TOWN TOPICS

The little imp in our set-up room raised havoc with our column last week. One instance was his changing the name of Mrs. Jane Thomas to that of Williams. Mrs. Thomas of Elm Court sent us a couple of blossomed dandelions which she picked in her back yard. Spring is just around the corner we hope.

A much belated congratulation to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bellor of 135 Gerrish Ave. upon their recent admittance to the revered circle of parenthood. Joe is the elementary school physical educator — and his charming wife — also one of the local school system — became parents of little Thomas Joseph December 20.

No wonder the physical ed. has been scarce of late.

Friends of popular ex-garage-man Augie Metzo can find him in a different attire by peering through the windows of brother Vinnie's food market in Clinton Ave. Augie is presently lending an extra hand to his busy brother's food dispensary.

John, the elder of the Metzo Bros. trio, had a rough time this week following a painful, though not too serious, minor surgery on optics. The appliance store exec will be as good as ever by the week end.

Noted and talented architect, Joseph Della Valle, now residing in Cottage Street, will soon locate here on Cherry Ave., where new home is nearing completion. Mr. Della Valle, one of the state's foremost designers of buildings and at present on New Haven Zoning Board, chose our town over other surrounding areas and will conduct his architectural business from his Cheshire Ave. address.

Mr. and Mrs. Della Valle are no strangers locally having many friends hereabouts.

Coach Frank Crisafi has been looking for that one big boy to make his basketball team click for several years. His wife solved his problem on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in Grace Hospital. There Edward Michael Crisafi was born, weight 8 lbs. even. Poppa sent mama flowers immediately but there's no truth to the story that he threw a basketball into the bassinet. Mother, the former Gloria Gallo, tickled with the new arrival, the first. What if the tyke learns to play the violin?

Sailor-boy Steve Narracci, a graduate of boot training at Bainbridge, Md., only a week ago, wrote Mrs. Crisafi recently to advise her and Frank to send their boy to Gerrish School where he can get the fundamentals of all sports from veteran Bill (Pop) Carr.

Joe Festa, uncle of Ron Rossotti, home on leave from his duties with the U. S. Navy last Friday night took in the basketball game to see his favorite nephew perform. Didn't have much luck because Rossotti missed Thursday's practice and was last in the five man defense.

Branford Sanitation Company withdrew bid on town contract for sanitary disposal services and the new contract was awarded to the Hamden Construction Company.

Prep School has done much to add polish to two local boys, Bill Bixby and Lowell Rubin. Bill is highly thought of at Suffield Academy where he is the leading scorer on the basketball team. Lowell at Putney, Vt. has become an avid skier but misses basketball. The youngster has filled out beautifully and might have been a great help to the Easties this year.

Roy Spencer of 111 Gerrish Avenue, recovering from injuries suffered in automobile accident several weeks ago, visited East Haven High School on Wednesday to learn first hand American Educational methods. Conversely, the local history classes under Miss Zita Mathew learned much of the customs of a country which to them as been mostly a name on the map.

East Haven was represented at the redevelopment portion of the 6th annual Connecticut Development Clinic in Hartford today, after all. Sources in the town hall said that several members of the East Haven Redevelopment Commission were in the Capitol to hear the morning session in which Lawrence Moore of the Technical Planning Association, the same group which is assisting in the Momaquin project, spoke.

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS the United States of America is challenged by a deadly enemy who would destroy our freedom, our moral standards, our religious beliefs and everything we hold most dear; and

WHEREAS this enemy has a stockpile of atomic bombs and a supply of long-range bombers that can reach any part of the United States; and

WHEREAS the Defense Department states that in the event of an air attack on this country 70 out of 100 bombers would get through to their targets; and

WHEREAS a strong Civil Defense, as a co-equal partner with the Armed Forces, can help protect our freedoms and construct an enduring peace; and

WHEREAS the non-political, non-sectarian Valley Forge Foundation in co-operation with the Federal Civil Defense Administration and State and Local Civil Defense Authorities is sponsoring a nationwide tour of three motorized "Alert America" Convoys; and

WHEREAS these Convoys are carrying to the cities of our nation a dramatic educational exhibit on Civil Defense; and

WHEREAS one of the "Alert America" Convoys will arrive in New Haven on January 28 and the "Alert America" Exhibit will be open to the people of our township from January 29 through January 31;

NOW, THEREFORE, I Frank A. Barker, First Selectman of the Town of East Haven do hereby proclaim "Alert America Week" to begin on January 27 and to end on February 2 and do call upon every citizen and every organized group to take part in the events of "Alert America Week" and to cooperate in every way possible with the spirit of the week and of the "Alert America" Exhibit; and to work devotedly to know our freedoms, love our freedoms, and guard our freedoms; to participate actively in Civil Defense; and by every means to train and work and pray for an "Alert America."

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Seal of the Town of East Haven to be affixed this 24th day of January, 1952.

(Signed) Frank A. Barker, First Selectman

PATRICIA PRISLEY ELECTED DAR GIRL BY SCHOOL FACULTY

Miss Patricia Prisley, one of the outstanding girl students of the Class of 1952, East Haven High School has been chosen the 1952 D.A.R. girl. It was announced last week-end by The Comet, school paper.

Miss Prisley, popularly known throughout town, as Pat, will attend a dinner given by the Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution next month at which time her name will be placed in a hat, along with other representatives. One name was picked to be known as the "Comet" D.A.R. girl. The lucky girl will be given a $100 defense bond and a trip to Washington, D.C. to scan the nation's Capitol.

The selection of Miss Prisley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Prisley, 76 George Street, was made by the high school faculty after the student body had selected three for the honor.

The winner was judged to have the most admirable qualifications of Dependability, Service, Leadership and Patriotism.

Pat is an active member of the senior class; co-captain of the cheerleader; a member of the 1952 Pioneer Staff, belongs to the National Honor Society and recently was selected as the "Senior Girl of the Month."

Bldg. Department Cracks Down On Oil Installations

Four Procedures Outlined Under Burner Ordinance

Local oil burner installers who fail to comply with either State or East Haven regulations will face the suspension or loss of installation licenses or the denial of installation permits, Building Inspector Clement Catalano and Fire Marshal Ernest Hansen warned today in a joint statement.

The two officials said they would "exert every effort to protect the oil burner men who adhere to the State laws and the rules and regulations of this department. On the other hand, we will certainly be just as strict in bringing violators before the prosecuting attorney."

Catalano and Hansen reminded installers of a State law which provides that "no fuel oil burner having a tank with a capacity for more than 20 gallons connected directly therewith shall be sold, offered for sale, or installed in the State of Connecticut unless the make and type of such oil burner shall have been approved by the Commissioner of State Police and a written certificate of approval shall have been issued by him."

This means, they said, that if the burner is approved by the commissioner, such burner must bear the name plate of the manufacturer and the proper model designation in accordance with the commissioner's certificate of approval.

The following procedure will be enforced, they said: (1) Section 2 of the East Haven oil burner ordinance, "no installation shall be made without first having obtained a permit from the building department and the model of the burner must be shown; (2) the name plate and the model number on the burner must correspond with those shown on the application; (3) no oil burner can be licensed by the Town of East Haven if it has a license to any other person, person, or firm.

Failure to comply with part 1, they said, will result in the installation license being suspended. Three suspensions will mean the revocation of the violator's East Haven license.

Violations of Parts 2 and 3 will result in the permits being denied by the building department. Unapproved burners must be removed within 10 days from notification of the department.

Violation of Part 4 will mean immediate suspension of installation license and a summons to a hearing before the building department to show cause why the violator's license should not be revoked.

Catalano and Hansen said that the oil burner business is "rapidly becoming one of our major industries, and in East Haven new homes have caused a sharp increase in the installation of oil burners." They said they were placing the matter squarely up to the businessmen involved.

Program Faces Delay Under Gov't Rulings, Local Housing Hit

First Selectman Frank A. Barker said today that a shortage of materials will restrict the street lighting program here.

Barker quoted a letter received from officials of the United Illuminating Company in which government restrictions on copper and aluminum were cited as the reason that street lighting improvement program will just have to wait a couple of years.

The First Selectman said that he was prompted to seek an answer from the Illuminating Company in answer to many queries asking for improved services here.

Not only street lighting programs will be curtailed but it is increasingly difficult to obtain wire for new housing developments in the area, it was said.

The letter, as released today, follows:

"Officials of the United Illuminating Company are seriously concerned about the shortage of materials, particularly wire needed to connect new customers. They are trying hard to stretch available supplies to connect up new housing developments so that people who move in the new houses will electricity when they need it. So far, electricity has been there before the new occupants moved in but the situation is critical and is not improving."

"So the copper shortage is not being solved to much to improve the lighting on streets already lit because there won't be any materials available.

"The company is using some aluminum wire but the supply of aluminum is restricted too. The Company expects to use more aluminum in the future but it still will not be able to get and use enough to make up for the lack of copper."

"An official of the Defense Electric Power Administration in Washington, Thomas E. Marburger, said recently that because of the shortage of materials, street lighting improvement program will just have to wait a couple of years."

EVELYN DeLUCIA HEADS PIONEER AS CHIEF EDITOR

Senior Evelyn DeLucia has been chosen by her classmates as chief editor for the 1952 classbook, The Pioneer.

Miss DeLucia's selection was announced last Friday by the school's newspaper, The Comet.

Named assistant editors were Anna Canina, Shirley Lupoli and Bob Mascola.

The new editor-in-chief has been active as a member of her class serving the editorial board of the Comet, as a Traffic Squad officer, and as treasurer of the F.H.A. She is on the committee for the annual Mardi Gras Ball and has been a member of the Modern Language Club two years.

Her assistant, Miss Canina, is likewise a member of the Traffic Squad and an active member of the Pep club.

Miss Lupoli has had previous experience in journalism as a member of the Comet a year ago.

Mr. Mascola, popular with his classmates, is a member of the National Honor Society.

Much of the work on The Pioneer has already been accomplished, including many of the photographs which once again will be taken by Peter Lucas, professional.

Art Students Show Paper Mache Figures In Local Windows

Paper Mache figures, painted and dressed, standing approximately ten inches high, recently made by some of the East Haven High School art students, are now on display in the windows at the Majestic Hotel, Main Street, East Haven.

Mr. Lew Crescenti is the Art Instructor at the high school.

Local students are currently engaged in completing paintings to be entered in the annual Art Exhibit for High Schools, sponsored by the Hartford Courant. The Hartford Show is slated for early February. Winners on the state level will have their work judged nationally.

The Art Club is currently considering a field trip to New York City in the near future. It is undecided whether to visit the Metropolitan Museum of Art, which was the objective a year ago, or the Museum of Natural History or the Museum of Modern Art.

Club Prepares For State Art Exhibit, Plan Field Trip

The town's wild about money money.

Individuals, clubs, organizations are banding together and pooling their money to aid churches, Parent-Teacher groups, societies in the newest craze.

Businessmen, too, are happy to cooperate.

The scheme is the device of the merchant's division of the Chamber of Commerce. For every dollar spent in certain local stores, a penny bill of the same denomination is given to the purchaser. These are saved.

But on February 14 comes the fun. On that night the first of three weekly auctions for prizes donated by merchants will take place in the Capitol Theatre. Other auctions will take place on Feb. 21st and Feb. 28th.

Three major prizes, Olympic television set with a 17 inch screen, a Westinghouse refrigerator and a Tappan range, are the principal wares to be auctioned off.

In addition to the three big prizes many other smaller articles will be bid for by patrons of the following local stores: Dayton's, Lucas Photo Studio, Metzco Brothers, Inc., J. Johnsons, East Haven Cleaners and Shoe Repairers, East Haven Service Station and Town Motors, East Haven Upholstery Shop, Tommy's Furniture House, Metcalf's Drug Store, East Haven Coal and Oil Co., East Haven Radio Co. and Towne Jewelers.

Woman's Club Lists Dance Committee

Committee members for the East Haven Woman's Club annual dinner dance on February 9 at 7 P. M. in the Castle were announced today.

Serving on the committee are Mrs. Roy L. Wilson, Mrs. James Garland, Mrs. Fred Wolfe Jr., Mrs. Goodhart Peterson, Mrs. Arthur Haesche, Mrs. Forest Doherty, Mrs. Albert A. Jacob, Mrs. John O'Donnell and Mrs. Alfred Holcombe.

Town Officials In Capitol Today For 6th Yearly Clinic

Catalano Says Town Sewage Inspections Are For Public Good

Building Inspector Clement Catalano said yesterday that the purpose of cesspool inspections here in connection with the municipal sanitary cleaning plan, is to protect individuals using the service.

Catalano explained that he had heard several complaints that the department would condemn the complete plumbing facilities of houses which will require the service too frequently.

"Such is not the case," he stressed.

Instead it is his hope that the nuisance of frequent cleaning can be avoided by helpful suggestions.

Many can clog sewage systems. Frequently in older tanks, the fluids are not absorbed quickly enough. At the cost of only a few dollars, proper facilities can be installed thus saving dollars and avoiding a nuisance for home owners.

The department is fully aware that drainage facilities in certain areas are not as rapid as in other sections. These people are victims of circumstances, he said, and will not be victimized by the Building Department.

Catalano said that his department has the power to compel proper changes after inspection.

The new system of cleaning has been in effect here since January 15 but calls for service have been few, he said.

He explained the few calls as a result of winter weather.

Community Development Conditions Heard By Quartet Of Civic Heads

Four prominent leaders in the town's political life are in Hartford today to attend the Sixth Annual Community Development Clinic.

They are First Selectman Frank A. Barker, Building Inspector Clement Catalano, Chairman of the Zoning Board and Town Engineer Charles Miller and Chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals Thomas Webster.

The meeting, sponsored by the Connecticut Development Commission, will be held in the Hotel Bond, Morning and afternoon sessions.

The 10 o'clock session, devoted to the Board of Appeals, explained the work of such commissions. It was pointed out that while many communities are operating within the law, many others are carrying on independent, extra-legal programs. It was said that under such practices, planning and zoning are jeopardized. Those present were advised how to get back on the legal track through a down-to-earth question and answer type panel.

Under the supervision of Discussion Leader Theodore Scott Smith, Planning Engineer of Waterbury, the local party split at 1 P. M. when Miller and Webster attended the zoning panel discussion, led by John T. Howard, a Planning Consultant of Boston, Mass. There Miller and Webster were acquainted with the knotty problems of trailer camps, trailers, motels, quonset huts, minimum house sizes, conversion of dwellings, roadside stands, outdoor movie theatres, hog and chicken farms, decentralized businesses, etc. The problem facing the local representatives at the meeting was to fit such problems into a comprehensive plan. It stressed the point that town executives should be certain that the legal ordinance helps create the type of community desired by the townspeople; and is legal as well.

At the same time, Selectman Barker and Catalano listened in on a dispersal session at which the problem of federal dispersal policies for the Northeastern states was the prime topic.

Later at 3:30, the East Haven contingent was again in a hearing room to hear a panel session on planning which was directed by Discussion Leader Louis B. Wetmore, Chief of the Planning Division of the Rhode Island Development Council.

This gathering stressed the wisdom of an over-all master plan to guide the long range development of a community and the problem of supplying increased municipal services paid to from a diversified tax base.

A fifth discussion on redevelopment was unattended by local officials.

JACKETS SEEK REVENGE IN FRIDAY TILT

A pair of men, devoted to the same profession, marked a milestone, along with great satisfaction.

Strictly speaking it was not a birthday for either, but the celebration afforded Printer's Week hereabouts brought both John Langlois and Herman Michael a slight measure of satisfaction.

Occasionally, in Branford, on a Thursday afternoon, a lone soul, or sometimes a mother and a youngster or two, will drop in on the review and the News to see the papers come off the press.

It is a fascinating sight even though the machine is crude compared to the press plants of today.

The visitors marvel at the sight of a roll of paper, after being threaded through an iron monster, coming out the other end cut and folded, completely printed.

Locally the miracle is accomplished by a machine no longer than 35 feet, in major cities the presses are sometimes a machine to turn out 60,000 papers an hour.

Even more bewildering to the novice is the routine of the men who feed those presses. The complexities of adjusting the girth roll and special tensions to allow for even margins of keeping the proper tautness on the paper to give even printing; the way every fifth paper is nudged aside for counting reasons, are ample reasons for calling printers and pressmen, craftsmen.

Even the foresight of Ben Franklin, the journeyman printer of the 18th century, could not have seen the technical advances in the game in which he chose to make his early living despite his abilities in the fields of statecraft, as an author, humorist, inventor and patriot.

Because January 17th was the anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birth last week throughout the country was dedicated to printers and their work.

Chairman of the New Haven activity in this field was a Momaughman man, Raymond A. Langlois. Probably his most able assistant was his son, Benjamin, Jr. Langlois, who has been in the printing business since 18th century, could not have seen the technical advances in the game in which he chose to make his early living despite his abilities in the fields of statecraft, as an author, humorist, inventor and patriot.

Because January 17th was the anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birth last week throughout the country was dedicated to printers and their work.

HOPE TO AVENGE FOOTBALL SETBACK IN ARMORY CLASH

The shoes in on the other foot Friday night at the State Armory when the high flying Hornets hope to avenge the sub-stingingly winding of the East Haven Yellowjackets.

Branford is expected to win the Housatonic League game—both the Easties, shown of a state title in football by the Hornets, are seeking a measure of revenge.

Branford will go into the game with a 7-1 record, the combine team which is constantly improving. Although its starting five will have a height edge, the advantage will be negligible for in recent weeks, a pair of young giants, Paul Wisninski and Tony Massaro, have improved so rapidly that they are on a par with Coach Frank Clark's veterans, but disappointing regulars.

East Haven has a 4-8 record but in league competition is rated 2-2. Faster than Branford, the combine team which is constantly improving. Although its starting five will have a height edge, the advantage will be negligible for in recent weeks, a pair of young giants, Paul Wisninski and Tony Massaro, have improved so rapidly that they are on a par with Coach Frank Clark's veterans, but disappointing regulars.

Rec Girls Oppose Telle-Belles Mon.

The Branford Recreation Advisory Board's Senior Girls Basketball team, coached by Miss Virginia Moosman, will play host to the powerful Telle-Belles from New Haven. One of the finest semi-pro girls teams in this area, Monday night January 28 at 8 P. M. at the Community House.

Although the Branford girls have had only about three games against this important game they are looking forward to meeting this fine New Haven team.

General, Paul Pace Hornets To 45-32 Victory Over Derby

Three times since December he offered major predictions concerning his teams and they have been borne out.

The latest of the prognostications bore fruit last Friday night when the Hornets overcame Derby High by a 45-32 count after a nip and tuck first half.

Young General, of whom Sampson said only last week, would wake up and firing power to the smooth Branford basketball machine shortly came to life in the last two periods of the Housatonic League try to break the back of the Hornets, who had successfully battled the team's major scorer, Joe Paul, in a light zone defense, until General loosened the defense with his accurate netting.

East Haven tried to meet the new threat, Paul began to ring up points in a light zone defense, until the breach widened into an easy victory.

The meat of Derby's attack, was contained in the smooth shooting of Dick Kiley who, like his mates, nevertheless experienced difficulty in getting into the key. Kiley netted 10 points on three baskets and four fouls on one of the poorest nights in his varsity career. Second to the rebound stylus was Dick Russo, a substitute who netted which were netted on an even basket and corner split.

The home team outscored the Hornets by a 12-10 count in the second stanza flipping three floor shots and checking four fouls. Paul with six points paced the locals and Branford walked off with a 20-10 lead.

With the start of the third session, the Hornets were sharper at the under-the-hoop position and began to pass off to General and Paul. Derby caught out of position and Paul and Branford moved out to a 28-22 advantage at the end of a dunking 7-10 foul try.

Then General and Paul moved in under the hoop and to set and drove around the defenders, Paul under a normal guard, added four baskets as the game began to move into a real and final whistle.

The summary:

STORM BRINGS SUNSHINE AS BUGS ELIMINATE DERBY

Despite the storm there was sunshine in the night sky on Tuesday for the Yellowjackets moved over to Derby High, 57-47, in a thrilling Housatonic League encounter to eliminate the Hornets from any consideration in the state title fight this year.

A searching last period derby, sparked by sophomore Paul Wisninski and veteran Nick Poligallo, overcame an eight point deficit in the last quarter to ring up the vital win.

The Yellowjackets used its peculiar zone defense for three quarters and freed Derby despite its smallness of the court.

George Russo added more spark to Derby's fire in the third quarter, as he led the Hornets to a 18-18 net along with Gokak in a torrid second session, the Eastie club was in 23-22 deflator at intermission.

Derby's comeback was led by Paul, who netted 11-8 but when Dick Kiley found the hoop, along with Gokak in a torrid second session, the Eastie club was in 23-22 deflator at intermission.

Fonts of Type

A pair of men, devoted to the same profession, marked a milestone, along with great satisfaction.

Strictly speaking it was not a birthday for either, but the celebration afforded Printer's Week hereabouts brought both John Langlois and Herman Michael a slight measure of satisfaction.

Occasionally, in Branford, on a Thursday afternoon, a lone soul, or sometimes a mother and a youngster or two, will drop in on the review and the News to see the papers come off the press.

It is a fascinating sight even though the machine is crude compared to the press plants of today.

The visitors marvel at the sight of a roll of paper, after being threaded through an iron monster, coming out the other end cut and folded, completely printed.

Locally the miracle is accomplished by a machine no longer than 35 feet, in major cities the presses are sometimes a machine to turn out 60,000 papers an hour.

Even more bewildering to the novice is the routine of the men who feed those presses. The complexities of adjusting the girth roll and special tensions to allow for even margins of keeping the proper tautness on the paper to give even printing; the way every fifth paper is nudged aside for counting reasons, are ample reasons for calling printers and pressmen, craftsmen.

Even the foresight of Ben Franklin, the journeyman printer of the 18th century, could not have seen the technical advances in the game in which he chose to make his early living despite his abilities in the fields of statecraft, as an author, humorist, inventor and patriot.

Because January 17th was the anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birth last week throughout the country was dedicated to printers and their work.

Hinches Strates Hoop For 37 Points, Pacing I-A Over Carver, 78-49

With a Captain Bill Hinches leading the way, the I-A basketball team defeated Carver 78-49 in a game played at the Community House.

Hinches, who paced the I-A team with 37 points, was the star of the game. He netted 10 points on three baskets and four fouls on one of the poorest nights in his varsity career.

Second to the rebound stylus was Dick Russo, a substitute who netted which were netted on an even basket and corner split.

Harry Johnson Is New Commissioner Of Modified Stock Racing

Harry Johnson, prominent out-door racer and boat dealer in Branford, has been named as the new Commissioner of Modified Stock Racing.

Johnson, who maintains his place in business on North Main Street, Division as altered from the Stock Modified Stock Racing Division.

The new race will be allowed to make certain changes in Stock Modified Stock Racing Division.

The changes will be in accordance with a set of rules set up by the new race.

Stock models are built on the specifications of manufacturers. The loss was particularly hard to put the shoe on the other foot. Branford hopes are high and it is East Haven walking in the mire of defeat.

The Easties are determined but Branford, likewise is determined. Determined to show that determination is not enough.

Community House Seek Discarded Furniture

The community house could use a couple of new chairs, lamps, etc. The boys would like to fix up a lounge, but they need more money. The gym. A new o-cola machine was added last week. This furniture would be greatly appreciated. Any one has anything that could be used please contact the director Joe Trappas at Branford 8-1189.

Moving?

Graduation from the school does not mean the end of student-teacher relations for either Mr. Michael, the energetic former principal to return with problems and together they are ironed out.

Michael's outside activities aside from his athletic hobbies of golfing, swimming, boating, bowling and fishing, are chiefly concerned with his trade. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the New Haven District Club of Printing House Craftsmen, a member of the Executive Committee of the New Haven Teacher's League, Faculty Advisor to the Student Council at Branford and a member of the Assembly Committee there.

Somewhere along the trail of a busy life, Herman Michael found the time to acquire an interest in Scarsdale, N. Y. She was the former Marjorie Farbox of that town, whom he married several years ago. The couple have two sons and a charming strawberry-blond daughter.

Despite the national bustle, occasioned each year by Ben Franklin's birthday, most people took national pride in the fact that their papers are printed up on the laws each afternoon. It is expected to be the best and that's it. But people in the know, who realize the power of the press and its relation to world affairs, community life and personal interest, took a bit more time to reflect.

"The presses have stopped for good!" Suppose that inconceivable fact were communicated some morning. It would mean you would never again read a word of news, bridging the gap between nations and states; you would never again see in print your favorite families in private life; you would again follow the thoughts, ideas, messages of the most brilliant men of your time.

The stock market would crash, for there would be no financial reports and tabulations; airplanes would be grounded, for maps and logs would soon be unobtainable; the entire media of radio and television would collapse without the printed word to communicate; education would falter and fail, for your children would have no books to study in their classrooms; short time, the whole structure of modern civilization would waver and crash—all because—the printed word was not available.

Printing is the communicative guide of every person from birth to death—it is inseparable from our daily lives.

Printing is the link that enters every profession and human endeavor—its service build and sustain business, political and artistic progress. Printing broadens the scope of everything it touches—its clarity, enlightens, informs, warns.

That's why men all over the nation, men like Raymond A. Langlois and Herman Michael, desire more than passing accolades.

Their work is with youngsters, chiefly. But like the satisfaction that brings their happiness comes when some hard-working youngster, taught by either man, cleaves the waves during the summer months, so do these men thrill each Spring when another class graduates to take their roles in the work of Benjamin Franklin, not only in the satisfaction of clean presswork but also in the prime media of all teachers, good citizenship.

Ed Got Red In His Own "Hot Water"

Big Ed started a "Ray-Your-Bill" campaign last week and ended up with a slightly red face. Ed's last act in a recent campaign was to sue a Water Commissioner for ten years, and for ten years now he's been getting filed up over alleged matters of bills.

Ed's finally decided to do something drastic about it. Last week he sent notices that if the shakers didn't pay up by Friday, Ed would sue them.

Naturally, some still didn't square accounts. Ed ordered their water turned off, and 14 homes were without all week end—the Commissioner's among them.

Seems Ed forgot to pay his bill. From where I sit, Ed's mistake is one we all make at times. He is too quick to accuse others while forgetting our own faults.

Let's us do it, for instance, over a difference in taste for a beer, drink or a friendly glass of soft drink, don't pay up by Friday, Ed will sue you.

The Church of Christ has been highly honored with a gift of Vibra chimes, the product of the Maas Organ Company of Los Angeles, Calif. On the week of Dec. 16, 1951, these chimes were installed in the organ by Mr. J. C. Brenner of West Haven and played for the first time on Christmas Sunday, Dec. 23 by the organist, Mrs. John Burne.

On the week of Jan. 13 the fifty watt amplifying system, which enables the chimes to be played from the tower of the Church plus a time clock which plays a cluster of chimes at any desired hour, was installed.

On Sunday Jan. 20 the townspeople were thrilled as they listened to familiar gospel hymns being played and carried across the town, preceding the eleven o'clock service. There were few dry eyes as these Vibra chimes brought back memories of a sweet and lovable person, Martha Bradley Petrillo, in whose memory the chimes were given by her husband, S. A. Petrillo. Martha Bradley Petrillo was called to a better home on Dec. 22, 1950. As she had been a member of the Church of Christ from her childhood she was deeply loved by all, her husband deemed it proper and fitting to donate a gift which would be an asset first to the Church and second to the town.

The pastor, members and friends alike cannot find words to express to Mr. Petrillo their heartfelt appreciation. Dedication services of chimes and other improvements to the Church will be held at an opportune time in the future.

Mr. Sgt. John Wigg, formerly of Main Street, and now stationed in Augsburg, Germany, with the 43rd Division Headquarters Company, has been confined to the hospital with a sinus condition.

Audrey Joan Atkinson Becomes The Bride Of Ronald E. McDermott

On Sunday, Jan. 20, at 4:00 P.M. Miss Audrey Joan Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Atkinson of Main Street, Stony Creek, became the bride of Sgt. Ronald Eugene McDermott, USA, foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Griswold of North Branford. The wedding took place in the Church of Christ, Congregational, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arnold R. Vail, Pastor.

Pre-nuptial music on the organ included "Londonderry Air," played by Mrs. Selma Burne, and "I Love You Truly" and "Because" sung by Mrs. Helen Smith.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a blue tulle dress, a black hat, and black gloves. Her corsage was white roses. She was attended by Miss Marion Atkinson, as maid of honor. Miss Atkinson's dress was navy tulle with white polka dots. She wore a navy and white hat, navy gloves, and a corsage of spring flowers.

Population figures given for such towns were: East Haven, 12,212; Branford, 10,944; Derby, 10,259; Killingly, 10,015; Southington, 13,061; Southington, 11,801; Wallingford, 16,976; Wethersfield, 12,533; and Hamden, 29,275.

REQUEST FOR BIDS

The Town of Branford Board of Education requests bids to supply transportation for a three year period beginning in Sept. 1952, over two new bus routes.

Bids will be received at the office of the Board of Education, at 8 P. M. on Thursday, February 28, at which time they will be opened in public and read.

Copies of the specifications and bid form may be secured at the office of the superintendent of schools during school hours on school days.

Education Cost Per Pupil Rated Low In E. Haven

State Group Places Town 22nd In Relation To Similar Areas

The Connecticut Education Association last week revealed that East Haven is far down the list of 25 Connecticut towns in the same population bracket, in the total amount of money spent per pupil last year.

The statistics of local educational finance, compiled for 1950-1951 showed East Haven to be ranked 22nd from the top.

East Haven's $183.80 per pupil cost last year is higher than only three other towns in the 10,000 to 30,000 population group, compared by the educational group. The lower towns were Branford, with $171.31; Killingly, with $179.92; and Southington, with $170.26.

Towns on the list were such towns as Derby, with $281.09; Southington, with $201.19; Wallingford, with $234.63; Wethersfield, with $188.64; and Hamden, with $215.23.

Population figures given for such towns were: East Haven, 12,212; Branford, 10,944; Derby, 10,259; Killingly, 10,015; Southington, 13,061; Southington, 11,801; Wallingford, 16,976; Wethersfield, 12,533; and Hamden, 29,275.

whose electric bill are you paying, Mrs. Allen?

... Why, my own, of course! Don't tell me I've made a mistake ...

No, Mrs. Allen, you haven't made a mistake. But, did you know you're paying part of another electric bill besides your own? Here's what we mean.

When you pay your monthly electric bill to CL&P, part of the money goes into federal taxes. And this tax money, in turn, helps support government-owned utilities which provide so-called "cheap" electric power to people living miles away from Connecticut.

So, Mrs. Allen, that means you're paying for power you're not even using... helping to pay an electric bill for someone you don't even know.

Federal power projects pay no federal taxes, and pay only token interest on the hundreds of millions of tax dollars invested in them. No wonder they can provide electric power so "cheap" that the price is often lower than the cost of producing it.

But who makes up the difference? You, Mrs. Allen, and millions like you throughout America. It's dangerous and undemocratic? You're right, Mrs. Allen.
