War With Spain Aided Hawaii

The United States' war with Spain in 1898 ended five years of procrastination in negotiations between the Republic of Hawaii and Washington. From Manila bay a telegram was flashed by Commodore George Dewey, "Send troops." The long journey of troopships from San Francisco to the Philippine islands commenced. A rest point en route was vital. The Hawaiian islands' long standing request for entry into the nation was swiftly consummated by joint resolution of congress.

Congress—And Its Responsibilities

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Recent events at Washington indicate a renewed and encouraging recognition of our American demand for Government by the People.

For within the past few weeks many members of Congress have shown a fresh sense of responsibility to the great body of American citizens whom they were elected to represent.

Measures deeply affecting our form of government and our methods of life have received careful consideration and serious discussion in Congressional halls—in marked contrast to earlier habits of rush and jam.

The voice of the public—as expressed in the press and in appeals to individual members—has been heeded to a degree too seldom attained during the past few years.

The wishes of constituents have, in a number of recent cases, made their influence felt over the insistent voice of expediency.

All this is cheering to American citizens who regard Congress as their voice in government. And, undoubtedly, the names of those members who showed their sense of responsibility to the men and women they represent will be remembered at the polling places.

Blind and unquestioning enactment of measures prepared and written by heads of appointed boards, bureaus, and commissions to perpetuate their own temporary power, constitutes, in fact, a surrender of the authority vested in the American citizen through the principle of representation.

Careful and considered legislation enacted by a Congress elected under the provisions of our fundamental law, constitutes the American method of Government by the People.

37 Cases On Relief Here

It has been reported through the office of the First Selectmen that at the beginning of the month of September, 39 cases were on town aid. During the month 4 cases were dropped and two were added thus making at the end of the month a total of 37 cases.

Of these thirty-seven cases, 19 are receiving full relief; 8 supplementary aid to private employment, 5 W. P. A. earnings; 3 Old Age Assistance and 2 other State Funds.

The total amount of money expended for these cases, including hospitalization and Children's Community Center is $870.84.

New Deacon

Mr. Winchester Monro Andrews has recently been appointed to the Board of Deacons of the Old Stone Church.

Plans are being arranged to open all dead-end streets in East Haven through the facilities of W. P. A. labor, the first of which will be Leonard street, located off Bradley Avenue between Main and Tyler streets, and scheduled to be started Tuesday, October 26. Lines for the project have already been laid out by Town Engineer, Charles H. Miller.

The project will constitute lowering the grade of Leonard street about 12 inches for a length of 840 lineal feet, which will be graded with cinders and screenings. It will be rolled to a hard surface in the spring by the town, and will be maintained by the Town Public Works.

The entire cost of the project will amount to $4,302.40, of which the Federal Government will supply $2942.40 and the Town, $1,378.00.

This street is not being used at present, but when completed it will provide a route from Gerrish Avenue to the new high school, thus keeping the children off Main street where vehicle traffic is heavy.

Momauguin Jetty Washes Away

The new jetty being constructed at Momauguin by W. P. A. labor, met its doom last Wednesday, at which time it was washed away due to a southeaster, leaving only the stone foundation.

A cottage, owned by Mr. Ira Wildman was also washed from its foundation, along with eight porches from the various cottages along the shore which were ripped away.

The damage is estimated at $6,000, and extends from East Cossey Beach to Baldwin's.

APPOINTMENT

Mr. John Mele will succeed Mr. Harry Viola as W. P. A. sponsor; Mr. Charles H. Miller was appointed Town Engineer; Mr. Lyman Goodrich will fill Mr. William Jaspers place on the Board of Finance and Mr. Frank Hartman was made bookkeeper.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits have been granted to Marion Dumond for a garage in Strong Street at a cost of $50, and to Mr. H. Weideman for a shore cottage in Meadow street at $1,300.

ASSESSORS MEET

The Board of Assessors will meet Tuesday and Saturday during the remainder of October for the purpose of receiving tax lists on live stock and store fixtures. This is the first year that people will not have to swear in their taxes on real estate.

Coins Long in Use

No one knows exactly how long coins have been used. It is thought they were invented in Lydia in Asia Minor about the Sixth century, B. C. Their value then depended on weight, but the value was not stamped on. Ancients determined how much a coin would purchase by weighing it. It was the Greeks who first stamped values on coins.

Next week, THE EAST HAVEN CITIZEN will launch its Subscription Drive.

THE CITIZEN has been given to the public of East Haven free of charge since it was founded on February 26, 1937. If a newspaper is to thrive, it must have the co-operation of the people and we trust that this cooperation will be given.

The following adage by Mr. J. M. Bailey, in the Danbury News-Times, Danbury, Connecticut, reads as follows: "I prefer that the files of the News should be a chronicle of the good deeds of my own townsmen rather than a record of their weaknesses and follies."

THE CITIZEN has adopted this idea as its creed and at all times endeavors to publish clean, live news omitting that which is detrimental to the citizens of East Haven, and that which taints of "yellow journalism."

THE PEARL OF THE EAST

by Arthur L. Griffiths, M.A., Yale

There was the situation, the two armies stood facing each other, the American inside of the Filipino. It was difficult for the natives to understand why their former friends and allies should turn to prevent them from getting the reward for which they had fought side by side with the new United States volunteers. There, quiet for a time, the two armies stood face to face.

It is very little known that the Filipino army, entirely volunteer, was never paid a cent for their services. They armed themselves, clothed themselves, fed themselves and, when necessary, furnished ponies for themselves. There are no native horses in the Philippines. They are all ponies-Andalusian ponies. The cavalry of the Filipino army was called "The Mosquito Fleet."

There stands in the outskirts of Manila, in the Malate district, a bridge. Just beyond it was a Chinese restaurant where I frequently ate. The bridge divided the two armies and sentries of both armies paced that bridge. The tension became unbearable and a Filipino officer thought he would advance toward the American in a spirit of braggadocio. As he approached the middle of the bridge, the American sentry cried out, "Halt!" The Filipino did not stop until he was shot and fell dead. Fire at once broke out from the Filipino army upon the American. The truly terrible Philippine insurrection had begun. Malate bridge was the Fort Sumter of that war.

What's What In BUILDING CONSTRUCTION

An open forum for the discussion and explanation of construction and material problems
By Walter R. Shiner

SUPERVISING SMALL HOME CONSTRUCTION
The "Breaker" type of panel board is now in vogue doing away with the trouble caused by fuse blow outs. We can now laugh when we look back and think of the days when we were groping around in the dark looking for a new fuse, trying all the old ones found around the top of the panel, etc.

Residence jobs are usually wired in BX cable, called armored cable by the trade, although a high class job is sometimes done in metal conduit. Conduit is not necessary, however, in the small house job and is too expensive. The flexible cable can be readily snaked around between joists and studs and makes a very reliable job. Sometimes a careless carpenter will drive a nail through the cable resulting in a short circuit which is sometimes difficult to locate. Usually it lets you know where it is and sometimes causes considerable damage. It is advisable to have plugs in every available wall space as otherwise the plug will always be just where you don't want it which always means adding them afterward at more expense. Wiring is about the cheapest thing you have in the house in relation to its worth to you in comfort and the additional expense of a few extra plugs put in when the work is being done is really very small.

Made and directed by Ernest Hemingway, who is also the commentator, the picture boasts such well known literary co-producers as John DosPassos, Archibald MacLeish and Lillian Hellman. Joris Ivens was responsible for the photography which is extraordinarily fine. Coming at this time when the world's eyes are focussed on Spain, this authentic documentary account of what is really happening in Spain should be of tremendous interest to all who are interested in the making of history.

WHY ARE YOU SICK?

Do not continue to make the mistake of looking outside the cause of your ailment. Others eat the same kind of food, work just as hard, breathe as many germs and yet are healthy. This proves the cause of your trouble is inside your body.

When you consider that every organ of your body is governed by nerves it's easy to understand how pressures will stop circulation and cause weak and ailing parts (sickness). Dr. Hamilton's Chiropractic treatments removes annoying pressures. Then your energy can reach affected organs. This will bring you back to permanent health. The dangerous symptoms of pain, weakness and nervousness will soon disappear.

Dr. Hamilton, who has practiced this Drugless method for 25 years, will gladly consult with you about your case. His fees are very reasonable and within your means. Office, Chapel and Dwight Sts., New Haven. Phone 5-1927.
