VACATION IN CONNECTICUT

Now that the War is over, thousands upon thousands of vacationers will be coming into Connecticut during the summer season for enjoyment and recreation along the Shore Line and among the hills and valleys of our beautiful old state.

Many of these visiting tourists will pass through East Haven because Route 1, the High Road to Vacation-land, passes through our town. Not a few will stop here, for after all, East Haven does have some attractions for the visitor from afar. Take our Old Stone Church for example. It is a landmark, famous through New England, and celebrates its 235th anniversary this year. Most visitors will want to see this grand old edifice, dating back to colonial times, and the Green, too, where LaFayette and his army were encamped, and the Old Cemetery in which rest the mortal remains of Yale's first graduate. We believe there should be signs at either end of the town directing motor visitors to our Main street and shopping center.

The State of Connecticut, through its Development Commission, is advertising the attractions of Connecticut in the leading dailies of New York City, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., this spring. Booklets and pamphlets are available free to all who send to the Development Commission at Hartford for them. Most of our townspeople have friends or relatives out side the state, who are planning post war vacations. Why not send them one of the attractive booklets inviting them to Connecticut this summer?

"Connecticut Vacation Resorts" is a delightful 28-page booklet listing the principal inns, hotels, camps and resorts. "Recreation and Outdoor Life" is a four-page folder giving general information. "Points of Interest," lists places of special interest in Connecticut and will be available this month. "Historic Homes" is another piece of vacation literature that ought to lure many prospective vacationers to Connecticut.

THE EDITORS TALK IT OVER

We gave up our customary Saturday Stroll along Main street Saturday afternoon in order to "talk things over" with our fellow editors of the weekly community and small-town newspapers of Connecticut at their spring meeting in Southington. We had a nice time, met a lot of newspaper people, and came back to East Haven refreshed and with quite a few new ideas.

It is always beneficial for people of the same calling to get together now and then to discuss the problems of their trade or profession. Editors, like all other folk, can accomplish their work with more success if they take time out occasionally to learn what others of their craft are doing.

The Southington News, an up-and-coming community weekly, which has been accomplishing much toward making the town of Southington one of the most progressive and enterprising small towns of central Connecticut, was the host for the spring meeting, and its publisher took pleasure in showing the visitors around his up-to-date establishment. Dinner followed, a sumptuous affair with roast beef as the main attraction, in the picturesque and historic Old Mill, which straddles "Misery" Brook, a tributary of the Quinipiac, about a half mile east of Milford, off the Meriden Road. From our table we could look down, through glass, to the rushing, foaming water of the mill-race. After the dinner we listened to a program of speaking, profuse with ideas as to how the community and small-town weeklies can best serve their communities. It was our first visit in years to a meeting of the Connecticut Editorial Association. We came away with anticipation toward the next.

BILL-BOARDS VS. FILLING STATIONS

We learn that a petition has been presented to the Town Fathers opposing the erection of the proposed bill-board at the intersection of Main street and the Saltonstall Cut-Off near Lake Saltonstall. The bill-board, in size 12 feet high by 50 feet long, will direct passersby on Route 1 to the Reo Factory branch for Connecticut which is now situated in Main street, at the center. The sign itself, a pictorial design, ought not be unattractive, and, we understand, the grounds around it will be landscaped. There seems to be no reason to believe that the bill-board will be offensive.

If it is so, and we believe it is, that an out-door advertising company has taken over the plot of ground, long an eyesore, at the junction, residents will not be assured that a gasoline station or other place of business will not be erected there so long as it is used for bill-board purposes. It would seem that a bill-board, of the kind planned, would be preferable to the usual business development, which might be expected on such a location. Residents, who protest the placing of the bill-board, would be wise, we believe to weigh the merits of such usage of the plot of ground, against others, to which it might be put.

WELCOMING THE SERVICEMEN

In this and other communities plans are now underway, or should be, for the welcoming back to the home-towns of those who were in the armed forces. These plans are taking many forms, but all in all, they are indicative of an outpouring of a community-wide sense of appreciation for what our servicemen did during those "four lost years."

In some towns, where cooperation is the keynote and a "work-together" attitude has developed, large general "welcome home" celebrations are being arranged. In other places, plans have taken a different form, and individual organizations are providing "welcomes" for their own members. But behind all these plans, whether on a community-wide basis, or by smaller individual units, is the manifestation of the same desire, the wish to extend a sincere welcome to those home at long last from their country's service.

One Connecticut community, not far away, making arrangements now for a town-wide welcome to the returned veterans, is Ansonia. We talked the other day with the vice chairman of the general committee, a brother of one of our Main street merchants, P. W. Webb. The idea of a town-wide celebration was initiated by the Ansonia mayor, he said, and already practically all of the civic, fraternal and church organizations of Ansonia have offered full and active support to the project. An all-day and evening celebration with a wide and varied program will be held the coming summer. In carrying out such a project Ansonia is setting a pattern for other towns in neighbors working together for the good of the community in which they live.

Blue And Gold Show Plays To Full House

Seventh Annual Varsity Production Highly Successful—Proceeds Go To Athletic Association.

Truly a show of many hits, the seventh annual Blue and Gold Varsity Show, presented by the East Haven High School Athletic Association, delighted the hundreds who packed the big auditorium on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week. Credit for the success of the performance goes to many participants. All did a most excellent job.

The show was divided into three scenes, the final being the "Stardust" scene a feature of these annual productions, and this year featuring a Stardust Ballet with Sue Civitello, and the singing seniors, stardust dancers and male chorus. Ed Horrigan, as master of ceremonies, introduced the guest stars, including talented alumni of other years who added to the great success of the concluding scene.

A school room scene, opened the show with a returned G. I. Joe, Eugene Fuchs as the teacher. Gene is a singer of much talent. Among the numbers featured in this scene were Parel Voss, Thomas Graham; Jive Talk, Muriel Marburger and George Munson; Hep Step, Mary Yeager and Ed Myers; Yodeling Jive, Margaret Barnes Italia, Louise Sinscalchi; Bit of Blarney, Leona Munroe; Musical Moments, Louise Gretella; Out of this World, Louise Sinscalchi; Tapping Artists, Phoebe Klein; Music in the Air, Muriel Andrews; Rhythmic Rhythm, Barbara Klein, Original Special, Fay Garvin, Mologone, Maurine Weber and Bud Tinari; Due Time, Janet Atwater and John Hobbes; Ballet, Flora Boys; Bowery Ballad, Dennis Ryan; Smallest of the 48; Rith Kirste; Southern Exposure, Fern Bombrent; Happy Harmony, Osborn Sisters; Song Charm, Norma O'Hidy; Rhythm Makers, Dolores Costanzo; Della Mood, Gene Fuchs. The second scene, "Espansa" was gay and very much enjoyed. Numbers included Fiesta, cast; Gay Plea, Anita Flondella; Tapping Toes, Laura Civitello; Romance Melody, Louise Sinscalchi; Whistled Notes, Betty Bradley; Espansa, Singing Boys Bull Fight, Flora Dora Boys; Throbbing Tempo, Barbara Klein; Lively Steps, Nancy Boutelle; Rhythmic Rhumba, Audrey Ford; Tempting Tango, Betty Janssen and George Norden; Serenade, Louise Cretella and Fiesta, Singing Seniors.

Music was by Fred Svirsky, make-up by the Thespians, scenery by Peggy Whyte, of the Whyte School of Dancing, and the singing senior director, Mrs. John Strandberg. The production personnel included Leona Munroe, general manager; Laura Civitello, Janet Atwater, Barbara Klein and Barbara Norwood, assistants; secretary-treasurer, Betty Jaspers; program, Rhoda Cassel; advertising, Shirley McComb; Boosters, Betty Jaspers and Cheerleaders; publicity, Theresa Altro; tickets, Pat Scharf; posters, Miss Hoxie, Art Department; stage manager, Phyllis Rowley; properties, Russell Bacon, and Anthony Piccirilli, and stage hands, Pete Bertier, Joseph Mayo of the Faculty, supervised the production with the assistance of Miss Yola Bouzoucas and others.

The 1946 production of the Blue and Gold will go down in the annals of the school as one of the best ever. heard on the program, about which more will be announced later. Of special interest to the ladies' will be the pre-summer Fashion Show to be held in connection with the Nite Club, when a large number of the new modes from the Dean Shop will be modeled. Mr. Benny Goodman of the Dean Shop is arranging the Fashion Show feature of the big entertainment.

Eastern Star Planning Nite Club May 23

Announcement was made this week that Princess Chapter, No. 70, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a Nite Club entertainment in the Town Hall Auditorium on the evening of Thursday, May 23.

Committees are now at work on plans for the big affair, which promises to be one of the delightful occasions of the spring season. Many features will be seen and

Kempter Dairy, Home Of Contented Cows

Two Brothers And Sister Carry On Industry Begun In East Haven Many Years Ago.

The Kempter Farm and Dairy, on upper High street, midway between the Center and Foxon, and covering approximately 140 acres of the most fertile section of the beautiful Farm River Valley, is a model not only of good farming, but of good housekeeping. And that is not strange, considering that important part of the business is in the hands of Miss Cornelia Kempter, who operates the large and modern pasteurizing plant, where nearly a thousand quarts of milk are bottled every day of the year.

Miss Kempter's womanly hand is seen all over the place. Just now her early spring, roadside garden of May Pinks and other early flowers, blooms abundantly to the admiration of passersby along High street. Other flower gardens, with their delightful blooms, which will be seen later in the season, extend backward from the old white farmhouse toward the barns and outbuildings of the busy farm.

While Miss Kempter's domain is the dairy, the pasteurizing plant, and the attractive home, her two brothers, Joseph and John, take care of the farm itself, and the route business.

This is no mean task. The farm, at the present time, has eighty cows which require milking twice daily, and not all milking can be done by the milking machines. There are also three horses, an enormous bull for the herd, and two well-equipped, motor milk trucks, that have to be kept going Editors Note: This is the second in a series of write-ups of local business and industries. We hope that by presenting these little sketches, East Haven and vicinity residents will have a better knowledge of our town's enterprises. The next article will appear in the near future.

day after day, through all kinds of weather, winter and summer. The milk business is no chinch! Milk producers are beset by a vast number of problems, especially in these days of scarcity of grain, scarcity of help, and a multitude of other woes, to say nothing of the "daylight saving plague," which seems to be the bane, particularly, of milk men. It's bad enough to get up at 5 A. M., the Kempters say, but to get up at 4 A. M. is far worse. Other folks can adjust their comings and goings to daylight saving, they say, but the cows stick to the rising and setting of the sun and the work has to be done. The grain scarcity is a sore and perplexing problem, but the Kempter farm has been able to come through very well because most of the 140 acres of fertile land is planted to corn in season, and the farm silo has a large capacity. Pretty soon the spring planting will get underway, and then the boys and their sister will have even more to keep their time well occupied.

The Kempter Dairy is one of the oldest enterprises in town. It dates back well into the last century, when it began as the Vineyard Dairy, over on Bradley street; started and carried on by the Polrot Brothers. In 1914, the dairy

Organ Concert At High School On 19th Of May

Plans are underway at the High school, according to announcement by Principal William E. Fagerstrom, for a public concert to be played on the handsome new Hammond Organ, on Sunday afternoon, May 19, at 4 o'clock.

The organist for the occasion will be Prof. Dawley of Hartford, a well known Connecticut musician, and the program will also include other numbers among them a very well known trio, which has appeared at prominent musical academies throughout the state. The program will be announced later.

This will be the first public recital presenting the new organ, which was installed at the High school on Friday evening, May 17, as a memorial to those of the High school who fought in World War II.

Mr. Fagerstrom also announced this week that the annual Junior Prom will be held in the High school on Friday evening, May 24.

Expect Big Catches At Lake Saltonstall

When local fishing fans meet next week at East Haven's new sports center, the Graves Sport Shop at 224 Main street, some first class fish stories can be expected.

Lake Saltonstall, happy hunting ground for Isak Waltons of this and nearby communities, opens to the public on Monday, and from all reports the fish in the three-mile long lake are just "aching" to get caught. The said fish have been enjoying a four-year respite, because of the war-time regulations which prohibited fishing there, and as a result they have grown big, hungry and ready to bite.

It looks as though the opening days will be busy ones, and that all of the refurbished boats will be out and the boatless fishermen, finding snug fishing places along the shore. We notice that the kids have already been doing some "sneak" fishing from the state highway at the south end of the lower lake.

We hope that fishermen will abide by the rules which have been laid down by the Water company, in order that there may be no cause for suspension of public fishing at Lake Saltonstall.

TOWN TOPICS

FROM OUR REPORTERS' NOTEBOOKS

May-time here at last!

A glad month with flowers and birds and warm weather to cheer the soul.

Cancer control fund quota in East Haven went over with flourish as April waned.

Grace-New Haven Community Hospital drive next on list with popular Herbert Korn wisely chosen to direct East Haven's share of big campaign.

More new business establishments opened this week. Auto supply store in Olson Block has handsome display of merchandise including boats and outboard motors and plans grand opening later. John P. Morgan opens printing and stationery store in same block this week end. Store has novel color scheme. Over on Saltonstall Cut-off Tommy Joyce opened for business in new open-air stand with complete line of fruits and vegetables Wednesday, and Al Norwood opened his novelty and hot-dog stand next door.

Rotarians and Rotary Anns enjoyed pleasant evening Tuesday night at Four Pillars.

We understand that another important Main street real estate transaction is due to pop the coming week.

Maurice Sarason of 43 Sidney Street celebrated his birthday April 20th. Many Happy Returns!

Major Harold E. Burrill of Tuttle Place was home on a short furlough.

Spurt Is Shown In Building Of New Dwellings

April was one of the busiest months in a long time at the office of Building Inspector Frank Redfield, as indicated by the number of new permits issued in the residential field. With the housing shortage growing more acute by the day, it is really good news to learn that a dozen new homes were started during the 30-day period. There were also many permits for alterations.

A. Scalarini, who is planning a large housing development in the upper Laurel street section, on the slightly elevated overlooking the Golf Course, took out permits for four one-family frame houses. Three permits were taken out by Contractor Fred Bornmann for dwellings in upper High street, and it is understood more are contemplated in that area.

Permits were also issued to Joseph Karboski for a house in Mill street, Anthony Orsini for two houses, both on Foxon Boulevard and to F. J. Powers for a one-family house in Rowe street. The latter will cost $9,000. In addition, A. Vitale was given a permit to construct a five-room apartment over stores in West Main street.

May 3-9, 1921
Daylight Saving time began despite protest from many.

Building Inspector Chester Newlon granted permit to Edgar D. Stevens for a new bungalow in Kimberly avenue.

The annual meeting of the Stony River Dyke Company was held in the Town Hall.

Mrs. Eben B. Sage returned to her home in Forbes place after spending the winter with her husband, Dr. Sage in New York City.

A daughter, Elizabeth Tyler, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Barker of Francis street.

H. C. Nickerson returned home from a stay in Philadelphia. At a town meeting bonds to the amount of $30,000 were voted for the laying of the new macadam pavement on Coe avenue to Momauglin.

lough.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Benny Goodman on the occasion of their sixth wedding anniversary Saturday.

We learn that work will be started very soon on the changes and alterations to be made on the block at Main and Elm street. Completion will find handsome new storefronts for East Haven Hardware Store and East Haven Department Store.

We hear that Mrs. Nan Corbett of 231 Coe avenue recently received two tickets from Don McNeil for Breakfast Club in New York, for a poem she recently sent him: Here it is:

When you awake in the morn,
And you feel "sorta" sour,
Just tune in to the Breakfast Club Hour.

There's fun for young and old, too,
A prayer, a song and a funny joke or two,
It starts the day right and we mustn't forget,
If it weren't for Philco, we might never have met

Several from Rotary club plan to attend Spring Conference in New London Saturday. A good time promised, and enjoyable program.

School kids, and teachers too, enjoying week's vacation. Return to school Monday.

Frank Dooley, veteran of World War I, and one of town's best known citizens and Boosters, home for seven days from Veterans Hospital in Rocky Hill. Good going, Frank, glad to hear your jovial voice again in familiar surroundings of home.

Graves Sport Shop picked showery April Day for opening Saturday, but met a grand welcome from local folks. Store well stocked with sporting merchandise of every description. Bound to bring more trade to busy Main street, Best of luck.

Mrs. A. J. Levesque of Manchester, N. H., and son, Alfred, recently discharged from the army where he served as a paratrooper, are visiting Mrs. Levesque's sister, Mrs. B. Bergeron of 50 High street.

Mrs. Dan Parilla and Mrs. Ada Sepe have left for an extended stay in Youngstown, Ohio.

What Other Editors Are Thinking About

Editor's Note: Under this heading we are introducing this week a well-read and well-thought-out feature of the News, clippings taken from other community weeklies of Connecticut. These clippings, from our clear thinking on timely topics and because of their potential interest to the people of our own community, we hope you will like these little editorials, clipped from the columns of our neighbor publications.

FUNCTIONALISM VS. BEAUTY
In discussing the work of the Yale architectural class which was undertaking the suggested layout of a World War II memorial, as part of their class-room work, Andrew Patton, their instructor, indicated that the theory of modern architectural education is to encourage the development of structures for utility first, and beauty second—and, we take it, a poor second at that.

Mr. Patton illustrated his point by saying that the early builders of the Yale campus were not particularly concerned with the beauty of their buildings, but rather with the utility of the buildings. He said that the school has gained handsome recognition in its first ten years. He said that he thought that because the school is young it has yet to equal the standards of older schools. This is not true, he asserted. The scholarly strength of a school depends upon the teaching methods, and they are of the finest in East Haven. He described the courses, Preparatory, Commercial and General or mixed course, and told of the extra curricular activities which give the students and all-round educational opportunity. He also told of the Student Council and its work.

School Safety Work Showing Progress

Editor Stevens: The three sub-committees appointed at the last general meeting have been at work. The School Safety Conference was extremely interesting. 7 schools represented and only one student absent. The Bicycle Safety Committee has organized a definite program for securing proper ordinances and obtaining police reaction in the various communities. The recreational committee has made progress in determining the needs and the facilities available. Chairmen of these committees will report details of their activities to a meeting of the entire School and Child Committee in the New Haven Safety Council office on May 3.

Child Conference Opens On May 16

Editor Stevens: The Public Health Nursing Association of East Haven is announcing the opening on Thursday, May 16, of the Memorial Day Child Conference in the firehouse on George Street (Bradford Manor). The conference will be held on the third Thursday of every month between 2 and 3 p. m. All residents of East Haven are welcome to weigh their children and discuss their health and training with the nurse. A doctor is present to give immunizations, advice and physical examinations to those who are not under the health supervision of their own doctor. Fee—$1.50 yearly.

Eleanor A. Knight R. N. the Georgian or any other period of design, which filled the need in the days before modern insulation, heating and plumbing were developed.

We imagine that among the forty chaste lines, certainly the all-box design, "prettied up" with any do-dads or curlicues, or are there any false fronts or fancy facades on it. In designing something for use in today's world, it's the theory of functionally-trained architects to adapt the entire building today's needs—not to ape the Colonial, or direction and guidance of our former fellow townsman. Good luck to Mr. Mills and the new Catholic Men's club of Orange.

Responsible World Citizens

The end product of the educational system, according to Harvard University, should be a responsible citizen aware of his duties and his fellow men. Scholarship is important only when it serves to produce such a man.

This is what Harvard University got for $500,000 plus the services of a dozen of her top professors for three years, and the conclusion of a 10,000 word analysis. Read about it in Life magazine for April 22, and also what the M. E. A. has to say about high school education. If you are a teacher or a parent you ought to find it interesting, or if just a mere taxpayer feeling the bills.

And there is a very delightful summary of a series of lectures given recently at Yale by Herbert Read, English poet and philosopher. His general theme was "Social Aspects of Art in an Industrial Age." This you will find in the magazine section of the public campaign which opens in May as a part of the movement to raise $2,000,000 to build and equip a new hospital building.

Names of the chairman reported by Mrs. Cook are Clifford W. Will, Cheshire; Herbert W. Korn, East Haven; Ernest H. Jacoby, Guilford; John R. Thim, Haddam; William Carter, North Branford; Herbert G. Wither, North Haven; Herbert L. Cummings, Orange; Frederick J. Meyers, West Haven; and Frederick Hudson, Waterbury.

Chairmen for Branford, Cheshire, and Clinton, which he will share in the cost of expanding the hospital facilities and accommodations on which rely in time of need.

Indicating that the chairman are finding a heartening response in the community, and team members.

Mrs. Cook said: "Residents of these 13 towns realize that they are dependent to a large degree upon the hospital facilities in New Haven, and that the present combined waiting list of approximately 600 at the Grace and New Haven units is a grave threat to their health and peace of mind."

"For this reason," she continued, "men and women in our allied towns are accepting enlistment in the teams organization not only from a deep sense of civic responsibility, but also because they want to make sure that hospital care and treatment will be available when needed."

"After the public campaign has officially opened," she concluded, "team members will undoubtedly approach their fellow-citizens and neighbors, not with the thought of asking for a charitable contribution, but in the spirit of inviting them to invest in a community enterprise which is imperatively needed to safeguard their life and health."

As Mr. Brinley Sees It

"Do thy duty, that is best, and leave unto the Lord, the rest." God has had a great deal of advice, these days, from press, radio, public and schools of learning, and to the ways and means of running His universe. We have explained, at length, the duties of the various laws, rules and regulations how He, God, should manage His own personal property. I put one in mind of the way some people approach the Throne of Grace, how they address the Majesty on High, instead of making their prayer petitions reverently and quietly, they shout at God, "Thou knowest this, O Lord, and thou knowest that O Lord, the Spirit is here, O Lord, the stars are bright, the sunshine is wonderful, etc., all of which God knows, for he created them all, so why tell him that? Why not worship him, and thank him, and ask for the things you are in need of. We the time the lights are broken. Now the green is pretty dark at night in the past, and now it is broken, its getting where its not safe for women and girls to walk across the green at night. Now I would like to see some lights lit on the green but if we don't have some lights I'd like to see somebody make the boys leave the lights we have alone. And another thing couldn't there be a little less litter and paper scattered around the green. We want the old town green to be a beauty and a joy forever and not turned into something most folks would be ashamed of. We have here, let's do everything we can to keep it the way it ought to be clean well lit and lighted at night and a place where we can take pride and comfort.

Garden Notes
Sponsored by Branford Garden Club
Mrs. M. D. Stanley, Correspondent

Not only lovely leaves and flowers respond to warmer days and showers, but also finding it very difficult to replace them, owing to

For April ushers in some pests. As often as you and me the sun shine down on fly and flea on, on moth, on bold musquit. That all of us would gladly veto.

The executive board meeting was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Sawtelle Friday at 10 A.M. It was voted to subscribe for 2 years for "Plants and Gardens" published by Brooklyn Botanic Garden.

Mrs. John McCabe was appointed Junior Garden chairman. Mrs. J. W. Phelps, plant chairman gave report of the V. T. Hammer Bird Collection. The trustees of the Blackstone Memorial Library have been re-elected.

The room designed for the V. T. Hammer Bird Collection. The walls are a lovely shade of green, and every thing is now ready for the birds and cases. There will be all attractive bird pictures on the wall.

Mr. Armstrong will be the birds, and when that is completed, the public certain days each week and club members will be in attendance. It is a project long discussed by the Garden Club and finally consummated.

Mrs. Phelps has done an excellent job, for which we are all grateful. The Hammer collection of native and other birds is very colorful and Mr. Hammer spent many years in collecting the specimens. I saw them as he had them arranged in his garage over his house. I was amazed at the number of native birds he had collected. His butterfly collection was also very interesting. I have some butterflies which my father collected, so I could appreciate them.

Brantford is very fortunate in having such a fine bird collection given to them, and I am sure everyone will want to see them. Certain days will be arranged for the schools.

The annual Flower Show will be held on Friday, June 14 at 2 P.M. at the Congregational Church Parish House. Mrs. John McCabe, chairman. The June meeting will be on the 11th of June at 7 P.M. at the home of the president, Mrs. Sawtelle.

The Connecticut Federated Garden Clubs will meet May 8 at 10 A.M. at the V. H. Experiment Station, and a very interesting program has been arranged by Mrs. Wallace. Basket lunch, and coffee will be served.

The May meeting of the club will be held Friday, May 3 at 3 P.M. at the home of Mrs. John Goss. Hostesses: Mrs. Goss and Mrs. Annear. Speaker, Mr. Elmer C. Gilbert of Mt. Carmel, Subject, "Wild Flowers in Our Gardens."

Many Branford gardeners reported loss of roses during past winter, and also finding it very difficult to replace them, owing to Mourning doves have been seen in Branford center at feeding station. The largest fisherman among animals is the monstrous Alaskan brown or Kodiak bear. He sometimes reaches a weight of 1500 pounds.

Mrs. Charles E. Smith, Mrs. R. E. Beers and Mrs. Madeline Goucher attended the Judging Course at the N. H. Lawa Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stone will be in New Mexico May 1st, and will reside near door to their former home.

Mrs. Alden J. Hill is residing in North Branford center, until her new home is completed.

Mrs. Paul Kirk, Mrs. William Treginning in New Mexico May 1st, and will reside near door to their former home.

Mass at 7 and 9:15 o'clock on Sunday morning, Rev. John J. McCarthy, pastor; Frank Frawley, organist and choir director.

Following the 9:15 o'clock Mass there will be the dedication of a flagpole and flag, the gifts of Alexander McKernan to the honor of the boys and girls of the parish who served in the armed forces.

Zion Episcopal Church will celebrate Holy Eucharist at 8:30 o'clock on Sunday morning, Rev. Francis J. Smith, Rector, Mrs. Paul R. Hawkins, organist and choir director.

Morning worship will be at 11 o'clock at the Congregational Church, Rev. Roger Cummings, pastor, Mrs. Douglas B. Holabird, organist and choir director.

The Zion parish Guild served a delightful May Day Tea to members and guests on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Paul R. Hawkins, of Notch Hill Road. Mrs. Edmund L. Stoddard was vocal soloist, and Miss Lois North of Guilford was the guest speaker. A food and fancywork sale followed the tea.

The barn on the former Jesse Harrison place, now owned by Nathaniel Quick, was destroyed by fire on Sunday. Both the North Branford Co. No. 1 and the Northford fire companies reported. A considerable amount of hay, some animals, and a tractor and other equipment were lost in the blaze.

Several of the 4-H leaders and many 4-H boys and girls attended the youth Farm and Home meeting at the Troup Junior High School in New Haven on Saturday. Various forums were held under the direction of specialists from the University of Connecticut and other county leaders. Both outdoor and indoor activities were discussed and important information was given club members in the conducting of their projects.

The first meeting of a committee which is planning for some testimonial to the men and women who served in the armed forces was held at the town hall on Monday evening.

Curtis Thompson, who for nearly twenty years has made his home in North Branford, died after a period of ill health, on Sunday afternoon. Funeral services will be conducted from the V. S. Clancy Memorial Home, 43 Kirkham Ave., East Haven this afternoon. Interment will be in Greenlawn cemetery.

Local schools have reopened after a week's vacation at Easter time. Pupils in the New Haven schools are having the present week as their vacation.

The public card party held for the benefit of the North Branford Volunteer Fire Department on last Wednesday evening in the town hall was a great success financially and socially. Fine prizes were awarded and refreshments and entertainment were enjoyed by the guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. Traver A. Cowles have announced the birth of a son on April 26, Mrs. Cowles is the former Miss Marjorie McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haddock Main Street, Short Beach announce the birth of a daughter Monday in the Hospital of St. Raphael. Mrs. Haddock is the former Miss Anna Moore of Highland Park.

Music Festival In New Haven Next Sunday

The annual Festival of Jewish Music will take place on Sunday evening, May 5th, at 8:30 P. M. at the Troup Junior High School, under the auspices of the New Haven Jewish Center as the coordinating agency. This annual concert is a feature of Jewish Music Week and is being supported by all of the major organized Jewish groups in the community. The guest artists will include Sidor Belarsky, the internationally famous concert artist, and Blanche Ralsen, the talented New Haven violinist. The program will also include numbers by the Choir of the Congregation Bnai Jacob, the Choir of the Congregation Mishkan Israel, and the Jewish People's Chorus. Mr. Louis M. Shanok, Executive Director of the Jewish Center, is general chairman of the Committee.

Sidor Belarsky, a graduate of the Leningrad State Conservatory and formerly leading basso of the Leningrad State Opera Company, was brought to this country in 1930 on the invitation of Dr. F. S. Harris, President of the Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, who heard the young basso in Moscow.

Blanche Ralsen took to the violin as a child, and for the first eight years her father, Samuel Ralsen, taught her music. Then she became a private pupil of Professor Kortschak and continued under his tutelage through four years at the Yale School of Music, receiving her degree there in 1945. At present, she is studying in New York City with Ivan Galamian.

Miss Ralsen's rare talent has been proven many times. The Yale School of Music awarded her a scholarship on merit, and in 1945 granted to her the Charles Ditson Fellowship for further study of the violin. In 1940 she was winner of the MacDowell Club in New York City. She has played with the New Haven Symphony Orchestra and has often given concerts in New Haven and other cities in Connecticut.

Wartime Leader Resigns Office With Red Cross

The resignation of New Haven wartime Red Cross leader, William B. Gumbart as Chapter chairman, was announced today by the New Haven Chapter of the American Red Cross. Mr. Gumbart has carried the great responsibilities of the local Red Cross chapter over the last four years.

The resignations of Mr. William G. Cleaver, chapter vice chairman in charge of service to the armed forces, and Mrs. Theodore H. Evans, vice chairman in charge of branch relations, was announced at the same time.

The Branford Red Cross is an operating unit of the New Haven Chapter, and is under the local leadership of Mrs. James J. Walworth.

Paper Collection Scheduled May 5

A town-wide waste paper collection will be made on the morning of May 5th by the Hammer Field Recreational Committee. The purpose of the drive is to get money with which to buy handcraft materials for the four summer play grounds.

Connecticut was one of the outstanding states in America's great war salvage program, but with the termination of the activities of the War Production Board a few months ago, as well as the Civilian Defense set-up, many people naturally got the idea that the stimulation of waste paper collections no longer was needed.

Today there is an increasing need for wastepaper of all kinds, and so great is the need that the manufacture of paperboard, which paper and paper products of the Eastern States have raised a committee for the purpose of carrying the message to the public that the shortage of waste paper is delaying many phases of the nation's reconversion program.

No one is safe from Cancer

...IT RESPECTS NEITHER AGE NOR SEX

If this child were yours . . . you would do anything to save him from cancer.

Cancer now ranks second as a cause of death in the United States: unless something is done about it, 17,000,000 American men, women and children now living will die of cancer.

That means that an average of one in every eight of us faces eventual death from this most dreaded of all diseases!

Cancer is no respecter of age or sex: more than 175,000 men, women and children will be its victims during 1946 in this country alone. While medical science has been winning victories over many diseases, deaths from cancer have been steadily increasing. Today more children between the ages of 5 and 20 die of cancer than die of the following four diseases combined: Diphtheria, Infantile Paralysis, Scarlet Fever and Whooping Cough.

The great tragedy of this is that 30% to 50% of cancer deaths are needless. They could have been saved by early recognition of the symptoms of cancer and by early and proper treatment.

It is up to every one of us to help in the fight against cancer on three fronts:

1. To spread the knowledge that cancer is frequently curable if diagnosed in its earliest stages. 2. To provide the most modern facilities for the care and treatment of present cancer patients, and, 3. To launch a really comprehensive, nationwide cancer research program to find the basic cause and cure of cancer.
