for although he turned the first spadeful of earth, it remained for Father John Lynch of Guilford to complete the church in 1854.

Fittingly, the new church was named the Immaculate Conception of the Virgin Mary. On the last Sunday of the year, Father Early announced that he had been appointed pastor of a new parish in the City Point district of New Haven, a division of Sacred Heart Parish.

On Sunday January 24, 1904, the new church, for which priests and people had labored for nearly a year, was dedicated at the 10:30 Solemn High Mass. The Mass was celebrated by Father James O'Brien of Waterbury assisted by Father Joseph Daley of Longmeadow, Mass. served as Master of ceremonies and Father William Slattery of Waterbury preached the sermon.

By this time the church on Montowese Street had become inadequate for the needs of the rapidly growing parish. In October of 1897, Father Martin appealed to the parishioners to assist him in procuring a new church. With this as an incentive, the year 1898 marked the beginning of a period of intense activity for Branford Catholics. The parishioners were called upon to give not only their financial assistance, but of their time, energy and talents as well. This was an era when the church had become the center for the social life as well as the spiritual life of the parishioners.

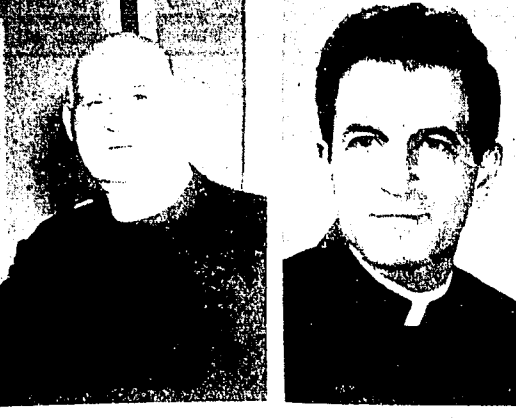

Meanwhile the site for the new church was selected. It was the property of Mrs. Betty Ann Hopson, on the corner of Hopson Ave. and Main St., where Dr. George Evans had been occupying the building. The Hopson property was purchased by Father Broderick from McGann and Rowe, real estate agents from New Haven, on August 2, 1898. The purchase price was approximately ten thousand dollars. The house was razed and the new church to be erected beside it.

Just as the first lot of the ground on Tuesday, June 2, 1898, Father McGinniss went to the church, and after unsuccessful attempts to extinguish the blaze, he returned to the church and began to remove the saved vestals, relics and many other movable articles to a place of safety. A second alarm was sounded although both hose companies and the hook and ladder company were called. Additional fire fighters, volunteers were recruited from the crowd most of whom were returning from a dance at Music Hall. The firemen were able to confine the fire to the church although it took between five and six hours to extinguish the blaze. The interior was ruined but the walls remained standing.

St. Mary's Parish - Then And Now

As recalled in an old photograph, this is the structure, located on Montowese St., which served Branford Catholics during the last century. After a number of unfortunate accidents, St. Mary's moved to its present location on Main St.

This impressive edifice is the St. Mary's of the 100th anniversary. From an humble beginning in Branford, the church has become one of the major institutions in the community.

Immediately thereafter, Masses were celebrated in Music Hall and the work of rebuilding was started. More in a gesture of faith in their cause than in the interest of health, Christmas

Now that I know that Mrs. Ozzie Nelson, Dr. Karl Menninger, Emily Post and Mrs. Arthur Murray — as well as famous hotels and ships—all use Conviver, I'm about to go right out and get me one. At two dollars a throw, I really can't afford to be counted out of that select-or-selected-group. Anyway, besides what it says in the ad, someone told me it really works.

Conviver is specially treated, scientifically evolved, mechanically developed, woven and impregnated. It is time and life tested, stamped, and approved. As a dust deterrent, it has no peer. As a keeper of the shine, it's unbeatable. It's a must. It's the thing. It's indispensable to better households. In fact, it's priceless. ($2.00) It's a dust cloth. It's for me.

Conviver works on a simple principle. Furniture gives the dust over with the Conviver cloth because allergic to coats of dust or electronically charged against dust particles—or allitoned—or some such thing, according to what I could gather from the ad, dust as I was by descriptions of dusts, gleaming woods in pictureque, prominent homes.

Anyway, as I understand it, the silicone in the cloth leaves there a mark on the dust, such a way as to make unsightly bits of dust planning to settle here drop off as they away. Heavens knows where!

This user I know, says you can positively see the bounce off as it gets a charge of allitonic surface.

I know for a fact she is not in the pay of the Conviver people or in any of their advertising agencies. Nor does she contend with unusually skilled or visible dust. However, she is the imaginative type and given to some exaggeration in speech without benefit of pay. I hear that nowadays she's doing more bridge and golf than dust-bounding.

In any event, it would be worth the two bucks just to have a little dust cloth around the little home. Even if it didn't rub off the dust, it might rub on some of the associations of glamor, erudition and propriety. So, dust, anyone?

A household of boys, their friends, an excitable pup and transient interests and enthusiasms, do not always offer an ideal welcome to a chance dropper-liner.

Furthermore, my own activity of the moment before the knock at the door is rarely one easily concealed. I can wrap a towel around my wet head, or unplug the washing machine with good speed. But vacuum cleaning equipment all over the place, for instance, is an unavoidable answer to an uneasy, "Am I interrupting you?"

St. Mary's —

Now Holy Family convent of the Sisters of St. Joseph whom he brought here on September 23, 1936 to teach religion to the children. The new rectory on the corner of Roger Street was begun and completed in February, 1937. Every Friday night singing was played at the Trust to raise money to clear the debt incurred by the building of the rectory. The old rectory was sold to Mr. Michael Nardella who moved it to Eades Street. The boys were rented to the Doran-Miles Carpet Company and converted into a factory. The debt was cleared and parishioners frequently remarked upon the quiet and quiet way in which Father Cotter performed this remarkable accomplishment.

On July 31, 1949, the parish celebrated the 40th anniversary of Father Cotter's Ordination, with a solemn High Mass. Father Cotter was born in Ansonia April 30, 1882 where he received his early education. He was one of the first to enter St. Thomas Seminary and when he had finished his studies there, was assigned to study abroad in France, Italy and Germany. When he returned from Europe, he finished his studies at St. John's Seminary at Brighton and was ordained at St. Joseph's Cathedral on July 31, 1909, by the late Bishop Bevan of Springfield. Before coming to Hartford, he served at Shelton, Baltic, Danbury, as Chaplain in the Twenty-Third Engineers in Eu-roping during the First World War, at Meriden, Middletown, as Chaplain at St. Agnes Home and as pastor at Stoughton.

In January of 1935, after 15 years as curate at St. Mary's, Father William Demenke was made pastor at Parisville and Father William Whibey became the new curate. The service of these and other curates has been a valuable part of the lives of most of the members of the parish. It is not easy to forget the countless ways in which they have taught us to love and service of God.

Active organizations within the parish include: The Holy Name Society, The Ladies Guild, The Children of Mary, A Boy and Girl Scout Troop, A Brownie Pack, The Boy's Chok, The Senior Choir, The Catholic Youth Organization and the El Dorado Council No. 10 Knights of Columbus.

From a predominantly Irish start, the parish is a poly-glot of eighteen different nationalities. The few dozen pioneers have become a congregation of some three thousand parishioners from over eight hundred families. Out of its Brantford beginning St. Mary's has been divided into two other parishes exclusive of St. Augustine's, St. Elizabeth's of Short Beach and St. Theresa's of Stony Creek.

From the neon planned by the first Catholics, a century ago, has sprung a mighty oak. They were poor and exiles from their native land but they were rich in faith and at home wherever Mass was offered.

Familiar in the summer throughout North America, the robin is seen from Alaska to Virginia.

Sept. 30 Deadline On Barron Offer Set By Selectmen

As a result of the action taken at Thursday's town meeting, the Board of Selectmen has formally contacted a representative of the Barron estate offering $77,500 for 38 acres of land to be used as the site for the new high school.

Dated Friday, the letter was directed to A. J. T. Holmes Bracken, administrator of the estate of John W. Barron. The selectmen informed Bracken of the resolutions adopted at the meeting and set a deadline on the offer of Sept. 30. The Board also requested that an early answer be given so that the matter of the property may be expedited.

Contacted early this week, Bracken stated briefly that he had no comment to make on the matter. The attorney had been furnished with a copy of the resolutions adopted at last week's meeting for information purposes.

Recommended as the site by the Secondary School Building Committee, the property includes 38 acres south of the Boston Post Road, 22 acres of which according to the committee's report, are usable, cleared farm land. The committee explained that the site offers a central location for community activities, a large amount of money has already been contributed towards the new building, and we know that much more will follow as soon as it is possible to begin actual work on the structure.

Today, St. Mary's situated in one of the most desirable sites in Brantford is an imposing sight. The interior is adorned with beautiful stained glass windows and stations of the cross, altars and statues, all donated by parishioners or friends.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

...Makes a Man Healthy, Healthy—and Tired!

From where I sit, we must have heard a million stories like that. But they show how some people assume their customs are the only proper ones. To most city folks getting up at 4:15 seems odd because they don't do it. Just like some people don't think enjoying a glass of beer is "right" because they happen to prefer another beverage and haven't waked up to the fact that everyone has a right to his own choice.

Sandy Peterson's nephew Pete has gone back to college. He worked on Sandy's farm a couple of months last summer to get hardened up for football.

He seemed to enjoy farm life all right—but like most city kids it took him some time to get used to a farmer's schedule.

Sandy claims that when he went in to wake Pete—on the first morning—the boy looked up startled and asked what time it was. Sandy replied it was four-fifteen. "Gee," Pete murmured, "if we're going to do a day's work tomorrow you'd better get to bed!"

Citizens' Committee Balks At Invitation To Meet 'Personally' With Democratic Candidates Offer Three Ways Questionnaire Can Be Answered

The East Haven Citizens' Committee which has sent questionnaires on "real issues" facing the town to top candidates of both parties, this week refused an invitation to meet with the Democratic candidates for a personal discussion on the queries asked of the nominees pertaining to their views regarding the issues raised.

In a letter addressed to Dominick Ferrara and Jerome Grady, the first and second selections of the Democratic ticket, the Committee stated they appreciated their willingness to meet personally with its representatives to discuss the questions raised in that communication.

"We feel, however, that the full purpose of our queries would not be served by the kind of informal conversations that you have suggested. Since the objective of the questionnaire is to focus public attention on some of the critical issues in the present campaign we are eager to have statements in response, which can be made available to the general public.

You will have noticed that the Republican candidates have furnished the kind of complete written statement that we regard as most helpful. Fairness to them would seem to dictate that we request a similar public reply from you. And fairness to you demands that the interpretation of the Democratic position be direct rather than filtered through the minds of the members of the Committee.

We suggest the following possibilities in order of our own preference:

1. A Democratic statement similar to that issued by the Republican candidates and suitable for publication.
2. A Democratic statement for publication in conjunction with such a discussion as you have suggested for further clarification.
3. A discussion meeting at which reporters from both the East Haven NEWS and New Haven Register would be present with permission to report the proceedings in detail.

Please understand that this request is made with no desire to harass you. It springs from our desire to encourage an effective campaign.

Yours truly,
The Citizens' Committee

Garden Notes

By Mrs. M. D. Stanley

I think that life is wonderful I love just every minute I love the trees, the gentle breeze

The brook, the fishes in it. I love the hills, the daffodils The grass so green and cool Oh, why do parents spoil it all By sending us to school!

Vacations are wonderful but gardens do get out of hand when left to shift for themselves. Recent rains not only have revived burned lawns but have also added new vigor to those infested with crab-grass. This obnoxious pest must be checked before seeds ripen, for if ignored it will invade the lawn to an even greater degree — crowding out perennial grasses. Lawns mildly infested with crab-grass can be treated with a weed and feed plant food. This should be applied in Spring and early Fall to stimulate a heavy root system and thick turf. Bare spots and thin areas are an open invitation for crab-grass.

Where crab-grass is evident in large patches, chemicals must be applied to obtain successful elimination. Preparations containing phenyl mercury acetate, potassium cyanate or the new grass cyanamide are available under trade names. It is important to read instructions and follow step-by-step directions as excessive amounts or uneven distribution can damage existing turf. Prompt use of chemicals will rout crab-grass but a constructive program to establish a vigorous and permanent lawn should follow.

As hardy asters come into bloom, make selections of favorite colors and varieties for later ordering. Only a few plants are needed for asters should be divided each Spring to prevent them from deteriorating.

Disbudding is practiced by gardeners to increase the size of blossoms of big dahlias. The energy of the plant is concentrated on a few rather than on many blossoms. Peonies, roses, dahlias and chrysanthemums are generally disbudded for cutting or show purposes. As a cluster of buds appears in groups of three at the tip of a stem, the center bud is allowed to remain and those on each side are removed with the thumb and forefinger. Look over plants every few days, and pinch off excess buds while they are still small and immature. If disbudding is unfamiliar, experiment with a couple of plants this Fall and watch the results.

For practical gardeners who desire large, handsome flowers and plenty of them with little labor, peonies demand consideration. The pink, white and red blossoms are huge and lovely in late May. Plants are extremely hardy, resistant being disturbed and are virtually free from disease. With little more than scant attention, peonies will develop incredibly in size and form. There are single and double varieties to prolong the pageant of color through several weeks.

East Haven Ranks Second In Traffic Safety Program

The Connecticut Safety Commission announced this week that the Town of East Haven ranks second in towns of more than 10,000 for having the most fatality-free days. Derby still continues to lead all Connecticut towns of this size.

Following the two leaders is Stonington, while Stratford is the largest town in the group to have no fatalities during the first eight months of 1955.

The leading town of Derby had its last traffic death in Feb. 25, 1949, or a total of 2378 fatality-free days. Incidentally, this death was only the second charged to Derby in its traffic safety history.

East Haven, to date, has experienced 654 traffic-free days the last death occurring on Dec. 23, 1953. Prior to that highway death the town experienced two years of freedom from traffic fatalities.

Members are reminded that the annual meeting of the Garden Club will be held at the Yankee Silvermith, Wallingford, on Wednesday, Oct. 4, at 12:30. Mrs. Thomas A. Sturgess is in charge of reservations which must be in by Sept. 30. Annual reports and election of officers will be part of the program and Russell White of the White Flower Shop in Guilford will be the guest speaker.

The members greatly admired the unusual flowers from Mrs. Amos Barnes' garden at the last meeting and also the attractive centerpiece of Fall flowers on the table at the Chapel. Members are urged to exhibit their garden flowers at all club meetings. Let us all see what is grown in our town, in spite of drought, wind, too much rain, hurricanes and so forth.

Naturalizing daffodils gives the impression that they were never planted, but like Topsy, just grew. Such a sight in Spring will be remembered long after the blossoms have faded and is one of the loveliest ways of using daffodils. Suitable areas that suggest themselves for naturalizing are the edges of woodlands, banks of a brook or an informal pond, as well as under clumps of birches or beneath an old apple tree. To achieve the desired effect, the uppermost thought to keep in mind when planting is "windblown" for this is the way nature scatters her bounty upon the good earth.

Take a basket of bulbs and throw them in a sweeping fashion over the ground. Wherever they land, that is the place to plant them. Set the bulbs six inches deep with the pointed end up and replace the earth, pressing it firmly with your foot.

Older varieties, especially ones that have shallow cups rather than long trumpets are ideal for this purpose and since large quantities will be needed for a real show, they are also less expensive.

Mrs. Lusteg Named Auxiliary President
