Player Of The Week

(Syrotlak Photo)
Marin DeFelice has been named Player of the Week for his fine game Monday against Seymour. Although East Haven only tied the Valley team "Marty" scored all 14 East Haven points in addition to a fine job of ground-gaining. East Haven faces North Haven away Saturday and may lose the services of co-captains Joel Gustafson and "Butch" Mellillo. Gustafson suffered a broken nose early in the Monday game.

Easties Tie Seymour; DeFelice Scores 14

Seymour shocked East Haven High with two quick first period touchdowns Monday before Coach Frank Crisaffi's team started a second half rally and managed a 14-all tie with the Valley eleven.

Postponed from Saturday, the game was played under a gray sky with rain threatening all afternoon. The weekday contest drew a disappointingly small crowd.

Seymour Quarterback Les Dahn gambled deep in his own territory on the third down following the opening kickoff. He passed to John Stosny who broke out for a total gain of 85 yards and a first down with goal to go. Two ground plays then lost six yards for Seymour before Dahn took to the air again, connecting with Stosny for the touchdown. Dahn rushed the extra point and Seymour was forced to kick from about 40 yards.

Six plays later East Haven was forced to kick from about their own 20 yard line on fourth down. Ralph Paolillo's kick was blocked and the ball bounded into the end zone. Paolillo dove over the ball but in the scuffle a charging Seymour lineman got possession and officials ruled it a touchdown for Seymour.

Les Dahn plunged across for the extra point to set Seymour ahead, 14 to 0.

Early in the second period East Haven received a blow when co-captain Joel Gustafson was injured. Gustafson, left end, was making a tackle at the right sidelines when injured.

When they gained possession of the ball the Blue Devils, an aroused team, moved 55 yards, rolling up three first downs as the half ended.

Coming back after the half-time rest the East Haven team received, downing the ball on their own 23 yard line. Continuing where they left off the East Haven eleven rolled 37 yards for three first downs in eleven plays with William Ginnetti, John Anastasio, Ralph Paolillo and Martin DeFelice sharing the ground-gaining.

Martin DeFelice then broke into the clear for a 35 yard run for the touchdown. He snared in a pass from Sal Storo for the extra point, cutting the Seymour lead to seven points.

East Haven kicked and Jim Lewis ran the ball from the 20 back to the 30 yard line for Seymour. On the next play Les Dahn tossed a pass and Martin DeFelice bounced up to intercept on Seymour's 44.

Again the Blue Devils started to march, grounding out the 44 yards in 11 plays. On six plays in a row Ralph Paolillo carried the ball. DeFelice carried the ball across for the score, then caught a pass from Paolillo for the extra point.

Sports Night Will Feature Guests, Bouts

First annual sports night will be held next Wednesday in Deer Run School by the Holy Name Society of Our Lady of Pompili Church. Purpose of the affair will be to aid the church building fund.

Jesse Dow, head football coach of New Haven State Teachers College, has accepted an invitation to speak. Jack Fendergast, Yale line coach, will show a film and comment on a recent football game.

Three wrestling bouts are scheduled with top-flight amateurs, Al Proto and Peter Sacavini, meeting in the main bout. Two boxing bouts have been arranged by Robert Mele of New Haven.

Tom Gagliardi, who will act as master of ceremonies, will also introduce members of the New Haven Blades Eastern Hockey League team and officials of the East Haven Lions Club Biddy Basketball League.

Refreshments will be served. Tickets are available from members or may be purchased at the door.

Citizen Group Seeks Action On Equipment

Citizen's Committee which expressed its continuing interest in the welfare of town equipment, asking for action on earlier charges raised by First Selectman Dominick H. Ferrara.

Reached for comment Selectman Ferrara explained his investigation is under way.

Through executive board members the Citizens' Committee has released a statement to The News. The statement, prepared by E. W. Muehl, Anthony McMahon, Robert Hall and Mrs. Lillian Flynn follows:

In a statement issued shortly after his election, East Haven's first selectman, Dominick H. Ferrara, charged the previous town administration with gross neglect and deliberate misconduct in its handling of public works equipment. According to Mr. Ferrara various items were in poor repair, maliciously damaged, or mysteriously missing from town inventories.

The First Selectman has promised a full investigation of the matter. In this project he will have the support of all East Haven citizens regardless of political affiliation. If his original charges can be substantiated, appropriate legal action should be taken. If the charges prove to have been in error, a full explanation and retraction are in order.

As important as these remedies, however, is the need for measures to prevent such a situation in the future. Plans should be made immediately to prepare and keep current inventories of all town equipment. At every change in town personnel a careful check should be made to determine the presence and condition of town property in the departments concerned.

The taxpayers of East Haven have a right to protection against negligent or wanton destruction of their town equipment. And the employees of the town should be afforded this protection against damage to their records and reputations.

Town To Press For State Aid To Fix Bridge

First Selectman Dominick H. Ferrara said yesterday he is continuing to press for state aid in repairing the Maple Street bridge. He said a state representative was in town Monday to confer on the problem.

Mr. Ferrara has pointed out in the past the bridge constitutes a safety hazard in that it isn't wide enough to permit two vehicles to pass each other simultaneously. He particularly emphasized the danger where school buses must negotiate the bridge to pick up children in the area's housing developments.

Garbage Contract Given Dombrowski

Selectmen have awarded the 1955-56 garbage collection contract to Anthony Dombrowski of Branford who was low bidder.

Mr. Dombrowski's bid for the contract was for $25,308.

Other East Haven veterans organizations are invited to join with Post 89 on this occasion and to assemble at the Post Rooms on Thompson Avenue at 10:30 a.m. Line of march will be down Edwards Street to the Green.

Formerly set aside as Armistice Day in 1926 as an observance of the ending of hostilities in World War I and, in 1938, made a legal holiday, November 11 was changed, by act of Congress approved June 1, 1954, to Veterans Day. By proclamation, President Eisenhower has called upon all citizens to observe Veterans Day as "a day of commemoration of those who sacrificed to preserve our Nation and of dedication to the task of achieving peace."

News From North Branford

The Board of Selectmen, Board of Finance, Zoning Commission and other town officials met Monday in the Aveter Memorial Library to plan the call of the town meeting set for Nov. 14.

This meeting is the result of a vote passed at the adjourned town meeting which gave Nov. 14 as the date when a special town meeting should be called for the purpose of nominating and electing five members of the Zoning Commission, and five members of the Board of Appeals to serve for a term of two years from the first of January, 1956.

The Board of Selectmen said that a request has been received by them from the Northford Acra Developments, Inc. for the acquisition of several rods in the Northford Acra. Because these roads have not as yet been approved by the Board of Selectmen, the request will not be included in the call of the town meeting.

BY Esther Mock

Twice in my life I have been in a perfect position to pass on to my eternal reward. Neither time did I make it. Failing leaves, fading summer loves, and the prospects of a long, cold winter bring on this kind of remembering, some days I was so comfortably warm both those times I was down but not out.

The first time was in a land strange to me where I was visiting. Even before the common summer complaint threw me for nine counts, I was strictly "Gone with the Wind."

After my daily growing-grip breakfast of fried chicken, grits, corn bread and biscuits...

Divorce figures still continue to rise slightly, too. But no one can say it's the fault of the transportation people.

Someone didn't stand and be counted. The second time I was all set to pass on in a city. I was in my own apartment, in my bed, in fact, suffering silently.

Pupil Reveals Town Pays $36,000 Yearly Bus Fees

JOHN ANASTASIO, fifty times a year at $70 a tire or approximately $36,000 that is the sum paid every year to the Chieppo Bus Co. by the town of East Haven to take to and from school 1,234 pupils 180 days out of the year. It boils down to about $300 a day. These are the startling figures which friends and acquaintances of mine refused to believe, and which prompted me to write this article.

These facts and many others were revealed to me at a meeting attended by Dr. Vernon Hays, superintendent of schools; Carl H. Garvin, principal of East Haven High School; Thomas N. Chieppo, manager of the Chieppo Bus Company terminal which is located at 102 Forbes Avenue; and Arnold C. Cox, assistant manager of the company, who also acts as dispatcher for the eight buses now operating in East Haven. (Chieppo's also operates school buses in West Haven, Milford and Hamden, a total of thirty-six buses in all.)

There are many aspects of the bus situation which can be discussed, but since they are too numerous to mention at this time, I am presenting information which I think would be of interest to you, the parents as well as the pupils.

If the approximate figure I gave above surprises you, I should mention at this time that general manager Chieppo told me that last year East Haven's $13 cents per pupil per mile was the lowest in the state of Connecticut.

If the dollar signs haven't made you jump to the phone and check the validity of this article, let's take a look at the maintenance side of the picture. Due to the fact that some buses stop 100 to 200 times a day, Chieppo's uses a new set of six tires per bus each year or an average of

We're Seniors

Juan Raymond

We're seniors; everything we do reminds us that this is our last year. The friends we see every day, the familiar faces that smile and speak to us as we exchange glances in the hall, they tell us "The air of growing obligation as we near adulthood becomes part of our character. We enjoy our classwork, but with quiet solemnity when we realize how close we are to a new way of life. Soon each of us will take his place in the community and assume the responsibility of an adult."

An Open Letter To 8th Graders.

Welcome to East Haven High School. You are now in a school quite different from the one you have been attending. Here there are harder work, but also lots of fun and more responsibilities and a little more so many basketball and football games to attend and a great many activities in which to participate. Here are a few helpful hints:

1. Keep up with class and your homework.
2. Be courteous to others in the classroom and in the halls.
3. Show your school spirit by attending these games.
4. Be a good sport.

Look forward to the future by setting a goal that will be the best not only for you, but also for those about you. In years to come you can look back on your high school days with pride. Best of luck, the Upperclassmen of E.H.H.S.

P.S. Here's hoping you enjoy your stay with us. R.J.

Claire Cianelli Named To Head Junior Class

We are proud to announce the newly elected officers of the Junior class, and we know that they will carry out their duties in a most efficient manner.

As president, we have Claire Cianelli, 208, who is serving for the second term in this capacity. We are proud of the work she does so well.

Vice president is Joe Smith, 203, who was also co-chairman of the Teen-Canteen.

Secretary, Linda Ritchie, 100, was on the Teen-Canteen committee and also is in Student Council.

Treasurer Nancy Barry, 201, is on the Debating Club as well as Student Council.

Congratulations to you on your new offices. We are looking forward to a very active and successful year.

Pioneer Picture Schedule Complete

Irene Friberg, a senior from 209, was in charge of scheduling individual pictures for the 1956 Pioneer. Irene is a cheerleader and also takes an active part in school functions.

A very rigid schedule was arranged by her, and yet all pictures were completed by the deadline. A chart divided into different days and times with ten minute intervals between each picture, was made by Irene and posted in the senior English room. The students could then sign up for an appointment most convenient to them. Special schedules were devised for those students who were working after school, as well as for boys on the football team.

Mrs. Friberg worked very hard on this assignment, and we would like to congratulate her for her efficiency.

Varsity Club Notes

Varsity Club is selling articles to raise money for senior trophies, basketball and baseball films, and sport banquets to be sponsored by their organization. Members of the Varsity Club will handle the sample kits which contain the following items: deluxe Christmas wrapping paper, Christmas cards, stationery, everyday greeting cards, novelty salt and pepper shakers, jumbo reminder, and jeweled fountain pens.

Coach Frank Cristoff stated that the Varsity Club will be grateful for any support on the part of the townspeople.

Benefit Is Planned For Glee Club Robes

The East Haven Music Parents' Association is sponsoring a Variety Show in order to purchase robes to the Glee Club. Mrs. Ralph Hurder is planning this show, to be presented by the high school students in the High School Auditorium at 8:15 p.m., Friday, November 18.

Students are selling tickets and making posters for this occasion. Many boys and girls are taking time out to make this show a real special. There will be choral and dance groups plus skits and many other entertaining acts.

The Music Association of the Glee Club would appreciate it if you would buy a ticket to the show. The admission is $1 for an enjoyable evening. Every ticket they sell will be forwarded to their fund. These robes will add much to the appearances of the Glee Club at school assemblies and public appearances.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Strandberg directs this fine Glee Club which participates in four or five public performances each year.

Winners Listed In Fire Poster, Essay Contest

Winners in the annual fire prevention essay and poster contest were announced last week. At the assembly, sponsored by the Exchange Club and Fire Department, awards were presented.

The recipient of the first prize in the poster division, grades 10, 11, and 12, was Charles Alderman. Second prize went to Tom Raymond; third to Robert Melvin. In the grade 8 and 9 division winners were: first prize, Mike Lettis; second prize, Vilma Quirk; third prize, Al Meillo; fourth prize, Lorraine Mattel.

The essay contest winners for the grade 10 and 11 division were: first prize, Mike Powell; second prize, John Fitzgerald; third prize, Judy Hoffelder; fourth prize, William McCaul. Winners in the grade 8 and 9 division were: first prize, William Baker; second prize, Judy Quirk; third prize, Michael Gultone; fourth prize, Judy Hoffelder.

First Scribe Sammie Ferrara presented the awards on behalf of chairman John Metz and honorary co-chairman Fire Chief Thomas Hayes.

From the school body congratulations to all the winners. Special recognition goes to Lorraine Mattel of the eighth grade. The eighth grade art classes, under the direction of Miss Ruth Youngerman, meet only once a week, consequently they had to work hard against stiff competition.

The school offers a four-year course in science, culminating in

Talks To Students Science Professor

Throughout the year, the students of our school are given the opportunity to speak personally with college representatives.

This past week it was a pleasure to hear an interesting discussion led by Dr. M. L. Price, professor of science at Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

Dr. Price talked to a number of boys who qualify for attendance at the school. To further point out the phase of school life, a color film taken on the campus of W.P.I. was presented.

The school offers a four-year course in science, culminating in

Diabetes Detection Drive Scheduled Next Week Throughout Connecticut

For the eighth successive year the people of Connecticut are being offered a free opportunity—that of being tested for diabetes. During the week of November 13-19 anyone in Connecticut may take a urine specimen to one of the many collection stations which will be operated by health departments, industrial and voluntary agencies. All specimens submitted will be tested for the presence of sugar.

All persons showing sugar will be referred to their physicians for further study. Some of these will find that they are not truly diabetics, but more will learn that they do have diabetes. These people, through early diagnosis and the institution of adequate treatment, will be helped to a better life.

Over 135,000 screening tests have been reported performed in the past seven Diabetes Detection Drives. Each year has seen a steady increase in the percentage of the population being tested, from less than half of one per cent in the first drive in 1945 to 1.5 per cent in last year's drive, but there is still much room for improvement. On the average, 2.0 per cent of these tests were found to yield positive results. At least 1,144, or 43.0 per cent of all the positive tests, were found to have occurred among people previously not known to have diabetes. These people were made aware of the need for further examination and then the Diabetes Detection Drive proved to be especially worthwhile.

During the seven years, as might be expected, a decreasing percentage of positives has been found among those tested. Interest in diabetes is more easily aroused among persons who already know something about the disease, or who have relatives with diabetes or who have previously had positive examinations and which to be re-checked. These were the people who first participated in the drives and these are the people with high indexes of the disease. In later drives as publicity reached more people and interest was aroused in groups where the incidence of diabetes is lower the per cent of positives found decreased.

Prevention. Case-finding is the key to the control of diabetes. Any person who has any relative with diabetes is a potential diabetic. Persons who are overweight may be found to have early diabetes. Also, in advancing years there is a tendency for the body supply of insulin to become deficient and diabetes therefore may develop. In these early cases (if they are found) the disease may be offset or controlled by diet and exercise alone or they may need insulin. Careful medical supervision of the cardiac and pulmonary with tuberculosis who may also have diabetes are better able to handle their respective conditions. If the diabetes is under control, however, the diagnosis may be made and the case may be found. Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 13-19, is a good time to have this important check-up on diabetes.

In Connecticut, urinalysis for sugar is the detection method

Musical Pledge To Flag Is Available From Representa

Rep. Albert W. Cretella thinks it won't be long before most school children throughout the country will be singing the new version of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag rather than reciting it. Cretella noted that on Flag Day of 1954, President Eisenhower officially signed into law a Congressional Resolution adding the words "under God" to the Pledge. Since that time, Congressman Louis C. Rabaut of Michigan, has sought to have the Pledge set to music.

Irving Caesar of ASCAP, has as a result, composed a fitting melody for the Pledge. It was first sung last June 14, Flag Day, on the floor of the House of Representatives by the official Air Force choral group, the Singing Sergeants.

Cretella states that members of Congress have recently been allotted a limited supply of the printed sheet music to the Pledge. These are for free distribution and may be obtained by contacting Cretella's office. According to the Connecticut Representative, when the supply has been exhausted, they must be ordered at ten cents a copy from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

Recreation

Badminton

The Branford Recreation Department's adult badminton classes will begin on Wednesday night at the Branford High School gym. Time for the classes is from 7 to 10 p.m. These sessions are open to all men and women who are residents of Branford, for both beginners and advanced badminton players.

Once again, popular Roland Grayes of the Groves Sport Shop in East Haven will be in charge of this activity. He has done a fine job in supervising this activity in previous years.

For further information call Recreation Director Joe Trapano at the Branford Community House.

Praise Given

Bernard H. Page, Jr., of Lee's Island Road, Stony Creek, former member of the Branford Recreation Department, and now second selectman, was highly commended by the Recreation Department at its monthly meeting at the Community House, Page, who was recently elected second selectman, was a member of the Recreation Department for approximately five years.

Chairman Frank J. Kinney, Jr., Mandann "Armsstrong", Stanley Sokolowsky, Edward Longergan and Recreation Director Joe Trapano were very high in their praise of Page, who had done an outstanding job.

Besides his other recreational duties, Page planned, organized and conducted many of the recreational activities in Stony Creek. He conducted the supervised swimming program, baseball clinics in the summer, supervised the Band Concert, conducted swim meets, track and field meets, and has played a very active part in the now popular Stony Creek Day. He has been an active member of the Stony Creek Association, helped with the annual Branford Invitational Softball Tournaments, and has served as a softball commissioner for Branford for many years.

Bowl Games

The second annual Branford Bowl football games are slated for this year, on Sunday, Nov. 20, at Hammer Field. This is the second year for the Branford Bowl games. The idea was conceived by Chairman Frank J. Kinney, Jr., of the Recreation Department to give the people of Branford an opportunity to see the local young footballers in action.

Game time has been changed. The first game will get under way at 2:15 p.m. and this game will be between the two outstanding seventh grade football teams. This has become necessary due to a special award that will be presented at 2 p.m.

At 2 p.m., the two leading high grade teams in the recreation league will clash. At 2:15 there will be a special award to one of Branford's most outstanding citizens for his fine community services rendered to the town and especially to the recreation movement in Branford.

Following this ceremony, the top's leading sixth grade teams will clash. The final game of the afternoon will get under way at 3:15 p.m. and will find the seventh and eighth grade contenders in action.

A total of 18 teams have taken part in the leagues sponsored by the Branford schools and the Recreation Department. The Early in December we can look for blustery and cold weather followed by snows Dec. 8-10 with rain and sleet during spells of the next six days before it gets "cold very cold" from the 18th on through Christmas to the end of the year.

January will start out, Abe Weatherwise relates, on a snowy, rainy and cold note with high winds in the first week of the new year then will hit a cold spell starting the 13th and continuing ten days before a two day thaw comes along to prime us for blizzard conditions Jan. 26-31.

The arrival of February will be no better, the Old Farmer's Almanac expert predicts. It sees cold and stormy weather for Feb. 1-11 with a four day cold spell, then rain and snow from the 17th to the 26th with occasional gales and snow filling out the month.

March will open with dust and snow laden winds, then an unsettled period followed by snow the 10th to the 14th and tornado and gale conditions the 18th to the 23rd. But the wicked weather won't last for ever. Abe Weatherwise says late February will be fair with rain or haze.

NUTMEG NOTES

According To Abe:

What's ahead weatherwise? Well, according to Abe Weatherwise the expert of the Old Farmer's Almanac which is quoted weekly in The Chronicle, the weather we're approaching will be "as severe as any of the 20th century."

And, as readers of The Chronicle appreciate, Old Abe is a right accurate guy when it comes to predicting the weather. His predictions are set forth in the 104th edition of The Old Farmer's Almanac which went on sale last week.

For the rest of November, he predicts bad storms just ahead followed by a mild spell then a snow storm (Nov. 23-25) and then a two-pointed northeast the last week of the month.

PUC Okays Additional Bus Service For Towns On 60-Day Trial Basis

Approval of a 60-day trial period has been granted to the North Branford Coach Co., by the Public Utilities Commission for the extension of bus service in North Branford and the Mapleview section of East Haven.

At a public hearing held Oct. 18 in Hartford, at which only the president of the transportation company appeared, the application for service was amended to restrict the proposed service to a trial period of 60 days. It was found, however, by the PUC that sufficient evidence existed in public convenience and necessity to approve the amended application.

On Aug. 8, the bus firm made application with the PUC to extend service as follows: "From Route 80 (Foxon Road), along Twin Lakes Road and Route 139 to Foxon Road, all within the town of North Branford" and further, "from Route 80, along River Road, Glenmore Drive, Maple Drive, Maple St., Maple St., Maple St., Damon Drive to High Street, within the town of East Haven."

The purpose of the extensions requested and approved, is to provide service to residents of Twin Lakes Road and to residents in East Haven's Mapleview development. The length of the extension in Branford is eighteen miles and in East Haven, one and one-half miles.

According to the bus firm, it is planned to provide the service in combination with present service between North Gutterford and East Haven. On weekdays, Monday through Friday, three morning trips and one afternoon trip will be operated to the Mapleview section from North Branford. Also, one morning trip and four afternoon trips will be operated to the same location from East Haven. It is further planned to operate two round-trips on Thursday evenings for the convenience of shoppers. No service is planned for either Saturdays or Sundays.

Prior to approval by the PUC, an engineer from the Commission had inspected and approved the proposed routes. Approval of the extensions had also received the approval of the towns involved. Following the 60-day trial period, the Commission will determine whether continuation of bus service over the route is justified.

To Honor Coach Dominic Cole, coach of Branford High School's winning football team, will be honored at a testimonial dinner Monday, Nov. 28, at the Elks Club. Those interested in attending have been requested to make early reservations.

Returning Editor Speaks

Very seldom does a newspaper editor come right out and speak about himself on his editorial page. However, since this is the first issue of the East Haven News in over three years which the present writer has edited, he does feel an obligation to outline some of the hopes he has for his newspaper.

Firstly, the main function of the East Haven News is that of service. Through news columns the paper will endeavor to keep its readers informed on the events of the town, both in story and in pictures. Commerce is served through advertising columns where both buyer and seller can meet to transact their business. In the editorial page we hope to stimulate a forum, through which East Haven can form its opinions.

In our news columns we will try to chronicle all the events in town that will interest our readers. To do this we will need help, and a lot of it. We want to hear from all the organizations in town. We want to hear and print their views. When possible we would like to take pictures.

Too often an organization sits back and criticizes the newspaper when a rival group "gets all the publicity." Generally we find that only happens when two things occur. The lively group makes the newspaper because someone is interested enough to inform the editor of the plans and events in which his group is taking part, while the other group does not bother to notify the newspaper.

Hardly ever does an editor favor one group over another. Reason is against it. After all it is the purpose of the newspaper to inform the public about all news and to reach each reader with something of particular interest to him.

Advertising is of especial importance in a weekly newspaper. Serving both buyer and seller the advertising tells the reader what goods and services he can find in his own home town. In turn it gives the merchant an opportunity to tell the readers what he has to sell and to interest the reader in buying at home. In the weekly newspaper the advertiser has a better chance of reaching the potential buyer.

His ad can't be buried among those of all his city competitors and the reader of a weekly newspaper takes more time and trouble to carefully look over the paper's contents.

The reader has all week with the paper. It is not considered old the next day. The weekly newspaper, we have found, retains its interest until the next publication. And certainly advertising is among the interesting things to be found in a newspaper.

Editorially, the East Haven News will always maintain an independent position. In itself, acting so as to be independent is an ambitious program. Naturally the editor is bound to hear more from one side or the other in every controversy. What we will do is to present both sides to the very best of our ability.

Naturally, we will not please everyone in each editorial. We don't want to. What we do want is to know what the readers think about matters that interest East Haven, and we want East Haven to have the opportunity to be informed when it makes its decisions.

Another function of the weekly newspaper is to tell the stories of interesting and unusual friends and neighbors. We would appreciate suggestions from the readers.

We have been, for the past two years, an avid photographer, deriving pleasure from taking a picture of interest to newspaper readers. Here again, we need the reader's help in finding interesting pictures.

With the help of the readers of the East Haven News we hope the paper can be of increasing interest and importance to this growing community.

This week marks a return for us both to southern Connecticut and in rejoining our friends at Free Press Publications. We are glad to be back and look forward to our association with the East Haven News and the people of East Haven. From our returning impressions we have gained the idea East Haven hasn't greatly changed after all. Although it has built up, the new building has blended in with the well-manicured residential community we remember.

Everything is in readiness for the Christmas Fair sponsored by St. Clare's Guild on Saturday at the firehouse from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Gifts, food, prizes, rides are a few of the many attractions. Children are most welcome.

A Harvest Dance will be held by the Bradford Manor Hose Company on Saturday, November 19th. The proceeds will go towards the children's Christmas party.

Honor To The Veterans

Tomorrow, Veterans Day, is a sober occasion for East Haven as well as for the rest of the nation. Formerly called "Armistice Day," November 11 for many years marked the cessation of hostilities in France in World War I.

Now, when we are starting to number wars rather than name them the community observes November 11 as Veterans Day and honors her war veterans with appropriate ceremonies.

Most impressive of the November 11 rites is the period of silence, set aside to commemorate the actual time of the first war's armistice.

In today's world the nations are still in a sort of armistice, maintaining an armed truce. The least provocation is apt to set off a chain reaction among the governments of the world. Thus, on Veterans Day the nation is brought to realize how much is owed to its veterans—as well as how much the safety of the nation depends on these citizen-soldiers who answer their country's needs in time of crisis.

By numbers alone the veterans in today's society carry a large burden of civic responsibility. Veterans must depend on themselves for a large part in shaping the future of this country and the world. Tomorrow may be Veterans Day, but the veterans who are honored are the backbone of a country that must arm for peace. They who know war are now working hardest to prevent its recurrence.

East Haven knows how to honor her sons and daughters who interrupted their lives to serve this town and nation. The highest honor we can pay our veterans is to heed them—listen to their warnings and act.

Names In The NEWS

Names are important. It isn't often we sit down and think about this, but names are one of the most vital factors in our civilization.

William Shakespeare spoke many a common sense word to say that a name means a lot. It would probably grieve Shakespeare to hear the arguments today on who wrote his works, but that is an example of the importance of names. Not only do names bask in the glory of their bearer's good works but they pinpoint the blame for the evil their owners do.

Men and women live their lives with a purpose, and usually that purpose is to establish their names as representing honor, dignity and a thorough-going sense of responsibility. First thing to suffer from an unprincipled act is the perpetrator's name.

Name and reputation are often the best deterrent to those acts that fall short of illegal but are a long way from ideal.

Although one publicity-intrigued politician said, "I don't care what you say about me as long as you spell my name right," it is of vital importance to a newspaper that names are treated with respect. Actually the first duty is for the newspaper to get the right name for use in its story and the second is to make sure it is complete and correctly spelled.

We on the East Haven News are vitally interested in names. We hear a lot of them and receive a great deal of information through publicity chairmen on names of East Haven people. It is especially important to us to get these names correct. We will appreciate your help.

New Theory For Old Problem

Forthcoming Veterans Day reminds us of a somewhat novel theory we heard in reference to the painful problem of juvenile delinquency. At the start of World War II the young adults of this country were mustered into the largest fighting force in history. Since the war the Korean conflict and the continuing demands of defense have served to drain the young people from their home towns.

All the exhaustive studies and surveys have concerned themselves with the effect of the service on the young adults who have been called into uniform. Isn't it possible the gravest damage has been done to those who have remained in the home town?

The young teen-agers, since the start of World War II, have grown up without the steadying influence of their immediate elders. A 14 to 17-year old quicker than a long talk from an adult. The serious young adult has historically served as both a guide and example to the growing teenager.

Instead, for the past ten to 15 years, these young adults have been taken from their home communities, leaving a vacuum in the social life of the home town. The youngsters have grown too quickly, with too little guidance from the age group they most respect.

There is a possibility this theory has some basis in fact. We would like to see someone give it some serious thought and study.

We have found that the returning serviceman is often too intent on his own life which has broadened through travel and experience. He is ready to settle down in a field he has selected. He is through growing up, and has little or no time to devote to the struggle against juvenile problems.
