Wardens Hand Out Circulars About Alarms

End of Blackout Will Be Indicated By Turning On Of Street Lights.

Air raid wardens have on hand a quantity of circulars for distribution from the office of the Defense Council explaining the audible signals for blackouts and air raid information for the public of the New Haven area.

This system consists of three signals: 1—Mobilization Signal—This signal will be an up and down sounding of sirens or intermittent sounding of whistles, or the rapid ringing of bells or fire rings, or any or all of these, together, for a period of Two Minutes. The purpose of this signal is to mobilize civilian defense personnel and does not require action by the general public.

2—Blackout and Air Raid Signal—This signal will be an up and down sounding of sirens or intermittent sounding of whistles, or the rapid ringing of bells, or fire rings, or any or all of these, together, for a period of Four Minutes. This signal is the Air Raid Alarm. When it is sounded the public shall seek shelter, traffic shall stop and, if after nightfall, blackout must be effected.

The public can distinguish the Blackout and Air Raid signal from the Mobilization signal in two ways: first, the Blackout and Air Raid Signal will always be the second signal sounded (the mobilization signal will always be sounded first); second, the Blackout and Air Raid Signal will be twice as long (4 minutes) as the Mobilization signal (2 minutes). In addition, if the street lights are on, they will go out upon the sounding of the Blackout and Air Raid Signal.

3—All Clear Signal—This signal will be a steady sounding of sirens or whistles or a slow tolling of bells or a slow sounding of fire rings, or any combination of these for a period of Two Minutes. It signifies that the period of air raid alarm is passed. It does not indicate, however, the end of a blackout. The end of a blackout will be indicated by the turning on of street lights.

Volunteers Aid Board In Fuel Oil Rationing

Dealers Will Apply For Applications And File Them By Friday Night—Most Complex Of Rationing Tasks.

The Branford Rationing Board with the assistance of several volunteer workers has now completed the determination of rations for private dwellings covered by applications received through November 8th. It has started the task of preparing oil coupon sheets and it is hoped that many will be ready for issuance shortly. In general, users of oil fired central heating plants will suffer a reduction from their last year's usage of approximately one-third. In some cases this reduction will be considerably larger and in other cases where the previous year's use was moderate the reduction will be much less.

Users of oil ranges or space heaters in homes where such equipment is the sole means of heating will generally be allotted rations which in many cases will approach ninety percent of their last year's usage. However, OPA regulations provide strict maximums beyond which the Board is not permitted to go. For example, in the case of space heaters, the Board is not permitted to issue basic rations which exceed one and one-tenth gallons per square foot for floor space in excess of 400 square feet regardless of the previous year's usage. Furthermore in homes where space heaters are used to supplement coal furnaces regulations do not permit the Board to issue any ration unless it can be definitely proved that the coal furnace is being used to its maximum efficiency and is still inadequate.

The problem of fuel oil rationing is the most complex of the various rationing jobs thus far but the Board is making every effort to handle the situation with the minimum of annoyance to the applicants and has no intention of disrupting the school schedules by burdening the teachers with this assignment.

Fuel oil dealers are requested to apply at the Office of the Local Board for fuel dealers applications and to fill them out and return them to the Board on, or before Friday night, November 13th.

Railway Office Accepting Tires

The Branford branch has undertaken along with other Railway Express Agencies, the job of receiving the country's excess passenger car tires for delivery to Defense Supplies Corporation warehouses.

Citizens were ordered, as of October 15 to turn over to the Office of Price Administration all tires in addition to the five necessary for minimum operation.

Such tires, and tubes as well, may be deposited with the local office, Montowese Street, between the hours of 9-10:30 in the morning or 4:30-5:30 afternoons. The order applies to casings, not inner tubes, but tubes are acceptable.

It is the expressman's responsibility to give the usual company receipt and also a receipt from the D. S. C., but he does not judge the value, nor pay for the article.

D. S. C. at its 180 warehouses will check and determine values before checks are sent to owners. Payment will be made in cash, government bonds, or war stamps according to preference. Ceilings are set between $1.50 and $1.15 each. Casings unfit for recapping are requested but no payment will be made.

So far, the Montowese Street office states, the number of tires delivered has been small.

It is expected that when the motorist appears for his national gasoline ration card the ration book will be refused unless the applicant certifies that he has no more than five tires per car.

Tenants Asked To Be Patient On Petitions

In order to expedite and facilitate action on the innumerable petitions for adjustment of rents, Anthony F. Arpaia, director of the OPA's New Haven area rent control, today urged both landlords and tenants, more particularly the latter, that every effort be exerted to cooperate with his office, in order that this task may be completed and disposed of with dispatch and speed.

Much importance was placed by Arpaia upon the responsibility resting with tenants in making their replies to their landlords' appeals for rent adjustments. He said that they must be made in writing and in full, and upon the form submitted to them by the rent control office.

Tenants were also urged to cease the practice of making personal appearances at the rent area office to relate their story orally to interviewers, who would be advised filling the form in writing and by the tenants themselves or their agents. This wastes not only the time of the office staff but that of the tenant as well.

Tenants should tell their story in full on the Form 106, and should the space provided prove insufficient to present the complete picture, additional sheets may be appended. In this fashion every fact that should be brought to the examiner's attention will be before him and proper disposal made.

It will spare much time of the tenant, as well as trouble, to say nothing of the efficiency of the office, if tenants in all instances present their claims and replies in writing. If the DD-106 is filled out at home, the tenant exercises caution to include all facts and claims, he or she can save much time by mailing it as soon after receipt as possible.

This procedure has been tested and proven, to be best suited from the point of view of saving time and trouble in finding parking spaces; awaiting turn until an examiner is free to interview; averts confusion that accompanies a crowded office and permits more time to the staff to allow more service and more efficient disposition of the problems at hand.

In no case will petitions be acted upon without notice to either parties involved, whether they are tenants' applications, landlords' petition or action instituted at the director's own initiative.

HE TALKS THROUGH HIS THROAT

It looks like Mary Boland's choker. It's really a new type of microphone for the men of the Armored Force. Easier to slip on than his necktie, the new mike snaps about the tank man's throat, leaving his hands free for action on the controls or machine gun button. Two small "mike buttons" press gently against the column of the throat, pick up the tank commander's words directly from vocal cord vibrations, cutting out all extraneous noises, the roar of motors, the chatter of machine guns, and thus eliminating one of the handicaps to intelligibility in combat communications. Microphones like this, as well as rugged tank radios, are coming off Western Electric assembly lines. On the fighting front they will provide the clear communication between armored units so vital to successful mechanized attack.
