A LOCAL TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Local automobile drivers are not satisfied with the traffic arrangement at Forbes place and the Saltonstall Cut-Off. They will be less satisfied when the summer season gets underway along the Shore Line, and motor travel along Route 1 steps up to the post-war volume anticipated.

Forbes place is the chief entrance and exit for East Haven motorists to and from the Cut-Off. It is the one most often used by the great majority of East Haven drivers going to or coming from New Haven. It has already been the scene of numerous accidents.

There are many drivers who feel that a traffic light should be placed at this very busy turn-off so that drivers may enter Route 1 with some assurance of safety. However, it is against the policy of the State Traffic Commission, we understand, to halt through-traffic in this manner, even though it is true that in the near by town of Guilford there are a string of three such traffic lights at three closely located portals to and from the center of that town.

We believe the State traffic authorities should look into East Haven's needs now, and work out some favorable arrangement at Forbes place at the Cut-Off, even though it means the development of a traffic circle. A town of 10,000 people certainly deserves a better portal to Route 1 than it now has. It should be a "Number 1 must" for the State Traffic Commission and State Highway Department now that the time has come when heavy travel is bringing increased dangers to our people.

ARE THERE TOO MANY FUND DRIVES?

We see by the New Haven press that officials of the Community Chest, which covers the greater New Haven area, have become disturbed because of the increasing number of community campaigns for funds, and fearing that these may react unfavorably on next fall's Community Chest Appeal, have begun to confer upon the problem. The Community Chest was organized after World War I to conduct one big drive annually to take the place of the multitude of lesser campaigns which had arisen. Recent years have seen other campaigns arise, until the wage-earner of the family is finding new and frequent calls for charity funds, and, in some cases, this has become a serious financial matter.

There is no denying the fact that funds are very badly needed for all these causes in which we are so frequently invited to enlist our financial aid. The Christmas seal sale to provide funds for the war against tuberculosis must go on. The Infantile Paralysis fund is one which does untold good not only in our home communities but throughout the nation. The Red Cross campaign needs no apologies. It is imperative. So too is the currently conducted Cancer Campaign, which is receiving such excellent support here. The New Haven-Grace Community Hospital Building Fund, to which we will be asked to contribute in the near future, is surely one to which we cannot turn a deaf ear. And there are other campaigns during the seasons to glean their needed share of dimes and dollars.

Perhaps what we need now is a "Greater Community Chest", one that will combine all of the new drives with the old one and do away with the duplication of effort which these new campaigns have brought about in recent years. Surely one big drive once a year would be better than a lot of little campaigns. But would such a "Greater Community Chest" have enough popular appeal to put over such a gigantic job? Surely this is a problem calling for careful consideration.

THE WEEKLY AS A PUBLIC FORUM

Our readers recall that on previous occasions we have stated that we believe one of the important functions of a weekly community newspaper is to serve as an "Open Forum" in which local issues and controversial subjects may be discussed pro and con. We have at no time deviated from our announced policy of publishing communications, provided they are signed, that they are reasonably brief, that they conform to good taste, and that they do not slander or libel any person or group of persons.

It has come to our attention recently that statements have been heard in certain quarters to the effect that the NEWS had declined to accept and publish communications. This we now take occasion to emphatically deny.

Our columns, as we have stated previously, have been open, are open, and will continue to be open, to the free and open discussion of local topics and issues, by anyone feeling the urge to take pen in hand, and who will live up to our requirements, which we believe are reasonable and fair.

The NEWS, as we have before stated, will have no part in petty politics, nor will it knowingly favor the interests of any individual, group of individuals, party, or party faction. If any there are who desire to buy advertising space that is their business. Advertising space is a commodity which is always for sale, and at a stated and fixed rate.

We want local topics discussed. That is the only way questions can be thrashed out and decisions properly arrived at in a democracy. We believe the weekly newspaper should provide this opportunity. We repeat,—our columns are open and we invite their use.

HIGH SCHOOL HONOR SOCIETY

It has come to our attention that some of our townspeople who were not familiar with certain regulations at our High School, have complained to the school authorities when they have seen certain pupils not at school. For that reason we are writing a few words concerning the National Honor Society, a chapter of which is functioning here.

The National Honor Society is founded on the standards of Character, Scholarship, Leadership and Service. Each student selected to join, and there are few who gain this coveted recognition, is judged by these standards. Having proven them selves, they are given two privileges, the ONLY privileges which are given to the society. Whenever they have free time, and they may also leave the building. The members may leave their study halls and walk in the corridors and grounds.

It was because some townspeople did not understand why students were not in school that the complaints were made. Students are allowed to leave the school during school hours ONLY if they are members of the National Honor Society. While these students are in public they are expected to conduct themselves with decorum. The High school recognizes this privilege. We hope that the townspeople will understand in the future.

Rules For Fishing At Lake Saltonstall

Water Company Opens Lake To Public For First Time Since Peal Harbor.—Permits May Be Had Week In Advance.

Good news to East Havensers came from the officers of the New Haven Water Company a week ago that Lake Saltonstall would be open for fishing this season from May 6 to August 31. This is the first time since before the war that the lake has been opened to the public, and according to all reports, some mighty fine fishing is in prospect. Lake Saltonstall being considered one of the best fresh water fishing places in Southern Connecticut.

We asked Mr. White of the Water Company for some information as to the regulations covering the use of the lake this season and he told us that the rules will include:

Hours 7 A. M. to 6 P. M. on the date shown on permits issued.

Before a permit is issued the applicant must show at the window of the Water company office on Crown street in New Haven his State Fishing License.

On arrival at the Lake the applicants must show their state licenses to the watchman at the Lake.

Permits will not be issued more than a week in advance of the date that permit is for.

Permits will be issued for two consecutive days.

No permit will be issued for Sundays or Holidays.

A wife applying for a permit may also sign for her husband.

Permits will not be issued to women who do not have a State Fishing License. They must be accompanied by someone having a State License and who takes them on his or her permit.

Children under 16 years of age will not be given permits. They must be accompanied by an adult who has a State License and who assumes responsibility for them.

The boats at the lake, which have been unused since 1941 are now being overhauled and some of them will be ready for use when the lake opens. All who use the lake must obey all regulations concerning lakes which are used as public water supplies.

Five Boys Will Go From E. H. To Boy's State

Five boys from East Haven High school, chosen by the Principal from the Sophomore and Junior classes, will go to the Connecticut State College at Storrs, the last week in June, where they will participate in the Boy's State program. The Boy's State is sponsored annually by the Connecticut State Department of the American Legion.

Harry R. Bartlett post will sponsor the expenses of three boys, the Last Survivors' Club of the Post will sponsor one boy, and the Rotary club has made arrangements to sponsor the other. There is a possibility that one of the other organizations of the town will make it possible for a sixth East Haven boy to attend.

The program, a very worthwhile one, has been conducted for several years. During the week that the boys are at Storrs they organize along the lines of the state government and conduct meetings and other activities as a means of promoting good government, democracy and civics.

Fine Program Is Enjoyed By Democrats

East Haven's newly elected Democratic Town Committee and guests to the number of nearly 75 enjoyed a steak dinner and program of speaking and entertainment Tuesday night in Fred's Main street Restaurant. Town Chairman James Garland as toastmaster introduced the speakers who included Congressman Geelan, John McGuire of Wallingford, chairman of the State Central Committee, Cornelius Driscoll of Branford State central committeeman from the 12th District, Mrs. Jeremiah Shea, state central committee woman, and Town Chairman John Mastrianni of North Haven.

Ben. Hendricks provided a gala program of entertainment including song and dance numbers, with Billy Ginet, "Shine" Moore, Ed. Victor and others talented entertainers participating.

Unity in Democratic organization and furtherance of the party's program was the keynote of the speaking program.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner was made up of Frank Clancy, Sal Longobardi and William Gardner.

Candidate For Great Junior Sagamore

HARRY McLAY

Pequot Tribe No. 71, Improved Order of Red Men of East Haven Conn., has voted to put Past Sachem Harry McLAY up for candidate for Great Junior Sagamore of the Great Council of Connecticut.

He is very deserving of this office for the work he has done in his own tribe building it from a small tribe to one of the fast growing tribes in the State. At present he is on the Sports Activities Committee for the Great Council of Connecticut. He has a host of friends throughout the State as well as out-of-State too.

Delegates to the Great Council of Connecticut convention to be held in Bridgeport in May are asked to support Past Sachem Harry McLAY.

Huge Reo Sign To Be Placed At Junction

Work has been started on a huge sign-board to be erected by Reo Motors Inc. at the junction of Main street and Saltonstall Parkway, near Lake Saltonstall, directing attention to the Reo State Factory Branch at 104 Main street. The sign will be seen by thousands of motorists daily passing through on Route 1.

Randall Richards, manager of the branch here said that the big billboard will be of attractive design and illustrate one of the new Reo trucks driving along the highway. It will call attention to the fact that the State Factory Branch of Reo Motors is situated in East Haven center. The sign will stand 12 feet high and extend a distance of approximately 50 feet, making it one of the largest hereabouts.

The sign will, undoubtedly, add much to the general appearance of the junction, being situated on the triangular piece of ground adjacent to the Old Mill Antique Shop, the

Work Starts On $72,000 Road To Momauguin

Equipment of the D. V. Frone Co., contractors of New Haven, wheeled into position Monday and began work on the new macadam highway to Momauguin, which will be built with State funds at a cost of $72,000.

The project was to have gotten underway four years ago, but was halted at that time because of wartime restrictions which prohibited construction work of that kind. The road has been in a deplorable condition for a long time, the present pavement having originally been constructed 25 years ago.

First job undertaken by the workmen was the removal of the overhead trolley wires, and the cutting up of the street car rails. The Connecticut company is replacing its street car line to Momauguin with busses, and these started operation this week.

The road cost $35,000 when it was built 25 years ago, and the funds were raised by a town bond issue. The cost now is more than twice as much, which is evidence of the tremendous increase in the cost of labor and materials in a quarter century.

The new pavement will be ready for use by early summer, officials said.

Rug Cleaning An Interesting Process

Marvin E. Linsley Has Conducted Business Here Since April 1919.

On a slightly hillside, just off Laurel street, where the workshop windows have a commanding view of East Haven and the blue waters of Long Island Sound in the far distance, Marvin E. Linsley, proprietor of the Ace Rug company, 111 Laurel street, has been cleaning rugs for the past twenty-seven years. He began work on the present location, and in a very small way in April, 1919, and today people from all parts of Southern Connecticut bring their rugs to his establishment for careful and painstaking cleaning.

We visited for awhile Saturday afternoon with Mr. Linsley and met his son in law, Robert Whiffen, who returned in February from service in the Navy, and is now associated with Mr. Linsley in the expanding business. We watched with interest while an enormous rug was being given "the works".

The plant is one of the best equipped in this area, and some of the machinery is of Mr. Linsley's own development during the years. Especially serviceable is his device for cleaning hooked rugs. This contrivance handles the hooked rugs with the carefulness they deserve and insures their restoration to usefulness without the damage which sometimes is noted in commercial establishments.

Editors Note: Believing that our many readers will be pleased to learn about some of the interesting business enterprises of East Haven, we are planning to present from time to time write-ups about what our business establishments are doing. This is the first in the Series.

There are two devices which handle the rugs, depending upon their kind, whether oriental or the domestic variety. One of these is a beater which automatically does the usual back-breaking job of removing the dust and heavy dirt, which has to be removed before the real cleaning process gets underway. The other machine is a rotary tumbler, which is also operated automatically, and which sends the rug into rapid revolutions sending the dirt and dust flying into a collector.

Next the rug is laid out on the floor and the final cleaning process begins. A rotary scrubber goes over every inch of the rug scrubbing in the cleaning fluids and scrubbing out the dirt. The rug is then treated specially for stain-removal, rinsed under pressure, and then vacuumed by a grand-daddy of a vacuum cleaner, that leaves the rug ready for the drying process.

An old elevator lift has been converted into a rug-lifter which brings the rug to an upright position where it can be wheeled by means of overhead carrier to the large drying room. This is heated and the air is changed every two minutes by a special air motor. The remainder of the drying process is out of doors in the sunshine.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Linsley attended the Connecticut State University at Storrs, and graduated in 1913, the year they were married. Mr. Linsley trained in agriculture, and it was his aim to go into dairy farming. He took over a 300-acre, 75 cow dairy farm in the town of Sharon, but World War I broke out he came to New Haven, and went to work at Winchester's. After the war he decided to go into the rug business and chose the present slightly location on Laurel street. He believes there are as fine opportunities today for the young man going into business as there were 27 years ago.

Mr. Linsley and his son-in-law have already worked out plans for expansion and will not only renovate and enlarge the present plant, but also contemplate building an attractive show room where new rugs, when they are again plentiful on the market, will be on sale. He has developed a very large "cash and carry" business which has drawn many new customers to the plant in recent months.

As Mr. Brinley Sees It

Christ is risen, Alleluia! And so difficult task, which he sets out to do. I was dumfounded on Church one Sunday per year to celebrate the great event. Out of Fifty-Two Easter Sunday, each year, we pick one, and go to church. The Pastor tells the Congregation what is afloat. Some hear him, most of us are busy with plans for the day and the week to come. The Choir and Organist try their level best, with difficult music, and unintelligent words, to bring through of the resurrection home to the hearers. The Treasurer rejoices over the Easter offering. The ushers run frantically up and down the aisles, seating folks who would send themselves regardless, whether shown a seat or not. Some one counts the attendance, and the convulsion is over for another year. As you listen to the Organ Prelude, and wof the smells of the breakfast cooking, and cigarette perfume, and toilet soaps, you can always hear where to take your hair for a good shampoo, the difficulty we have getting stockings Sugar and butter, and lots of little gossip. And the Organ, which is generally voted for the theater, and not for the Church, is trying to put across and Easter message, as some composer sees it. And after all this excitement and fuss, the Pastor with all his ecclesiastical powers, sets to bring the Congregation into a spiritual mood, and turn their thoughts, Godward, its a hard

As Mr. Brinley Sees It

Christ is risen, Alleluia! And so difficult task, which he sets out to do. I was dumfounded on Church one Sunday per year to celebrate the great event. The Choir and Organist try their level best, with difficult music, and unintelligent words, to bring through of the resurrection home to the hearers. The Treasurer rejoices over the Easter offering. tant than the soil below the seeds. If your garden has much clay and you have a limited amount of humus, the main point is to prevent a tumbled wall. It will pay in many cases to prepare a special soil for covering. For this mix one part of fine top soil passed through a sieve, with an equal amount of coarse sand and the same amount of peat moss or horse manure.

HERE'S A RECIPE YOU CAN USE EVERY DAY!

RECIPE FOR BETTER TELEPHONE SERVICE
Please make as few calls as possible during the busy mid-morning and early evening hours

More telephone calls are being made now than ever before — especially during the mid-morning and early evening hours. That's why your telephone operator may not always be able to answer your call the moment it reaches the switchboard. New switchboards are on the way and additional operators are being trained to relieve this situation as soon as possible. Meanwhile, we appreciate your patience and cooperation.

Branford Review
Branford, Conn.
Dear Editor:

Since the publication recently of articles in McCall's and Reader's Digest on the Gunn-Platt report, recommending a national health fund, the public has shown a keener interest in just what the funds are used for. While no direct attacks were made in the article against the National Society for Crippled Children with which the Connecticut Society is affiliated, I would like to take this opportunity to outline its program for spending the money contributed each year by people in this state where it is needed since the chief criticism aimed at the various voluntary public health agencies is that the funds are not being spent wisely and effectively.

The Connecticut Society's program has a two fold purpose, to stimulate interest and secure adequate tax supported funds for the government agencies in the state and to fill the gaps in the direct service program.

Direct services include the operation of five rehabilitation centers which serve as the link between national training and employment for the disabled. They are located in Hartford, NewHaven, Bridgeport and Stamford. Patients are referred by many sources including the official agencies which do not operate such programs themselves. These rehabilitation centers or workshops offer physically handicapped persons occupational and physical the rapy treatments, a sheltered workshop program and a chance to make the most of their possibilities.

Another direct service is providing craft instruction and market outlets for the severely handicapped who are homebound. No other agency has any such program and the Connecticut Society has a great many more calls than it has finances to handle.

Almost half of the funds raised last year during the Easter Seal Sale were used to operate the five rehabilitation workshops, fourteen per cent went to provide a program of craft instruction to homebound patients; fifteen per cent was spent for field service work. Easter Seal campaign expenses represent only seven per cent of the money spent.

Because the Connecticut Society provides services which crippled patients could not get elsewhere in this state and because all but eight per cent of the funds raised are used in this state to give our physically handicapped people the greatest measure of opportunity, I believe it imperative that Connecticut citizens continue to support the work of this private, non-profit organization.

Sincerely,
Walter H. Palmer

"EASTER SUNDAY" 1946
Today, Easter Sunday being the first time the people of all nations can celebrate it in peace, let us all thank God for his blessing and be thankful for the important factor, we are democracies and free. Having been a member of our armed forces for 3 years I can now appreciate just what freedom means to be able to love without fear, to be able to worship our own individual ways that is what we fought for and won. A lot of American lives were lost in the various battlefields we fought on, they did not die in vain, they knew what they were fighting for and if they were to be able to make a last request, they probably would say this, "America is a great country, keep it free always, try to make relations between all countries harmonize, to make this country of ours a better, safer place to live in. It is up to the American Citizens to see to it that what happened at Pearl Harbor won't happen again then only will we be keeping our pledge to our heroes that they did not die in vain but that it will serve as a reminder that we must all cooperate, and above all be prepared in case of aggression. Let us all help to make this wonderful country of ours, a better place for our future generations to live in, let us show them that we are capable in performing this task.

Guard those you love... Give to conquer Cancer

CANCER strikes all ages. It takes fathers... and with them the family's means of livelihood. It takes mothers... just when they are needed to care for a family of little ones. Even little children are often its victims.

Unless we do something about it, 17,000,000 Americans now living will die of cancer.

Cancer is not always incurable. Thirty to 50% of those who now die of cancer could be saved if they had recognized the "danger signals" of cancer and obtained proper treatment in time.

By a gift to the American Cancer Society, you can help save thousands of people who will otherwise die needlessly of cancer. And you can help medical science in its comprehensive attack on the cause of cancer.

Your gift to fight cancer will be used in these three ways:

1. To spread the knowledge that cancer is frequently curable if discovered early.

2. To help provide the most modern facilities everywhere for the care and treatment of cancer patients.

3. To make possible a comprehensive research program to determine the cause, prevention and cure of cancer.

No one is safe from cancer—man, woman or child. Give to fight cancer that you, your neighbor and your loved ones may live.
