Easties Score Early, Top Southington, 6-0

Art Conellio plunged over the Southington goal from one yard out to score a first period touchdown and East Haven defenders tightened up to blank Southington, 6-0, in the middle of Saturday's snow storm.

East Haven received the opening kickoff and Ralph Paolillo ran it back 30 yards to his own 40. On the first play from scrimmage Paolillo carried for three yards and Conellio took it on the next play for 7 yards and the first down.

Easties then lost ground when the wet ball was fumbled in the backfield but saved for the visitors by Paolillo's diving recovery. The Easties were held on the next two plays and then kicked, downing the ball on Southington's 28 yard line.

Southington was held to no gain on the first play, then the Easties yielded two yards each on the second and third downs forcing Southington to kick. The ball was downed on the Easties' 30.

Conellio netted six yards on the first play. Martin DeFelle picked up five yards and the first down on the next play. DeFelle then carried for two yards. For the third straight play the ball was given to DeFelle who then broke away for 25 yards and another first down on the Southington 32.

Southington fumble was recovered by DeFelle. East Haven punted again on the third down and the ball went out of bounds on the Southington 32.

Southington then started its longest march of the game, grounding out 45 yards in a series of plays extending into the fourth quarter.

Ralph Paolillo made a hard tackle and DeFelle fell on the ball to end the Southington threat. East Haven rolled up nine yards in three plays, then a five-yard penalty set up a situation forcing them to kick.

East Haven batted down Southington passes and stopped Southington's scoring drive. (Continued On Page Four)

News Commended By The Court On Recent Editorial

The East Haven News was commended by the Court during Saturday's session of Town Court, for the editorial of the November 17 issue entitled, "Courtroom Could Be Classroom."

After the cases had been heard and before adjournment, the Court agreed with the editorial point that East Haven youth might learn by attending sessions of the local court, adding "it would be for the betterment of the town."

Off the bench Judge James F. Garthland has many times expressed interest in the problem of juvenile delinquency and is at present working to form a town-wide committee to fight juvenile delinquency as a municipal problem.

Finance Appointment Rouses Republican Ire

Vestuti Charges Anastasio With Responsibility

John A. Vestuti, unsuccessful Republican candidate for second selectman in the October election, protests the method of appointment to the Board of Finance in the appointment made Friday night.

Mr. Vestuti has issued a statement charging Republican Town Chairman Mathew Anastasio with responsibility for the appointment.

Mr. Vestuti's statement follows: "As a Republican and as a candidate for Selectman in the last Town Election, I want to register a protest on the manner by which Derek Schonwald was appointed as a Republican member of the East Haven Board of Finance. I have no objection to Mr. Schonwald as a person but the back door method of his appointment is all wrong."

"Schonwald was not the choice of the Republican Town Committee which voted, by a big margin, to endorse Elwood Scoble, a Main Street business man, for that position. Although the present Board of Finance is controlled by the Democratic Party, I am not placing the blame on the Democratic members of that group for ignoring the blame on group endorsement. It is my opinion that the man who must accept the blame is the Chairman of the Republican Town Committee."

"I have been informed that when the matter was placed before the Republican Town Committee, Schonwald was backed by the Chairman and his close friends, but was badly defeated by Scoble. Yet when the time came to place the matter before the Board of Finance for action Schonwald was given the job. This action makes it appear as if the Town Chairman has decided to abide by the decisions of the Town Committee only when he feels like it. Apparently he feels that he has grown to be bigger than the Committee. If he had enough influence with the Democrats to get his man appointed he could have secured Scoble's appointment."

Barker Flays Finance Board Appointment

Third Selectman Frank A. Barker this week issued a statement assailing the method by which the vacancy on the Board of Finance was filled.

Mr. Barker's statement follows: "This week I had planned to expose the grabbing of most of the money jobs by a very few leading Democratic families but that will have to wait. Instead I feel that I should take up the matter of the appointment of a successor to Stefan Stein who resigned as a Republican member of the Board of Finance. This has all the earmarks of the worst type of boss politics that has been pulled in this or any other town in a long time."

"To begin with, Anastasio and Garthland, working together instead of against each other, drew up the new Board of Finance Act which put the power for choosing members of the Board of Finance in the hands of the Town Committees instead of the Board of Selectmen who are elected by the people. By this act there was no competition on election day. The men nominated by their Town Committees were automatically elected because there was only one candidate for each place on the Board. Anastasio and Garthland not only drew up the bill but pushed it through the State Legislature. They crossed party lines to do this."

"Next we take up the selection of Stein who resigned. Pushed by Anastasio and his close followers he was given the Republican nomination which was the same as election. He was a newcomer to East Haven, and knew nothing about the Town or its needs. In fact he was nominated to the position before he was made a voter in East Haven. You can all have three guesses why this newcomer was pushed forward by Anastasio and his clique."

"After serving less than two months, Stein resigned. By law he would have to be replaced by another Republican. This brings us to another Anastasio - Garthland deal. Some time back they agreed that each party would honor the recommendations of the other Town Committee when situations like the above happened. At least that was the excuse given when Ernest Anthonis was pushed forward to take the place of the deceased Mr. Weher. This deal had never had the approval or the knowledge of the Republican Town Committee so it must have been another you scratch my back and I'll scratch yours, across party lines, deal between the two party bosses."

Schonwald Named To Finance Board In Surprise Move

Derek L. Schonwald of 956 North High Street was the unexpected choice of the Board of Finance, named Friday night to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Stefan Stein.

The vacancy had to be filled by a Republican as the special act for the East Haven Board of Finance prescribes the number of members from each major party that will sit on the board.

Earlier last week in a meeting of the Republican Town Committee members of the town committee voted to endorse Elwood Scoble, manager of the Knudsen Dairy Bar, as their candidate for the position.

Mr. Schonwald is production manager for Eastern Industries, Inc., of Skiff Street, Hamden. As a member of the Board of Finance his term will expire October 1, 1957.

GOP Chairman Is "Surprised" By Appointment

Reached yesterday for comment on the appointment of Mr. Schonwald, Mathew Anastasio, Republican Town Chairman, expressed surprise that Elwood Scoble failed to receive the appointment to the Board of Finance.

"I thought they would go along with the Town Committee," he said referring to the Democratic members of the Finance Board. "I'm convinced that it seems to me what the party will have to do from now on is to send in more than one name so the Democrats can make a choice."

Mr. Anastasio recalled the recent re-appointment of Bertel Klockars to the Parking Authority, which, he explained followed the advice of the Republican Town Committee as sent by letter. "I thought it would be the same with Mr. Scoble," he said, pointing out, "The Town Committee sent a letter to the Board of Finance recommending the appointment of Mr. Scoble."

He explained he understood the letter was read by Mr. Ernest Anthonis, Republican member of the Board of Finance, to the other members. He said he heard that one of the Democratic members asked if there were any other names, and at that point someone mentioned Mr. Schonwald. Mr. Anastasio said he understood that some discussion followed with members asking questions on the background and qualifications of both Mr. Scoble and Mr. Schonwald.

Mr. Anastasio said he has been fighting for a long time to set coffee break ...

BY Esther Mlock

It's perfectly clear that the universal need for a public place to sit and talk has given rise to a store called "House of Today". Let us hope that many great novels are written, great painters encouraged, and great affairs of great hearts settled over the cozy cups.

For the young, the corner drug store used to fill the coffee need. Hours of afternoons slipped away, inexpensive, at the small round tables and bar-backed chairs. A drug store in Devere offered a particularly sparkling concoction called a "hotchpotch" as a coffee-strauss on request—patent pending and no hovering waiter. There was always a call at closing time by the owner, who made his money, I believe, filling prescriptions.

For some years now, the plasterer and luster have sweetened their out in the stilled dimness of the cocktail lounge, where you couldn't recognize your own wife if she were out with two other husbands.

Out of the past and into the breach jumps the coffee shop—squarely between naive and sophistication, atmospheric but not anorectic; just relaxed, with a touch of glamour at the throat.

In most places the idea is new enough that not just coffee, but different kinds of coffee are served to a drawing card. And by menu, they are kind enough to give you a hint of what to expect when you adventure into a New Orleans Coffee (half cup milk, half cup heavy cream, one quarter cup black coffee boiled together) or Creme Anglaise Au Cafe (cold coffee made with thick black coffee, sugar and a dash of lemon), or "The Life Cycle and Consumer Behavior."

Russian Coffee is likely to have come mixed in, and surprisingly good, if I may say so without political implication. Chilean Coffee is said to take 20 different operations to prepare, but you can't taste a single operation.

Turkish Coffee, Viennese Coffee, Cafe Au Lait, Royal Espresso—all the different kinds pour out after the first thing, American Coffee, 30 cents here perhaps, but maybe there is a diner not too far away.

Of course, in the shop you get more than just coffee—and egg, and milk, and seasoning, and froth. As one night, after the theater, we got a whole ballet group—salsa dance, salsa costume, salsa music. But a gay group couldn't recognize your own wife if she were out with two other husbands.

Three-Way Home Service Will Open; Grove Couple Explains 'House Of Today'

Two people—Stanley and Helen Hall—a store to be "House of Today"; and a store motto—"Today's furniture is tomorrow's tradition"—therein lies this story.

Now under construction, "House of Today" is the furniture store that will be opening Jan. 1, on West Main St., Branford, at the corner of Orchard Hill Road. Immediately next door on the west side will be Platt's Steel Co., owners of the property, with a complete line of equipment for the yard and garden; on the east will be the DeForest Co., featuring lumber and allied equipment for the yard and garden; and the third furnishes the interior.

Helen Clark Hall, his wife, will also take an active interest in the business including buying, selling, decorating assistance, and office management. She is the daughter of Colby J. College of New Hampshire and has been associated with Yale University as a technical assistant in cancer research. Her father has also been president of the Board of Trustees of the Yale University.

"House of Today," plus its motto of "Today's furniture is tomorrow's tradition," clearly implies that the specialty will be contemporary furniture, carpeting and accessories. Hall asserts that such furniture, from the drawing boards of America's most capable designers, has already become a part of the tradition of present-day living and its classic styling finds itself in the Cape Cod house as well as in the home of most advanced modern architecture.

As a business and scholarship student, Hall graduated from Yale University in 1958, having majored in art. The particular studies on the subject into design and their history. From that time to the present, except for three years with the U.S. Navy as an officer with the minesweeper group, he has been associated with the Furniture of New Haven, founded in 1887 by his grandfather, The Stanley

It is expected that the stores will open for business at the first of the year.

News From North Branford
Please phone Mrs. Daniel M. Dooty, 8-2928 with items for this column.

The 1955 Christmas seals were mailed to all town residents by the North Branford Public Health Nursing Association, Inc. The tuberculosis committee chairman is again Mrs. Edgar E. Johnson who is being assisted by the following committee: Mrs. Fred E. Harrison, Mrs. George H. Augur, Mrs. Richard M. Hemenway, Mrs. Lester Bright, Miss Helen H. Livingston, Mrs. Howard H. Shuster, R.N., and Mrs. Frank Mushal.

In an accompanying letter Mrs. Johnson said, "No member of this community can dodge the cost of tuberculosis. We either help to pay for prevention, early discovery, education or we pay a bigger bill for the care of those struck down by this enemy of good health. To prevent the spread of this disease, an intensive research program has been set up to find new cures for tuberculosis, to find unknown causes and to follow up on active cases for proper treatment. Persons like you, by the purchase of Christmas seals in the past years, have helped provide funds to buy the necessary X-ray units and to pay for films. The success of this program depends, however, upon your continued interest and support."

Ribicoff Cites Hardships Of August's Flooding In Thanksgiving Message

Thursday marks the first Thanksgiving that Gov. Abraham Ribicoff has held office as the State's first official. As a matter of tradition, Gov. Ribicoff has issued an outstanding proclamation for the holiday to be observed this week. Because of its sincerity and timeliness, we reprint the governor's proclamation below.

"The first Thanksgiving more than 300 years ago followed a period of hardship and distress for the Pilgrim Fathers. Yet, when they lifted their hearts and voices in prayer to God, they gave thanks not for material things alone. They also gave thanks for the moral and spiritual values which made it possible for them to survive in the American wilderness and to look to the future with hope and courage.

"This year Thanksgiving follows a period of hardship and distress for the people of Connecticut. We have suffered from two disastrous floods. Lives have been lost. Many have been hurt. The homes of thousands of our families have been damaged and destroyed. Our business sections, our industries and the crops in our fields have been dealt grievous blows. It has been one of the darkest hours in the history of our beautiful state.

"Now, as another harvest season draws to a close, we are well along the road to recovery. Our people are imbued with the same spiritual and moral values the Pilgrims had. We have given cause to offer up thanks and to seek divine guidance in restoring our homes and our communities and in building a finer state than that which stood before the floods. In humble appreciation for our many blessings, I therefore designate Thursday, Nov. 24, as a day of public Thanksgiving.

"The great test of a state and the great test of a people is how they conduct themselves in time of adversity. The Pilgrims showed courage in the face of hardship. They never lost faith in God and His works. They made possible a better form of government under which we have freely worshipped and prospered.

"The people of Connecticut have shown this same faith and dignity. They have shown this same grandeur and fortitude. With continuing faith in a merciful God, we meet the future assured and unafraid."

Report to Branford...

by
REP. LUCY T. HAMMER

The special session, called by Governor Ribicoff for the purpose of dealing with problems arising from the floods of August and October, opened last week in a session of serious and sober attention to the needs of towns which were victims of the disasters. The session is expected to last at least until December 2 and, perhaps, longer.

Many people have asked why it will take so long, and I can say that the brief look we were able to take at the problems, in last week's two-day session, indicates the answer: the problems are many, and surprisingly complex.

The Assembly is using as a base for its deliberations the report of the Flood Recovery Committee, known as the Knapp Committee, after its chairman, Sherman A. Knapp, president of the Connecticut Light and Power Co. This committee, appointed by the Governor late in August, has brought recommendations to take care of almost every aspect of disaster recovery. The recommendations fall into four categories:

- (1) Aid to Victims: Estimated funds needed, $2,200,000. (The Red Cross has already allocated more than $1 million in direct grants to flood victims.)
- (2) Aid to Towns: $1,615,000. (Of this amount, $14 million is for repair and reconstruction of town roads and bridges, in addition to repairs to town buildings.)
- (3) Repair and Replacement of State-owned Property: $15,200,000. (Of this, $15 million is for repair and replacement of state-owned highways and bridges, and $2 million in federal aid will be forthcoming for this purpose.)
- (4) Redevelopment Planning: First of all, then, the legislature has to decide whether it agreed with the policies set forth in this report, and it was established, on the very first day of the session, that there was general agreement, in both houses, on the need for virtually all of the Knapp recommendations.

Next comes the task of preparing bills which will carry out these policies, and the slowest, every bill (and there have been some 300 submitted) must follow the prescribed legislative procedure, that is, committee study, public hearing, debate and vote in both houses. This all takes time.

Then comes the most difficult part of this special session—how to raise the money! To carry out the Knapp recommendations, some 30 million dollars will be needed for the program outlined.

To meet the need, the Governor has recommended, an increase of 10 per cent on all taxes (except the gasoline tax, which was raised 2 cents a gallon at this year's regular session) and a one-cent increase on the cigarette tax. This 10 per cent would be added to sales tax, liquor, unincorporated business, individual income, corporate franchise, every state tax that we now pay. The Governor feels, as he stated in his message to the Assembly, that

Polio Vaccine Regulations Changed; Pregnancies, Children 3-12 Included

Upon the recommendation of the Governor's Polio Vaccine Advisory Committee and with the approval of the Public Health Council, the Connecticut State Department of Health announced today the following change in regulations affecting the administration of poliomyelitis (Salk) vaccine.

- 1. The vaccine now may be administered to children from 3 to 12 years of age inclusive, and to pregnant women. Previously the regulations permitted only children in the 5-9 age group to receive the vaccine.
- 2. This change followed the recommendation of the National Advisory Committee on Poliomyelitis Vaccine that this priority group beyond the 5-9 group include not more than pregnant women, and children of the five additional years of age (3, 4, 10, 11 and 12) in which the incidence of poliomyelitis is the greatest in the state. Although poliomyelitis vaccine is still in short supply, the expansion of the group was made in order that all stocks of vaccine now in the state may be used to best advantage before the material is out of date.

The State Department of Health has attempted to assure equitable distribution of the Research Advances Indicate Possible Successful Subjugation Of Arthritis

Man has been pestered by arthritis in one form or another since his earliest days. It is evidence that the prehistoric cave bears of Europe were afflicted with this disease, which may be defined in simple terms as an inflammation of the joints. The basic causes of arthritis are not always too well defined, but it is known that it occurs most frequently in those individuals exposed to cold and damp living quarters, and especially when such exposure is connected with improper diet and poor personal hygiene. Such things as lowered body resistance to infection, too little exercise, too little fresh air, and many other factors, including chronic infections, improper posture, overwork and mental anxiety play a part.

Arthritis, while not very often a cause of death, is a very debilitating handicap to the individual afflicted. It may not only make it difficult for the individual to perform his daily duties, but sometimes totally incapacitates the victim. Pain in varying degrees often accompanies arthritis, especially upon motion of the afflicted joints, and if these conditions are neglected the individual may become a total cripple.

The prevention of arthritis is partly a medical and partly an environmental problem. The person with arthritis may not be certain how ill he is as a result of a certain well defined bacterial or virus infection. Nevertheless, certain types of arthritis are preventable: avoid driving the human machine at too great a speed; keep the rough road in mind; keep the body in good working order; have a medical check-up as regularly as necessary; eat reasonably and properly; take care of infections promptly. The best time to treat arthritis is in the very beginning when the first symptoms of joint trouble appear. After the disease is established it is often difficult to hold it in check.

Research Continues

By redistributing vaccine where it was needed. 2. By urging physicians and parents to have all children in the most susceptible age group (5-9, vaccinated and 3. By maintaining the 5-9 age limit up to this time to assure these children the opportunity to receive vaccination.

Garden Notes

By Mrs. M. D. Stanley

NOVEMBER This is the brown month, skeletal, bleak, austere. The season is running down like an unwound clock. Blowing and gathering strength for the winter's shock. Stripped bare to honest essentials to finish the year. November is all stern conscience and feels it should tell you unlovely truths for your own best good.

The Branford Garden Club will meet at the Blackstone Memorial Library on Friday, Dec. 2, at 2 p.m. with the meeting subject scheduled to be "Christmas at Home." The guest speaker will be Mrs. Elizabeth H. Hines, and hostesses named include Mrs. C. B. Guernsey, Mrs. William F. Virgil, Mrs. McNeil, Mrs. Edward Hartshorn, Mrs. Charles Nettleton, Miss Olive Pratt, Mrs. Roy Pascoe, Mrs. F. H. Crassey and Mrs. Milton Coe.

Members are reminded to bring their complete scrap books and tray folders or covers for the Newington Home for Crippled Children, an annual project of the club. The best recommended method of controlling wild onion is to dig them out by hand. This should be done early in Spring before they have a chance to form young bulbs and to multiply themselves.

To induce your English ivy to climb, make sure it is planted close to the base of the wall and cut it back to within four inches of the ground in April. Only the young shoots will attach themselves; the old ones never do.

Use hedge material to outline flower beds. Evergreen hedges of low or medium height have many uses. Besides being most ornamental, they provide a neat appearance to walks or drives, ways and define flower beds or borders through the winter. When frost ends the autumn color in the garden, it is then that the low evergreen hedge comes into its own. The most ornamental is dwarf box, not the regular, fast-growing kind, but the true Buxus suffruticosa.

Programs having as their objective the dissemination of information concerning arthritis to the general public have been activated by voluntary and official organizations such as the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation and the State Department of Health. Services to arthritic patients have been supplied by these organizations in many communities in Connecticut among others.

Christmas customs in Sweden: Swedes, who have Kris Kringle, announce the birth of a Christ child on Christmas Eve and then proceed to eat such delicious dishes as sill (herrings), kory (sausages), sulsa (headcheese), brunnsoppa (fancy brown wavy beans) and many other dishes.

The Rosary Confraternity and the Marian Guild of St. Theresa's Church will conduct the annual silver tea and Christmas bazaar on Sunday, Dec. 4, at the Church Hall.

Understand that Charles Callahan is expected home from the U.S. Military Coast Guard Academy to enjoy Thanksgiving with his family.

The custom of having Christmas trees... Pope Gregory, the great sixth century pontiff who attained sainthood, exhorted Christian missionaries not to destroy such pagan customs as were innocent. He stipulated that these customs were to be woven into the fabric of Christian ceremony where possible. When the missionary St. Boniface, from England to Germany, he made no attempt to halt the Teutonic custom of worshipping Odin's sacred oak. Instead, he persuaded the people to substitute for the oak an evergreen tree, decorated in honor of the Christ Child.

The Christmas tree came to America a little more than a century ago—the custom being unknown in this country earlier than 1840. Homestead German immigrants first brought their decorated "tannebaum" where their neighbors admired and copied it, although it was not until after 1850 that the custom began

"Old-fashioned cooking is still the best." You'll agree with this familiar saying when you roast your turkey as Grandmother Frank prepared, meaty junior turkeys weigh only 4 to 8 pounds for each serving, but this may not allow much for the good things you can make from turkey that time of year. Three-quarters of one pound for each service may suit your needs better, per person for each evening.

You may purchase these turkeys fresh-frozen or quick-frozen, fully dressed, ready to stuff, truss and pop into the oven. To stuff these birds in a hurry, use the new already prepared herb-seasoned stuffing found in cellophane packages on your grocery shelf. Because these birds have all white feathers, there are no troublesome dark pin feathers to remove. The semi-covered Country Bake method keeps the meat moist and protects the very thin skin of this special breed of birds from becoming dry and hard.

To Country Bake your turkey, place the already stuffed bird on a rack in a roasting pan. Brush with 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine. Brown in a preheated (300°F.) oven for 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Baste turkey with the dripping. Cover with the lid of your roasting pan or with a piece of heavy duty aluminum foil crimped tightly to the edges of the pan. Turn the oven down to 225°F. to finish baking, allowing approximately the time indicated below.

Turkey Baking Chart

4 to 6 pounds... approximately 1 3/4 to 2 1/2 hours
7 to 9 pounds... approximately 2 1/4 to 3 1/4 hours

One half hour before the end of cooking time, carefully remove cover and cut lightly browned. Turkey will be done when leg moves easily and breast is fork tender.

Many families will be giving thanks during the Thanksgiving festive this year, and then the traditional turkey will be served. There are plenty of turkeys available even though they are somewhat fewer in number this year than last. The shorter supply means that shoppers are likely to find turkey prices a few cents higher per pound than they were a year ago.

Frozen turkeys and also many fresh turkeys nowadays are priced on the basis of their weight when sold oven-ready, ready-to-cook, or eviscerated. If the price is in terms of "New York dressed", then the bird is weighed before head and feet are removed and before it is drawn. If an over-ready turkey looks at shiny, red apples cut half way through they be used for turkey. Cut a large opening at the top of the pumpkin, then remove the seeds and fibers with a spoon. Polish the outside of the pumpkin with a soft cloth and place the pumpkin on a large tray. Arrange colorful autumn leaves or bright greenery to set off the golden color of the pumpkin. The elder could be milled ahead of time, then reheated just before putting into the pumpkin bowl. Crisp crackers with cheese spread could complete the appetizer.

Let your daughters help with the setting of the table. They might like to take complete charge of making and serving the dessert. Or if you're having relatives or long time friends, don't hesitate to let them bring the dessert.

Let the whole family in on the planning for their Thanksgiving festivities. This will help make the day a memorable one for everyone. By allocating the jobs according to capabilities you will find that you will have more fun to enjoy the day without sacrificing any of the traditional "fixings."

The most artistic person in your family could take charge of the decorations. Cans, squash, grapes and autumn leaves may be used for an effective center piece. Milled elder in a pumpkin punch bowl would be appropriate and attractive. Cut a large opening at the top of the pumpkin, then remove the seeds and fibers with a spoon. Polish the outside of the pumpkin with a soft cloth and place the pumpkin on a large tray. Arrange colorful autumn leaves or bright greenery to set off the golden color of the pumpkin. The elder could be milled ahead of time, then reheated just before putting into the pumpkin bowl. Crisp crackers with cheese spread could complete the appetizer.

For the main course, you may wish to plan on traditional roast turkey. Of course, you'll want to include your favorite stuffing and giblet gravy. Instead of serving two mashed vegetables each as mashed potato and turnip, try combining the two in a mashed potato turnip puré. Try adding sliced green pepper to creamed onions for a colorful touch. Arrange a colorful relish bowl with crisp celery stalks, radish roses, and an assortment of pickles.

Thanksgiving greetings to all: That white "stuff" that was falling Saturday night was snow—something similar to rain but more fun for kiddies. I thought I would let you know what it is called, as we haven't seen much of it around these parts in the last few years. (Thought some of you may have forgotten its name.)

I sincerely hope Roll Palne enjoyed his 78th birthday Nov. 18. He is a grand guy.

Birthday wishes to Charles O. Seastrand on the 27th. Also to John Altermatt, same day. Be-lated wishes to Mrs. Joseph Sweeney, Nov. 5, down in Nutley, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Holt have left for Sarasota, Fla., where they plan to spend the winter.

Carlo Senis of Bowhay Hill sailed the 16th on the Andria Doria for Italy, where he plans to visit his sister.

The CYO Jr. members are raffling off a lovely white woolen blanket. Drawing will be held at the Christmas Tea in the church rooms. This group meets every Thursday evening at 7. The Sr. CYO group meets Tuesday evenings at the church.

Quite a few fellows have been trying their luck, hunting deer. Hear tell Cal Northam wasn't too lucky; neither was Bill Palne, Wilbur Carden was pretty lucky up in Vt. and brought back a nice one.

Mrs. Irving Osbourne left for the South Monday. Mrs. Charles Madela has also plans to go down where the climate is warmer.

Anthony (Tony) Reveaux, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reveaux, has become president of the freshman class at the University of Conn. Congratulations, fellow.

The Bible Study group of the Church of Christ will meet at the parsonage Tuesday, the 29th. Pfc. Carl Olovson was home for the weekend from Camp LeJeune, N. C.

Mrs. Charles Seastrand is feeling better these days. She would like to thank all the wonderful people who called and sent cards to her during her convalescing days. The Ladies' Aux. of the Church of Christ sent her a basket of packages, one to be opened each day of her confinement. She says it was lots of fun.

Brownie Troop 313 enjoyed a like Saturday to Dibs Pond. They ate their lunch there and then hiked on further. Mrs. Ruth Atkinson, the leader, Mary Downer, co-leader, and Betty Weiner accompanied the girls.

They are keeping busy selling Christmas cards to raise money for their Christmas party. They meet every Thursday in the school basement. They are cutting pictures which, instead of making scrap books this year, they will send along with the scrap books, to the children in Newington, who will enjoy making their own.

Report cards being returned to school this week. Banking on Tuesdays, and milk money on Fridays.

See you all next week. Have a wonderful holiday and weekend, won't you? BOBBIE
