November 24 was set as the date for receiving the teachers' committee.

State of Connecticut
By His Excellency ROBERT A. HURLEY,
Governor: a

PROCLAMATION

In keeping with a tradition handed down across three hundred Connecticut years, I appoint Thursday, the twentieth day of November, as a day of public

THANKSGIVING

On that day let us return thanks in our homes and churches, by prayer and by feasting, not alone for our many material blessings nor yet for our present immunity from the anguish of other lands. Let us be grateful also for those gifts of the mind and spirit in which the people of every land may share: for love that smiles in the face of hatred, for courage that grows in the midst of fear, and for that deathless devotion to liberty and justice and truth before which no tyranny can long endure. Let us be proud of the many heroic souls who are now tending the watch-fires of freedom throughout this windy world. Let us be glad that our own lives have fallen in a time of supreme danger, so that each of us may find his place in the partnership of toil and the brotherhood of pain. And let us be thankful above all that our country is now returning to that deep and simple faith in the Heavenly Guidance out of which our beautiful custom of Thanksgiving first grew.

Given under my hand and seal of the State at the Capitol, in Hartford, this tenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-one and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and sixty-sixth.

ROBERT A. HURLEY
By His Excellency's Command:
CHASE GOING WOODHOUSE
Secretary.

Christmas Seals Have Arrived

Branford today received its allotment of Seals, posters and placards which every year arrive from headquarters for the Christmas Seal Sale in the drive against tuberculosis.

This small Christmas Seal which, it has been said, is as insignificant as a diamond, furnishes the means to carry on education work against tuberculosis in all parts of the United States and in its territories.

Committee headquarters will be the scene of intense activity from now until Nov. 24 when sale opens, Chairman Mrs. Robert Williams said.

The Seal this year is distinctive in color and design and should be much sought after as a real Christmas decoration.

"For more than a quarter of a century these Seals have helped cut the death from tuberculosis steadily and unflatteringly."

Mrs. Thomas Mellon and Miss Mae Murphy will undertake the public relations work with the school children.

Country Cynical Speaker Informs Branford Rotary

"In preparedness there is nothing to lose and everything to gain," Miss Evelyn Blewett, educational counsel told Rotarians Monday noon at the Congregational Church. "But," she stressed, "we must learn to distinguish legitimate defense work from illegitimate." She said that there exists a strong feeling of skepticism and that individual interests and community opinions must be directed toward the highest order of leadership if we are to meet post-war situations successfully.

Thirty-six attended the meeting, including the following visiting Rotarians: F. W. Diehl of East Haven, R. D. Case, Arthur Hall and H. L. Philo, all of the New Haven club. Harry H. Johnson was elected sergeant-at-arms to fill out the term of Fred P. Bliker, resigned.

Francis O'Neill Buried Monday

The death of Francis M. O'Neill of Harrison Avenue occurred Friday in New Haven Hospital following a brief illness. He was born in Branford, a son of Michael O'Neill and Mary Ahern. He spent all his life in this community of which he was a well known and respected citizen.

He leaves three brothers, John, Charles and Joseph; and two sisters, Florence and Kathryn, all of Branford.

Funeral services were held from the mortuary home of W. S. Clancy & Sons at 8:30 Monday morning, with requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. The burial was in St. Agnes Cemetery.

Mrs. J. J. Collins was organist and James E. Cosgrove, vocal soloist, rendered "Mother of Christ." A delegation from Eldorado Council, K. of C., attended in a body. The bearers were Joseph H. Driscoll, John E. Donnelly, P. H. Dunn, F. Lee McGrath, William O'Neill and Joseph Norris, all of this town.

K of C GIVES FLAG

Eldorado Council 10, Knights of Columbus, presented an American flag to St. Mary's Church Sunday morning. After the presentation, the flag was blessed, followed by a sermon, Litany of the Dead and Benediction. Mrs. J. J. Collins, organist, was in charge of the musical program. Delegations were present from the Spanish-American War Veterans and Auxiliary, Corcoran-Sundquist Post, American Legion and Auxiliary, State Guard and Color Guard from the John-Barry Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus.

The Pilgrim Brotherhood will hold its annual supper and Ladies' Night November 25 in the Congregational Church dining room. The speaker will be Dr. Henry Smith Leiper, American secretary of the World Council of Churches.

Dr. Henry Smith Leiper, D. D., outstanding world church leader, is to speak at the Pilgrim Brotherhood ladies' night banquet Tuesday evening, Nov. 25, in the First Congregational Church. Tickets for the banquet should be secured in advance, but any who cannot come to the supper are cordially invited for the address. The public is welcome.

Dr. Leiper is foreign secretary of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, and secretary in America for the Provisional Committee of the World Council of Churches. The son of a home missionary, he spent his earliest years among the American Indians of the Southwest. He was educated at Maryville College, Amherst, Columbia, Union Seminary, and the School of Chinese Studies, Peking. For four years he was educational secretary of the Congregational Commission on Missions. His great uncle wrote the hymn, "America"; another ancestor built the first railroad line in America.

Dr. Leiper has touched life at many points, and in many parts of the world, having been a traveling secretary of the Y.M.C.A.; a war relief worker in Siberia; an educator in China; an editor; the author of several important books; a specialist on race relations; an international peace delegate from China to Japan; and a pastor with wide sympathies and personal contacts throughout the Orient, Europe and America. He has a genius for friendship and his personal acquaintance among leaders in many lands is surprisingly large, including as it does scores of the world's outstanding figures in governmental, educational, and church circles. His background of world travel, international personal contacts and his comprehensive information on such subjects as world peace and racial and cultural relations make him a fascinating speaker.

Until the war, Dr. Leiper spent part of each year in Europe. He has interviewed leaders in the German Church after Hitler's rise. In 1937 he attended the two world conferences in Oxford and Edinburgh, and in 1938 the conference at Utrecht, Holland, where the constitution of the World Council of Churches was drafted. He was a secretary of the 1939 Geneva Conference called to discuss wartime task of the churches, leaving France the day before general mobilization.

Dr. Leiper's major work is in the world movement for a just peace and Christian unity. The Universal Christian Council includes practically all Christian Churches save Rome and has its principal office in Geneva. It brings into personal fellowship and co-operation the outstanding leaders of the churches around the world.

Tickets may be secured from Sidney V. Osborn, Sal A. Petrillo, H. G. Baldwin, Oswin H. Robinson, Stanley Schmid, William E. Hitchcock, Jr., and Peter Witkowski.

An 'All-American' Thanksgiving

No holiday celebrated within the boundaries of these United States is so typically American as Thanksgiving. So closely is it tied to home, that the average American heart, as Thanksgiving approaches, becomes as full and overflowing as the harvest of the holiday communitaries.

DIARY of a BEAUTY AUTHORITY

by Helena Rubinstein

A young girl with a bad acne condition came to me today and asked me to help her. She has been trying to find a job as a private secretary, and although many of her letters have received encouraging replies, she has always refused after a personal interview. "It's my skin, I know," she said miserably. "I don't know what to do about it. I had a perfect skin till I was about 13, and then I began to develop these blemishes. Mother Rouge and lipstick, too, should be selected with an eye toward suppleness, and that I'd outgrow it. But I haven't outgrown it and I doubt if I ever shall."

Her plea is no different from hundreds of others that come to me every day. My desk is piled high with letters from boys and girls in their teens who don't know what to do about the ugly blemishes that are marring their fresh youthful faces. It is a real tragedy to them, for they feel so entirely out of things. They cannot have fun at parties; they are maladjusted at school. Or, as in the case of the young girl who came to me today, they find that a bad skin prevents them from obtaining a job.

The treatment for adolescent skin is really quite simple and there is no reason why any boy or girl should suffer from a blemished skin at this important life. I suggested the following program of care of the young girl who has found it impossible to get a job, and if she follows it faithfully, she will have no trouble finding a job within or without a year.

First of all, I told her to keep her skin scrupulously clean. At least once a day, I advise her, to wash your face with a grainy washing preparation which will provide some friction for your skin. Make this your basic daily wash. Then, in the morning and evening, use a rich concentrated cream to cleanse and lubricate your skin. Blend the cream into your complexion with firm, upward strokes following the youthful muscle structure of your face. Before going to bed, apply a medicated cream and leave it on overnight. One thing many teenagers overlook is the importance of using make-up that is absolutely pure and carefully selected according to the type of skin—a special powder should be used for dry and for oily skin. A make-up film or a lotion should be selected with an eye toward suppleness, and that I'd outgrow it. But I haven't outgrown it and I doubt if I ever shall."

Finally, the following rules should be observed: Avoid touching the face with fingers while treating the skin. Use cotton for powdering the face, discarding the cotton used after each application. Cleanse face thoroughly before applying make-up. Give hair and scalp proper attention, since falling dandruff aggravates the condition. Drink plenty of water. Avoid rich foods.

BURNING LEAVES

The smoke drifts up from the dreaming, dusky streets as you turn in at blue twilight. Burning autumn leaves send their pungent perfume through the tents of the elm look of the country, with its lanes for whistling or meditation, its quiet pools for idling and reflection.

THE AMERICAN STORY

Much of the talk nowadays is of the commodity shortage as a result of war priorities. In a world at war, military needs necessarily come first and civilian needs second.

CROSS-ROAD

Organized labor in America is "no longer in swaddling clothes." In those words Secretary of Labor Perkins recently stated the fact that labor leaders would do well to recognize. For labor has grown up. And the time has come for it to act as though it has.

SHORT BEACH ROAD

In response to a request from Mr. Carpenter regarding the rebuilding of the Short Beach road on the Branford side, Mr. Cox, the State Highway Commissioner, replied that it was the intention of the department to let the bid for the road in the spring. This improvement is greatly needed, and has been long delayed.

CLUB LOSES GROUNDS

There is somewhere about these parts a son of Cush who should be very proud of himself. On property given to the use of the various rod and gun clubs about this sector, a dog has been slain.

The dog was the property of the owner of the devoted land. It was a beagle hound, the gift of sons to their father.

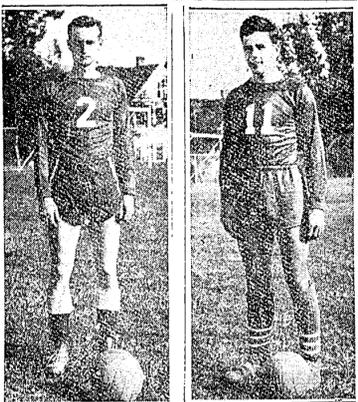

Anyone who has seen this type of a dog knows full well that a beagle will harm no one. It is our belief that it is one of God's gentlest creatures certainly one of his most faithful.

Victim of the scattered shot of a shotgun. Not even given a sporting chance the dog was literally blown apart.

Now there is no dog. The father has no birthday present and the rod and gun clubs lack another high hunting ground.

Romping these parts there is a hunter who calls himself a Nimrod, a son of Cush.

I know the name given to a dog upon his birth, I have another dog for that shareholder.

Thanksgiving Clash at Milford; Smokies Scheduled For Sunday

Wetened Seeking Revenge Win Over Wheelclubbers and Bid Fair To Gain It With The Team In First Class Shape—Cheshire Game Might Possibly Be Played At Hammer Field.

The Rams take to the road both Thursday and Sunday of this week to meet the Milford Wheel Club and the New Haven Smokies in regularly scheduled contests of the Southern Connecticut Football League.

In the first game on Thanksgiving Day the locals will be out to wipe out the stigma of defeat which the former team placed on them in their game at Branford earlier in the season.

The Milford combine has one of the state's finest backs in Perry, a real threat at any time.

To offset this particular danger, Coach Wetened of the Rams can back-throw with two complete backfield to the end squad, Faginiski, Barba, Torelli, Williams, Panaroni and Pesca.

Bolestering this group with the classy Branford line which has not been outplayed this season.

A big bid in the Branford attack will be the addition of Eddie Gatavaski to the end squad. Eddie played exceptionally fine ball for the local high school just past and now will devote his gridiron energies to the Rams. Eddie is known for his brilliant pass receiving, a forte which will aid the locals no end.

The remained of the line will remain the same with the starting seven men being the same as have started in previous contests. Ward and Hyminski and the court group previously known as the Devils now becomes the Branford Sportsmen.

But for months now Martin has been pushing basketball. He now feels that with the addition of "Pop" Duell and "Stan" Petela to the local lineup he has the unit which is going to click for the fans.

Petela and Duell are both All-State forward selections. He has "Lout" Desl at center, "Vic" Lukawsky and "Mink" Swinski at guards. In addition Paul Ward, "Bully" Proto, "Joe" Resjan and "Billy" Panaroni complete the squad.

B. H. S. Battered By Westport In Final Grid Loss

Silenced for another season are the sound of the cleats on the Branford High School's playing surface and in rather a dismal way for Branford lost its last game of the season to a small but amazing Staples High School at Westport last Saturday afternoon by the top heavy score of 37 to 0.

Branford had its share of breaks throughout the game but failed to capitalize on them. For the latter the home team ran roughshod over the Branfordites who had on the heels of a tough session with Milford High School the week before lacked the stamina to break down the Westport resistance.

For all of that the Branford boys played good football. Petela was away twice for substantial gains and his running mate Billy Fortune likewise made his farewell to scholastic football a noteworthy if futile one. In a similar valiant performance Eddie Gatavaski was excellent. In fact all the boys were good.

Substitutes and still more substitutes for local navigators when charges. And good quarterbacking and nifty execution piled the score to extreme proportions.

Rams Impressive In Scoreless Tie With Hill Eleven

The New Haven Triangles had a season's record broken last Sunday afternoon at Hammer Field when the Branford Rams held the highly touted Hill club to a 0 to 0 score.

The fact that Branford held them is not as significant as the fact that the Rams completely outplayed the visitors and should have edged the Reillymen out in the final accounting.

For the entire first half and the major part of the second the Branford attack functioned right around the invaders. The finest runs and the best line bucking were easily on the side of the Rams. Only Leonard was able to dent the Rams' line at any point.

But Branford had the finest back on the field in Paroniski. Smart, expert and possessing terrific running power the former Branford High star was all that could be asked of him. Panaroni's great run of 45 yards was another masterpiece of broken field scampering.

The entire Branford line more than outmanned the supposedly invincible Triangles and Matson's great leadership in critical moments endeared him to the hearts of all the fans.

Barba's magnificent kicks against strong wind set back the Reillymen in more than one instance and only the fact that the locals were not as well drilled as the visitors marred scoring chances.

The entire game was played evenly and hard. But for all the

Martin's Devils Open Season Vs. St. Mike's Five

Eddie Martin's Blue Devils will open the local court season at New Haven, Thursday night when they oppose the St. Mike's in what promises to be a red hot basket shooting session.

In a way it is wrong to call them the Blue Devils for Martin has finally found a sponsor in Dave Hyminski and the court group previously known as the Devils now becomes the Branford Sportsmen.

But for months now Martin has been pushing basketball. He now feels that with the addition of "Pop" Duell and "Stan" Petela to the local lineup he has the unit which is going to click for the fans.

COMMENT on SPORTS

There are a great many of us fellows in Branford who would make ideal Monday morning quarterbacks. In fact, I might say we are Monday morning quarterbacks. We watch the local back calls and if they fail we feel swell and if they succeed we feel swell and if they fail we think it our prerogative to beate the referee.

Well, most of us pay our way in and for that reason have the right to call them as we see them and even call the officials bums, if we feel like it.

But that is aside from this story.

For weeks now I have been ripping the various quarterbacks, throughout the nation, wide apart for their cholests, good or bad, on previous plays which in addition to the Branford Rams of course.

But in these cases it is water off a duck's back. Branford is completely at my mercy. And at the mercy of most of the rest of you, I know not presume.

New story reverts to Sunday's fracas with the Now Haven Triangles.

In a normal blackboard drill the coach will ask what play to use in a given instance. For example, it is fourth down and five to go. Your ball on the visitors' twenty. What is your choice of a play?

Well, the Branford quarterback yard line. Two minutes to play, called Williams on an off tackle play. Proceeded by Barba and Paroniski through the line behind the strong Matson, Rank, Pope and Furtak combination that play had the best chance of succeeding. In fact as the previous play was a pass which had forced the opposing backfield to play away from the line of scrimmage.

The Branford quarterback felt that it was not a desperation play, but rather one of a sequence. He had used Paroniski into the center of the line of the two previous plays and although the big fullback had gained, the big Triangles line was converging on that point which he had previously found vulnerable.

For that reason Barba made a good choice. The play failed by an eyelash when Williams was tackled practically by his toenails.

For one, comment Barba's reasoning. For the reason and because he was over-eager, feels that he is right. I like him as a quarterback.

But next Friday and again next Monday Barba may feel the sting of another verbal lashing or the pointed barbs of the sharpened words of the big line.

For I stand on my rights as an American for the right of free speech and a free press.

Well, the Branford quarterback morning quarterback.

DEMOCRACY BEGINS AT HOME

Job he's doing; the place he starts from in the morning and returns to at night. It's a good home—comfortable well managed, congenial—he is sure to do a better job than if it was home that poorly equipped and carelessly run.

So, you see, back of the flood of armaments that are being turned out in America today—back, too, of the training camps and our growing army—are the homes of the nation—yours mine and millions of others in towns and cities and country places from coast to coast.

This is as it should be, because, in the last analysis, it's the homes of the country we're aiming to defend. If we thought—as we should—perfectly safe today there'd be no reason for spending all this time and effort.... All these billions of dollars going into guns and ships and planes which are no use to us in ordinary every-day life. We'd spend our time and money making things for our homes—as we should—when this emergency is over.

Meanwhile, the job of the great majority of the women of the country is to make a home—a place of refuge in a trouble world. To keep them cheerful—comfortable—congenial and see that each one is a little better off than when the family lives together in freedom yet with respect for the rights of each individual.

It is possible for every woman to have the greatest best equipped army in the world and still lose our traditional American freedom of speech—worship—and enterprise. But not if we women keep freedoms alive and respected within our own domain—our home!

Brian Donlevy, Mary Martin and Bing Crosby in "The Birth of the Blues," opening at the Paramount Theatre Thanksgiving Eve at 11:30 P. M.

On the stage of the State Theatre, Hartford, this Thursday (Thanksgiving Day), November 20, for one day only, is the time of them all, Jan Savitt and his "Top Hatters" Orchestra, featuring the charming vocalist, Ruth Robin and Bon Bon, who presents his own brand of "Entertainment De Luxe." Extra added are The Burns Twins and Evelyn in a topsy-turvy treat; Jean Carroll and Buddy Howe in the comedy-louche and pretentious and yet so smart "To Be Dumb"; and Ben Yost's sacket-sensation, "The Minc Men." All in Person. A first class program of outstanding merit completes this grand holiday bill. Remember, Jan Savitt's engagement is limited to one (1) day only—Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) Nov. 20th.

And then starting this week Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 21-22-23 for 3 days only, is "The Rhumba King," Xavier Cugat and his orchestra. You thrill to the fascinating rhythm of this popular maestro who made Manhattan Latin with his South American Sway. The fame of his enchanting music has spread from coast-to-coast. Xavier Cugat comes to the stage of the State Theatre, Hartford, direct from the Waldorf-Astoria where he was the outstanding attraction for 9 seasons. Listen to the sensational symphony of Xavier Cugat and his Orchestra, Carmen Castillo, and Lina Romay. Extra added on the bill with Xavier Cugat are Raul and Eva Reyes, "Cuba No. 1 Dance Team," and the Ken Christy Choir featured on the Camel Caravan Radio Program.

Birth of the Blues, Jive Saga, Opens Thanksgiving Eve At The Paramount

One of the most colorful periods in American jazz history, those days when that exciting new rhythm called blues music came crashing out of Basin Street and Beale Street and started the country dancing with new spirit, will be depicted for local navigators when Paramount's musical milestones, "Birth of the Blues," arrives at the Paramount, Thanksgiving Eve at 11:30 p.m.

Topped by a cast including Bing Crosby, Mary Martin, Brian Donlevy, Carolyn Lee, Jack Tigar and his orchestra, and Rochester. "Birth of the Blues" was directed by Victor Schertzinger, who in past films had demonstrated his brilliance as a director of musicals. You will remember the comedy "Intense" which happy musical film frolics as "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," "Road to Singapore," and "Road to Zanzibar."

With 15 songs featured, many of them favorite blues numbers, "Birth of the Blues" should be a double live for us film fans. Some of the blues heard in the picture are "St. Louis Blues," "Memphis Blues," and "St. James Infirmary Blues." "Other

YOUR OWN VALUATION

The value that you put on your own valuation. Your body will take you at your own valuation. Your business will take you at your own valuation; for your own value is the value that you really put upon yourself.

"Oh, but," you may say, "that cannot be true, because I know several people who are always boasting and pretending and yet never over take them seriously." Please note that I said the value that you really put upon yourself. That important word makes all the difference in the world. People who boast, bluff and pretend, have really a poor opinion of themselves—of why would they pretend? And it is this poor opinion or sense of inferiority that is demonstrated in the failure that such people always make of their lives.

The man who really believes that his wares are excellent does not dream of lying about them. The man who is satisfied with what he has no incentive to pretend to be something he is not. The man who is conscious of substantial achievement has no desire to boast.

Nature always takes you at your own valuation. Believe you are the child of God—really believe it. Believe that you express Divine Life, Divine Truth, and Divine Love. Believe that Divine Wisdom guides you. Believe that God is your supply. Believe that God is helping and blessing humanity through yourself. Believe that you are a special entrise on the part of God and that He is opening your way—and what you really believe, that you will demonstrate.

THANKSGIVING

In the year 1820 a small ship sailed into Plymouth bay with a band of Pilgrims on board. An agreement was signed before the Pilgrims landed. It said that they would obey the rules that would be made. They landed and made their homes. That winter was a hard one. The Pilgrims gave a great deal of help to the Pilgrims. In the summer of 1821 the Pilgrims planted their harvest and in the fall harvested a beautiful crop. They decided to have a feast to thank God for their harvest. They invited the Indians and to this day we celebrate Thanksgiving in November.

Ready at Windsor Locks Base to Examine Pilot Candidates

At the hospital of the Windsor Locks Air Base, Tuesdays and Thursdays, candidates for Flying Cadet status are being given physical examinations. It is an exacting test that one must pass and nearly half a day is required. Young men are admitted to the examinations by appointment.

As a matter of fact, a candidate for training as a pilot in the Army Air Corps must qualify in three lines. He must meet physical requirements. He must satisfy a board of officers who is flying officer material. He must meet educational standards. If he has not had two or more years of college work, he must pass an examination in seven subjects on the high school level. This examination places its emphasis upon mathematics. A certificate showing two years of college credits exempts one from the mental examination.

The educational examinations are given quarterly, and the November examinations were given on the 12th and the 13th.

Opening of new training fields is permitting the Air Corps to accept an increased number of young men for pilot training. Groups are leaving every few days from the Army Induction Headquarters at 555 Asylum St.

Top picture is that of Lieut. Richard H. Hoffman, Medical Corps officer, who is flight surgeon assigned to the Aviation Cadet Examining Board.

There are jobs in the Air Corps that do not require perfect eyesight, but piloting a plane is not included in the list. Hero (left and right) Lieut. Hoffman finds out if candidate has 20/20 vision and if, in addition, the eyes are in perfect health.

Getting the record of an applicant for pilot-training. Left to right: Lieut. L. R. McGowan, recorder of the Aviation Cadet Examining Board; Lieut. Hoffman, flight surgeon, a candidate and a non-commissioned officer assigned for clerical duty.

If the candidate passes these physical examinations he must convince the board that he has pilot aptitude and that he is officer material. At such sessions Lieut. Col. G. H. Woodward and Lieut. W. C. Clark conduct the examination. Col. Woodward, president of the board, is executive officer of the Air Base and Lieut. Clark is engineer officer.

Talking Turkey

THEY are fattening up right now, and many a gobbler is about to "get it in the neck" for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's dinner.

Don't forget that a fancy bird can be ruined in the cooking. Nothing can give that brown roasted delicate outside crust as well as a gas range roasting oven, with its automatic temperature control. You can't go wrong with a modern gas range for roasting a turkey. And that goes for frying, baking and broiling as well.

See the new gas ranges tomorrow.
