Rev. Wm. H. Nicolas Called To Pastorate Of Stone Church

At a special meeting of the First Congregational Church of East Haven, last Sunday, May 23, it was unanimously voted by the congregation to accept the Rev. William H. Nicolas as its permanent pastor, who will assume his duties here on Thursday, September 2, 1937.

On May 16, the Rev. Mr. Nicolas preached at the Old Stone Church, at the recommendation of the Pulpit Supply Committee, consisting of Mr. Sydney Everett, chairman; Mrs. Sallie Lawson, Mrs. Donald Chidsey, the late Mrs. Sherwin T. Haskell, Mr. Wallace S. Coker, Mr. Earle V. Harrison and Mr. Monroe Andrews, at which time, he made a great impression on the congregation. At 4 p. m. of the same day, an informal reception was held for him at which many attended.

Rev. Wm. H. Nicolas

Rev. Mr. Nicolas is a man of 34 years and married, and was selected from a group of twenty-four candidates. He is a graduate of the Bangor Theological Seminary, Bangor, Maine, after which he served as student pastor at Monson, Maine. For the past six years, he has served as pastor of Trinity Congregational Church at Beechmont, Massachusetts. He excels in Parish work and Pastoral calling.

The committee is to be commended in selecting such a capable man for the pastorate of the Old Stone Church.

Dr. Edwin D. Harvey, who has served well as interim pastor since last December, stated that he would remain here throughout the summer following the request of the Pulpit Committee.

BREVITIES

On Tuesday, June 1, the Adelphi Lodge of Fair Haven will confer the master mason degree, to be exemplified by a group of railroad employees, at which time Worshipful Master Mr. Ernest W. Ackerman will raise his son.

At a meeting held last Wednesday evening in the Town Hall, the following motion was made by Charles Miller and accepted unanimously by those present, after which the meeting was adjourned.

"Moved that the Board of Selectmen, acting in behalf of the Town of East Haven, be authorized to convey and transfer to Olson Incorporated, a Connecticut corporation located in the Town of East Haven, all those certain pieces or parcels of land, situated in the Town of East Haven, and State of Connecticut, known and shown as Tuttle Place, River Drive, Rockview Avenue, and Deborah Lane, on a map of Saltonstall manor, owned and developed by Olson Incorporated, East Haven, Conn., December 1936, to be filed in the East Haven Town Clerk's Office, to which map reference is hereby made for a more particular description as to location and dimensions.

Being the same premises conveyed to said Town of East Haven by quit claim deed of Olson Incorporated, dated January 25, 1937, and recorded on January 28, 1937, in Volume 92 on Page 527 of the East Haven Land Records; and that they be authorized to execute and acknowledge in behalf of said Town of East Haven a deed necessary to convey and transfer said piece or parcel of land to said Olson Incorporated."

A mere handful turned out for the meeting due to the fact that the business at hand was merely a matter of form to clear the title for Olson Incorporated so that they can proceed with the development on a new basis and a new layout of lots planned to conform to the lines of the new State Highway cutoff.

On Monday, May 31, there will be a special meeting of Momauguin Lodge, No. 138, A. F. & A. M., at which time a Fellowcraft Degree will be conferred by Mr. Robinson L. Sperry.

The Choir of the Old Stone Church will rehearse in the Chapel this evening at 7:30 p. m.

The Eveready Group of the Old Stone Church will meet in the Parish House on Thursday, June 3, at 2:30 p. m.

The Women's Guild of Christ Episcopal Church will meet on Wednesday, June 2, at 2:30 p. m., at the Hagaman Memorial Library.

The Adult Choir of Christ Episcopal Church will rehearse in the church this evening at 7:30 p. m.

The Harry R. Bartlett Post, No. 89, American Legion, will hold a Poppy Dance at the Legion building on Saturday, May 29, for the members and their friends.

PROSPERITY

To prosper, is one of the world's greatest aims, and in order to do so, one must work hard.

I am very sure that you all know what, 'to succeed', means. It means the very same thing as, 'to prosper', does.

Prosperity is a wonderful thing, and if we did not have it, this world would not be what it is to-day.

I know that some people down prosperity, but they are very wrong in doing so. They probably won't work, which is one of the worst reasons in the world why anyone should down prosperity, and to the one who knows what it will bring him, and then downs it, makes it a much worse offense.

If a person, whether he be a hobo or a socialite works hard to reach prosperity, and reaches it, he or she deserves plenty of credit, but if one of either standing, does not try to reach it, they are considered as quitters, or anything else they may want to call them.

To reach prosperity ranks a person as "king of all one surveys," and it sure is a great feeling.

If it wasn't for the little word prosperity, we would not have the automobile, radio, aeroplane, telephone, and motion pictures. Cities, towns, villages, etc., would never have sprung up. Bridges, roads, airways, would never have been made. Means of transportation, business, and then I could go on naming things which would take up much more space than one thinks.

People have prospered throughout the ages, and they will prosper in the future, without waiting for anyone who does not wish to co-operate with them.

And so as my parting suggestion, let us all get together and make prosperity ring throughout the ages to come.

Festival of Midsummer

In pagan times Germany celebrated the festival of Midsummer, or "Sonnwendfest" as the occasion when day triumphed over night, light over dark, the forces of good over evil, and today many superstitions are still observed. A young couple expecting to be married soon must either jump through the wheel of fire or over a bonfire, so that their union will be a happy one. In some sections, a few handfuls of grain are thrown into the flames, a souvenir of the old custom of offering a sacrifice to the sun.

A Parthian Shaft

Parthian shaft is an unexpected and satirical witicism. The phrase refers to a custom of the ancient Parthians, who in battle would feign retreat and then shoot backward with unerring aim.

Naming the Cocker Spaniel

The Cocker spaniel was highly prized as long ago as 1803, when popular books on dogs spoke of the breed as possessing "remarkable sagacity," "fidelity," "gratitude," etc. "Unwearied" as a shooting dog, this type was also extolled as the paragon of house dogs. The origin of his name is not difficult to trace. As the woodcock was commonly referred to as "cock" and the sport of shooting his bird was called "cocking," it is easy to see how the Cocker spaniel got its name, as the breed was extensively used in this form of hunting.

Power of Lime

Theoretically, 100 pounds of finely ground limestone, 50 pounds of freshly burned lime, 74 pounds of hydrated lime, and 90 pounds of air-slaked lime have equal acid neutralizing power.

THE BATTLEFIELD
They dropped like flakes, they dropped like stars,
Like petals from a rose,
When suddenly across the June
A wind with finger goes.

They perished in the seamless grass,
No eye could find the place;
But God on his repealless list
Can summon every face.

Emily Dickinson

These few books are just enough to keep some new ones on the list each week but very soon we shall have quite a list and though they are not all brand new still the inside is new and that is what matters most. We are glad to see the interest taken in the new books, but many of the older ones cannot be surpassed.

Amateur Writers Still Booming

Last week our Amateur Writers Column started to boom again, and it is still booming for this week Ye Editor received a lovely little poem called "Spring." It was sent in by a Mrs. Edith M. Frey of 265 Chidsey Avenue, and deserves a great deal of credit. Here it is:

"SPRING"
In a little Floral Kingdom,
Where the elves and fairies dwell,
Live For-Get-Me-Nots and Violets
In their lovely-shaded dell.

The Lillies of the Valley ring
Their bells of silvery white,
And Lilacs with sweet fragrance bloom
Majestic in their height.

The little beams of sunshine
Come creeping thru the trees
They come to find a place to play
With the gently murmuring breeze.

The Violets lift their heads of blue
To hear the Robins sing;
They know that they are ready
To welcome Gorgeous Spring.

The Jacks-Upon-Their-Pulpits stand
Among the Stately Ferns,
To tell them all to look their best,
For Spring is here to Reign.

Indians Hoarded Emeralds

Spanish conquistadors found the Indians of Mexico with hoards of emeralds. However, no tortures could make the Indians reveal the source. So rare are perfect emeralds, they are worth more than diamonds. Extreme heat destroys their color and value. Their greenness comes from a tiny amount of chromium. It was once believed that emeralds were a charm against illness, and brought success in love. Ground finely, the gems were even taken internally as a medicine.

Proves Fish Can Hear

Tests of the hearing of fishes by Dr. Muir Evans were described by him before a conference of naturalists at Norwich, England. Worms were put into a bottle kept in a tank containing fish, and at the same moment a tuning fork was sounded, immediately the fish swam into the bottle and ate the worms. When this had been repeated several times the fish apparently recognized it as a dinner gong. By association the fish obeyed the gong, even when no worms were in the bottle.

Budget-Balancer No. 1 - The Housewife

National Chairman
Sentinel of the Republic
By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

If our political spendthrifts really want to learn how to balance their budgets let them turn to the average American housewife.

She's Budget-Balancer No. 1. She has to be. Unlike the newer economists in public office she cannot spend two dollars for every dollar she takes in, and blandly load the difference on the public. She has to cut her expenditures to fit whatever income a pay envelope may afford.

That's why those "indirect" taxes which boost the family food bill, the family rent bill, the family bills for clothing and for everything else she buys, mean so much to her. No matter on whom the tax-creators and tax-attempters to load the cost, the bill is finally paid out of her thin purse.

How deeply do the billions squandered by office-holders during recent years cut into the average housewife's operating funds? Well, research workers have estimated that the majority of taxes collected by government are passed on to the public in the form of increased prices — and that, so disguised, they consume one dollar out of every five which finds its way into the family pocketbook.

Actually, then, the average housewife faces a dual responsibility—first, to conserve the contents of the family purse, and, second, to demand that politicians cease the reckless squandering and piling on of taxes which rob her of the benefits of her sacrifices and economies. In the overwhelming majority of American families she has succeeded in balancing her own budget. Now she is insisting that the politicians cooperate by learning to balance theirs.

Economy in connection with the plumbing work can be practiced only to a certain extent as codes and ordinances must be followed as a health preventative. However, there are a great many ways in which economy "in the long run" can be practiced. The architect enters into this to a great extent and can save initial expense by planning the bath room on the upper floor over the kitchen, thus utilizing the same soil stack and water supplies, making for short runs of pipe and where the bath is over a toilet on the first floor or basement, it saves an extra soil stack.

This arrangement also saves the owner money for domestic hot water as it is not necessary to run the water but a short time in order to obtain hot water at the faucet.

It is poor economy to use ordinary galvanized steel pipe for any purpose as it will rust up inside of ten years and require renewal in addition to the possibility of leaks which may damage the walls and decoration. Genuine iron pipe and fittings may be used to advantage for the service pipe from the street and for the house piping and will outlast the ordinary frame house.

It can be checked by the stamp on the pipe as each length is so stamped. Most of this is made by Byers or Reading and the fittings by Malleable Iron Fittings Co. of Branford. Brass pipe should be used when built into concrete floors where a tile bath room floor is used. It is poor economy to use too small pipe as the flow of water will be weak and sometimes it is necessary to wait until one faucet is closed before one is able to obtain a flow at another location.

For galvanized pipe, the service from the street should be one and one-fourth inch diameter, mains one inch and branches to groups not less than three-quarter inch while for brass the service may be one inch, mains three-quarter inch and branches to groups one-half inch.

For small extra cost, the brass is worth while if the owner can stand the small extra expense involved.

There is nothing more surely to make one think of, and almost make one feel, the lovely warm days which are soon to come. It is not sure, but there is a presentiment that the thin, soft, white felts are going to lead again this summer.

"Waikiki Wedding" At Capitol

On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the Capitol will present "Waikiki Wedding," starring "Bing" Crosby, Bob Burns, Martha Raye and Shirley Ross. The cinema relates the story of life and love in Hawaii, through the eyes of a publicity agent. Five tuneful songs are featured throughout the picture of which two, "Blue Hawaii" and "Sweet Is the Word for You," have made the "Hit Parade." It is a very entertaining musical comedy. Wallace Beery in "The Good Old Soak," is the co-feature. A news-reel and short fill out the evening's entertainment.

Flying Fish, Sailfish:
 The flying fish flies, after a fashion, and the sailfish does not. Flying fishes, of which there are a number of species, are small and light but have long, winglike pectoral fins. The fish works up speed in the water, throws itself into the air, and the "wings" are able to carry it for some distance. The sailfish is a very large deep sea fish, related to the swordfish, but having teeth, and characterized by the large, high dorsal fin, which is suggestive of a sail.

Izaak Walton, Linen Draper
 Izaak Walton, the writer, was born at Stafford, England, in 1593. He was a linen draper in London, but at the age of 50 retired to devote himself to literary pursuits and angling. His most famous work was "The Compleat Angler." He died in 1683.

"Ruggles Of Red Gap" At Lincoln

In bringing to the Lincoln Theatre "Ruggles of Red Gap," with Charles Laughton in his only comedy part as the marvelous American butler, the management is continuing its policy of reviving from time to time pictures of outstanding merit. Those who missed seeing this picture when it was first shown will now have an opportunity to see one of the most hilarious films, in which Mr. Laughton portrays the perfect manservant who is won in a poker game by an American cowboy. His experiences in the wild northwest among the cattlemen, provide some of the funniest scenes ever seen on the screen and at the same time moments of deep pathos. Mr. Laughton's portrayal of the American valet is a marvel of comedy skill and sympathetic feeling. The cast includes Mary Boland, Charles Ruggles, Zasu Pitts and Roland Young. Among the unusual short subjects in the program is a particularly interesting one of seals in Alaska in their mating season. "Crime and Punishment," the French film made from the famous Dostoevski novel, is considered by all critics as far superior to the American production of the same story. It is at the same time a psychological study of a criminal and a keen story of the unraveling of a crime by a prefect of police whose obvious stupidity is only a blind for a sharp and cunning intelligent. Plentiful English titles make the story clearly understood by those not familiar with French. A Silly Symphony completes the program.

Selecting Indian Chiefs
 In some tribes, such as the Iroquois and some Pueblo tribes, certain chieftaincies were always selected from a particular clan. While there were hereditary chieftaincies among certain other groups, as a matter of practice such offices were usually elective. It is possible that the political system of the Iroquois influenced the democratic style of government of the United States. Probably the only example in North America of a power analogous to that of a despot was to be found among the Natchez and neighboring tribes of the lower Mississippi. In this instance submission to the will of the chief was for the most part voluntary and based on reli-

Invented Road Paving
 Macadamizing was new to the western country back in 1837. The paving scheme was the invention of old John Loudon MacAdam, born in Ayr, Scotland, in 1756. He came to America in 1770, but returned to Scotland in 1783, where he began experiments with building roads of crushed stone. So successful was his scheme that parliament voted him 10,000 pounds for his work.

Bacon for Couples
 The prior and convent at Dunmow, England, was obliged, for many years, by its charter, to give a fitch of bacon to any man who, coming with his wife, should affirm, both of them, that they had been married a year and neither at any time regretted marrying.
